BECKHAM'S MESSAGE.

The Governor Urges Many Needed Reforms in Kentucky.

The Bonded Debt Wiped Out—School Books and the Prices Paid For Them—Colored People Can Solve the Race Problem.

Gov. Beckham's message is in part as follows:

Gentlemen of the General Assembly—In beginning this regular session of your term as members of the legislative branch of the state government, with the limitation of time fixed at 60 days, it is important that you take a prompt and judicious survey of the work before you. Under the constitution it is impossible in one day for a bill to be introduced, passed in both houses, signed by the governor, made a law, and probably not half a dozen members in all had the slightest idea as to what the bill contained. Following the constitutional requirements, it now takes nearly two weeks for a bill, even under the most favorable auspices, to go through the tortuous track of legislative routine and enactment into law. A very large percentage of all the bills introduced will never be considered or passed by the two houses, and for that reason it is important that you quickly winnow the wheat from the chaff, the good from the bad, the necessary from the unnecessary—that your time may be given to such measures as are of practical benefit to the people.

Don't Need Many More Laws.

The condition of our great commonwealth is such as to demand very little legislation, and all that is needed can be easily disposed of in the usual length of your session.

It is very gratifying to all our people that the condition of affairs throughout the commonwealth was never better than at present. Peace and contentment exist everywhere; the laws are respected and obeyed; the courts of justice have proved themselves effective in reducing crime and in the administration of the law; progress and prosperity can be seen in every section; more capital than ever before is being invested in the development of the state's resources; and our people realize more than ever the brilliant opportunities for advancement and achievement before them.

The financial condition of the state government is the best it ever enjoyed and is surpassed by that of no other state in the Union. The public improvements, both necessary and educational, need from this general assembly smaller appropriations than they have received for many years.

Bonded Debt Wiped Out.

The bonded debt of the state, amounting to $1,000,000, has all been extinguished in the past year with the exception of $5,000.

There was a cash balance in the treasury on June 30, 1903, of $1,100,000.

The public institutions of the state, both eleemosynary and educational, need less money than ever before. The liberal appropriations we have made in the past and they are now in such good condition that they require little if any help. The only urgent necessity for action upon your part toward the insane asylums is to provide some increase in their capacity. For about two years these three institutions have been so crowded that it has been difficult and in many cases impossible to provide accommodations for new patients.

Have to Stay in Jail.

Frequently these patients, after having been adjudged of unsound mind, have been compelled to remain in their county jails for months, waiting until vacancies should arise in one of the asylums. You should therefore do something to relieve this congestion, and it does not require a large amount of money to do so. I am opposed to building another institution at this time, for it would entail another expensive and unnecessary burden upon the state. I think the difficulty can be best met and more economically by building additional room to one or more of the present asylums.

The two prisons, one at Frankfort, the other at Eddyville, make a creditable showing of their condition. They are both be under the former system of management, a large expense to the state and the source of a great deal of trouble. The law was, however, radically changed in 1898, and there has been a marked improvement since that time.

The state reformatory for youthful criminals at Lexington is exceptionally in its infancy as a state institution. The purpose for which it was established is most praiseworthy, and it should be carried out as far as possible.

I call your attention especially to the report of the superintendent of public instruction for the information which it gives upon the subject of educational matters in the state and the suggestions he makes for improvement.

Schoolbook Law.

The most important feature of this subject is the question of schoolbooks and the present law relating thereto. Legislation on this matter is demanded by the people, and, while they have been changed several times in the past in regard to it, there is every reason to believe that the present law can be so amended as to avoid, without fail, pass a bill fixing maximum prices for schoolbooks and establishing a state uniformity for the books. It is not an experiment, for other states have adopted it, and it has been tried in this state with most satisfactory results. The proposition is such a plain and simple one, the more questions as to which are not one cent of profit shall be able to purchase their books about one-third less than they now pay for them. In this connection any one should object to it, except those who are interested in the book business and are desirous of getting the highest prices possible for their books. It is unnecessary to recite all the objections which will be urged to the question has been before the people so long, its features and purposes have been so thoroughly discussed. The arguments brought against it have been so completely exposed in their weakness and insincerity, that it has been fully and positively established that we are paying much higher prices for books than are paid for the same books in other states, and that we have been passed—all of this has been so well understood that the people have come to look upon it as a matter for action, and have a right to expect this general assembly to give them relief. So long has the matter been and piece upon the statute book a law of so much good to the cause of education and to the relief of the poor people of the state.

Other suggestions affecting the improvement of our common school system may be found in the report of the superintendent. Too much can not be done for these schools. A state can not make a better investment of its money than in the education of its children. I, therefore, recommend that you make some substantial increase in the school fund in order that the length of the school term may be extended from five to six or seven months.

The Agricultural and Mechanical College of Lexington is making commendable progress in the cause of higher education. It should have every necessary aid and encouragement in its work. Admirably located and well equipped, it is destined in time, with the proper assistance to become the leading educational institution in the south. I suggest that you make a careful investigation of its needs and requirements and as far as consistent with the state's means, do all that is possible for its development and growth.

The Normal and Industrial Institute for colored people is located near Frankfort, and is doing good work for that race. It has been generously aided by the state, and is deserving of any additional help it may need.

Solving the Race Problem.

The colored people of Kentucky can solve the so-called race problem for themselves if they can reach the point where their race prejudices can not be stirred up in every political contest, and if they will not allow irresponsible demagogues to teach them that their white neighbors are their enemies rather than their friends. The negroes have never had better friends than the white people of Kentucky have been to them, for, although they pay an insignificant portion of the taxes they have been permitted to share equally in the school funds with the white children of the state.

Along the lines of industrial and useful training they can better their condition and make themselves worthier of the privileges of citizenship. Many of the most intelligent and thoughtful leaders in the state have begun to realize these facts, and are doing much good among them toward a more sensible and practical improvement of the race. They men recognise the impossibility and absurdity of social equality between the races.

I ask you to make a comparison of the tables in the auditor's reports of the amounts paid by the state each year for the support of pauper idiots, and observe to what an alarming extent this imposition is growing. From June 30, 1900, to June 1, 1903, this expense increased from $125,606.75 to $156,906.50. I suggest that you so amend the law that the county shall pay one-half of the allowance before the state shall be forced to pay the other half. This will put a considerable check upon the drain, and it is nothing more than fair and reasonable.

Money Recklessly Wasted.

You should also examine the figures in the reports in regard to the cost of criminal prosecutions and see to what extent these expenses have grown. There is a reckless waste of the state's money in this matter, and something should be done by you to put an end to it. Proper legislation upon this subject and a proper idiot claim would save the state $150,000 or $200,000 per annum without doing any one an injustice or in the least impairing the public service.

You will hear much during this session upon the subject of an appropriation to erect new capital buildings. In the message to the general assembly of 1902 I recommended that it be done, and that opinion is the same now as it was then.

The state is better able now than ever before to build a new capitol, I suggest that in any proposed bill for this purpose you see that every possible precaution and safeguard are placed that the state's interest may be protected and not a dollar of the appropriation can be wasted or misused.

For the World's Fair.

You will also be called upon to make some appropriation to aid the Kentucky exhibit at the Louisiana Purchase exposition in St. Louis this year. A number of enterprising gentlemen in the state, after the failure of the last general assembly to appropriate money for this purpose formed an association and raised some funds with which they have made a start for the Kentucky exhibit there. They have not a sufficient amount for the purpose, however, and ask you to make some appropriation. In this it would be well to do so, provided such an appropriation would not interfere with an increase in the school fund or with the building of a new capitol.

The militia of the state is probably in better condition than ever before. I refer you to the report of the adjutant general that you may see all the details as to its condition and strength. We have two regiments of infantry, with several unassigned companies, one battalion of artillery and a troop of cavalry. There are seven companies in the Louisville battalion of our state guard; the first is to have some military force ready for active service to aid the civil authorities whenever they need such assistance. In this respect our militia is in excellent condition. During the past administration after the reorganization of the guards, there never was a time when, upon one by any judge or other civil officer for troops that it was not possible for me to furnish them in sufficient time and numbers for the service as promptly and effectively as if they had been regular soldiers.

A Boost For the Soldiers' Boys.

The excellent character of our state troops was shown by their valuable services in Breathitt county during the past year. The prompt response of the regular army could not have done better, and their presence there for several months, aiding the courts and civil authorities have brought about a condition of peace and respect for the law in that county. All soldiers have returned to their homes there, and I believe that the good people of the county will from now on make it unnecessary for troops to be sent there again.

The conditions there for awhile were very unfortunate, though they were grossly exaggerated by sensational journals, among whom none did more in a fashion to paint a lurid romance out of any tragedy in Kentucky. Our state has never made the promise that it has these reckless representatives of the "yellow journals" in the north and east. With morbid greed they feed upon every crime committed here and display it in the most extravagant manner, while a similar crime committed elsewhere receives only a passing notice. The effort is made by them to discredit the entire state, and if possible, create an impression that its people are barely civilized.

Should Rebuke Slanderers.

These slanders should be rebuked wherever they appear, and it can be well done if you to pass a law holding to penal accountability these irresponsible romancers who deal out such injurious misstatements and falsehoods. The people of Kentucky are as lawabiding as any on earth; life, liberty and property are as safe and well protected here as in any other state in the union. It is not an exaggeration to say that there is not a day during the past year that human life was not safer in Kentucky than in Chicago, which country it is any night upon the streets of Chicago or New York, from the sanguinary columns of whose vertigious press the people have been told day after day of "the awful reign of lawlessness and anarchy in Kentucky." The outcome and settlement of the Breathitt county trouble was a complete vindication of the courts and officers of Kentucky, and showed the supremacy of law in this state.

I call your attention to the able and valuable report of the state board of health, showing the work done by that body. It has done in the cause of public health.

Paying the Debt.

In closing this communication to you permit me to speak briefly of the obligations which I, as the executive, and you, as the legislative branch of the state government, owe to the great people who have chosen us for the time as their public servants, and invested with the solemn responsibilities of our honored positions. Our debt to them can be paid only by the faithful performance of duty.

With its marvelous growth and matchless achievements, it is little over a century springing from infancy to the front rank among nations of the earth we are proud of it, and boast of its greatness, but let us realize that its future can not be secure, and its progress can not continue and its people can not be happy unless those charged with the control and conduct of its great affairs shall be absolutely faithful and incorruptible in the exercise of their authority. Honor and purity, therefore, is the duty we owe Kentucky, whose welfare and destiny have been temporarily intrusted to our care; the watchfulness should we give to her interest; what diligence should we devote to her development, and prosperity; with what vigor and courage should we meet and overcome those who would despoil her, whether they should come as open enemies or come in the more polished and dangerous guise of those who seek by special indulgence to enrich themselves, like parasites, upon the body politic; and with what sleeplessness and vigor should we stand like sentinels guarding the outposts of her honor and peace.

Kentucky Deserves the Best.

She deserves the best we can do; her noble people are worthy of the concentration, to their service of every talent and ability we may have. They have no attorney or lobbyist to plead their cause, but, with a trusting faith and loyal support, they look to us and ask that we do not forget them; that we regard the confidence they have placed in us by an honest and conscientious performance of our duties. Let us, therefore during your session here this winter, look the field over and see what good we can do; see if there are any useful laws we can pass and any bad ones defeat; see if we can by any action of ours make the fires burn more cheerfully in our homes, and the light of intelligence in the faces of our children brighter with greater brightness; see, too, if any wrong can be remedied, if any right justly due can be granted, and see, above all things, that these people who have so trusted us, honored us shall never have reason to reproach us for a wrong done or a duty unperformed.

J. C. W. BECKHAM,
Governor of Kentucky.

January 5, 1904.

MANY LIVES LOST.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 11.—The steamer Clallam, of the Seattle-Victoria way between Smith Island and Dungeness in the Straits of Juan de Fuca. Fifty-two persons were drowned.

Every effort was made to save the women and children in the lifeboats. They were placed in the first boat to leave the ship, which Capt. Lawrence, a Yukon pilot, volunteered to command, and which was manned by deck hands.

The frail craft went down within sight of the Clallam, and a second lifeboat filled with mail passengers and in command of Second Officer Currin was probably lost a few minutes later.

Port Townsend, Wash., Jan. 11.—There is little or no ground for hope that any of the passengers or crew of the ill-fated steamer Clallam will be found alive. All day Saturday and until far into the night the storm kept up with unabated fury, making the work of deep sea tugs engaged in the search for victims and wreckage one of difficulty and danger.

The tug Sea Lion returned early Sunday morning from the vicinity of the wreck bringing no news of the location either of the wreck or of the victims of the disaster. Sunday evening the tug Holyoke returned from a day's search during which she communicated with all the residents along the shore of San Juan Island with the result that a force of 50 volunteers are now carefully patrolling the beach, while the three steam launches and the boats from the United States cutter Grant are engaged in the waters adjacent to the shore.

Sunday's developments in the steamer Clallam disaster were the recovery of the bodies of eight more victims of the wreck. W. H. Grimes, one of the passengers reported drowned, is alive. Thirteen bodies all told have been taken from the waters of the Straits of Juan de Fuca. An unexpected survivor was among the last to leave the Clallam. He and five or six others, after being washed into the sea, managed to climb upon the pilot house, which had been swept from the deck. They were rescued by the tug Holyoke and taken to Fort Townsend.

Among the lost is Eugene Hicks, of Indianapolis, Ind.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 11.—Homer H. Swaney, one of the victims of the steamer Clallam wreck, was a former prominent iron and steel man of this country and was on his way to Victoria to complete the purchase of some iron mines in which a number of local capitalists were interested.

PRISONER BROKE JAIL.

He Unlocked Nine Doors and Sawed Through Three Chains.

Springfield, Mass., Jan. 11.—William J. Reid, alias L. O. Hoffman, who is charged with swindling 32 hotels of about $10,000, from the Atlantic to the Pacific in 1902, and is now under sentences aggregating ten years for these offenses, broke jail here Sunday under remarkable circumstances and is still at large.

To accomplish his escape he unlocked nine doors and sawed through three chains, visited six different rooms in the county jail, passed in front of several guards and finally climbed an 18 foot wall. All this was done about 3 o'clock Sunday morning and he was not missed until 7 o'clock. He was supposedly too weak to move without the use of a crutch, had been practically bedridden for three months and so far as the prison officers know had eaten nothing but beef broth in all that time.

Sheriff Clark Sunday night made a thorough investigation but he finds that many details of the escape are still unexplained.

MIDWINTER THUNDERSTORM.

It Was Accompanied By Heavy Snow and Hail.

Salt Lake, Jan. 11.—The phenomenon of a midwinter thunderstorm accompanied by heavy snow was experienced in Salt Lake City Sunday night. Vivid flashes of lightning were accompanied by heavy thunder, continuing for nearly half an hour. A gale which came with the thunderstorm reached a velocity of over 30 miles an hour at times and was accompanied by heavy snow and hail which was driven in blinding sheets, making it almost impossible to remain out of doors.

Smathers' Trip Around the World.

New York, Jan. 11.—E. E. Smathers has completed arrangements for his automobile trip around the world. He will sail with J. F. Gatin and two other friends on the La Touraine January 23. The 40-horse-power machine in which they will travel will be delivered at Cherbourg.

Prof. Langley's Airship.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Prof. Langley and his assistants expect to be able to complete the airship twice launched and twice wrecked in time for its entrance in the flying machines competition at the St. Louis exposition.

New Mail Service Inaugurated.

London, Jan. 11.—The American line steamer Philadelphia arrived at Plymouth at 4:30 o'clock Sunday morning after an extremely rough passage and successfully inaugurated the new mail service between New York and Plymouth.

A $125,000 Fire.

Washington, Pa., Jan. 11.—The interior of the five-story Brown block, from the second floor to the roof, was destroyed by fire. The loss will be about $125,000, with insurance that covers about two-thirds.

FIFTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS.

Regular Session.

Washington, Jan. 5.—Senate—The senate's first session following the holiday recess was devoted entirely to Panama. President Roosevelt sent a message on the subject which was received with great interest. Discussion continued throughout the day, speeches being made both in defense of and against the policy which has been pursued.

House—With the reassembling of congress Monday after the recess the chaplain of the house, in opening the session of that body, prayed that war between Russia and Japan might be averted by a peaceful adjustment of their differences. A privileged resolution offered by Mr. Hay (dem.) recited that certain statements contained in the Bristow post office report reflected on the membership of the house. It provided for an investigation by a committee to be appointed by the speaker. A point of order was made against the resolution by Mr. Gardner (Rep., N. Y.), was overruled and the same fate met Mr. Payne (rep., N. Y.), who desired to refer the resolution to the post office committee. A vot on ordering the previous question resulted in a tie, the minority supporting Mr. Hay.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Senate—Practically the entire session of the senate Tuesday was devoted to a speech by Mr. Lodge on the situation on the Isthmus of Panama. He discussed the abstract question of the right of the president to recognize the independence of a nation and concluded that such a prerogative pertains exclusively to the office of the chief executive. He also contended that there had been a general expectation of an uprising in Panama in case of the failure of the Hay-Herran treaty and declared that the president could not have done less than inform himself of the prospect. Mr. Lodge argued that our intervention in Panama had been only in the interest of peace and contended that the president had not gone a step beyond what the properties called for.

House—The privileged resolution proposed by Mr. Hay (Va.) providing for an investigation of certain statements in the Bristow post office report reflecting on the membership of the public. Tuesday was referred to the committee on post offices and post roads, on motion of Mr. Payne (N. Y.), the majority leader. Eight republicans voted with the minority on Mr. Hay's motion to order the previous question, which was lost, and three republicans voted with the democratic minority against the motion to refer. The ma canal was read in the house.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Senate—Alleged irregularities in the post office department constituted the only theme in the senate Wednesday. Mr. Penrose came up on a motion first made by Mr. Lodge and afterward by Mr. Penrose to refer the Carmack resolution looking to a senatorial investigation of the post office department to the committee on post office and post roads. The democratic senators resisted the motion and contended that the country would not be satisfied with an investigation of a department made by the department itself.

House—The only measure considered in the house Wednesday was a bill introduced by the delegate from Hawaii to ratify an act of the Hawaiian legislature authorizing the manufacture and distribution of electric light and power on the island of Chua, the territory of Hawaii. During the day 10 bills were made to the bill, it was committed to the committee on territories.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Senate—Mr. Morgan occupied the time of the senate Thursday in a reply to the speech of Mr. Lodge, delivered last Tuesday. Mr. Morgan again criticised the president and the attitude of this government in connection with the Panama republic. He introduced numerous newspaper extracts to bear out his contention that the revolution was assisted by officers and citizens of the United States. Mr. Morgan said that if the United States should withdraw from the isthmus, Colombia would quickly drive out the few revolutionists and their supporters.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Senate—Alleged post office frauds were under discussion in the senate Friday, the subject being opened in a set speech by Mr. Simmonds (N. C.), who insisted there should be an investigation by the senate into the charges. Mr. Platt (Ct.) denied that the republicans were trying to cover up any wrong-doing in the post office department and said the simply were contending that the post office committee should ascertain what was to be investigated. The discussion was participated in by Messrs. Burrows, Dolliver and Quarles on the republican side and Messrs. Carmack, Tillman and Teller on the democratic side. The senate adjourned until Monday.

House—The house made available the sum of $250,000 to be used to meet the emergency caused by the ravages of the cotton boll weevil and other insects and diseases affecting cotton. The measure was adopted without division, meeting general support. The sum is to be diverted from the half million dollars appropriated last year to eradicate the foot and mouth disease among cattle. Pension bills to the number of 115 were passed. The house adjourned until Monday.

To Pay Bounty Claims.

Washington, Jan. 9.—The secretary of the treasury transmitted to the house a request for an appropriation of $49,700 for the payment of officers and men entitled, according to judgments of the court of Claims, to bounty for destruction of the enemy's vessels at Santiago, Cuba, July 3, 1898.

Washington Theaters All Right.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Chief Engineer Bell, of the District of Columbia fire department, Friday reported to the District commissioners that the asbestos curtains of the local theaters have been tested and found in good condition.

Turkey Will Have An Exhibit.

Washington, Jan. 9. — Convinced against his will by the eloquent arguments of ex-Assistant Secretary of State Thomas W. Cridler, the sultan of Turkey has consented to send an exhibit to the St. Louis world's fair.

STATE NEWS PICK-UPS

THE OPENING SESSION.

Democratic Majority of the General Assembly Organized.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 5.—The democratic majority of the two houses of the general assembly organized Monday night for the opening of the session at noon Tuesday. Eli H. Brown, of Nelson county, the home of Gov. Beckham, and the candidate backed by Beckham and the state administration, was nominated on the first ballot for speaker of the lower house. Campbell Cantrill, of Scott county, son of the noted circuit judge, and Henry Lawrence, of Trigg county, both administration representatives, were selected as the chairmen of senate and house caucuses of the party forces and leaders on the floor.

At a caucus of the republican minority members of the house Dr. W. C. Black, of Knox county, was named as the minority floor leader.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 6.—Gov. Beckham's message was transmitted to the legislature Tuesday, after both houses had organized. In the house of representative Eli H. Brown was elected speaker by a vote of 74 to 23, over Dr. William C. Black. The senate was called to order by Lieut. Gov. Thorne, and J. Embry Allen, of Lexington, was elected chairman pro tem.

Bills introduced in the senate: For a uniform text-book in schools; for the erection of a new capitol building; to appropriate $65,000 to aid in a Kentucky exhibit at the St. Louis world's fair.

Frankfort, Jan. 7.—Senate: The following bills were introduced Wednesday providing for amendment of the constitution by striking out Section 145 and in lieu thereof a section requiring an educational qualification for voters and the payment of poll tax, and also provide for the grandfather clause, which would eliminate the Negro vote. To amend Section 280 and repeal Section 281 of the criminal code by striking out the words "subject to the restrictions of the next section." To provide for a clerk for the official reporter of the court of appeals. Act to reduce the rate of state taxation to 45 cents on the $100. Bill providing for state uniformity of school text books and a reduction in price. Providing for increasing the school fund by transferring 3 cents from the sinking fund and 5 cents from the general expenditure fund in the annual levy, and leaves the rate of state taxation at 50 cents on the $100.

House: Bills introduced were as follows: Requiring that registration certificates shall be given to voters in all the cities from the first to sixth classes, and before a man can vote he must present his certificate. To repeal the annual $15,000 appropriation for a state fair. To repeal the act providing for advertising judicial sales in the newspapers. To repeal the section of the exemption law providing that the wages not to exceed $50 of all wage-workers shall be exempt from execution and attachment, garnishment or fee bills if the debt is not contracted for food, raiment or house rent for the family. Giving justices of the peace final jurisdiction in petty larceny cases. To create a state school book commission and provide a uniform school book system. To permit husband and wife to testify against each other in divorce suits. Requiring all passenger trains to stop at county seats through which the railroad runs.

Frankfort, Jan. 8.—Senate—Bills introduced Thursday: To create a state school book commission, and provide a uniform school book system; makes the governor and other state officers compose the commission, and to serve without pay; to create a state board of charities, to govern all the asylums and other eleemosynary institutions; providing that no prosecution shall be instituted for seduction if the man marry the girl and live with her for five years; to provide for a state forestry commission; providing for increasing the length of terms taught in the common schools.

House—Bills introduced: Providing that all settlements by executors, etc., in suits in circuit courts shall be recorded in the county clerk's office; to create a state school book commission and providing for the uniform system of text books; appropriating $75,000 for Kentucky's exhibit at the St. Louis World's fair, and providing for a commission of 15 members; fixing a penalty for persons who hire horses to ride or drive a certain distance and then travel twice or three times the distance named; to prohibit the adulteration of baking powder; fixing the charges by stock yards for keeping and feeding stock, etc. The house adjourned until Monday.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 9.—The senate adjourned Friday afternoon until Monday in commemoration of the day. It being the anniversary of the victory of Andrew Jackson at New Orleans. The house adjourned Thursday until Monday and most of the legislators have returned to their homes to spend Sunday. Committees from both houses will be named Monday.

Boys' Body Recovered.

Columbia, Ky., Jan. 9.—The body of the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Eubanks, who was drowned in Green river, was found one and a half miles below where the accident occurred.

Sacrificed Her Life.

Augusta, Ky., Jan. 9.—The C. & O. west-bound Huntington accommodation train struck and killed Mrs. John Edwards, 75. Mrs. Edwards was running across the track after one of her grandchildren which she feared would get run down.

Is After Kentucky Steeds.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 9.—Hudson Bros., horse and mule dealers, said Friday that their agent in New Orleans had been asked for prices on 5,000 horses by a Japanese merchant, one of the ports of delivery to be in Japan.

LEGISLATIVE CAUCUS.

It Developed Into a Turbulent Political Affair.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 7.—The democratic joint caucus of the legislature, called Wednesday night to nominate a state librarian and a prison commissioner, took on a wide range and developed into a turbulent political affair. The question of a uniform school text book law was injected into the proceedings by a resolution relating to the rules governing the caucus and relating to the book bill. Senator J. Campbell Cantrill, who was presiding as chairman, declared the resolution out of order and when overruled declared the caucus dissolved. He left the hall, followed by several members, but 89 of the 106 members of the caucus remained. These, led by Speaker Brown, reorganized the caucus with Senator Hickman as chairman and adopted the resolution which foreshadows the passage of the bill.

Senator Byron, of Bracken county, who opposed the resolution, made a speech in which he said he stood by his past record on the book bill, and that those who had impugned his motives and his course on the bill were liars.

THE REBATING EVIL.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 8.—The new insurance commissioner for Kentucky, Henry R. Prewitt, has taken a decided stand against the rebating evil, as he terms it, in the writing of life insurance. In a letter addressed to all agents doing business in the state he, in part, says:

"Section 754, of the Kentucky statutes, gives me the right as insurance commissioner of Kentucky, to take evidence upon this question, and it will be my purpose and intention to enforce the anti-rebate law in this state during my term of office. This statement is to give due notice to all agents working in Kentucky that the insurance laws of the state must be strictly observed; that I stand ready to uphold the hands of all companies and agents working in the right direction and that I shall do what I can to punish those who violate the law, and any company that winks at my attempt on the part of any of its agents to evade the law."

HE GOT IT OUT.

James A. Fuqua's Gold Crown Lodged In His Windpipe.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 9.—State Superintendent of Schools James A. Fuqua, Sr., thinks he has had a narrow escape from a painful death. Thirteen days ago while a dentist was operating on his tooth, a large gold crown on one of his teeth slipped off and disappeared. Mr. Fuqua told the dentist he thought it had lodged in his windpipe. The dentist and a physician whom he consulted told him that if so large a substance had lodged in his windpipe it would strangle him to death in a short time. He continued to suffer with his throat and lungs and had to remain in bed for a time, but was told that he had the grip or a bad cold.

Friday morning in a severe paroxysm of coughing the gold crown became dislodged from his windpipe and he spat it out on the floor, greatly to his surprise and relief. He was much better Friday night.

Prominent Tobacco Man Killed.

Russellville, Ky., Jan. 8.—Moses Turner, a lawyer, shot and killed Finis Wyatt, a prominent tobacco man, at Lewisburg, Thursday afternoon. They had a falling out over a trivial affair. It is said that Turner will claim self-defense, but Wyatt's friends say that it will be proven by eye-witnesses that it was a dastardly, cold-blooded murder. Turner was brought to this city and is under guard. Violence is feared.

Site For a Public Building.

Henderson, Ky., Jan. 9.—The deed to the site for Henderson's federal building was lodged in the county clerk's office for record. The deed was from Misses Anna and Mary T. Barbank to the United States government. The consideration was $6,000. The size of the lot is 135x150 feet.

Gov. Young Failing Rapidly.

Henderson, Ky., Jan. 9.—Ex-Gov. John Young Brown at a late hour Friday night, was reported by the attending physicians to be sinking. They said he is very much worse, and that the chances are he will not live through the night.

Auditorium For Lexington.

Resolutions of respect adopted by Alline Lodge, I. O. O. F., on the death of sister Minnie Clore Maurer:

This community has sustained a severe blow, and all who knew her could only love and cherish her. But all that was mortal is changed now and clouded forever. But how great is our comfort in the well grounded assurance that the good Shepherd who carrieth for His flock has taken His own unto His fold.

Your child and wife, dear parent and brother, has gone to Him Who said, "Suffer little children to come unto Me." It is a treasure laid up in a better world, and the gate through which she has passed to peace and joy unspeakable, is left open so that you, in due time, may follow. Let this be your consolation, that a higher than human power may console and support you under this heavy stroke, therefore, be it

Resolved, That this lodge extend to the grief-stricken brother and family its heart-felt sympathy, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, and also be made part of the lodge record.

Where, Oh, where is the traction road?—and the free rural delivery route? A year ago they were all but here. Now the whole thing seems to have passed away. We had hoped to get our mail at the door and ride from station to station, but, alack! and alass! they flickered out like the Tobacco Growers' Association.

A Very Close Call.

"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman, of Burlington, Iowa. "I was weak and pale, without any appetite and all run down. As I was about to give up, I got a bottle of Electric Bitters, and after taking it, I felt as well as I ever did in my life." Weak, sickly, run down people always gain new life, strength and vigor from their use. Try them. Satisfaction guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50 cents.

State News Happenings

BURNED TO THE GROUND.

St. Catherine's Academy, Near Springfield, Ky., Destroyed.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 4.—St. Catherine's academy, a Catholic school for girls located near Springfield, Ky., burned to the ground early Sunday. There were no fatalities. The loss is about $200,000. The fire was discovered by Miss May Curry, a cripple, and one of the sisters ran a mile in her bare feet and clad only in a night-dress to give the alarm at St. Rose's a boys' school. Usually about 125 to 150 girls are in attendance at the academy, but many of them were away on their Christmas vacation.

Between 75 and 100 girls were in the school when the fire broke out. So rapid was the progress of the flames that the girls barely escaped with their lives, and clad only in their robes de nuit, made their way over the icy and snow-covered fields to the academy at St. Rose, where they were sheltered. All of the buildings connected with the institution were destroyed.

A special train furnished by the Louisville & Nashville will leave Louisville Monday morning carrying clothes and medicine to the suffercrs. The train will return during the day with the 125 sisters and pupils, and they will be house and fed here until otherwise cared for. St. Catherine's was one of the historic educational institutions of Kentucky, and was founded in 1804.

FIRE AT MT. STERLING.

Ex-Fire Chief and a Colored Carpenter Lost Their Lives.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., Jan. 2.—Friday morning fire started in the wholesale and retail grocery establishment of T. K. Barnes & Sons. The estimated loss of Barnes & Sons is $1,000; I. F. Bradley, and it is said that a strong effort will be made by the Bradley-Wilson wing of the party to send Mr. Bradley to Chicago.

AXES, KNIVES AND PISTOLS.

Two Men Dangerously Wounded in a Fight Near Inez, Ky.

Inez, Ky., Jan. 4.—With their brains oozing out and a bullet hole through each of their heads, Alford and Hayden Johnson, brothers, were found in the public pike, near Jennie, W. Va., six miles northeast of here.

Anthony Crabtree, Jacob Oliver and the two Johnsons, it is said met at a saloon and began drinking together. Finally all started home. They had not gone far until a fight was precipitated, in which axes, knives and pistols were freely used. Crabtree and Oliver were pitted against the two Johnsons, who were unarmed except a pocket knife and an ax.

Judge-Elect Newman Dead.

Dayton, Ky., Jan. 2.—Hon. John P. Newman died Friday morning at his home in this city. By virtue of the votes of the people of Campbell county Mr. Newman would on Monday next have become judge of the Campbell county circuit court. His death just prior to the date upon which he was to qualify for that office leaves the incumbency involved in complications that may entail a legal contention.

Church Partially Destroyed.

Covington, Ky., Jan. 4.—A fire which stubbornly withstood the efforts of both Covington and Cincinnati firemen six hours ruined the interior of the Scott Street M. E. church. The loss is estimated at over $12,000.

New Y. M. C. A. Building.

Madisonville, Ky., Jan. 4. — The Young Men's Christian Association of Madisonville will soon have a home here. Voluntary contributions to the amount of $2,700 have been made. The building will not cost less than $15,000.

Smelting Furnaces Close Down.

Middlesboro, Ky., Jan. 4.—The furnaces of the Virginia Coal, Iron and Coke Co. here have closed down because of the low price of iron. Two hundred men are thrown out of employment.

GIFTS TO CHILDREN.

The Elks of Covington Make the Youngsters Happy.

Covington, Ky., Jan. 1—The immense Christmas tree given by the Covington lodge, No. 314, B. P. O. E., at Elks' hall, Thursday afternoon, was a source of joy to about 350 children who had evidently been overlooked by old Santa Claus. The hall was lighted with electric lights and festooned with holly.

The mammoth tree contained thousands of presents, such as toys, candies, shoes, mittens, underwear and various useful things. Every member of the local lodge deserves credit for the interest manifested in the good work. The system adopted was one of the best and most thorough possible.

This organization covered the entire city and was instrumental in distributing a large amount of clothing, shoes, toys, candies, nuts, etc., at the homes of the poor who were unable to attend the exercises at the hall Thursday.

WHEREABOUTS UNKNOWN.

The $10,000 Bond of Wm. H. Culton May Be Forfeited.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 1.—William H. Culton, star witness for the state in the Goebel murder cases, who is indicted as an accessory before the fact to the murder, and has been released on a bond of $10,000, has not put in an appearance here, and his whereabouts are unknown to the court officers. Culton disappeared shortly after the trial of Caleb Powers at Georgetown and he is charged with having raised state witness claims which he purchased for L. Tevis Coit, of Richmond. If Culton fails to answer Monday his bail bond of $10,000 may be forfeited on motion of the commonwealth's attorney. His father, Rev. Culton, of Jackson county, and E. E. Hogg, his brother-in-law, are his bondsmen.

A FAMILY QUARREL.

One Man in Tennessee Killed By Another Standing in Kentucky.

Somerset, Ky., Jan. 2.—In a family quarrel in the southern end of Wayne county, J. J. Smith and his son fired upon Diane Blevins and his two sons. Blevins was killed. Smith is Blevins' son-in-law. At the time of the shooting Blevins was standing on the Tennessee side of the border land and Smith on the Kentucky side. It is argued that Smith can not be tried in Kentucky, and that he can not be returned to Tennessee as a fugitive from justice for he was not in Tennessee. The shooting is said to have been caused by a blind tiger saloon. Blevins' sons were wounded.

For Big Cement Plant.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 4.—A syndicate headed by Samuel Homer, of Philadelphia, has purchased 816 acres of land 17 miles southwest of Louisville on the Ohio river, as a site for a cement plant, with a capacity of 2,500 barrels a day. The plant will probably cost $1,000,000, and a town of 2,500 people is expected to be built about it.

Railways Pay Their Taxes.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 2.—The following railroads paid their taxes to the state for this year Thursday: L. & N. Railroad Co., $115,000; Chesapeake & Ohio, $26,000; Southern railway in Kentucky, $7,000; Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis, $6,000; Mobile & Ohio, $2,700; Kentucky & Indiana Bridge Co., $4,300.

Barn and Stock Burned.

Cynthiana, Ky., Jan. 2.—The large stock barn belonging to Lark Garnett, two miles north of this place, was totally destroyed by fire Friday night. Eight head of mules, two milch cows, two thoroughbred horses and a lot of feed were burned. Estimated loss, $5,000.

Brick For New Zealand.

Ashland, Ky., Jan. 2.—The Ashland Fire Brick Co. shipped from its Ironton works a car load of fire brick to New Zealand. This is the second car load shipped by the local company to that point. The brick have to be packed in boxes, each one not to weigh over 500 pounds.

Allowed No Bond.

Mayking, Ky., Jan. 1.—Wm. Shepherd was given an examining trial before Judge James P. Lewis for the murder of his wife and little infant and Riley Webb on Big Cowan creek, and allowed no bond. His trial is set for the next term of court.

Col. Will Hays Is Better.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 4.—Col. Will S. Hays, who was stricken with paralysis Saturday, has recovered his speech, and his family and physicians entertain hopes of his recovery.

Teacher Buys Newspaper.

Barboursville, Ky., Jan. 4.—The Knox News, a republican paper published at this place, has changed hands and is now under the management of Prof. Robinson, an attorney and teacher. The News will be called the Knox Republican.

Gov. Brown's Condition.

Henderson, Ky., Jan. 4.—There was a change for the worse in former Gov. John Young Brown's condition Sunday. He spent a restless night, and seems to have grown considerably weaker.

THE ISTHMIAN PROJECT.

If Approved Millions Will Be Sunk in It and Probably No Canal in the End.

Panama has always been redolent of loot. From the time of Morgan the buccaneer to De Lesseps the isthmus has been the scene of plunder, and the proposed canal is now being used for a like purpose. The great value of a canal to the commerce of the world and especially to the United States is universally admitted, except by the few who would lose by its building. The policy of President Roosevelt in his interpretation of the treaty of 1846 is entirely at variance with several of his predecessors, from Polk to Cleveland, who were firm in the conviction that while that treaty guarantees to the United States free transit on the isthmus, it also guarantees the sovereignty of New Granada—now Colombia, of which Panama is a part. From what has transpired we appear to have committed a great wrong in an underhanded way.

The persistent enemies of any isthmian canal, the transcontinental railroads, have apparently accomplished their object and have succeeded in forcing upon the government the adoption of the Panama route, well knowing that if the work shall be commenced no man now living will ever survive long enough to see its completion, even if it should prove practicable, which, in the opinion of the best engineering talent, is doubtful.

The people demand an isthmian canal, the vote in the house in favor of Nicaragua was practically unanimous, but the bill was held up in the senate and the Spooner substitute adopted to placate and deceive the people with the delusion that a canal was to be built, but it was to be one which, if built, would be of no practical use and could never antagonize the railroad interests.

The adoption of the Nicaragua route was made mandatory upon the president in case the treaty with Colombia failed of ratification. It did fail. The president did not act. Why? Was it because of an intuition that something was about to happen and that delay was politic? Something did happen, a revolution was started. Panama made a declaration of independence. The influence and power of the United States prevented Colombia from protecting herself and suppressing the insurrection. The new government was hastily recognized, and every obstacle to the ratification of a treaty, such as the conspirators desired, removed, and now it is currently reported that Senator Morgan, who has for so many years defended the interests of the people, is to be removed and Senator Hanna, the pronounced enemy of those interests, substituted.

Old-fashioned people might regard such acts as piracy, but old-fashioned ideas no longer prevail and now might makes right. There is not a single feature in the Panama route to recommend it to favorable consideration.

The French engineers worked for years at the Culebra cut, and with the best appliances were able to remove but 1,000,000 cubic yards per year. There remain 43,000,000 cubic yards yet to be taken out, and at the same rate of progress this will require 43 years; but the French engineers were naturally stimulated by a desire to make the most rapid progress possible, while their successors will have no such stimulant. The aim will be to delude the public by an appearance of doing something, and they can easily spread the time for the completion of this cut over a century. The next formidable objection is the Bohio dam. The deepest soundings have found no suitable foundation, and it is doubtful if by any known appliances a safe dam can be constructed.

At least nine-tenths of the prospective traffic of the canal will be in the northern hemisphere, and for all such traffic the Panama route will be 400 miles longer than the Nicaragua. The Panama route is in the region of the equatorial calms or doldrums and sailing vessels, if towed through the canal to the Pacific, would often be required to go hundreds of miles out of their course to strike winds to carry them to San Francisco or other northern ports, with a loss of weeks of time. The Nicaragua route is in the direction of the trade winds. The sanitary conditions on the Panama route are notoriously about the worst in the world. The conditions are entirely salutary on the Nicaragua. No good harbors can be constructed on the Panama route, at Nicaragua there are no difficulties on either side. The earthquake scare had no reason for its existence except in the prolific imagination of Senator Hanna.

The chances are equal on all routes and no real danger on any. If work should be commenced on the Panama route, and if in years to come the United States should be so fortunate as to have a government of, for and by the people, it will then be found necessary to abandon the Panama canal and all the money expended upon it, and take up the Nicaragua canal and finish it with all possible expedition, as the only means of securing a connection between the two oceans that will be of real value to our country and to the world.

——The recess which the president takes when he flies him to Oyster Bay or goes on a two months' tour over the country is not of the "constructive" kind.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

——Republican journals are alarmed at the political effect of the Bristow report, which amounted to a confession of wholesale venality in important departments of two administrations. Democratic newspapers and leaders see in the postal disclosures, together with other administration scandals, a logical reason for asking the voters of the land to put their party in control.—St. Louis Republic.

THE PEOPLE ARE FLEECED.

How the Postal Frauds Reach Down Into the Pockets of the Voters.

The investigation of those two eminent lawyers, Holmes Conrad and Charles J. Bonaparte, of the postal scandals, expose more rottenness and involve many much higher in authority than the legal proceedings indicate. In their report they denounce Perry Heath, the secretary of the republican national committee, in immeasured terms, and say that Charles Emory Smith, ex-postmaster general; Robert Tracewell, comptroller of the treasury; Henry A. Castle, auditor for the post office department, and the late and present postmasters of Washington, D. C., all appear to have shared in the responsibility for the acts of the minor officials that have been indicted. They also say that the "Tulloch charges" have never been properly investigated. The far-reaching grab game of the minor officials has been described by the Kansas City Journal in a way that will bring the matter home to the voters:

"Whenever within the last ten years anyone in America mailed a letter, the chances were that he deposited it in a letter box which was bought by graft, painted by graft and attached to the lamp post by graft. He found what time the letter would be collected by reading a time card put on the letter box by graft. The mailcarrier who took up the letter, if he lived in the east, perhaps paid a bribe to get his job or to get an increase of salary. The postman placed the letter in a pouch suspended from a shoulder strap, both of which were sold to the government by fraud, and carried it to the post office, where, perhaps, some favored or molested clerk cancelled the stamp with ink and a machine fraudulently foisted upon the post department. The letter was then bundled up with other mail matter tied together with a piece of twine or leather thong which the government was swindled into buying, and thereupon thrown into a railroad mail bag; and this bag, its fastener, its locks, its keys, became public property by three distinct and separate grafts. Finally, the laden bag was sent off to the train according to the time fetid out by a peculiar clock, during every tick of which Uncle Sam was being outrageously robbed and swindled."

It might be added that the greatest graft has not been included, the railroads every time a wheel goes round charge Uncle Sam more than twice as much for carrying a pound of mail as they charge the express companies. The postal cars, even while standing still, are bringing rent to the railway corporations equal each year to double what they cost to buy from the car manufacturers.

Yet the voters in many states seem to approve this era of looting, and go on electing representatives of the party whose morality has departed and whose slogan is "stand pat."

PRESS COMMENTS.

——Senator Hanna's friends at least seem positive that he will not make any of those familiar feints at retiring from politics.—Washington Star.

——Perry Heath's friends are wondering what he is going to do without a political future; but it's remarkable how people can do without things when they have got to do without them.—Binghamton (N. Y.) Leader.

——There are evidences that the republicans in congress intend to have a post office investigation of their own, so as to reduce as much as possible the dividends on the democrats' political capital.—Indianapolis News (Ind.).

——There can be no doubt that the republican party, or a respectable element in it, is sore on Roosevelt and his spectacular methods. Many conservative men in the party devoutly wish they might be happily rid of him, but, like the man holding the bear by the tail, they are afraid to turn loose.—Augusta Chronicle.

——With Hanna and his friends in opposition, will not Roosevelt's nomination in 1904 become not only an uncertainty, but of doubtful practicability from a party point of view? Events seem to be tending toward a crisis in which the party may be compelled to cut loose from both Roosevelt and Hanna and take up some new man for its presidential candidate next year. Should this happen, the leaders will probably be compelled to turn to Speaker Cannon as the man to put at the head of their ticket. Mr. Cannon is free from any of the entanglements in which Roosevelt and Hanna find themselves involved.—Hartford Times.

——There are so many complications in the republican politics of New York that it must be difficult for even so observing a person as President Roosevelt to determine who are his real friends and who are not. The animosities in the great commercial and financial center are enduring. If the state should be overwhelmed by the west in the republican national convention, it does not follow that the New Yorkers are going to succumb and be good. They are "business" men, and they have not much fidelity to party when material interests are concerned.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

——Spain is evidently in the fortunate position of a man who has lifted a large mortgage which had been worrying him for many years. She has transferred her troubles to the United States. America paid her a bonus of $20,000,000 to assume the varied obligations incident to managing the governmental, religious and business affairs of the Philippines and already the general bill of direct and indirect expenses has mounted to hundreds of millions of dollars. The anti-imperialists were right when they said that our government had troubles enough of its own without assuming those of other countries.—Boston Globe

No Common Stock.

The distinguished ethnologist was the guest of the prison warden.

He was ascertaining as nearly as possible the ancestry of the various classes of prisoners.

The warden, opening one door, said: "In that department are the kleptomaniacs."

"And what stock do they spring from?" asked the distinguished ethnologist.

"Steal preferred," said the warden, who was a great wag.—Baltimore American.

Essence of Orange Leaves.

One of the remarkable industries of Paraguay is the preparation of essence of orange leaves. More than 150 years ago the Jesuit priests, who then ruled that secluded country, imported orange seeds and planted groves, which have now become immense forests, filled with small establishments for extracting the essence, which is exported to France and the United States for use in soap and perfumery making. It is also employed by the natives in Paraguay as a healing ointment and a hair tonic.

Send Wood to Germany.

Imports of wood into Germany from the United States have more than trebled since 1880, amounting in 1902 to more than $5,850,000. It consists mostly of pitch pine. This wood is more resistant to the weather and costs much less than oak. It is used for making doors, windows, floors, etc., while oak is used in the manufacture of the finer grades of furniture.

Good News from Minnesota.

Lakefield, Minn., Jan. 4.—Mr. William E. Gentry of this place is one of the best-known and most highly respected men in Jackson County. For 46 years he has suffered with Kidney Trouble and now at 77 years of age he has found a complete cure and is well.

His cure is remarkable because of the length of time he had been suffering. Cases of 40 years standing might be considered incurable, but the remedy that cured Mr. Gentry seems to know no limit to its curative power. Mr. Gentry says:

"I have suffered with misery in my back for about 45 years and had all the troublesome symptoms of Kidney and Urinary disease. I tried various kinds of remedies, but all to no effect until I tried Doan's Kidney Pills. Now I have no pain in my back and feel quite well in every way.

"I am 77 years of age and I feel better than I have for the last 40 years. I attribute it all to Doan's Kidney Pills."

"Every body says the baby looks like you. Doesn't that please you?" "I don't know," replied Popley, "but I tell you what: I'm glad nobody thinks of saying I look like the baby."—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Oat Wonder.

The Editor must tell its readers of this marvel. It originated with the largest farm seed growers in the world, the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis. It has stiff straw, stands up like a stone wall, is white, heavy, and has long ears, filled to the tip with fat, plump kernels. It is a great stooler, 80 stocks from one kernel.

IF YOU WILL SEND THIS NOTICE AND 10c IN STAMPS

to above address, you will get a sample of this Oat Wonder, which yielded in 1903 in 40 States from 250 to 300 bu. per acre, together with other farm seed samples and their big catalog. [K. L.]

Many women are denied the happiness of children through derangement of the generative organs. Mrs. Beyer advises women to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered with stomach complaint for years. I got so bad that I could not carry my children but five months, then would have a miscarriage. The last time I became pregnant, my husband got me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking the first bottle I was relieved of the sickness of stomach, and began to feel better in every way. I continued its use and was enabled to carry my baby to maturity. I now have a nice baby girl, and can work better than I ever could before. I am like a new woman."—MRS. FRANK BEYER, 22 S. The Wilderness Discipline

Why It Is Necessary and the Blessings That Are to Be Found There.

(Copyright, 1903, by J. M. Edson.)

Chicago, Sunday, Jan. 3, 1904.

Text:—"To-morrow turn you, and get you into the wilderness by the way of the Red sea."—Numbers 14:25.

BACK to the wilderness instead of on into the Promised Land! Discipline, instead of blessing! Failure, instead of victory! Suffering and privation, instead of comfort and plenty! Sorrow, instead of joy! Weariness of the journey, instead of rest and peace of home! Doubtings and fears, instead of confidence and hope! This was the penalty which fell upon Israel because of unbelief and rebellion. To-day they might have gone over into the Promised Land; to-morrow they must turn back into the wilderness. To-day the door of opportunity stands open before them; to-morrow it is shut and barred against them. To-day that which they left Egypt to obtain is within their grasp; to-morrow that hope has gone far down into the future. Unbelief and rebellion could rob the children of Israel of the blessing of God, and unbelief and rebellion can rob the children of God to-day. And not only do they rob of blessing, but they delay the realization of the plans and purposes of God. Unbelief and the rebellion resulting therefrom pay the penalty of the wilderness journey. It is weary discipline, the way seems long and hard, but by and by, when the discipline is complete, the Lord leads out to the border of the Promised Land again. In Israel we find portrayed the experience of very many of God's children. They are faithfully led by God to the border of a land of great opportunities and possibilities. It is the will and purpose of God that they should go up and possess the land. God says: "Go forward." But the walled cities look so impregnable and the giants so mighty and terrible that the heart grows faint. Unbelief takes possession and urges flight back to the Egypt of former bondage. Self is chosen cannin instead of God, and while rebellion is keeping the stubborn feet from going on into the Promised Land, the opportunity is lost, and the command of God is then heard: "To-morrow turn you, and get you into the wilderness." Then it is folly to attempt to rush on into the Promised Land. Disaster lies ahead; safety can only be found with God in the wilderness behind. Let us seek to learn with patience the lessons God would there teach us.

THE purpose of this discipline was three fold: Punishment, purification and preparation. And these are the reasons why God to-day drives His children back into the wilderness. Their sin of unbelief and rebellion must be punished. The dross of unholy desires and purposes must be burned out of their lives even as the gold is purified in the fire, and they must be prepared anew for entrance into the land of promise. Punishment for wrong doing is necessary and wholesome. It is a wise and loving parent who punishes his child for the evil deed. Many a child is ruined for time and eternity because the foolish, misguided parent believes that indulgence and the excusing and overlooking of sin is love. So was it with the sons of the Prophet Eli, a really godly man but a weak and indulgent father. See the awful fruitage of his lack of discipline through punishment. Behold David in anguish of spirit mourning over his son Absalom. How could such a godly man have such a wayward son? Why was it that Ammon and Adonijah, two others of his sons, wrought so disgracefully? Go back to the childhood and youth of these men. Indulgence instead of discipline. David a truly great and strong man when ruling a nation, but an indulgent and weak father. It was not love, real love, which withheld punishment. "He that spareth his rod hateth his son; but he that loveth him chasteneth him betimes." And delay not the punishment, but "chasten thy son while there is hope, and let not thy soul spare for his crying." Wrong doing must be punished. Love finds expression in punishment of evil. And so God punishes because He loves. The children of Israel must be punished for their unbelief and rebellion. God's children to-day must be punished for sin. But "no chastening for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous; nevertheless, afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousness unto them which are exercised thereby." Punishment is part of the wilderness discipline.

PURIFICATION was another purpose of the wilderness discipline. Israel must needs be purified from the element of unbelief before they could enter the land of promise. During those forty years of wandering one by one those who in unbelief and rebellion had thwarted the purpose of God perished in the wilderness. Not one unbelieving heart could possess the land. It is so with the child of God to-day. The wilderness experience comes that the heart and life may be freed from those things which thwart God's purposes and plans. One by one the fruits of unbelief and self-will must be plucked off and perish in the wilderness until the soul is free from all that hindered the entering into the Promised Land at the first. Purification is necessary. In our blindness and hardness of heart we may not realize it. The children of Israel did not realize it. The next day after their rebellion when they awoke to the fact that they had made a grievous mistake in not going forward in faith and obedience, they wanted to rush ahead. But it was too late! The opportunity was gone! The nation must now be purged before it could enter the land. But the people did not realize it. "They rose up early in the morning, and gat them up into the top of the mountain, saying: Lo, we be here, and will go up unto the place which the Lord hath promised; for we have sinned." And despite all that Moses could do they persisted, and great numbers fell before the swords of the enemy.

AND in similar manner to-day God's children often act. Conscious at last that sin has hindered a forward move for God; but not realizing that purification is necessary before they can go forward, they rush blindly ahead and meet with disaster and defeat. If the Lord is found now it must be in the wilderness of discipline where He commands His children to go. Back to the wilderness where you may be purified and prepared for the next opportunity of entering the promised land of service! Every night and every day of those long forty years in the wilderness were needed for the preparation of the children of Israel for entrance into the promised land. Every mile of the journey had its purpose. Every experience had its lesson which would prepare and fit for the entering into the land. And so it is with the Christian to-day. The wilderness disciplines may be long and hard and grievous, but it is all blessed preparation for the work and service lying just ahead. Refusal to turn back to the wilderness at God's command means unpreparedness which brings defeat. The wilderness discipline means preparation so that the Jerichos shall fall before our onward march and the hosts of the enemy shall flee in terror. It was sad indeed to see Israel refusing to enter the blessed land of promise and being turned back into the wilderness, but after all the wilderness became a blessedly helpful place because the Lord was there.

THE wilderness with the Lord was better than the Promised Land without the Lord. The simple diet of manna which God gave was sweeter and more wholesome than all the milk and honey and fatness of Canaan without the Lord's blessing. The journey with the Lord through the wilderness was far better than to dwell in ease and comfort in a land apart from God. The Lord in the wilderness! Think of what that means! I may not be proud because of the sad necessity which brought me there, but being there, how glad I am that the Lord is there with me. Are you in the wilderness, dear brother, dear sister? Are you rebellious? Have you shut your heart against God under His discipline? In the wilderness many, many rebellious souls perished because they would not see God. The Lord was there, but they would not believe it. In your wilderness experience are you shutting your eyes to the Lord Who has been forced to lead you there for your good? Are you refusing to believe that He is with you in the suffering, the trial, the weariness, the hardship, the danger? Then remember the children of Israel. See how God made the wilderness a blessing to them. Because His children fell Him God does not banish them to the wilderness alone. No, blessed be His mercy and love and great faithfulness! He goes into exile with us. He, too, turns His back on the land flowing with milk and honey and abides with us in the wilderness until we are again ready to enter the land. The Lord in the wilderness with us means that the punishment will be no more severe or long than is for our good; it means that the miserable dross of unbelief and rebellion which barred the pathway to the Promised Land will be purged away, and that we shall be fitted anew for the opportunity of entering when the door shall again swing open.

BUT perhaps, like Caleb and Joshua and Moses, you are in the wilderness not because of your own failure, or unbelief, or rebellion. You are the innocent sufferer for others' wrong doing. Does it not seem hard that these three great men of faith and obedience should have had to suffer so? It may seem hard and unreasonable to you to have to suffer because of what others have done, but Moses and Caleb and Joshua were needed in the wilderness, and so, too, there may be a mission for you in the wilderness. There are two reasons, I believe, why these three men were glad to go back into the wilderness: First of all, because the Lord led the way and was to be found only in that place, and second, because it was the place where they were needed most. Think you that these three faithful servants of God were idle during those forty years of wandering? They had to encourage and help and strengthen the people all about them who had not so much faith as they had, who had not the patience which they possessed, who had not the courage and perseverance with which they were endowed. And you, dear Christian, may be in the wilderness with weaker Christians all about you with a similar mission to perform. The plan of God is larger than any two or three Christians. For Moses and Caleb and Joshua to have gone into the Promised Land would not have fulfilled the promises and purposes of God. These included Israel as a nation, and Moses and his two faithful compatriots must remain with Israel and wait until the nation was ready to move forward and take possession of the Promised Land. And does not this explain why so many times the child of God is shut up in the wilderness? He must wait until the larger plan of God which includes all of God's children can be realized. And as he waits he has a ministry to perform in behalf of the weaker brother. It is blessed for even the Calebs and the Joshuas in the wilderness, for the Lord is there.

THE wilderness discipline delays but cannot thwart the plans and purposes of God. God forgive us as Christians because we so often by our conduct, by our lack of faith, by our willfulness, by our disobedience, delay the working out of God's plans. The devil is responsible for a good deal in this world. He never lets a chance slip to hinder and prevent the will of God being done in the hearts of men. But the slow progress of the Gospel in the world is not due wholly to his activity. The Kingdom of Christ suffereth violence at the hands of its friends. Christians hinder the Gospel. They delay the purposes and plans of God. I say, it is sad, indeed, that such is the case, and our hearts ought to breathe the prayer: "God forgive us! and help us to cease such conduct." But it is a blessed thought, and full of encouragement, that we cannot thwart God's plans. We may fail God, we may even be so persistent in our rebellion that He will have to set us aside as He did Saul and choose a man after His own heart through whom to fulfill His purposes, but, blessed be God! not one jot or one tittle shall pass from the purposes or plans of God until all are fulfilled. Forty years in the wilderness!—a long delay. They might have been better spent in clearing the land of the enemies of God and cleansing it from the foulness and filth of idol worship. But after all they were only years of delay. The Lord was victorious in the end through His people. They went in and possessed the land as God said they should. An entire nation in rebellion, except the two faith-inspired spies, was not sufficient to nullify those promises, or shorten the mighty arm of God. What God had promised came to pass, even though it took forty years longer to do it, and the loss of every unbelieving and rebellious heart. God cannot be thwarted in the glorious unfolding of His plans. The wilderness discipline marks delay but not defeat.

GOD has mighty and glorious purposes to fulfill through His children to-day. Not all the powers of hell, or the faithlessness of Christians, can defeat those purposes. Ah, the promised land of realization of the infinite purposes and plans of God always lies just ahead. Are we as Christians, or is the church of Jesus Christ, as made up of the true believers everywhere, wandering about through the wilderness of discipline? Has delay come? Then look not in discouragement and doubt upon the dreary wastes about you, think not of the weary way and the uncertain path before you, but lift up your eyes until they rest upon the unfailing promises of God as they fill the distant horizon with their glorious light and mark the boundaries of that land of promise into which God will lead when the discipline of the wilderness is ended. Has God said: "Turn you, and get you into the wilderness." Then long life will say to you: "Go forward." The glorious Gospel of Christ shall triumph. God declared on the occasion when Israel failed Him and He had to turn them back into the wilderness in disgrace: "But as truly as I live, all the earth shall be filled with the glory of the Lord." The full realization of that promise is yet in the future. "The earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea." "In the dispensation of the fullness of time (can you fathom all that means?) will the dispensation of the fullness of time. He shall gather together in one all things in Christ, both which are in Heaven, and which are on earth; even in Him." What glorious hope! When you get into the wilderness of discipline keep your eye on the cloudy pillar of God's presence, and wait patiently. Has God turned you back into the wilderness? Do not forget that some day:

"Jesus shall reign where'er the sun
Does his successive journeys run;
His Kingdom stretch from shore to shore

Keeping Friends.

Friendship is worth taking trouble about. It is one of the things about which we should remember the apostle's command, "Hold fast that which is good." Thoreau said: "The only danger in friendship is that it will end." Correspondence and conversation and social courtesies are the ways in which we throw guards around our friendships lest they end. A man who loses a friend for want of a letter now and then is like a man who loses his money for lack of a pocketbook. He is losing a very precious thing for lack of a very little expense and trouble. How carefully Jesus selected the close circle of his friends, and how watchfully he guarded their mutual friendship after he had selected them. The friend who sticketh closer than a brother is always one who has taken some trouble in the matter of his friendships. Let us be careful that we do not go through life with holes in our pockets through which our friendships slip.—S. S. Timer.

Cinematograph and Surgery.

The cinematograph seems to have been rather successfully used by Paris surgeons for a very novel purpose, namely, that of exhibiting to medical students how typical surgical operations should be carried out.

PURELY PERSONAL.

Senators have a terrible time wrestling with Spanish words. They put the accents on the wrong syllables or give erroneous sounds to the vowels.

It is thought by those interested in the sale in London of the original manuscript of Milton's "Paradise Lost" that the offer of $250,000 for the work is made by J. Pierpont Morgan.

Athur Chamberlain, of Birmingham, England, a nephew of Joseph Chamberlain, has been touring Canada, partly on business and partly on pleasure. He bears a strong resemblance to Joseph, and looks and talks like a sharp, shrewd man of business.

Senator Hoar in his remarkable speech last week dealt frequently with the word "Panama," which he invariably spoke as though it rhymed with "pajama." Senator Daniel, the eloquent Virginian, had occasion to speak often of the treaty of New Granada, which he pronounced as though it rhymed with Canada.

George Winfield Scott, class of '96, of Stanford university, has been appointed chief of the newly-created division of law of the library of congress at Washington. The position is an administrative one and the salary has been fixed at $3,000 a year. He will go to Europe in January in the interest of the government and will remain there about ten months, after which he will go to South America. While abroad he will be chiefly busied with law work and the gathering of books for the library of congress. Mr. Scott is a New York man and has held scholarships in Columbia, Cornell, Chicago and the University of Pennsylvania.

LITTLE TALES OF KINGS.

King Alfonso is giving his subjects lessons in agriculture.

Since his throat trouble, Emperor William has changed his voice, modulating it so as to reduce the pressure on the vocal chords. He now speaks in a rome what lower pitch, his throat specialists having explained to him the theory of voice production, which he has practiced with considerable success.

King Edward made a fresh manifestation of his tact and kindliness recently by sending a letter inquiring as to the condition of a member of parliament who had undergone an operation for appendicitis. The king said that as he had been subjected to a severe operation for the same malady, he had a fellow feeling for all who had to endure similar suffering. His act was the more noteworthy from the fact that the member is a prominent representative of a party which does not look with favor on kings or on an aristocracy.

Victor Emmanuel III. of Italy is one of the least kingly among European rulers. In person homely, awkward in manner, and exceedingly shy in company, he thoroughly detests the dreary tomfoolery of court life, though he loyally refrains from shirking any of the duties falling to his position. He has no fondness for appearing in military uniforms, nor does he imagine that he is an able general simply because on occasion he has to wear the habiliments of a soldier. His majesty is very well read in science and literature, and is never so content as when in the company of his wife. His court is the most democratic in Europe.

TONGUE-TWISTERS.

Six thick thistle sticks.

Flesh of freshly fried flying fish.

The sea ceaseth, but it sufficeth us.

Give Grimes Jim's great gilt gig-whip.

Two toads totally tired tried to trot to Tedbury.

GOVERNOR OF OREGON

Uses Pe-ru-na in His Family For Colds and Grip.

CAPITOL BUILDING, SALEM, OREGON.

A Letter From The Governor of Oregon.

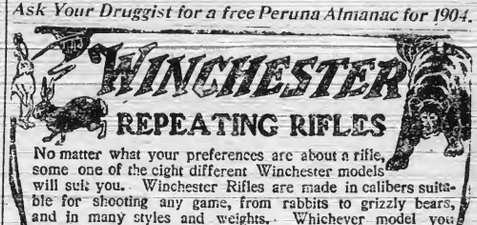
Pe-ru-na is known from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Letters of congratulation and commendation testifying to the merits of Peruna as a catarrh remedy are pouring in from every State in the Union. Dr. Hartman is receiving hundreds of such letters daily. All classes write these letters, from the highest to the lowest.

The outdoor laborer, the indoor artisan, the clerk, the editor, the statesman, the preacher, all agree that Peruna is the catarrh remedy of the age. Pe-ru-na and rostrum, recognizing catarrh as their greatest enemy, are especially enthusiastic in their praise and testimony.

Any man who wishes perfect health must be entirely free from catarrh. Catarrh is well nigh universal; almost omnipresent. Peruna is the only absolute safeguard known. A cold is the beginning of catarrh. To prevent colds, to cure colds, is to expel catarrh out of its victims. Peruna not only cures catarrh, but prevents it. Every household should be supplied with this great remedy for coughs, colds and so forth.

The Governor of Oregon is an ardent admirer of Peruna. He keeps it continually in the house. In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman, he says:

STATE OF OREGON,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.



The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:

Dear Sirs—I have had occasion to use your Peruna medicine in my family for colds, and it proved to be an excellent remedy. I have not had occasion to use it for other ailments.

Yours very truly, W. M. Lord.

It will be noticed that the Governor says he has not had occasion to use Peruna for other ailments. The reason for this is, most other ailments begin with a cold. Using Peruna to promptly cure a cold protects the family against other ailments. This is exactly what every other family in the United States should do. Keep Peruna in the house. Use it for coughs, colds, la grippe, and other climatic affections of winter, and there will be no other ailments in the house. Such fatalities should provide themselves with a copy of Dr. Hartman's free book, entitled, "Winter Catarrh." Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O.

EVERY member will hurry to get his bill in.

THIS year will be full to overflowing of politics.

KENTUCKY has the legislature on her hands, and as usual "it is the finest looking and most intelligent law-making body of men that ever assembled at Frankfort."

BLACK LEG has appeared among the cattle in several neighborhoods in Gallatin county, and Dr. Walker, the veterinarian, who has been attending the stock reports fifteen deaths from the disease. There is considerable uneasiness on the part of Gallatin covnty cattle owners.

THERE was less disorder in Jackson on Christmas night than there had been for many years, but the few who did amuse themselves with their shooting irons were surprised when they were arrested and heavily fined in the police court the next day.

IT is said that there is no longer any doubt that a bill will be introduced in the present legislature providing an educational qualification for voters. Some contend that a constitutional amendment will be necessary before such a law can be enforced.

LAST Monday morning the Courier-Journal began running a morning train to Lexington, where connections will be made with other trains by which that paper will cover the greater portion of the State by noon on the day of publication. The C.-J. is truly a great paper.

THE Rising Sun Recorder, a never-flicker Republican paper, says of Cincinnati's two large dailies:

"The Cincinnati Enquirer comes nearer being a Republican paper than the Commercial Tribune, and is more straitforward and honest. It is not simply a spoils sheet."

HON. JOHN P. NEWMAN, Circuit Judge-elect of Campbell county, died at his home in Newport, last Friday. He had been in bad health for some time, but his death was unexpected. His physicians thought he was getting better when they last saw him, which was only a few hours previous to his death.

THE annual review of R. G. Dunn & Co. says that the past year was one of readjustment and retrenchment in the financial and industrial interests of the United States. It declares that the five years of unprecedented success undoubtedly produced financial and industrial excess. The retrenchment and working off of this excess during the past year has been done without any sensational bankruptcies or failures. Despite the irregularities in the steel, cotton and other markets, the review predicts that everything will be righted during the present year.

EVERY week it looks more like Senator Hanna will have to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for the Presidency. There is very strong opposition to the nomination of President Roosevelt, but it may not be strong enough to take from him the nomination which he would be sure to receive were the convention held in the next few weeks. Roosevelt has to fight avowed party opponents, while there is a strong contingent of secret opposition to him, the two surrounding his prospects with an element of doubt that makes his position anything but comfortable.

At the close of last year there was a net balance in the treasury exclusive of all warrants and checks, of $1,505, 597 65. This is the largest amount that the State of Kentucky in its history of 112 years has had on hand at the end of any year, and the largest sum of money which has ever confronted a General Assembly in the history of the State. All of the asylums, house of reform, asylum for the deaf and dumb, blind asylum and the penitentiaries were paid up to the end of the year, and all general claims against the state were thoroughly paid up, there being only a few claims of small amounts unaudited.

JOHN HENRY SLATER.

John H. Slater, died at the residence of his son, Dr. Charles R. Slater, of Erlanger, Ky., on the 13th day of December, 1903, aged, 71 years, 10 months and 20 days. He had been partially paralyzed for a number of years and was an invalid and constant sufferer from that time until the day of his death. He was married to Miss Nannie Elliston, daughter of Robt. Elliston, an old, respected and pioneer citizen of Grant county, on Dec. 28th, 1859. To this happy union were born three children, two of whom, with the widow, still survive: Dr. Chas. R. Slater, the efficient and popular physician of Erlanger, Ky., and Mrs. Fannie Lamaster, who lives near Campbellsburg, Henry county, Kentucky.

Thus passes away to his long home another of the noble citizens of Boone county. He was a man of fine nobility of character, and his nature was rich in that fiber which gives strength and standing to all leading and prominent men in all communities. This quality, though strongly possessed, was not aggressive in him. He was entirely free from ostentation, or any feeling or manifestation that was not wholly sincere. He was a man of the highest honor and integrity, with unobtrusive manners, and a quiet, gentle and affectionate disposition, and popular with all with whom he came in contact. He had often been solicited by his friends to offer for public positions in his county, but he always declined as being inconsistent with his tastes and desires, and considered it more agreeable to assist some one else. Handsome in appearance, courtly and polite in his bearing, his warm and cordial greeting, stamped him, a born gentleman, of the old school, now becoming so rare, whose dominant impulses were kindliness of heart, and old time hospitality. And in these virtues he was not excelled. No man possessed a more lovable and sympathetic nature, and no man's hospitality was broader or more generous according to his means.

During the long years of his residence on his farm, near Big Bone Lick, his home was the Mecca for pleasure loving people, and the abiding place for unalloyed pleasure, and royal entertainment, for old and young, for neighbor and friend, for kinspeople and for the stranger as well. All alike were welcome, and all alike felt the generous glow of his magnetism, and the warmth of his hospitality. His was a nature that delighted much more in extending favors and courtesies than in receiving, and all who came under his influence became his loyal and loving friends. And so in after years when the proud, handsome form was bent and tortured with affliction, he turned to these friends with all the affection of a little child, and whose presence and tender words as they would meet him and take him by the hand, gave him much of strength to bear the pains of the insidious disease. At no time in his whole life was his true character more strikingly exemplified than in these last days when all the warmth and affection of his nature were so strongly and beautifully exhibited. It was pathetic to see the frail body revive, and the old sparkle of hospitality return at the presence of any of his friends as they would drop in to see him. How he would cling to them and recall incidents of the happy associations of the days that were past and gone.

And thus the noble and gentle life flitted and faded, "like a lamp when the oil is all burned, or the sweet, tender story when the last page is turned," wandering and reveling in the reminiscenses of the distant past, and recalling the names in semi-delirium of many who were dear to him, until unconsciousness came to blot out mind and memory, and then the peaceful end.

He was an exemplary Christian, having united with the Baptist church at Big Bone in 1884, under the preaching of Rev. L. Johnson, and his body was conveyed to the same church on the 22d of December, where his funeral was preached in the presence of a large number of friends and neighbors by the same Rev. L. Johnson, and then he was laid to rest by the side of his little three year old daughter, Minnie, in the church cemetery.

Don't Worry.

This is easier said than done, yet it may be of some help to consider the matter. If the cause is something over which you have no control it is obvious that worrying will not help the matter in the least. On the other hand, if within your control you have only to act. When you have a cold and fear an attack of pneumonia, buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and use it judiciously and all cause for worry as to the outcome will quickly disappear. There is no danger of pneumonia when it is used. For sale by all druggists.

THE Chicago theater fire, of last week, was too appalling to read about. It appears that the loss of so many lives was the result of criminal negligence on the part of some person or persons.

The death of Dr. W. A. Clore, at his home near Bullittsville, about 10 o'clock Monday morning was a great shock to this part of the county. He had pneumonia and was thought to be improving up to within a few minutes berore he expired. He leaves a wife and an aged father and mother, and numerous friends to mourn his death. He was a member of Burlington Masonic Lodge, under the aupices of which the funeral will be conducted at 2 p. m. today.

Shortly before noon, last Wednesday, Mrs. S. H. Marshall, of the Hathaway neighborhood, who was at home alone, discovered that the roof of the residence was afire. Having a telephone in the house she notified all the neighbors who have phones, and then went to the second story and began throwing out bed clothing. In a short time the neighbors began arriving and about everything on the first floor was saved. Had it not been for Mrs. Marshall's great presence of mind everything in the building would have been lost. The house was built by the late David Clements, and was a nice commodious frame building. The insurance on the house was $1,200 and on contents, $210, the policy being in the Boone County Company.

L. H. Voshell, of Union, has received a letter from W. B. Hawkins, President of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association, from which the following extract is made:

"Dear Sir:—The Committee to finance our Association feels so much encouraged that they are sending these words of cheer to each one of the Executive Committee and hope they will disseminate the news to the people in their respective counties. In talking to you I want to talk just as if were face to face.

"On my return from an interview with some capitalists I gave this information which was published in Courier-Journal: 'W. B. Hawkins, President of the Kentucky Burley Tobacco Growers Association has sent out another note of encouragement to the members of the Association. President Hawkins says that they are now confident of the full success of the undertaking and that financial backing for the enterprise will now be forthcoming. He promises to give full details of the deal by which the gigantic organization is to be effected in the next two weeks.'"

Mr. Voshell has copies of the new contract which he will furnish on application.

The meeting of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association held at the court house, Dec. 22nd, had the new agreement up for discussion, and while no one signed yet copies were taken to each school district for careful consideration of the growers in said districts, and to meet here Saturday, Jan. 9th, to decide if such agreement is to be signed. This new agreement is similar to the other, only the people proposing to handle the tobacco expect to get enough signatures to guarantee a large quantity of tobacco in a pool which the financial end expects to sell and then ordered delivered and paid for. The matter should have careful thought and all should then attend the meeting to be held at Warsaw, next Saturday, Jan. 9th, at 1 o'clock sharp.—Warsaw Independent.

The dedication exercises of the new Christian church at Erlanger, will be held on Sunday, Jan. 10th, at 10:30 a. m., 2:30 and 7 p.m. Rev. T. M. Rains, of Cincinnati, will have charge of the ceremonies and will be assisted by the pastor, Rev. L. B. Hawkins, Rev. Geo. A. Miller, of Covington, and Rev. Edgar D. Jones, the former pastor but now of Cleveland, Ohio. The brethren throughout Boone county are especially invited to be present at these exercises, which will put the finishing touches upon, and consecrate to divine purposes a building that is said to be the most beautiful and complete country church in the State of Kentucky. Costing above $8000, it has every modern appliance as to convenience and comfort, with the most improved furnace for heating, lighted with acetylene gas, fitted with the latest design in church furniture, and adorned by three of the most artistic memorial art glass windows in this or any other State, it stands as a monument to the zeal and christian spirit of a little band of Desciples, who, while laboring under many difficulties, have accomplished a great work. SPECIAL MESSAGE ON PANAMA CANAL

TREATY SHOULD BE RATIFIED

Says There Was No Complicity on Part of This Government in Revolution —Charges Colombia with Greed —All Interests Demand Canal.

Washington, Jan. 4.—President Roosevelt's special message to congress on the subject of the Panama canal treaty treats largely of the history of the negotiations and events leading up to it and the part of the United States in it.

He refers to the previous legislation authorizing the president to conclude a treaty with Colombia for the building of the canal, and if after a reasonable lapse of time it was found impossible to secure the necessary territory from Colombia to revert to the Nicaraguan route for the construction of the canal. The latter alternative, he says, is now unnecessary, as the control of the necessary territory in Panama has been secured. Referring to the ratification of the treaty by Colombia by that nation, he says:

"This act made the chief of the effort on the part of the United States to secure so far as legislation was concerned, an interoceanic canal across the isthmus. The effort to secure a treaty for this purpose with one of the Central American republics did not result in the same fooling with the effort to secure a treaty under any ordinary conditions.

"Under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty it was explicitly provided that the United States should control, police and protect the canal which was to be built, keeping it open for the vessels of all nations on equal terms. The United States assumed the position of guarantor of the canal and of its property, use by all the world. The guaranty included as a matter of course the building of the canal. The enterprise was recognized as corresponding to an international need, and it would be the veriest travesty on right and justice to treat the government in possession of the isthmus as having the right to close the gates of intercourse on the great highways of the world, and justify the act by the pretension that these avenues of trade and travel belong to them and that they choose to shut them."

Position of United States.

"When this government submitted to Colombia the Hay-Herran treaty three things were, therefore, already settled:

"One was that the canal was to be built. The time for delay, the time for permitting the attempt to be made by private enterprise, the time for permitting any government of anti-social spirit and of mere greed of development to bar the way, was past. The whole civilized world was in connection with the canal certainly responsible not only to itself, its own people, but to the civilized world, which imperatively demanded that there should no longer be delay in beginning and making it.

"Second—While it was settled that the canal should be built without unnecessary or improper delay, it was also clearly shown to be our purpose to deal not merely in a spirit of justice but in a spirit of generosity with the power across whose land we might build it. The Hay-Herran treaty was framed at our request by the director of the new enterprise to secure to Colombian government. In our anxiety to be more than generous we did a wrong in yielding to a weak nation's demands what that nation was honestly unable to enforce from its people, and will. The only criticisms made upon the administration for the terms of the Hay-Herran treaty are based upon the fear that too much to Colombia, not for failure to grant enough. Neither in the congress nor in the public press at the time that this treaty was formulated, was there complaint that it did not give the most and amplest manner guarantee to Colombia everything that she could by any color of right demand.

"Nor is the fact to be lost sight of that the rejected treaty, while generously responding to the pecuniary demands of Colombia, in other respects merely provided for the reconstruction of the canal in conformity with the express requirements of the act of the congress of June 28, 1902. By this act, as heretofore noted, the president was authorized to acquire from Colombia, for the purposes of the canal, perpetual control of a strip of public land; and it was expressly required that the control thus to be obtained should include jurisdiction to make sanitary and sanitary regulations and to establish such judicial tribunals as might be necessary for their enforcement. These were conditions precedent prescribed by the congress and for the fulfillment of which ample stipulations were embodied in the treaty. It has been stated in public prints that Colombia objected to these stipulations on the ground that they involved a relinquishment of her sovereignty; but in the light of what has taken place, this alleged objection must be considered as an afterthought. In reality, the treaty merely left her sovereignty over the canal strip, expressly acknowledged, confirmed, guaranteed and reserved her sovereignty over it. The treaty in this respect simply proceeded on the lines on which all the negotiations leading up to the present situation have been conducted, in these negotiations the United States and United States, subject to the paramount rights of the local sovereign, of a substantial control over the territory and immediately adjacent territory, has been treated as a fundamental part of any arrangement that might be made. It had formed an essential feature of all our plans, and its necessity is fully recognized in the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. Our purpose, in drawing the treaty which was finally rejected by Colombia, was to insure a canal across Panama and that whether the republic granting the site was ruled by New Granada, Colombia or Panama it entered not one whit. As events turned out, the question of "reasonable time" did not enter into the matter at all. Although, as the months went by, it became increasingly improbable that the Colombian congress would ratify the treaty or take steps which would be equivalent thereto, no change or offer to such action on their part did not vanish until the congress closed at the end of October and was publicly known to have so done. Then, and not before, the revolution in Panama had its inception. Panama has long been a separate state, and the control of the territory necessary for building the canal then became vested in it. The control in number which alone we could have gone to Nicaragua thereby became immediately and completely vested in the new republic. Panama should not be retained by the senate, this would not affect the fact that we could not go to Nicaragua. The congress has decided the route, and there is no alternative under existing legislation."

The president argues that even the failure of the Colombian congress to ratify the treaty in accordance with our agreement would have in no to the Nicaragua route, and that he had made the preliminary steps for the latter route along that line. This was one of three alternatives that confronted the government, and the one which, in the light of Panama's interests, the president deemed the best. Panama might, for the protection of their own interests, have taken the matter in their own hands and declared their independence of Colombia, and would be in duty bound to do so when the consequences of the action, the reverting to the Nicaraguan route unnecessary, and, in fact, impossible, were fully explained to the president as vested in him by the action of congress.

Report of Commander Hubbard.

The president emphatically denies that the government had any hand in the instigating of this revolution. He knew, as all the world did, that such was imminent, and that the government took necessary measures to protect American interests, but nothing further. He says copies of the orders sent to commanding officers of American warships, and of their various reports upon the situation. The charges of complicity in fomenting a revolution in Panama are met by the statement that these were made by the prefect of Colon to the effect that the Colombian officers, Gen. Tobar and Admiral Astaiza, had left Colon for Panama on the evening of the 4th of November by the independents and held as prisoners, were not released for two or three days. He, Torres, would open fire on the town if Colon and kill every United States citizen in the place, and my advice and action were requested. I advised that all the United States citizens should seek refuge in the shed of the Panama Railroad company, a stone building sufficient for protection against ordinary violence, and that I would immediately land such body of men, with extra arms or ammunition, as might be necessary for arming the crew of the Nashville, if any of the ship would be made. This was agreed to by Torres and I returned on board, arriving at 11:15 p. m. The order for landing was immediately given and at 1:30 a. m. on the morning of the 5th I went ashore with a party of 42 men under the command of Lieut. Commander H. M. Witzel, with ammunition and rations, and assumed the command. Time being pressing, I gave verbal orders to Mr. Witzel to take the building and defend it, and to protect with the best state of defence possible, and protect the lives of the citizens assembled there without firing unless fired into. The Colombians surrounded the building for the remainder of the night, but immediately after we had taken possession, and for about one and a half hours thereafter, threatened to attack us, but did not seemingly their purpose to provoke an attack. Happily our men were cool and steady, and with the exception of firing a great no shot was fired. At about 3:45 p. m. Col. Torres came into the building of his own free will and expressed himself as most friendly to Americans, claiming that the whole affair was a misapprehension and that he would like to go with the alcalde of Colon to Panama to explain matters. I agreed to this with the concurrence of the show of force. A special train was furnished and safe conduct guaranteed, and at 4:30 p. m. Col. Torres made the proposition of withdrawing his troops to Monkey Hill, if I would withdraw the Nashville's force and leave the town in possession of the police until the return of the alcalde on the morning of the 5th. This I agreed with and the United States consul and Col. Shaler assented thereto. Before finally closing the matter, I decided to accept the proposition and brought my men on board, the departure in my judgment of the troops and that of the Colombians, nearly ten to one, making no desirous of avoiding a conflict so long as we could in with the protection of American citizens, was not imperiled.

"I am positive that the determined attitude of our men, their coolness and evident intention of standing their ground, and a reasonable quantity with effect on the immediate situation and was the chief reason for the ultimate abandoning of Colon by these troops and their return to Cartagena the following day.

"I feel that I can confidently strongly represent to the department the grossness of this outrage and the insult to our dignity on part from the savagery of the threat."

In view of the reports of the various naval officers present on the scene the president concludes "that, instead of there having been too much provision by the American government for the maintenance of order and the protection of life and property on the isthmus, the orders for the movement of the American warships had been too long delayed; so long, in fact, that there were but 42 marines and sailors available to land and protect the lives of American men and women. It was only the coolness and gallantry with which this little band of men wearing the American uniform faced ten times their number of armed foes, and thereby prevented a treacherous threat of the Colombian commander, that prevented a murderous catastrophe. As I remarked before, the revolution broke out, there was no American man-of-war and no American troops or sailors. At Colon, Commander Hubbard acted with entire impartiality towards both sides, preventing disembarkation at that city of Colombians or the Panamans, which would tend to produce bloodshed. On November 3 he prevented a body of the revolutionists from landing at Colon."

No Complicity in Revolution.

Referring to the charges of complicity of this government in the revolution the president says:

"I hesitate to refer to the injurious insinuations which have been made of complicity by this government in the revolutionary movement in Panama. They are as destitute of foundation as of propriety. The only excuse for my mentioning them is the fear lest unthinking persons might mistake for acquiescence the silence of mere self-respect. I think proper to say, therefore, that no one connected with this government had any part in preparing, inciting or encouraging the late revolution on the Isthmus of Panama, and that save from the reports of our military and naval officers, gained always in the exercise of their ordinary duties, no one connected with this government had any previous knowledge of the revolution. Neither in point of fact did any person connected with the government of the United States say anything to any person on the Isthmus of Panama in relation to the matter, save in the case of the instructions given to the naval officers, which were sent to them for the purpose of preventing the breaking out of hostilities between the Colombian and Panaman forces, and for the protection of the persons and property of citizens of the United States on the Isthmus, and of the traffic across the Isthmus, in accordance with the existing treaty rights of the United States. Any such charge is entirely unfounded. The first knowledge that any person connected with the government had of the revolution was derived from the cablegrams sent by the consular officers of the United States at Panama and Colon announcing the actual outbreak of the revolution. Reports from naval officers show that the people of the Isthmus have long desired to free themselves from the control of the United States, and that the revolution was practically unanimous. The people of Panama considered, and with reason, that the control exercised by the United States under the treaty of 1846 with New Granada was transferred to Colombia and now to Panama. Of the second result he says:

"This recognition was, in the second place, entirely just. It is the high duty of every nation to see that the transit across its territory is kept open, peaceable and free for the use of the world on equitable terms. Panama has recognized and discharged this duty in the past, and will undoubtedly do so in the future. Moreover, the interests of the whole civilized world demand that the control of the Panama canal should be in the hands of a power which will not exact terms or put obstacles in the way of free use by the world at large. Panama has shown that it realizes the importance of these points, and has made proposals which in my judgment are entirely satisfactory. Finally, the canal is dug primarily for the benefit of the people who live on the Isthmus of Panama, and the right of self-government of these people is far more important than any fancied question of sentiment as to the government of the territory through which the canal runs."

He reviews these reasons at considerable length and justifies the early recognition on these and a number of other precedents to show that treaties concluded with the nation are binding upon the successors of that nation, citing the treaty of 1846 with New Granada was transferred to Colombia and now to Panama. Of the second result he says:

"This recognition was, in the second place, entirely just. It is the high duty of every nation to see that the transit across its territory is kept open, peaceable and free for the use of the world on equitable terms. Panama has recognized and discharged this duty in the past, and will undoubtedly do so in the future. Moreover, the interests of the whole civilized world demand that the control of the Panama canal should be in the hands of a power which will not exact terms or put obstacles in the way of free use by the world at large. Panama has shown that it realizes the importance of these points, and has made proposals which in my judgment are entirely satisfactory. Finally, the canal is dug primarily for the benefit of the people who live on the Isthmus of Panama, and the right of self-government of these people is far more important than any fancied question of sentiment as to the government of the territory through which the canal runs."

In the same connection he charges Colombia with attempting to sell what she had ratification of any canal that was to take place that government in a position not only to secure the $10,000,000 and the annuity as an equivalent for its franchise and rights as well. By waiting until October 31, 1904, the franchise of the Panama company would have expired, and the Colombian government be in a position to seize its property and rights under the isthmus, and then be in a position to demand of the United States the payment of the $40,000,000 named in the treaty. In connection he says:

"Such is the scheme to which it was proposed that the United States should be invited to become a party. The conception of the grand way to be dedicated to the inalienable future rights of Colombia was, by reason of her own delay, to be placed in the more embarrassing position of asking not merely for the compensation to be paid by the United States for the canal, but for the same compensation to be paid by the United States for the canal, which, by the express terms of the treaty, she herself had agreed for the next 100 years to be paid by the property of the New Panama Canal Company. Such an attempt to carry out Colombia's scheme would have brought Colombia into a position in the eyes of the civilized world, not to be doubted, and would have caused the United States to be placed in a position of peculiar humiliation from which every self-respecting American would have shrunk. Under the circumstances, on the first appearance of danger to Colombia, troops have been summoned to the spot in order to give effect to the guaranties of the treaty of 1846 and all this in spite of a duty which the government has recognized in its first stage by the wanton disregard of our own rights.

"Due to Colombia for injury to the citizens of a friendly nation who, moreover, made large sums in the building of the railroad and who by their action have become a matter of history.

"As the final reason for speedily acting in the matter, I advance the following:

"In the third place, I emphatically repudiate that the responsibility for the events in Panama can be justified by the interests of collective civilization. If ever a case arose where a government could be forced to exercise police duty in order to prevent the accomplishment of a public calamity by wicked or dangerously unwise people, it arose when the Panama revolution broke out. The control of the transit across the Isthmus of Panama was a matter of vital importance to the whole civilized world. Any one of a dozen different governments might properly have taken action to prevent the work of building the canal from being stopped by a revolution. The United States was the one power which was in the best position to act, and which was most clearly bound to act, because of its relations to the canal. Any other power would have been equally justified in acting, but the United States was the one power which was actually bound to act. Our position with regard to the canal has been such as to entail upon us the responsibility of securing its construction; and, having undertaken to do this work, we are bound to see that it is carried through. Our own interests, the interests of the Panamans themselves, and the interests of the whole civilized world alike demanded that we should act to prevent the destruction of the work

HUNDREDS PERISH IN BURNING THEATER.

Fire Broke Out in the Iroquois, Chicago, and Over 500 Persons Killed in a Panic.

Dead Bodies Were Piled Four and Five Feet in Depth at the Foot of the Stairways.

EXPLOSION FOLLOWED THE FIRE.

Scores of Persons Discovered in the Aisles With Their Faces Completely Trampled Off.

The Corpses Hauled Away From the Play House Piled on Wagons Like Cords of Wood.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—Hundreds of people were killed in ten minutes Wednesday afternoon during a fire in the Iroquois theater, the newest, the largest, and as far as human power could make it, the safest theater in Chicago.

A few of these people were burned to death by fire, many were suffocated by gas, and scores were trampled to death in the panic that followed the mad plunge of the frightened audience for the exits.

There were bodies lying by the dozens Wednesday night in the undertaking rooms, in the police stations, and in the hospitals from which nearly everything that could reveal their identity to those who knew them best is gone. Their clothing is torn to rags or burned to cinders and their faces have been trampled into an unrecognizable pulp by the heels of the crowd that trampled them down as they fled for safety.

The fire broke out during the second act of the play "Mr. Bluebeard," which was the first dramatic production given in the theater since its erection. The company, which was very large, escaped to the street in safety, nearly all of them, however, being compelled to flee into the snowy streets with no clothing but their stage costumes. A few members of the company sustained minor injuries but none were seriously hurt.

As soon as the fire was discovered Eddie Foy, the chief comedian of the company, shouted to lower the curtain, and this was immediately done. It descended about half way and then stuck.

The fire thus was given practically a line through which a strong draft was setting, aided by the doors which had been thrown open in the front of the theater. With a roar and a bound the flames shot through the opening over the heads of the people on the first floor and reaching clear up to those in the first balcony, caught them and burned them to death where they sat. Immediately following this rush of flames there came an explosion which lifted the entire roof of the theater from its walls, shattering the great skylight into fragments. As soon as the flames first appeared beyond the curtain a man in the rear of the hall shouted "Fire! Fire!" and the entire audience rose as one person and made for the doors. It is believed that the explosion was caused by the flames coming in contact with the gas reservoirs of the theater, causing them to burst.

The audience in its rush for the outer air seems to have, for the greater part, chosen to flee to the left entrance and to attempt to make its way down the eastern stairway leading into the lobby of the theater. Outside of the people burned and suffocated by gas, it was in these two doorways on the first and second balconies that the greatest loss of life occurred. When the firemen entered the building the dead were found stretched in a pile reaching from the head of the stairway at least eight feet from the door back to a point about five feet in the rear of the door.

This mass of dead bodies in the center of the doorway reached to within two feet of the top of the passageway. All of the corpses at this point were women and children. The fight for life which must have taken place at these two points is something that is simply beyond human power to adequately describe. Only a faint idea of its horror could be derived from the aspect of the bodies as they lay. Women on top of these masses of dead had been overtaken by death as they were crawling on their hands and knees over the bodies of those who had died before.

As one by one the bodies were dragged out of the water soaked, blackened mass of corpses, the spectacle became more and more heartrending. There were women whose clothing was torn completely from their bodies above the waist, whose bosoms had been trampled into a pulp and whose faces were marred beyond all power of identification. Bodies lay in the first and second balconies in great numbers. In some places they were piled up in the aisles three and four deep, where one had fallen and other tripped over the prostrate forms, and all had died where they lay, evidently suffocated by the gas. Others were bent over backs of seats where they had been thrown by the rush of people for the doors and killed without hardly a chance to rise from their seats.

The theater has been constructed but a short time and all its equipment was not yet in place. This was unfortunately the case with a fire escape in the rear of the building. The small iron balconies to which the iron ladder was to be attached were up but the ladder had not yet been constructed.

When the panic was at its height a great number of women ran for these fire escapes, only to find as they emerged from the doorway upon the little iron platform that they were 30 to 35 feet from the ground, a fire behind and no method of escape in front. In a few moments the iron ledges were jammed with crowds of women who screamed, fought and tore at each other like maniacs.

Although all the patrol wagons and every ambulance owned by the city were pressed into service, they were utterly inadequate to carry away the dead, and in a short time there was a line of corpses 50 feet long, piled two and three high, on the sidewalk in front of the theater. It was found necessary in order to convey the bodies rapidly to the morgue, and to the various undertaking establishments, to impress trucks into service, and in these, upon costly blankets furnished by the city goods stores in the vicinity, and covered with the same material, the dead were hauled away practically like so much cord wood.

One large truck, ordinarily used for conveying freight to depots, was so heavily loaded with dead in front of the theater that the two large horses attached to it were unable to start, and the police were compelled to assist by tugging at the wheels. When the need for trucks to remove the dead was more pressing, a huge electric delivery wagon owned by Montgomery Ward & Co. was hailed by the police.

While scores of men were busy carrying out the dead and injured, others, fortunately few in number, searched the aisles and seats for valuables. Two men were found who had provided themselves with baskets and were filling them with the property of the dead. They were immediately placed under arrest and the theater ushers and stage hands were given the work of collecting all the valuables on the floor of the theater. During the evening the police arrested over a dozen men accused of being thieves and pickpockets.

Chicago, Jan. 1.—For the first time since Chicago has possessed bells to peal, whistles to shriek and horns to blow, the old year was allowed to silently take its place in history and the new year permitted to come with no evidence of joy at its birth.

In an official proclamation issued Thursday afternoon by Mayor Carter H. Harrison he made the suggestion that the usual New Year's eve celebration be for this time omitted. The idea found a ready response in the hearts of the people and the mayor's words in fact only gave utterance to the unexpressed thought that had filled them all.

The appalling calamity of Wednesday in the Iroquois theater has cast Chicago into the deepest grief and gloom, and for the time being at least seems to have chilled and deadened all the ordinary ambitions of life. Business Friday was performed with the sole view to actual necessity and even that much was carried out in a perfunctory manner.

In addition to his proclamation issued during the afternoon suggesting that the usual New Year's festivities be abandoned, Mayor Harrison Thursday night made the announcement that all departments of the city hall will be closed on Saturday, January 2, on account of the calamity at the Iroquois theater. He made the request that all business houses throughout the city also close on that day.

From early in the morning until late at night crowds besieged the undertaking rooms and hospitals looking for the dead and injured. Policemen were detailed at all places where the dead and injured had been carried, to restrain the anxious men and women who pressed in at the doorways and inquired for their lost friends and relatives.

The scenes that were enacted around the bodies of the little children were pathos itself. There were so many of them and they had evidently been such beautiful children, and were so handsomely dressed, that the comparison between what they had been and what they were caused men and women alike to turn away weeping from the bodies of the little ones. There has been no sadder feature connected with the disaster than the killing of so many little children. It is the one thing that seems to overpower all visitors to the morgue beyond anything else.

Six bushel baskets of valuables and trinkets of various descriptions were gathered by the police and firemen and turned over to the coroner. Among these were fully a dozen watches, and in every case the watch had stopped at 3:50 o'clock, the time when the fire broke out.

Twelve employes of the Iroquois theater were arrested Thursday night on orders issued by Chief of Police O'Neill. The charge against them is at present that of being accessory to manslaughter. They will be held pending the verdict of the coroner's jury. Five of the arrested men are stage hands and scene shifters. After being taken in custody by the police, four of them told Chief O'Neill that they had been requested by people connected with the theater to leave the city. When asked who advised them to do this they at first refused to say, but later admitted that the advice was given by Assistant Stage Manager Plunkitt.

They said they were about to follow Plunkitt's advice and all of them had packed their trunks and would have been out of the city had not the police arrested them.

Twelve members of the city council Thursday inspected the theater and after doing so returned to the city hall and called on the building department. They asked to see the plans of the theater and Mr. Stanhope produced them. "How about sprinklers?" demanded Alderman Jones, who was one of the investigating committee.

"The way the theater is built, they can be left out," Mr. Stanhope replied. "And anyhow the flames spread so rapidly that no sprinkling system would have availed anything."

Alderman Jones then remarked that the ordinance requires all exits to be marked.

"That will be looked into," Mr. Stanhope said. "Remember, however, that the lights were out and that many of the people were killed in their seats."

Pointing to the diagram of the theater, Alderman Herman said:

"Here is a passageway on the south side of the first balcony which looks as though it led to a stairway. But in the darkness the people scrambling through it were caught like rats in a trap. They could not get either way. The confusion of exits was such that no one could find his way in the dark. If those things are considered exits, I don't know what constitutes an exit that would be of any use."

Mr. Stanhope told the aldermen that he had made an inspection of the building and that structurally it was good.

"You can not convince me," declared Alderman Herman, "if you talk for a hundred years, that people could get out of that place. I do not care what they call the exits, they did not work, there were not enough of them open and the people could not get out. These plans show aisles at the end of the first floor, but we were over there and saw the seats run bang up against the railing, leaving no aisle at all. Now what I want to know is, did these people in building this theater live up to the plans they submitted to the city building department? Here there seemed to be ample exits on paper, but a number of friends of mine got badly scorched just the same."

"On the first floor they got out," said Mr. Stanhope.

"My friends were on the first floor, but they got burned on their backs just the same," Alderman Herman rejoined.

Alderman Friestadt declared that in the second balcony there is not sufficient room when the seats are down, to allow any one to walk between them. Alderman Scully and Alderman Conery took from the floor of the stage bits of the stage curtain, none of which was larger than the palm of a hand, for examination to the store of an asbestos company. The bits were shown to be of asbestos, although the examiner pronounced it of a low grade.

"They wanted a cheap curtain and they got it," an incautious clerk remarked. He was instantly hushed up by one of the members of the company, who added that they did not wish to discuss the matter, inasmuch as they had bid upon supplying the curtain to the theater and their bid had been rejected for a lower one.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—Up to Friday midnight 582 dead bodies from the Iroquois theater fire and panic of Wednesday had been accounted for. This is believed to be the total number of dead. Of these 582 bodies, 361 have been identified, leaving only 21 unidentified at morgues.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—Chicago never witnessed such a day of mourning as that which ushered in the new year. In every portion of the city almost it seemed as though there were funerals going, or undertaker wagons arriving with dead, taking them to their homes for the last time.

While the funeral processions were moving through the snow-covered streets to various cemeteries, the throngs about the various morgues seemed almost as large as ever. The scenes here were the same as those of Wednesday night and of Thursday and Thursday night. Many men appeared at the door of Rolston's and Jordan's morgues Friday afternoon who had been on their feet for 48 hours constantly searching for those they had lost. The greater number of unidentified dead are in these two places, and men who had viewed the ghastly rows of corpses before, and had gone on unavailing search to every other morgue in Chicago, went back once more to Rolston's and to Jordan's almost in despair, but hoping against hope that they might have overlooked their dead in the great number that had crowded the tables and floors on Thursday morning. In some cases they were successful, in many others they were not.

It was impossible for relatives to secure all the carriages they wished to convey friends and relatives to cemeteries. In many cases it was not possible for all members of the immediate family to ride in the funeral procession because no carriages could be procured for them.

The liverymen were simply overwhelmed by the demands and earnestly urged that, as far as possible, the relatives should content themselves with a carriage for the pallbearers, the hearse and one other carriage for the family. Where there were more members of the family than could conveniently ride in one carriage, they were compelled to make their way to the cemetery by other methods of transportation.

The entire family of Frederick S. Pond, for 33 years cashier of the Deering reaper works, was exterminated by the fire. In the disaster Mr. Pond lost his wife and two children, all of whom have been identified. A sister of Mrs. Pond, Miss Grace Tuttle, is still among the missing. Helen, a 7-year-old daughter of Mr. Pond, was identified solely by her teeth. A club pin was all that led to the recognition of Raymond Pond, 14 years old. The funeral of Mrs. Pond and her two children will be delayed until the body of Miss Tuttle is found.

Friday afternoon a man, haggered and worn, entered a Cottage Grove avenue car carrying in his arms the body of a golden-haired girl. The form was partly wrapped in a canvas. As the father took a seat with the child in his arms the conductor touched him on the shoulder, saying: "I am sorry, but the rules of the company do not permit the carrying of bodies in this manner. I must ask you to leave the car." Without changing his expression in the slightest, without showing a trace of excitement or irritation, the man rose to his feet still holding on one arm the body of his child.

With his free hand he thrust into the face of the conductor a large revolver and said in a tone which betokened utter weariness and nonchalence:

"This is my daughter. I have looked for her all night and all day. I have tried in vain to obtain a cab or a carriage, and I can get none. I am taking my baby home to her mother, and I intend to take her on this car. Now go on."

Other men on the car interceded with the conductor and the conductor, realizing the situation, gave way, and in the crowded car, the father sat and carried the corpse home.

The police Friday vigorously pushed their inquiry into the causes of the fire and made several other arrests of stage hands, among them William McMullen, operator of a light, which, it is said, started the fire. He was locked up at Central station, and Wilson Kerr, a fireman at the theater, was also placed in a cell.

Fifteen members of the double octette, which takes part in the song, "In the Pale Moonlight," have been arrested. Miss Romaine being the only member who has thus far eluded arrest. The singers are wanted as witnesses, and there is no charge against any of them. Orders were issued by Chief of Police O'Neill Friday night that none of the 15 would be released unless a bond of $5,000 was furnished.

McMullen underwent a searching examination by Assistant Chief of Police Schaettler. McMullen's story was as follows:

"I was standing on the iron bridge at the right side of the stage from which the 'spot light' is operated.

"The lamp seemed in good condition, but in the middle of the second act, just as I changed from a white light to a blue one, the arc between the carbons splattered and jumped. A spark struck the frayed edge on the inside of the border of the curtain drapery. A flame, which, I should say, was about 12 inches long, shot up. I abandoned the lamp and clapped my hand on the flame, but it spread in spite of me. I called to have the fire curtain lowered and yelled to the house fireman to help me. He came with a patent fire extinguisher which had no effect on the flames. Finally I jumped from the bridge to the stage. A child in one of the front boxes had already been burned. I seized her and carried her out and then returned to the theater. Here I worked, pulling people out of the choked exits until it was useless to stay any longer."

With the arrest of McMullen the police believe they have all the important witnesses among the theater employes that are essential to a complete inquiry.

Mayor Carter Harrison Friday took steps to provide as far as possible against a repetition of Wednesday's horror at the Iroquois theater. As a result of an investigation made at his orders and lasting only a few hours, 19 theaters and museums were ordered closed, some of them being among the leading and most popular houses in Chicago. The action of the mayor was based on one single violation of the ordinances which are intended to protect the patrons of theaters from just such an occurrence as that which cost so many lives on Wednesday. This was that every one of these places had failed to supply an asbestos curtain. The theaters ordered closed are: Howard's, Sam T. Jack's, Marlowe, New American, Olympic, Academy of Music, Alhambra, Avenue, Bijou, Chicago opera house, Columbus, Thirty-first street, Criterion, Fiegenbaum's, Milwaukee avenue, Garrick (in Milwaukee avenue), and Glickman's. In addition to these the London Globe museum and the Clark street museum were compelled to close their doors.

President Extends Sympathy.

Chicago, Jan. 1.—The following message was received Thursday morning:

Washington, D. C., Dec. 31, 1903.

"To Hon. Carter H. Harrison, Mayor, Chicago—In common with all our people, throughout this land, I extend to you, to the people of Chicago, my deepest sympathy in the terrible catastrophe which has befallen them.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

IN A ST. LOUIS THEATER.

The Whole Audience Sang "Nearer, My God, To Thee."

St. Louis, Jan. 2.—Between the acts Friday night at the Century theater, C. H. Congdon, who said that he was from Chicago, arose from his seat and related incidents of the Iroquois theater tragedy. He had proceeded only a few minutes when some one in the audience began to sing "Nearer, My God, To Thee," which was immediately taken up by the whole audience, the orchestra joining in with an accompaniment.

Chicago Teachers Killed in the Fire.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—Superintendent of Schools Cooley announced Friday night that the Iroquois theater fire had killed 24 teachers in the Chicago public schools, and six teachers are still reported missing, making a total of 30.

THE RECESS ENDED.

Congress Resumes Without Any Definite Program.

Only a Few Items of Legislation Have Been Reported in the House By Committees and They Are Comparatively Insignificant.

Washington, Jan. 4.—After a recess of more than two weeks the senate resumed business Monday without any definite program. Indeed, it may be stated that the senate has no program for the entire session beyond the passage of the appropriation bills, the consideration of the Panama canal treaty, the determination of Senator Smoot's case and the disposition of some other comparatively unimportant matters.

Only one of the appropriation bills, namely, the pension bill, has reached the senate and that has not yet been considered in committee. It is probable, however, that it will be reported to the senate during the present week. The Smoot case will be proceeded with by the committee on privileges and elections, but the indications are that some weeks will elapse before the question can be brought before the senate in regular order.

Notwithstanding the fact that the canal treaty is not at present in the senate there is little doubt that the canal question will form the leading topic for discussion during the week. Senator Lodge will speak on this subject on Tuesday and it is quite certain that he will be followed by other senators, especially by some who antagonize the attitude of the administration. Senator Lodge will uphold in an elaborate speech the right of the president to recognize the independence of Panama at the time and in the manner in which President Roosevelt gave the recognition.

When the house reassembled Monday after its vacation it was confronted by an almost bare calendar. Only a few items of legislation have been reported by committees and all these are of comparative insignificance. It therefore will be necessary for the house to wait for a few days upon its committees before beginning the transaction of important business. The disposition in the house is to take up no matters of general interest outside of appropriation bills and there is no appropriation measure in shape to be reported from committee. The legislative, executive and judicial bill will be the first to receive attention by the house, but there is no expectation that it will be reported from the appropriations committee before Friday or Saturday. In the meantime the house will consider private pension bills and other questions of not much importance unless some matter should be taken up for general discussion. The week, however, will be one of great activity in the committee rooms and the general understanding that after the present week there will be enough business before the house to keep its members occupied.

BLIZZARD IN THE EAST.

Boston, Jan. 4.—With the mercury hovering around the zero mark in this city and reaching an extreme of 25 degrees below in Northern Maine; with a foot of snow, piling up at exposed points in huge drifts that delayed railroad trains, caused the abandonment of street railroad schedules and in many cases interfered with the street lighting systems, New England slowly emerged Sunday from the clutches of the wildest blizzard that has swept this part of the country since the memorable storm of November, 1898.

STATION AGENT HELD UP.

The Highwaymen Got $350 and Valuable Papers.

Cincinnati, Jan. 4.—Highwaymen held up H. A. Cochrane, station agent of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railway, at Glendale, Sunday night, securing $350 in money and valuable papers. Yardmen found Cochrane lying on the floor in an unconscious condition. He was sandbagged and choked into insensibility while on duty in the depot. His clothes were almost torn from him in the struggle. There is no clew.

The Porto Rican Regiment.

San Juan, P. R., Jan. 4.—Gov. Hunt has received advices from Washington countermanding the order to dismount the remaining mounted Porto Rican troops. From this fact, coupled with the constant drilling of the troops, it is inferred that the Porto Rican regiment will soon be ordered to proceed to Panama.

Italian Emigrants.

Rome, Jan. 4.—During the month of December 4,589 emigrants left Naples, of whom 3,883 went to New York. The emigrants arriving at Naples from New York during the month numbered 19,749, while 2,593 came from Boston.

Proposed Attack on Jews Frustrated.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 4.—A semi-official dispatch from Urmia, Persia, reports that an attack on the Jews, which had been planned by the Persian population, was frustrated by the energetic intervention of the Russian vice consul.

Cartographer and Historian Dead.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—Rufus Blanchard, cartographer and historian, and for many years one of the most widely known citizens of Chicago, is dead at his home in Wheaton, Ill. Mr. Blanchard was 83 years old.

GEN. LONGSTREET PASSES AWAY.

The Remains Will Be Buried Tuesday in Alta Vista Cemetery.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 4.—Gen. James Longstreet, soldier, statesman and diplomat, and the last lieutenant general of the confederate army, with the exception of Gen. Gordon, died in Gainesville, Ga., Saturday from an attack of acute pneumonia after two days illness.

Gainesville, Ga., Jan. 4.—The funeral of Gen. James Longstreet will be held here Tuesday. All naval and military organizations of the city will attend in a body. Comrades in arms of the distinguished dead will act as pallbearers, and over the grave in Alta Vista cemetery sons of Gen. Longstreet's soldiers will fire a salute.

The remains will be carried from the home of Gen. Longstreet's daughter to the court house on Tuesday morning, and will lie in state there until noon, to be viewed by his old friends and citizens generally. Shortly after noon the funeral services will be begun. At the conclusion of these services the march to the cemetery will be formed, and the interment will be with full military honors. The last rites will be conducted according to the formula of the Catholic church, of which Gen. Longstreet was a member.

Among the honorary pallbearers will be Gov. J. M. Terrell, of Georgia; Mayor Evan P. Howell, of Atlanta; Gen. John B. Gordon, former Gov. Candler, Chief Justice Simmons, Adjt. Gen. C. A. Evans, Gen. W. A. Wright and Capt. John W. Lindsay.

DEATH OF GEN. MOFFIT.

He Was a Prominent Figure in the Civil War.

Plattsburgh, N. Y., Jan. 4.—Gen. Stephen Moffit, one of the most prominent men in Northern New York, died at his residence near this city Sunday. Gen. Moffit was born in Clintonville, N. Y., in 1837. When the civil war broke out he was the first man to enlist in the 96th volunteer regiment. He was colonel of the regiment in 1865, later being brevetted brigadier general. He served on Gen. Wessell's and Gen. Gibbon's staffs at various times during the war and was provost marshal of the 24th army corps from its organization to the close of the war. He lost a leg at the battle of Fair Oaks October 27, 1864, while carrying a wounded private from the field. At the battle of Plymouth, April 16, 1864, he was captured and sent to Libby prison and later to prisons at Macon and Danville, Ga. Gen. Moffit had held many important public offices.

A BROKEN RAIL.

It Caused the Death of Two Persons and Injury to Many Others.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 4.—A broken rail caused the derailment of three cars of an east-bound passenger train on the Western Maryland railroad Sunday, causing the death of two persons and the serious injury of a number of other passengers and trainmen, the number of injured being placed at 30. The ladies' coach, which was the last of the train, pulled over and over down the mountain side a distance of 80 feet, and landed bottom upward. The accident occured near Blue Mountain House station, 15 miles east of Hagerstown, Md.

Katherine Sener, 8 years old, daughter of a Baltimore newspaper man, died in the arms of the conductor after being taken from the wrecked car. An unknown woman was so wedged in the wreckage that her dead body is unrecognizable. It is thought that she was Mrs. E. E. Roy, or Foy, of Philadelphia. She was about 35 years old. Mrs. Sener, mother of the dead child, is probably fatally injured. Her son, six year old, was seriously injured.

FOR THE EXPOSITION.

A Fine Exhibit of Serves China and Porcelains.

Paris, Jan. 3.—A fine exhibit of Serves china and porcelains of exquisite design and colorings are being arranged for the St. Louis exposition. In addition a number of bisques will be shown there, including La Roche's "The New Year," and "The Days and the Four Seasons;" Dubois "Meditations," Carios' "The Youth," Roussel's "The Star and the Shepherd," Puech's "The President of the Republic," and Houdon's "Lafayette."

The Typhoid Fever Plague.

Butler, Pa., Jan. 4.—The 90th death from typhoid fever occurred Sunday and three new cases were reported by the ward committees. During the past week there was some falling off in the number and amount of relief subscriptions.

Brother of Senator Depew Dead.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 4.—Lawrence Depew, brother of United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew, of New York, and one of the most prominent citizens of Detroit, fell dead at the threshhold of his home Sunday.

War Regarded As Unavoidable.

Tokio, Jan. 4.—War with Russia is regarded here as unavoidable and the press is urging the immediate opening of hostilities. All of the banks are withholding funds and it is believed this is the result of official instructions.

Telluride Under Martial Law.

Denver, Col., Jan. 4.—Gov. Peabody Sunday night declared a modified form of martial law in Telluride and that city will be placed under the same restrictions as now prevails at Cripple Creek.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. M. L. Riddell visited at Walton a few days last week.

Assessor Owen S. Watts has been on the sick list several days, threatened with pneumonia.

O. N. Scott, whose address has been Owensboro for some time, has changed it to Philpot, Ky., R. F. D. No. 3.

G. T. Gaines and wife, entertained W. C. Brown and family, and C. C. Roberts and family, with a fine dinner, last Friday.

C. B. Sullivan, of Versailles, Ky., candidate for State Prison Commissioner, was calling at J. R. Clutterbuck's, last week.

C. H. Acra, deputy county clerk, and correspondent for the RECORDER at Bellevue, was in Burlington on the first day of the new year.

Irvin Baisly, who moved from this county to Kansas, several yeors ago, is visiting his relatives in this county. He is now a citizen of Missouri. He looks a little aged.

Jesse Kirkpatrick, after spending the holidays with his parents in Aurora, returned to Burlington the latter part of last week, but will go back to Aurora to work at his trade, carpentering.

"Bud Baker" of Limaburg, and Jas Bullock and Edgar Graves, of Hebron, and their best girls, composed a gay sleighing party that made a tour of this part of the country, Sunday afternoon.

William Reed, of Amite City, Louisiana, and Misses Stella and Pearl Davenatuville, of Newport, were visiting relatives in Burlington, a few days last week. Mr. Reed is engaged in business in Cincinnati, and this is his first experience of a northern winter.

Elijah Parker and family, of Petersburg, have the sympathy of all in their bereavement. Last week he left for Ship Island, Mississippi, to bring home the remains of his son, Paris, who died there of yellow fever several months since, and a day or two after Mr. Parker left home on his sad mission, word was received of the death of his son, John, at Los Angeles, California, for which place he left home only a few weeks ago, in search of health. They were both very promising young men, and their deaths are indeed sad occurrences.

The Boone County Deposit Bank elected the following directors, last Monday: J. C. Revil, Dudley Rouse, N. E. Riddell, J. Rickey Edgar Cropper, Clinton Gaines and W. L. Riddell. The new board organized by electing Dudley Rouse president and N. E Riddell, vice-president.

Stockholders' Liabilities, $100.000.

We pay 3 per cent. Interest on Time Saving Deposits, compounded twice a year. Also a Liberal Rate of Interest on Deposits Subject to Check.

Every man, woman and child in Boone county should have an account with this Company. You will never be worth any money until you save some. It will grow while you sleep, every dollar deposited being your silent partner in assisting you to win a competence.

Persistent saving brings about wonderful results. Five cents a day for 21 years, compounded at 3 per cent, will amount to about $500. Twenty-five cents a day will make about $2,500 or enough to start your son in business. One dollar a day will make about $10,000, or more than 95 out of 100 persons ever have at once.

Deposits can be made by registered mail, post-office money order, draft or by check on your local bank.

$1.00 will open an account, and the small depositor will receive the same consideration as the large one.

This company, in its Trust Department, acts as Executor, Administrator, Gurdian, Trustee in and all fiduciary capacities, and will contract to settle estates for a fixed sum.

This is a "HOME" Company, owned, controlled and managed by "HOME" people.

MRS. CECELIA STOWE,
Orator, Entre Nous Club.

176 Warren Avenue,
CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 22, 1902.

For nearly four years I suffered from ovarian troubles. The doctor insisted on an operation as the only way to get well. I, however, strongly objected to an operation. My husband felt disheartened as well as I, for home with a sick woman is a disconsolate place at best. A friendly druggist advised him to get a bottle of Wine of Cardui for me to try, and he did so. I began to improve in a few days and my recovery was very rapid. Within eighteen weeks I was another being.

Mrs. Stowe's letter shows every woman how a home is saddened by female weakness and how completely Wine of Cardui cures that sickness and brings health and happiness again. Do not go on suffering. Go to your druggist today and secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui.

Louis Dugal, of Jeffersonville, Ind., who married Fanny Staley, about two months ago, was badly injured while working in the car shops at that place. One shoulder was dislocated and an arm broken, and he was badly injured other ways.

Jake Cook, of Bellevue, says as he was going down town last Monday morning, and as he passed his brother, Dony's, he heard someone calling. "Dad, dad, pap, papa, papa, father." He stepped and looked over in the yard from whence the sounds came, and saw a man's legs sticking out of the cistern, and when he pulled himself out it was Ernest Kyle, one of Belleview's correspondents. "What in the name of Grover Cleveland and Mark Hanna are you doing?" said Jake. "I was repeating names to see what would sound nicest to have my new kid call me," said Ernest. "New kid," said Jake. "Yes, we have a kid at our house." "What is it," asked Jake. "Guess" said Ernest. "Boy." "nop" "Girl," "yes." Someone told you, or you could not have guessed in two guesses.

At 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, January 3, 1904, the first Sunday of the new year, at the home of Thos. Burns, of McVille, step-father of the bride, Miss Carrie Louden, one of McVille's most beautiful, lovable and popular young ladies, was united in marriage to George H. Lavanway, an enterprising farmer of Gan Claire, Berrien county Michigan. The groom is a son of William Lavanway, a well to do farmer of that county, and a Great-grandson of Berry Sercy, an old time pioneer of this county. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev Atwood, of the Baptist church, of Bellevue. The wedding was a quiet one, only the family and two intimate friends of the bride and groom were present. The bride's many friends wish her happiness and prosperity. The happy and smiling pair left immediately after the ceremony for their home in Michigan. We wish them happiness, success and prosperity throughout the new year and the many more to follow.

Ten of our young people were enjoying a sleighride one fine night last week, and while dashing about town the bed was thrown up and all were unceremoniously dumped the ditch.

A survey for the foundation of the factory is to be made this week. Mr. Kahn, who is largely interested said, that the contract for building will soon be let, in fact, everything that can be done is being pushed rapidly. As soon as the contract has been made advertisements for help will be placed. The buildings are to be of brick with all modern improvements—fine light and water advantages. They expect to have everything in readiness by March 15th.

A little ripple of excitement here Friday morning when Everett Stepheus came down to the store and found that burglary had been done. The thieves had broken open a blacksmith shop and secured some tools to work with. They opened the front door of Jones' store and secured a few nickies and dimes; they went to Norman's where they failed to get in. Mr. Hume went to Glencoe and brought back two young men who were suspected, but as no evidence was found they were released.

We are grieved to announce the death of Ben Tomlin, the only child of Mr and Mrs. Grant Tomlin. The call was made for Bennie last Thursday morning, and it was a shock to the community, as he had been sick only a few days. He was a remarkably bright boy and loved by his school mates and friends. His grief stricken parents have the sympathy of their many friends. A very touching funeral sermon was preached Sunday by Rev. T. C. Eton, assisted by Dr. J. M. Diamond Bro. Pollock, to one of the largest congregations ever assembled in the Baptist church. The many floral tributes attested the love and friendship of Bennie's many friends, who though grieved to give him up, realize that he has gone to a glorious realm where sorrow, pain and grief can never enter.

Whereas, It has pleased God, in His wise providence, to remove from us our beloved pupil and valued little friend, Ben Tomlin; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Walton Graded School has sustained the loss of one of its best pupils, and whose happy disposition in work and play, whose manly qualities and studious habits won for him the highest esteem of all the teachers and pupils, who are deeply grieved over his untimely death.

Resolved, That the school tenders its sincere sympathy to the bereaved parents.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to his parents, and that a copy be furnished the Boone County Recorder for publication.

The Rev. Mr. Earle, pastor of the Beaverlick Baptist church, awhile back, made some remarks from his pulpit about John Wesley and the Methodists, in regard to communion, which the Methodists claim places them in the light of being inconsistent and hypocritical. A request was accordingly made upon Mr. Earle that he publicly correct his statements. This he refused to do. Therefore the Methodists have demanded a public debate or discussion at Beaverlick of the questions involved. To this Mr. Earle has agreed and the debate will take place in the near future or as soon as Mr. Earle can find a representative man who will undertake the discussion. The Methodists have their man ready and awaiting.

Don't Worry.

This is easier said than done, yet it may be of some help to consider the matter. If the cause is something over which you have no control it is obvious that worrying will not help the matter in the least. On the other hand, if within your control you have only to act. When you have a cold and fear an attack of pneumonia, buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and use it judiciously and all cause for worry as to the outcome will quickly disappear. There is no danger of pneumonia when it is used. For sale by all druggists.

Trustees and teachers will please make annual and term reports complete, especially that part that relates to finance. All the pallbearers at the funeral of Jessica Ormand, an old colored "mamy" of Atlanta, Ga., who died the other day, were white men who had known her when she was a slave. Several of these had been nursed by her in their infancy.

In Germany commercial harbors and seaports are a matter for the state governments in which they are located to look after. This is, perhaps, not exactly the case in any other country formed by the union of a number of separate states.

According to a dispatch from Kingston, Jamaica, the government of that island intends to make extensive experiments in cotton growing, and to push that industry.

OUR GOOD OFFICES.

In Case of Invasion Corea May Appeal to the United States.

That Country Is Not Interested in the Dispute Between Japan and Russia—No Protest Against Landing American Guards.

Paris, Jan. 9.—Min Yeung Tchan, the Corean minister, said to a press representative Friday that he would not be surprised should Corea appeal to the United States for good offices in her behalf in case of the invasion of Corean territory by one or the other power. Under the treaty between the United States and Corea this is permissible. Moreover, continued the minister, the people of Corea regard the United States in a most friendly way, because of its fair policy and, further, owing to the fact that it was the first country to sign a treaty with the Corean kingdom.

"Russia does not want war," added the minister, "and the Japanese government does not want war, but the Japanese people, I fear, will force a conflict.

"The attitude of Corea has not been disclosed, but my idea is that it will do all in its power to save its territory from invasion and to preserve neutrality. During the war between Japan and China Corea was interested and consequently raised no objection to the passage of Japanese troops through the kingdom. Corea is not interested in the dispute between Japan and Russia and her people have no desire to ally themselves with Japan, which would follow should permission be given for Japanese troops to operate in or from Corea.

"I have made no protest to the powers against the landing of an American guard for the legation at Seoul. Probably if war comes all the nations will land men for the same purpose."

Washington, Jan. 9.—Though negotiated 20 years ago by Adm. Shufeldt, state department officials say the treaty referred to by the Corean minister at Paris has never been invoked by the government of that country. Its provisions contemplated that when any of the powers treated Corea unjustly the good offices of the United States might be offered with a view to an amicable adjustment of the controversy. Officials say that if any request comes from Corea for a practical application of the terms of the treaty it very properly will be given consideration by this government. Its provisions, however, are regarded as impractical of satisfactory enforcement, and the necessity for its existence has been superceded by the establishment of The Hague tribunal, to which questions of the character which would naturally come under its terms are referred.

ON PARTY LINES.

Status of Mr. Buchanan, At Panama, Discussed by Senators.

Washington, Jan. 9.—The status of Mr. Buchanan, who is now at Panama acting virtually as minister of the United States, was discussed at length Friday in the senate executive session. Senators Bacon and Bailey, in their speeches, argued that the president either usurped the functions of the senate by dispatching to Panama a minister whose nomination had not been confirmed, or had sent Mr. Buchanan there as an envoy or commissioner, without color of law. They held that as the senate was in session, the president lawfully could not send a minister to a foreign country without the advice and consent of the senate.

Senators Cullom, Lodge and Fairbanks took the position that the president had a perfect right to nominate a minister to Panama, notwithstanding the fact that no such office previously existed. They asserted, however, that Mr. Buchanan was not acting as a minister, and that the president had not commissioned him as such. He was, they said, merely a personal representative, dispatched to Panama on a diplomatic mission and responsible alone to the president. A precedent for this action was cited in the case of Mr. Blount, who was sent to Hawaii by President Cleveland and whose authority was paramount, notwithstanding the fact that an American minister was at Honolulu exercising diplomatic functions.

The general current of the debate divided on party lines, though questions propounded by Senators Spooner and Hepburn, republicans, showed they entertained some doubts as to the legality of Mr. Buchanan's acts at Panama until he be confirmed as minister by the senate.

Bill to Allow Acceptance of Medal.

Washington, Jan. 9.—The house was asked by the state department for authority to allow Rr. Adm. D. H. McCalla, of the navy, to accept the China war medal awarded him by the king of Great Britain in recognition of his services in connection with the relief of the Pekin legations during the boxer uprising.

Measles Among Indians.

Tulsa, I. T., Jan. 9.—An epidemic of measules is raging among the Shawnee Indians, and many deaths have resulted. Three deaths occurred in one family. These Indians were almost annihilated by measles 17 years ago.

Special Assistant Attorney General.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Col. W. H. Leaken, an attorney of Savannah, Ga., Friday was appointed special assistant attorney general. Col. Leaken will have charge of important cases for the government in the Gulf States.

HON. CHARLES FOSTER DEAD.

He Succumbed to a Stroke of Cerebral Paralysis.

Springfield, O., Jan. 9.—Former Gov. Charles Foster, of Fostoria, was stricken with cerebral paralysis Friday night at the home of Gen. J. Warren Keifer, whom he was visiting. His condition is said to be critical.

Mr. Foster is unconscious. His recovery is doubtful. Mr. Foster came Thursday evening from Fostoria to visit Gen. Keifer over Sunday. They intended to go to Columbus together on Monday to be present at the inauguration of Gov. Herrick.

After eating a hearty supper and appearing in perfect health, Mr. Foster went to Gen. Keifer's library, where Mr. Foster was suddenly seized with paralysis and fell forward from his chair.

Springfield, O., Jan. 11.—Charles Foster, former governor of Ohio and secretary of the treasury during the administration of Benjamin Harrison, died Saturday morning in the home of his life-long friend, Gen. Warren Keifer, after a few hours' illness. The remains were taken to Fostoria Saturday night.

Mr. Foster early went for politics, and was elected to the 42d, 43d, 44th and 45th congresses. He was elected governor of Ohio in 1879 and was re-elected in 1881. As a member of congress he served on the ways and means committee. He was appointed secretary of the treasury by President Harrison in 1891.

DEATH OF GEN. JOHN B. GORDON.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 11.—Gen. John B. Gordon, last lieutenant general of the lost cause, died at his plantation, near here, at 10:05 Saturday night, after several days of severe illness.

The remains of Gen. John B. Gordon will leave here Tuesday morning. Henry M. Flagler will send the body and party through in a special car. It is probable that the body of Gen. Gordon will be brought to Miami Monday and lie in state until Tuesday morning in the Presbyterian church.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 11.—The remains of the late Gen. John B. Gordon, who died at his winter home near Miami, Fla., will reach this city probably on Wednesday.

Definite arrangements for the funeral have not yet been made, but it is stated that the body will lie in the state house for several hours preceding the funeral day, the family of the deceased having agreed to the request that the former followers of Gordon may view his remains.

At a conference here Sunday afternoon between Gov. Terrell and the relatives of Gen. Gordon, it was decided to hold the funeral exercises in the house of representatives when, in conjunction with the religious exercises, speakers prominent throughout the south, the veterans of the confederate army, will deliver eulogistic addresses. Among the speakers will be Gens. Stephen B. Lee, A. P. Stewart, Clemen A. Evans, Judge Thomas G. Jones, of the United States district court of Northern Alabama, United States Senator J. W. Daniel, of Virginia.

THE RACE QUESTION.

John Alexander Dowie Spoke on the Matter to Texans.

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 11.—John Alexander Dowie (Elijah the Restorer) and his six deacons leave here Monday for San Francisco on his trip to Australia. He attended the opening of a hotel at a neighboring resort Sunday morning and entered his protest against the lavish silver service and the stuffed pig on the menu. Sunday afternoon he addressed about 3,000 people in a local auditorium. He wanted to make himself clear on the race question. He said the Anglo-Saxon race is superior to the Negro race, but that there was a time when the black brother was superior to the white, and the white man should be just to the Negro and endeavor to lift him up. Whatever the difference in race might be on earth, the white man and black man were brothers before God.

DURING A FIGHT.

Middletown, O., Jan. 11.—During a fight here Sunday night Newton Cole, of Frenchburg, Ky., and Rickett Motley, of Mt. Sterling, Ky., were dangerously stabbed and Oscar Motley, of Mt. Sterling, Ky., and Josie Miller, of Montgomery, Ky., were seriously hurt. It is alleged that the Motley brothers reflected on the landlady, Josie Miller, and that Cole then assaulted them.

Death of Mrs. Gen. Brown.

St. Louis, Jan. 11.—Heart disease caused the death Sunday of Mrs. Mary Preston Kennerly Brown, 69, widow of Maj. Gen. John S. Brown, of the confederate army, who was living with her sister here.

Young Steps Down and Out.

Washington, Jan. 11.—After having served at the head of the army as chief of staff, with the rank of lieutenant general, for a little less than five months, Lieut. Gen. S. B. M. Young relinquished his duties Saturday to his successor in office, Gen. A. R. Chaffee.

Embarked Heavy Artillery.

Naples, Jan. 11.—The Japanese cruisers Niasin and Kasaga arrived at Pozzuoli and embarked heavy artillery and four torpedo tubes. The warships then sailed for an unknown destination.

ARE MASSING TROOPS.

Nearly 200,000 Russians Concentrated on Corean Frontier.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 11.—The most reliable news received here is that the mass of Russian troops in the far east are concentrated at Vladivostock or on the northern frontier of Korea.

A traveler who has lately returned from the far east estimates that between 100,000 and 200,000 soldiers were in the vicinity of Vladivostock. He surmised that the Russians will occupy Northern Corea, but thought a possible collision was not imminent for a month or more, when taking into consideration distances and the difficulties of marching.

London, Jan. 11.—The Tien-Tsin correspondent of the Daily Mail says that the Russian government has sent to the Chinese government a threat that Russia would immediately occupy Peking should China join forces with Japan. As a result the grand council has advised the throne to accept the policy of neutrality.

It is learned on the highest authority that it has been decided in the event of war between Russia and Japan that Germany will maintain a strict neutrality and that other members of the dreibund will observe a similar attitude.

The importance of this decision will almost immediately be announced in some official manner in Berlin, and can not be easily overestimated. It will in a measure ensure that hostilities will be confined to the two powers concerned and it will be certain to give a great stimulus to the efforts which France and Great Britain are making in St. Petersburg and Tokio, respectively in favor of peace.

Peking, Jan. 11.—Reports from Manchuria are to the effect that there is great military activity there. The railroads are bringing troops from Russia and the women and children at Port Arthur and New Chwang are preparing to leave. The Russian general at New Chwang has been called to Port Arthur for service. Every steamer for Japan is carrying the Japanese from North China who belong to the reserves.

SENATOR SMOOT'S ANSWER.

He Makes a Reply to the Charges Brought Against Him.

Washington, Jan. 11.—The response of Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, to the charges made against him was presented to the senate committee on privileges and elections by Senator Burrows, chairman of the committee.

In his answer he says: "This respondent avers that but two of the charges against him are such as, if true, could legally affect his right to hold his seat in the senate. These two charges are:

"1. That the respondent is a polygamist.

"2. That he is bound by some oath or obligation which is inconsistent with the oath required by the constitution, which was administered to him before he took his seat as a senator.

"Both these charges respondent denies.

"As to the charges that he is a polygamist, the respondent says he was married on the 17th day of September, 1884, to Alpha May Eldridge. She is still his wife and is the mother of all his children. He has never had any other wife."

CHICAGO IN THE LEAD.

That City, St. Louis and New York After Democratic Convention.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Democratic campaign leaders are beginning to gather in this city for the meeting of the national committee, which meets at the Shoreham hotel in this city on Tuesday to select a time and place for the next democratic national convention. Convention boomers from Chicago, St. Louis and New York have opened headquarters at the Shoreham. It is believed Chicago is at present in the lead as the convention city and that the convention will be held about two weeks after the republican national convention.

Santos Dumont in New York.

New York, Jan. 11.—Among the passengers of the La Savoie was Santos Dumont, the aeronaut. He says he came here to complete arrangements for his forthcoming experiment with a dirigible balloon at the St. Louis exposition.

Another Note Sent to Gen. Reyes.

Washington, Jan. 11. — Secretary Hay sent another communication to Gen. Rafael Reyes, Colombian envoy, in response to his protest against the action of the United States regarding affairs on the Isthmus of Panama.

Mrs. Cleveland's Health Good.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 11.—Despite the intense grief over the death of her oldest daughter, Ruth, the general health of Mrs. Grover Cleveland is excellent. It was feared that the sudden grief which prostrated Mrs. Cleveland would culminate in a serious illness.

Number of Fever Cases Diminishing.

Butler Pa., Jan. 11.—One death and only one new case of fever Sunday shows considerable improvement in the general situation. During the past week only six new cases were reported as against 19 the preceding week.

TOOT FOR MISSOURI CORN.

Poetic Pulse Feels a Paean of Pride —May Have Had Corn Juice on the Inside.

The Joplin Globe's poet, having read that Missouri beats the world in the production of corn, took his horn in hand and blew these few blasts in celebration of the fact:

"When you think about Missouri and are wont to toot her horn, please to give a passing mention to her golden yield of corn. Though she sets the pace industrial in apples very red, and in other lines of effort serenely at the head, it is only very recently she's come into her own as the state where in the biggest crop of yellow corn is grown. The bureau of statistics agricultural relates that Missouri now has distanced all her sisterhood of states in the number of acres dedicated unto corn and the number of bushels from each fruitful acre born. The statistics draw comparisons, which show upon their face that Miss Prohibition Kansas is assigned to second place, and ambitious Oklahoma, of whom a deal is heard, the facts and icy figures stick in corner labeled third: So hereafter, when you feel inclined to toot the old state's horn, don't forget to blow a blast or two in honor of her corn."

A Physician's Statement.

Yorktown, Ark., Jan. 11.—Leland Williamson, M. D., one of the cleverest physicians, has made a statement endorsing Dodds' Kidney Pills and saying that he uses them in his daily practice in preference to any other kidney medicine. His statement has created a profound sensation as it is somewhat unusual for a physician to publicly endorse anything in the shape of a patent medicine. Dr. Williamson says:

"After twenty years' practice in a sickly and malarious country I have come to the conclusion that it is always best to use the remedy that will relieve and cure my patients whether ethical or not.

"I have used Dodd's Kidney Pills with uniform success in the various focus of Kidney Disease, Pain in the Back, Gout, Rheumatism, Inflammation and Congestion of the Kidneys and all kindred diseases; I always prescribe Dodd's Kidney Pills in such cases and can testify that they invariably restore the Kidneys to their normal state and thereby relieve the blood of accumulated poisons, producing prompt and effective cures."

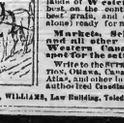
Miss Rose Hennessy, well known as a poetess and elocutionist, of Lexington, Ky., tells how she was cured of uterine inflammation and ovaritis by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For years I enjoyed the best of health and thought that I would always do so. I attended parties and receptions thinly clad, and would be suddenly chilled, but I did not think of the results. I caught a bad cold eighteen months ago while menstruating, and this caused inflammation of the womb and congested ovaries. I suffered excruciating pains and kept getting worse. My attention was called to your Vegetable Compound and the wonderful cures it had performed, and I made up my mind to try it for two months and see what it would do for me. Within one month I felt much better, and at the close of the second I was entirely well.



"I have advised a number of my lady friends to use it, and all express themselves as well satisfied with the results as I was."—MISS ROSE NORA HENNESSY, 410 S. Broadway, Lexington, Ky. — $5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Hon. D. Linn Gooch Is a Candidate For Re-Nomination.

Col. Gooch is now serving his second term in Congress. He entered political life only a few years ago as a novice, but has shown an aptitude and acquired a knowledge as a trained statesman and politician, of the frank, open and reliable nature, that has won for him a strong hold upon the hearts and votes of his constituency, as well as to make him a conspicuous figure in national legislation and affairs.

Col. Gooch is a plain, practical, sensible business man, in touch with the sympathies and feelings of the plain people, whom he seeks to serve as their Representative in Congress with all the energy and ability he possesses. Everything considered his record in Congress has been truly remarkable, and is but an earnest of his true greatness. Col. Gooch is in every sense of the word a self-made man, having arisen to his present eminence from the position of a poor and humble orphan lad, whose stock in trade was integrity, good sense and indomitable energy.

Col. Gooch is a fair and square fighter and proved a foe worthy of the steel won from his vanquished opponents in his first race when he experienced a touch of the strenuous in politics. In that canvass and the succeeding one he pursued the even tenor of his way without one harsh word of criticism against rival candidates. He believes in giving the people absolute voice in the selection of their standard-bearer, hence comes out unequivocally for a primary election, authorizing that verbiage in his annoucement, which is simply a re-affirmation of what he has always contened for. On this point we quote from Cincinnati Enquirer of recent date:

"My mail is flooded daily with letters from persons all over the Sixth Congressional District," said Congressman Gooch yesterday, "all of whom are anxious that the coming Congressional nomination be made at a primary election of all the voters rather than by a convention.

"This sentiment," he continued "appears to be so nearly universal throughout the district and to have supporting it such influential leaders in the Democratic party that there can be little doubt but that the desires of the people will be respected and that a primary will be held.

"My mail today contained at least 75 of such letters and it was not the largest days batch on this subject, either. They came from every county in the district and what makes their strength greater is their absolute spontaneity.

"My own idea is, and has been for some time, that the nomination will surely be made by the direct vote of the people. I believe in living close to the people and in bringing every question that effects them so vitally as the election of an important public servant right down to the people themselves. The people's judgment is never wrong and that is why I favor the primary."

Quite an array of worthy gentlemen have been mentioned in connection with this race and the entry list will doubtless be large, but that our present able Representative will prove a formidable candidate against all comers is a conceded fact.

THE legislature will get down to work this week.

A. B. Rouse has resigned as private secretary to Congressman Gooch. It took effect on the 11th inst.

OWNERS of river craft have been on the anxious seat for several weeks. When the final breakup in the river comes, an immense destruction of property is expected.

WITH Edwards and White both contesting Dr. Hunter's election to Congress the public will be given many inside facts in regard to election methods up in the 11th District.

IN another column of this issue will be found the announcement of Hon. D. Linn Gooch, of Covington, as a candidate for nomination as the Democratic standard bearer for Congress in this district.

GOV. BECKHAM'S message to the legislature was a plain, business-like document, showing that he has made himself perfectly familiar with the State's needs in the way of legislation. While the Governor wants Kentucky to take her proper place in the march of progress, he wants that position acquired with out a resort to extravagance. He is a friend to education and makes timely recommendations in regard thereto.

A representative of the makers of the asbestos curtain of the Iroquois Theater in Chicago stated at the Coroner's inquest that he believed the greater portion of the curtain would be found intact.

A New York father had his daughter arrested on the charge of bigamy, and when the police went to her home to arrest her, they found the two men alleged to be her husbands taking care of an adopted baby while the foster mother was attending the theater.

An enabling act to give cities of the first class the power to provide their own system of taxation under the provisions of the constitutional amendment, has been framed and will be introduced in the Legislature by one of the members of the Louisville delegation.

THE potato planter of today would make the farmer of a generation ago sit up and rub his eyes. It requires that the potatoes be supplied, but will do all the rest on its own initiative. It picks the potato up and looks it over—or seems to—cuts it into halves, quarters or any desired number of parts, separates the eyes and removes the seed ends. It plants whole potatoes or parts thereof, as desired, as near together or as far apart as the judgment of the farmer on the driving part suggests. Having dropped the seed it covers it, fertilizes it, tucks it in like a child put to bed, and paces off the next row with mathematical accuracy.

Attacks of bilious colic may be prevented in the same way. For Sale by All Druggists.

Besides being a leap year, 1904 is peculiar in many respects. Christmas falls on Sunday for the first time in six years, and spring is ushered in on Sunday, March 20. Easter Sunday falls on April 3d, and Good Friday on All Fool's Day, April 1st. There will be one partial and one total eclipse of the sun, neither visible in North America. For the first time in many years there will be no eclipse of the moon.

At the monthly examination held Dec. 23rd the names of the following pupils of the Burlington public school, were placed on the Roll of Honor: Mary Roberts, Kathryn Brown, Laura Maxwell, Edward Bentler, David Beall, Shelton Morris, Shirley Maxwell, Robert Lassing, Mary Vest, Carrie Porter, John Brady Walton, Stella Barker, Etta Ryle, Willie Duncan, Sally Castleman, Laura Frances Riddell, Harold Gaines, Marshall Hall, Zadah Rouse, Kittie Beall, Ruth Hall, Mary Utz, Florence Maxwell.

ROSWELL YORK RANDALL.

Roswell York Randall, was born at Kenton, Campbell County, Kentucky, eight miles south of Covington, near the Baptist church on Dry Creek, January, 13, 1820. At this time, his father, Paul Randall, conducted a tannery and kept the post-office at that place.

The family consisted of three sisters, viz: Rachal, Cornelia and Adelia one brother, James Donison, and a half brother Marcus Collins.

When he was four years of age the family moved near to Rushville, Indiana, where his father engaged in farming and contract building. Soon after moving there he was elected Justice of the Peace and remained in office until his death. At the age of seventeen years Mr. Randall's father died, and in 1837 the family moved to Aurora, Indiana, then a very small village, where he lived until 1848.

After moving to Aurora he engaged in the manufacture of brick, in the summer and commercial flat-boating in the winter—a period of twelve years. The last three years of this time he was in partnership with his Uncle, Wm. Swing, who was then a steamboat pilot from Cincinnati to St. Louis. Rev. Ravid Swing, the celebrated Presbyterian Evangelist, of Chicago, was his first cousin. Samuel Randall, his second cousin, was Speaker of the House of Representatives during Cleveland's administration.

After leaving Aurora he engaged in farming in Boone County, Kentucky, which occupation he continued the remainder of his life. He was married to Martha Jane Uitz, of Burlington, Kentucky, Sept. 10, 1850. To them were born 2 children, Mary Elizebeth and Thos. Erastus. He survived his wife and two children, leaving his seven grandchildren to mourn his death.

Mr. Randall was a member of the I. O. O. F. lodge in Aurora, Ind., for 56 years, and one of the organizers of Morning Star I. O. O. F., at Petersburg, Kentucky. He was an ardent believer in the principles and benefits of Oddfellowship; and whose sacred rites were administered as a tribute to his departed soul by Morning Star lodge. The characteristics of Mr. Randall's life were his temperate habits, honesty and integrity in all dealings with his fellow-man, and loyalty to his creator. His self-sacrificing spirit in behalf of his family was his daily delight and the one wish of his life was that he might be spared to see the day when his grandchildren might receive their respective educations and enter into honorable callings.

He was religiously inclined all his life and until late years rarely failed to attend the services of some of the several denominations on the Sabbath, but did not decide to unite with the church until the mature age of 72 years, at which time he united with the Bullittsburg Baptist church and was a member there until his death, which occurred Dec. 13, 1903, at 12:45 p. m.

Today I see a lonly vacant chair
In a home of grief, care and pain;
Calling me back in memory fa r,
To the love of an aged swain.
Yesterday his place, at our side was spent,
With his dear loved ones all alone;
Today a spirit homeward has been sent,
To join the angels at the throne.
He has gone alone to his heavenly place
To meet children and wife so dear;
O! may we see his kind and noble face
When we depart this life so lonely here.

Candidates for the nominations for county offices are announcing thick and fast in Grant. Among those announced is H. Clay White, a native of this county, who is loved and known by all down here. He wants to be county judge, and if Boone county could lend him any assistance she would do it readily. The Courier says:

"Judge White has had large experience as a public officer, and has always shown himself courteous and competent, giving universal satisfaction in every instance. He was for eleven years Clerk and Deputy Clerk in Boone county, and for more than thirteen years Clerk of the Kenton Circuit Court, and is said to have been one of the best that county has ever had. He has been living in this county about twenty-two years and has been Police Judge of Williamstown, and is at present its City Attorney. His Democracy is regular, his demeanor engaging and his qualifications unquestioned."

The tobacco growers of Pendleton county held a meeting at the court house Monday afternoon, and were greatly buoyed up over the recent bright prospects for the success of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association. Those in a position to know say there is no longer doubt about the financial backing, and when the fact was communicated to our people there was much rejoicing. Mr. Hawkins, the president of the association, gives assurance that if the farmers will hold out just a little while longer everything will work together for their good.—Pendletonian.

FISCAL COURT.

Following business was transacted by the fiscal court at its last session.

Don Williamson, Robt. Ryle, Mat Ryle and others were granted the privilege to erect and maintain a telephone line on the public road in this county, leading from Waterloo to Geo. Smith's residence near Big Bone.

J. J. Rucker, J. L. Riley, R. W. Rouse and others were given the right to erect and maintain on the county roads a telephone line for a period of 20 years.

A tax of 13 cents on each $100 was levied for the year 1904. Ten cents of the above tax is for road purposes. The pole tax was fixed at $1.50

Sheriff was allowed 964 delinquent poll tax payers. The amount of delinquent poll tax is $1,446.

The report of Supt. Early, of the county infirmary shows that he kept an average of 20 inmates last year at a cost of $1403 96. Average—$70 15.

J. W. Conner and B. L. Rice presented to Boone county their interest in the iron bridge on the Richwood and Big Bone turnpike.

The Waterloo and Burlington Telephone Company was granted the right to erect poles and construct a telephone line along the county road to Garnett's Mill road, thence with road to the East Bend road, thence to Burlington. The company was also granted the right to use the adjacent road to connect the residences thereon with the main line.

The Boone County Telephone Company moved the court to advertise a telephone franchise for sale according to certain specifications filed in this court, and same was ordered done.

Died, in Comfort, Texas, December 17th, 1903, Miss Sadie Kirtley. Hers was a beautiful, Christian life. She united with the Baptist church in early life and until her health failed, was ever at her post of duty. She was an earnest Christian, an affectionate, dutiful daughter, and useful member of her church. May God send the sweet spirit of resignation into the hearts of mother and sisters left behind.

The indications are that the Burlington free rural delivery mail route out the Petersburg pike to the Berkshire school house near Petersburg, then over the Woolper pike to the Commissary near T. J. Walton's, thence back to Burlington, will be put in operation March 1st next. The postoffice authorities notified the postmistress of this place that the route would be put in operation at the above mentioned date, if the Petersburg and Burlington turnpike company would make a reduction of 50 per cent in the toll, and the reduction was made at once and the department at Washton notified of the fact.

Croup.

The peculiar cough which indicates croup is usually well known to the mothers of croupy children. No time should be lost in the treatment of it, and for this purpose no medicine has received more universal approval than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Do not waste valuable time in experimenting with untried remedies, no matter how highly they may be recommended, but give this medicine as directed and all symptoms of croup will quickly disappear. Last Thursday Harrison Minor, one of Burlington's colored citizens, reported a robbery at his house some time during the last two weeks. He said his wife had one $10 gold piece and a $5 gold piece which she had kept locked up in a bureau drawer for many years. Last Thursday morning they went to look for the money, and it could not be found. It is evident, he thinks, that the money was taken by someone who had a key that unlocks the drawer in which the money was kept. He has no idea who the thief is.

Richard Utz, who lives about half a mile north of Burlington, came to town one morning last week and collected $22, composed of two $10 bills and a $2 bill. After he reached home he missed his money and returned in a hurry in search of the treasure, but could hear nothing of it. He returned home thinking the money was gone "for keeps," but in a few hours he found the roll lying in a lot near the house.

The chinchbug costs Uncle Sam family $100,000,000 a year for his board and lodging. As a guest he is the most expensive ever heard of, and the worst of it is that he won't leave and can't be driven out though he has long since "worn out his welcome."

Mrs Charles M. Muller's daughter, aged about 16 years, died last Sunday night of pneumonia following measles. She was interred in the Odd-Fellow's cemetery here last Tuesday afternoon. She was the third person buried from the home in the last year, the other two being the father and grandmother.

The Day of Grace and the Day of Judgment

God's Offer of Mercy to Be Followed by Punishment of Sin

Chicago, Sunday, Jan. 10, 1904.

Text:—"Look unto Me and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth: for I am God and there is none else. I have sworn by Myself, the word is gone out of My mouth in righteousness, and shall not return, That unto Me every knee shall bow, every tongue shall swear."—Isaiah 45:22, 23.

JOINED together in the two verses of our text we are given a twofold vision of God: first as the gracious, forgiving God reaching out to the ends of the earth to save lost man, and second as the stern, all-powerful God compelling in the end the bending of every knee to Him and the confessing of every tongue that He is Lord. The day in which the soul may look to God and be saved is to be followed by the day in the which those who have resisted His offer of mercy will feel the power of His judgment against sin. "Now is the accepted time, now is the day of salvation," now is the day of grace, but the period of grace is to be followed by the judgment.

Just before the fall of Sardis the inhabitants refused the overtures of Cyrus the Great who was besieging the city with his powerful Persian army. But after the capture of the city the conquered people came to the victorious monarch and offered their submission, to which proposal Cyrus replied by the following keen and pointed parable: "A fisherman wanted the fish to dance for him, so he played a time on the flute, but the fish kept still. Then he took his net and drew them out on the shore, and they all began to leap and dance. But the fisherman said: 'A truce to your dancing now, since you would not dance when I wanted you.'" Sardis had missed the day of grace, and was come to judgment. So it is with every soul. While God stands and makes overtures of peace and pardon it may find safety in submission, but when the soul persists in its rebellion it is taken at last by force and brought into judgment, where "every knee must bow and every tongue swear." What it would not yield by voluntary act, it must in the end yield by compulsion. For ultimately "unto God every knee shall bow and every tongue swear."

THE prophet Isaiah may have failed to recognize the full import of his words and perhaps held the view, quite common to-day, that the bowing of every knee and the confession of every tongue was to be the glorious consummation of God's call to "look to Him and be saved, all ye ends of the earth." But that there was a wide separation between the twenty-second and twenty-third verses in point of time and conditions is clear from Paul's quotation of this passage. In the fourteenth chapter of Romans he declares that "we shall all stand before the judgment seat of God," and follows this with Isaiah's prophecy that every knee should bow and every tongue swear. The day of grace was not to see all in the earth looking to God and being saved, but the day of judgment was to compel the bowing of every knee in subjection to God. Isaiah sees God as Saviour, standing and pleading for the lost world to look to Him and be saved, and then in prophetic vision he beholds the Lord in final triumph with every soul bowed before Him, but there is a wide gulf between the two. Oh, that it were true that as God calls the world to repentance and salvation, every knee would bow and every tongue confess to God. But the word of God and past experience do not sustain any such view. "Many are called, but few are chosen." It was a remnant of Israel which was to be saved, and it is to be a part of the world which is to believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and be saved. Not because God has decreed it so, but because the will of man refuses to have it otherwise.

WHAT a picture this brings before us. Every creature at last recognizing the sovereignty and power of God, but oh, the tragedy of that hour. Some will bend the knee and confess with the tongue that the Lord is God, but it will be a submission and acknowledgment which will bring no joy to the heart or hope to the soul. It will be the submission which the guilty prisoner before the court yields to the judge as he pronounces sentence upon him. It will be an acknowledgment of the power and authority such as the convicted lawbreaker is forced to make as he is thrust behind the prison gates and set at the task in the jail workshop. The rebellious soul that during the day of grace had been deaf to the cry which went out from Heaven into all the earth: "Look unto Me and be ye saved," will with sudden and awful terror be quickened to hear God as He speaks, and forced to obey as He pronounces judgment upon him. How can he escape in the day of judgment, inasmuch as he has neglected so great salvation during the day of grace? Every knee bowed before God, and every tongue confessing His righteousness and power and authority—what a scene that will be! And how glorious and blessed it would be if behind every bended knee and confessing tongue there was a heart in which the Christ had been enshrined and upon which had been felt the cleansing and saving power of His shed blood. But sad and awful it is to remember that with those who gladly bow the knee in reverent worship, and joyfully confess God as their Father and Christ as their Saviour, there will be gathered those whose wills were never yielded to God and whose hearts were never cleansed from sin in Jesus' blood. The knees of such will bend in fear and the tongues will confess in terror, but there will be no room for repentance then, the day of grace will have given place to the day of judgment.

WHERE will you be found, my friend, in that last great day? Will you be with that white robed throng on the right hand, whose knees gladly bow and whose tongues eagerly confess their Lord, or will you be with those on the left hand, whose willfulness and rebellion can no longer keep their knees from bending and their tongues from acknowledging the Lord of Heaven and earth? This is a question which must be decided in this life. We may not delay its answer. While God calls: "Look unto Me and be ye saved," we may lift our eyes to Him and know the joy of salvation. If we turn from Him and listen only to the alluring music of the world the day of grace may pass for us and we be lost eternally. As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness and commanded the dying Hebrews to "look and live," even so has "the Son of Man been lifted up," and God commands the soul dying from the sting of sin to "look unto Him and be saved." What is involved in this blessed work of redeeming grace? On man's part it implies a need, a desperate need. On God's part it assures that adequate provision has been made for the supplying of that need. God says "LOOK" because He has something for man to look to. Man must "LOOK" because there is salvation for him in no other way. Note how solemnly God enforces His command to "LOOK." "For I am God, there is none else." No other God. No other way of salvation. Let us consider what it is that God holds before the eyes of the dying world, and why it is that the dying world must needs look if it would see life eternal. If we can only bring you, dear soul, to realize what God has done for you, and how you need the salvation which He offers so fully and freely, we know that as the call comes to your heart from God to "LOOK" you will look and live.

GOD does not hold before the eyes of the sinner the law and say: "Look on this and live." The children of Israel, to whom the law was first given, failed miserably in the keeping of it. The law held up before the sinner's eyes condemns instead of justifying. God does not hold before the soul high ideals of human life, charity, culture, education, and say: "Look on these and live." There was just one thing those bitten Israelites, writhing in the death agony of the sands of the wilderness, needed. It was the brazen serpent which Moses' faithful and obedient hand lifted high and held firmly until every perishing soul either looked and lived, or else died in unbelief and rebellion. If Moses had held up the tables of stone on which were graven the perfect law of God, they could not have saved the dying people. He might have urged all manner of reforms, but they would not have met the desperate needs of the people. Moses said: "Look," and held up the serpent, which typified the Christ, and God says: "Look," and holds up the crucified Saviour. Nothing else is of avail to the dying soul. God does not hold before us the perfect man Christ Jesus as He appeared in the righteous triumph of the transfiguration, and say: "Follow in His steps." But God does hold up the cross on which is the Christ, and pleads: "Look on Him and live."

THE question which is oftenest asked in connection with the day of grace is as to its duration. How long will the day of grace continue? This is a question which cannot be answered with any definiteness. God in His Word does not make it clear how long His mercy shall be extended to the world. Its termination will be marked by the second coming of the Christ, but the Bible is explicit in its declaration that the time of that coming is not and cannot be known. It is certain that the Gospel is to be carried to the ends of the earth before Jesus will come again. God's call to "look and be saved" is to the ends of the earth. But how long will it take for the Gospel to spread to every corner of the earth and reach every nation and people it is impossible to say. That it might be in the present generation, as Mr. Mott has so clearly and ably shown in his remarkable little book, "The Evangelization of the World in the Present Generation," must be conceded. That Christians ought to work with that end in view, and pray and expect that such would be the glorious realization, must be their only attitude towards this great question. It is the only reasonable position for them to occupy. How dare we shorten the arm of God, or lightly consider the great commission which rests upon every child of God to "go into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature." And if everyone who is a professing Christian was doing his whole duty, it is not unreasonable to believe that the Gospel would reach every person in the world within the present generation. But we are not faithful, we are disobedient to the high calling and indifferent to the perishing souls all about us and in the dark and unknown places of the world. And our neglect and indifference delays the time of the coming of Christ. It is still the day of grace. God's mercy is extended towards sinful man. He is still calling: "Look unto Me and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth."

WHILE there is a single soul in the world that has not heard the message and has not finally rejected the mercy of God, the light of the day of grace will continue to shine. This is the terminative factor in the matter. Jesus Christ will be lifted up before the world as the Crucified One, as the One who can cleanse from all sin, as the only Saviour, just as long as there is a dying soul to lift the eye of faith and look and be saved. How long did Moses continue to keep aloft the brazen serpent? Surely it was as long as there was a single suffering, dying Israelite to be saved and the God Who longs to have all men saved and come to a knowledge of the truth will not terminate the day of grace while there is a single precious soul to receive the blood of Jesus Christ. But the time will come some day when the people of the world will all either have accepted or rejected the Christ, and when that time comes the day of grace will terminate. But there is a sense in which it may be said that individually the day of grace terminates when the soul rejects finally the appeal of God and His Spirit leaves the soul to its own devices. God has declared that "His Spirit shall not always strive with man," and the Spirit does cease striving with the soul of man after it has rejected a last appeal of God to look and live. Just when that time may be only the person concerned may be able to tell. Two cases in point illustrate my thought.

THE other day I listened to the testimony of a young man with whom the Spirit of God had long striven. Time and time again he had stifled the voice of the Spirit and rejected the just claims of God upon him. On the night of his conversion, God came to him, and, as distinctly as though the person sitting at his side had spoken, he heard God say to him: "It is now or never." He was overwhelmingly impressed with the thought that the eternal welfare of his soul depended upon the decision which he must make that night. He won the victory over his rebellious soul, and looked to God for salvation. The other case was that of an old man who years before had come face to face with the crisis of his relations to God. God's Spirit had striven with him again and again. At last what he was deeply conscious was the final appeal of God came to his soul. He refused to yield. The Spirit left him. The day of grace was past. The years came and went. His hair whitened and his step grew feebler, but no desire for God ever moved his soul again. He came into meeting once towards the close of his life. The minister who was present at that meeting and who afterwards told me the awful story labored long and earnestly with him. He was unmoved by every appeal, he was indifferent to the welfare of his soul. He was as unresponsive and dead as the stones which formed the building in which he stood. He told the story of the crisis in his life of God's last appeal to him, of his blatant and blasphemous rejection of His claims, and how in all the years which had followed he had been as utterly void of any religious sense or emotion as a piece of pulseless clay. He said he had tried to, and had felt at times that he would like to, come to God and be saved, but he could not, and he had no deep concern over his lost condition. And as he ended his story, which had moved deeply with its awfulness those who had listened, he passed out into the night and the blackness of his soul's despair, which could never know relief. The day of grace had passed. He was waiting for the judgment. And how is it with you, dear friend out of Christ? Are you returning a deaf ear to the call of God to "look and be saved?" Remember, He Who pleads with you now to come to Him and be saved, solemnly warns your soul that the day of grace will soon end, and that stubborn heart of yours be forced to bow before Him in the judgment, for every knee shall bow, and every tongue confess. Oh, why not bow the knee to your God and Saviour now, while the day of grace still is yours? Soon, too soon, it may be too late!

Love's Power.

It is a mistake to say that the intense love of any true soul is selfish. A right love does not confine our affection and admiration to that one person, and cause us to have less care for others. If we rightly love any one person, we are prompted by that love to love gratefully God who gave us that love, and then to have new love, and more of it, for those whom that same God loves. Jean Paul Richter goes so far as to say: "Love one human being purely and warmly and you will love all. If our love of another limits our range and power of loving, there is something wrong or lacking in that love."—S. S. Times.

Calls to Wonder and Worship.

Calls to wonder and calls to worship are about us all the time. If our eyes are keen, and are on the watch, we can see that which causes us to wonder and find delight in the face of a dear one. And this wonder and delight is a cause of thankfulness and gratitude to God who created that dear one, and sent to us that blessing. If there is no such wonder and worship excited by one whom we truly love, the lack is in our eyes. Carlyle says: "The man who cannot wonder, who does not habitually wonder and worship, is but a pair of spectacles behind which there is no eye."—S. S. Times.

MOON A LIFELESS WORLD.

Covered with Vast Mountains, But Is Without Atmosphere or Vegetation.

Children and grown folks, too, like to think of the disc the moon presents to the earth as the smiling face of an old man. A little study and a little drawing upon the imagination easily turns the full moon into such a face, more or less closely resembling the pictures of the moon as shown in children's books. It requires a more careful observation to discern the "man in the moon," with his bundle of sticks on his back, as he is seen by the children of Germany, who are taught to regard him with fear and awe.

Before Galileo's invention of the telescope it was not known what caused the mottled appearance of the moon's surface. We now know that the surface of the moon is diversified with hills and valleys and mountains and plains, just as the earth is, and that it is the shadows cast by the elevated portions of the surface that cause some parts to appear darker than others.

The lunar mountains are vastly higher in proportion than those of the earth. Though the moon is only about one-fiftieth the size of the earth, its mountains are nearly as high, one at least, being about four and a half miles high. Another peculiarity of these mountains is that so many of them have the form of volcanic craters, which no doubt they really are. So far as can be seen all are extinct, however. Near the center of the level floor of these craters, often thousands of feet below the top of the rim, is a curious peak resembling a little mountain within a mountain. Herodotus, the largest of these ring mountains, has a diameter of more than 23 miles, and its crater is 4,000 feet deep. Besides the giant Plato Herodotus is a mere pigmy, for the former is more than three times as far across and deep.

The moon is a dead world, fossil among the heavenly bodies. There is apparently no vegetation, no atmosphere, no life of any kind. Could we stand on her surface everything would, in consequence, appear strange and odd. Even at midday the sky would be studded with stars, but the sky itself would be black. There would be no dawn or twilight, for the sun would rise and set suddenly and sharply, its two week's intolerable glare giving way to another two weeks of intense cold. Everything would be somber, colorless, silent; there would be only sharp outlines of light and shade, softened by no gradations such as make the earth pleasant and beautiful.

DESERTED VILLAGES.

Bank Buildings and Residences in Former Times Now Farmers' Outhouses.

A curious thing about most of the western Kansas counties is the number of deserted towns. Some of them were the former county seats and the victims of the fierce wars that in the 80's caused many Kansans to sleep with their guns within easy reach, and that made a nightly guard upon the court house the price of keeping it.

Others were flourishing little towns when the big boom was on, and were afterward abandoned when the country became depopulated, says the New York Sun. Bank buildings are now farmers' outhouses, once fine residences are farm houses, and in some instances a barn was once the county court house.

There are as many people there as ever, but they have founded new towns. Gettysburg, once the county seat of Graham, is now marked only by an old graveyard, with crumbling tombstones.

Hill City, the present county seat, is composed of four other towns that were moved there bodily when, in the hard times, a wealthy landowner offered to build a fine court house. After the original town site lots were sold, the proprietor laid out a new town site across the ravine to the north, and there put up the court house.

This created a feud that exists to-day and presents the peculiar spectacle of two towns side by side with a fierce rivalry between them. Each town has as little to do with the other as possible.

A county candidate from one town never gets any votes from the other, and it is considered a misdemeanor for a man to do business with anyone in the other part of the town. Each side maintains a hotel, and each vies with the other in keeping up the appearance of its business houses and streets.

When commercial travelers have sold goods in one town they dare not walk over into the other, but must resort to the trick of driving in from another direction.

Corean Cinderella.

In Corea the people tell a Cinderella story that is much more ancient than that familiar to western people. The key of the latter story is the slipper, but not so theirs. Peach Blossom, the Corean Cinderella's name, was the family drudge. One day as the mother was starting off with the favorite daughter to a picnic she said to Peach Blossom: "You must not leave until you have hulled a bagful of rice and filled the broken crock with water." While sitting there bemoaning her hard lot she heard a twittering and a fluttering of wings. Looking up she saw a flock of sparrows pecking the hulls off the rice. Before recovering from her surprise, a little imp jumped out of the fireplace and so skillfully repaired the crock that but a few minutes of work was required to fill it with water. Then she went to the picnic and had a royal time.—Chicago Daily News.

AGRICULTURAL HINTS

HOW TO DRESS FOWLS.

Timely Advice to Shippers, Supplied by Prof. Graham of the Ontario Agricultural College.

All fowls should be fasted 24 to 36 hours before killing. Where this is not done, the food decays in the crop and intestines, the result being that the flesh becomes tainted and does not keep well. In a recent bulletin of the Ontario agricultural college, Prof. Graham gives some rules for dressing fowls for market.

READY FOR MARKET.

There are two methods of killing that are considered proper. One is to kill by bleeding, which is accomplished by making a deep incision with a sharp knife in the roof of the mouth, immediately below the eyes. The other is to kill the bird by wringing or pulling the neck. Take the chicken in the hand, stretching the neck, holding the crown of the head in the palm of the hand, and giving a quick turn upward.

WEIGHTING THE FOWL.

and at the same time a steady pull. This method is favored by the exporters of dressed fowls, and is much cleaner than bleeding the fowls. It is claimed by the exporters that the flesh will keep longer and will not be as dry as when the birds are bled.

After the bird is killed, plucking should begin at once. Care should be taken to keep the head downward, to allow the blood to collect in the neck. Where the birds are allowed to become cool before being plucked, it is very hard to avoid tearing the skin; and the plucking is much more tedious. All fowls should be plucked clean, with the exception of about two inches of feathers adjoining the head.

After the chicken has been plucked, it should be placed on a shaping board as shown in the accompanying illustration. The weight placed on the top of the chicken is used to give it a compact appearance. This weight may be of iron, as shown by the cut, or a brick will answer. If the chickens are hung by the legs after being plucked, it spoils their appearance by making them look thin and leggy.

THE SHAPING RACK.

Many good chickens are spoiled by being packed before they are thoroughly cooled. Care should be taken that all the animal heat is out of the body before the fowls are packed, and this requires at least 12 hours. Chickens are then packed in boxes, as shown in the cut. This box, which is used for export shipments, is three feet long, 17 inches wide and seven inches deep, is lined with parchment paper.

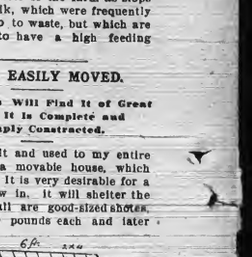
If the chickens are to be shipped a long distance, each bird is wrapped in paper, which prevents them from bruising each other, and at the same time, to a considerable extent checks decomposition. Do not use ordinary wrapping paper, as it draws dampness, and will cause the chickens to become clammy. For local shipments, a box 12 inches wide and 12 inches deep of the same length is used, which holds three tiers of fowls.—Orange Judd Farmer.

Shelter Increases Egg Yield.

In an experiment at the Maine agricultural college 60 pullets placed in a room 12 by 38 feet in size averaged but six eggs more in 11 months than where 90 pullets were confined in the same space, the average yield being 109 and 103, respectively. Another lot, however, that was given warmer quarters during the cold weather, and with the same amount of floor space per hen as the lot of 90, produced an average of 144 eggs in ten months. Half of these pullets were stolen at this time, which terminated the experiment, but it had gone far enough to demonstrate the advantage of warm shelter.

MAKING PRIME PORK.

Modern Methods of Production Differ Essentially from Those in Vogue a Few Years Ago.



The value of corn for pork production was long since recognized; but changes in economic conditions have increased the price of corn during the past few years and made it necessary for the farmer to consider what grain crops he can grow or feed as a substitute for a portion of the corn so as to cheapen the cost of production and at the same time improve the quality of the pork, writes John R. Fain, of the Tennessee experiment station. The cheapness of corn in the past has in one sense been a detriment to the progress of swine husbandry; it has encouraged a too general use of this cereal for the development of the choicest quality of breeding animals. When corn was very cheap it was a common practice to shut the hogs up in a filthy pen and feed them an unlimited quantity without regard to cost. This made fat hogs of what is generally known as the "lard type." Close confinement and heavy feeding impaired the stamina and vigor of the animals and undoubtedly resulted in undermining the constitution of the brood sow, and this with the unsanitary quarters caused the destruction of large numbers of hogs by the dreaded cholera.

Hog breeders now realize that an open range with grass and forage crops is a desideratum of the greatest importance to them. Under such conditions a superior quality of pork is obtained with a better admixture of fat and lean. As can be easily understood from these facts and many others which might be adduced, conditions with regard to swine feeding have materially changed. Hence it becomes necessary to determine what grains may be substituted to advantage for a part of the corn formerly fed and to utilize fully such by-products of the farm as slops and skim milk, which were frequently allowed to go to waste, but which are now known to have a high feeding value.

HOUSE EASILY MOVED.

Hog Raisers Will Find It of Great Use, as It Is Complete and Cheaply Constructed.

I have built and used to my entire satisfaction, a movable house, which fills the bill. It is very desirable for a sow to farrow in. It will shelter the litter until all are good-sized shotes, weighing 100 pounds each and later accommodate four fat hogs of 250 pounds each. In warm weather, take off the door entirely, also cut a window in the rear end for ventilation, and close it again in winter.

Make a movable floor, to fit inside the two by six-inch sills. This must be of strong boards or plank. Place the floor where you want the house to stand, then set the house over it. It is complete, cheap and easily built.

To move, tip the house over on a stone boat, pick up the floor, and you are ready to travel quicker and oftener than the proverbial preacher of short pastorate.—Orange Judd Farmer.

THE HOGS IN WINTER.

Usually, a hog with bristles has a coarse and thick skin.

With hogs, clean pens and clean beds will do much to ward off lice and disease.

If the pigs are closely confined, they must have a variety of food, if they are to be kept thrifty.

Pigs will stand considerably more nutritious or rich food, if it is given often and in small quantities.

Young pigs should be taught to eat as young as possible and be given all the skim milk they will drink.

The fattening hogs should have all of the grain they will eat up clean. But no more than this should be given.

A cross sow is a dangerous animal to have around, and should be made fat and shipped at the earliest opportunity.

A bushel of corn will make more pounds of increase when fed to a pig three months old than when fed to an older one.

Hogs may be fed out in winter to a good advantage if there is warm and dry shelter, and it is kept perfectly clean.—Live Stock Journal.

Killing Out Bermuda Grass.

Those who fear that Bermuda grass does too well with them may kill it out by plowing two or three inches deep in December, after allowing stock to graze it closely. After freezing weather in January or February, the land should be plowed again six or eight inches deep, well harrowed, and seeded thickly to oats as soon as the weather is warm enough, usually about March 1. Cowpeas should be planted on the oat-stubble immediately after harvest, and after they are mowed, pastured off, or plowed under, wheat should be sown. This method will effectually remove Bermuda grass.—Midland Farmer.

PRICES OF MONOPOLIES.

Nearly every one in the United States has felt the extortion of the beef trust, and many a family only has meat once or twice a week in consequence of the high prices exacted. The poor in the towns and cities thus suffer whether in the eastern or western states. If the farmers and stock growers were the beneficiaries of this high price of meat there would be an indirect compensation to the workers of the cities, for agriculture being unusually prosperous the increased necessity for purchasing necessities of life and also luxuries by the farmers brings more demand for labor in the business and manufacturing centers, and hence better wages and living. But the farmers and stock growers are grumbling that the price of cattle and hogs is lower, while the packers' combine is charging more for their products. A letter in the Mitchell (Neb.) Index from former Senator H. G. Stewart, says:

"By glancing at the market reports we notice that the middle of October the price of hogs was $6.30; and that the price at the same date a year ago was $7.20, or a loss to the producer of $1.90 per hundredweight. Retail dealers who handle Omaha meats in the larger cities of the state report that the packers are charging ten to 15 per cent. more for dressed pork now than a year ago. Result: The packers, by controlling both the buying and selling prices, are able this year to buy hogs at 40 per cent. less and sell meat at 15 per cent. more, making a profit of 55 per cent. over and above their profits of one year ago.

"Now how about cattle? About the same date in October this year good beef steers weighing 1,200 pounds sold for $4.75; same date a year ago the same quality of steers sold for $6.25, or $1.50 more than this year. Dressed meat is 15 per cent. higher this year; so they are buying cattle on foot at 30 per cent. less and selling the meat at 15 per cent. more, making a net profit of 45 per cent. over and above their profits of a year ago."

Without doubt, this state of facts exists in other western states and in the other packing centers, Kansas City and Chicago.

Attorney General Knox has ample funds and legal aid to investigate these extortions of the packers' combine, but he will leave the change his tactics from the gloved hand to the mailed fist by prosecuting this unlawful combination under the criminal section of the interstate commerce law instead of the injunction proceedings he has commenced under the civil section. The trusts evidently laugh at the Knox way of fighting them.

——The question how Mr. Roosevelt stands in the west is one of deep interest. Not long ago it was in that quarter that his name excited the greatest enthusiasm among the people. Has he hauled his own? If in the republican party some powerful and rich interest should oppose the renomination of Mr. Roosevelt his colored delegates might be bought away from him. There are some northern states, too, in which under skilful political leadership, delegates secretly or openly pledged against him might be sent to the convention. The position of the west, however, is the point of chief interest and importance.—N. Y. Times

THE HANNA PLAN.

Gives the Impression That Boodle and Graft Is the Saving Power of Partisans.

When Hanna made his spectacular tour of Nebraska in 1900 and distributed campaign funds with startling prodigality, he was hailed by the republican leaders as "the redeemer of the state." But this lavish use of money in Nebraska, inspired in many of those who received it, the idea that boodle and graft is the reward of active partisans. It is hardly singular, therefore, that political corruption is found to exist in the wake of wherever Senator Hanna steered his political bark, and that the state of Nebraska is badly in need of another redeeming. The United States grand jury for the past month or two has been engaged in the job of initiating republican officials charged with buying and selling offices and stealing from Uncle Sam. The list of those indicted is a long one, ranging in importance from United States Senator Dietrich down to more insignificant personages and others implicated in land frauds. This shows that an unprecedented era of corruption is rampant in Nebraska, and it appears from the evidence produced before the grand jury to have had its inception or at least have become epidemic, soon after Senator Hanna had sown the seed in 1900. Dietrich may have been politically honest before his initiation into the secrets of how to "redeem" the state. These revelations before the grand jury and the more startling evidence of the grafting that the trials will bring out, must dethrone many idols that the honest republican voters of Nebraska have worshiped. The skirts of a good many of the other would-be statesmen and patriots, it is feared, will not show that immaculate whiteness that an honest voter follows with admiration and delight, even though the toils of the law have, so far, not besmirched them.

The same disastrous effect was produced in the post office department when Senator Hanna had his favorite, Perry Heath, appointed the virtual head of that large institution. It will take considerable work to "redeem" Nebraska, and nothing but a change of administration will "redeem" the executive departments of the government. The grafters have too much political pull in high quarters for anything short of a political revolution to turn the rascals out.

DRIFT OF OPINION.

——Mark Hanna's record as a campaign manager and a money collector is one that nobody wants to go against.—Chicago Chronicle.

It does not require an experienced politician to understand that, even though Mr. Hanna continues to say that he is not a candidate, the Ohio senator is adopting a policy of waiting and watching. It is not difficult to be believe from Mr. Hanna's attitude and from the actions of his friends that if the anti-Roosevelt sentiment can be made to grow a little stronger, and if anything in the nature of an open rupture can be brought about during the present session of congress, Mr. Hanna will be "forced into the contest." It is also not difficult to believe that if Mr. Hanna is ever "forced into the contest" the Roosevelt boom will go to pieces and Mark Hanna will become the republican nominee for president.—Omaha World-Herald.

No Real Prosperity.

——There is no such thing as real prosperity in this country when the general public is short of surplus money. There is no abatement of real prosperity when the general public goes on making money and saving some of it. The speculative gambler may be rolling in wealth or he may be absolutely poverty-stricken, and neither the one condition nor the other reflects the situation of the general public and the country. Something that does, unfailingly and emphatically, is the total of the savings banks deposits—the surplus wealth of the general public.—N. Y. Press

ANOTHER "NATURE" BOOK.

In Which Bridget Seton-Clancy Relates Tales of Her Intimacy with Wild Animals.

"Wild Brutes I Have Saw," by Bridget Seton-Clancy. This charming group of essays has about it the odor of the backwoods to a remarkable degree, says the Milwaukee Sentinel.

The authoress explains, in the preface, that her early life was spent in the wilds of northern Minnesota, where she associated almost entirely with wild animals. She says:

"Many times I used to set under a tree for hours at a time, watching for to get a shot at a rabbit. If could shoot good with a rifle, and have often saw men who were worse shots than I be. When the other girls were wasting their time going to district school, I would be walking through the woods, watching the wild beasts playing in the trees and on the grass, and learning something every minute. Even loss of fanny incidents which I will try to mention in this here book."

Miss Seton-Clancy is one of those free, untrammeled souls who occasionally startle the literary world by their supreme disregard for the statute in such case made and provided. If she is ever worried by the rules of grammar, it does not appear in her work. She has something to say, and says it straight from the shoulder.

This is one of the best books of the year, and it would enjoy a large sale.

To Avoid Tie Vote.

In the history of our comic literature there have been many genuine "Irish bulls" recorded, but rarely one that is of a better brand than that encountered a few nights ago at a political gathering on Locust street above Broad, in Philadelphia, says the Record, of that city. A convention of delegates had been called to revise the rules of the party and in order to expedite matters a recess was moved for, a committee of 10 be appointed to draft the proposed rules. Before this was adopted another delegate suggested that a committee of 15 would be unwieldly and proposed an amendment, increasing the number to eight. This was agreed to, but before its adoption the aged delegate, with a rich Milesian brogue, arose and solemly proposed: "Mister Chairman, I move yer that the committee be increased to nine, so that in case of a tie vote there'll be a majority of wan."

THE OLDEST MAN IN AMERICA

Tells How He Escaped the Terrors of Many Winters by Using Pe-ru-na.

MR. ISAAC BROCK, BORN IN BUNCOMBE CO., N. C., MARCH 1, 1788.

His age is 115 years, vouched for by authentic record. He says: "I attribute my extreme age to the use of Peruna."

Born before the United States was formed.
Saw 22 Presidents elected.
Pe-ru-na has protected him from all sudden changes.
Veteran of four wars.
Shod a horse when 99 years old.
Witness in a land suit at the age of 110 years.

ISAAC BROCK, a citizen of McLennan county, Texas, has lived for 115 years

For many years he resided at Rosque Falls, eighteen miles west of Waco, but now lives with his son-in-law at Valley Mills, Texas.

In speaking of his good health and extreme old age, Mr. Brock says:

"After a man has lived in the world as long as I have, he ought to have found out a great many things by experience. I think I have done so.

"One of the things I have found out to my entire satisfaction is the proper thing for ailments that are due directly to the effects of the climate. For 115 years I have withstood the changeable climate of the United States.

"I have always been a very healthy man, but of course subject to the little affections which are due to sudden changes in the climate and temperature. During my long life I have known a great many remedies for coughs, colds and diarrhoea.

"As for Dr. Hartman's remedy, Peruna, I have found it to be the best, if not the only, reliable remedy for these affections. It has been my standby for many years, and I attribute my good health and extreme old age to this remedy.

"It exactly meets all my requirements. It protects me from the evil effects of sudden changes; it keeps me in good appetite; it gives me strength; it keeps my blood in good circulation. I have come to rely upon it almost entirely for the many little things for which I need medicine.

"When epidemics of la grippe first began to make their appearance in this country I was a sufferer from this disease.

"I had several long sieges with the grip. At first I did not know that Peruna was a remedy for this disease. When I heard that la grippe was epidemic catarrh, I tried Peruna for la grippe and found it to be just the thing."

In a later letter dated January 31, 1903, Mr. Brock writes:

"I am well and feeling as well as I have for years. The only thing that bothers me is my sight. If I could see better I could walk all over the farm and it would do me good. I would not be without Peruna."

Yours truly,

Isaac Brock.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Prudence.

Ill Tragedy—You did? You were independent, eh?

Winter in California

is winter only in name. Flowers, green fields, oranges and mange blossoms, weeks of sunshine, life out of doors, Golf, Tennis, Driving and Automobiling, these are the attractions that ignore the calendar.

The Climatic and Industrial advantages of California are pointed out in such books as "The San Joaquin Valley," "The Land of Opportunity," "California Industries," "California for the Settler," "California South of Tehachapi," "The Sacramento Valley," "The Coast Line," (both in press) and others. These are published by the Southern Pacific Company and are free of Agents. "Sunset Route" to California via New Orleans and El Paso to Los Angeles. Write W. G. Salzer's Home Builder Corn.

So named because 50 acres produced so heavily, that its proceeds built a lovely home. See Salzer's catalog. Yielded in 1903 in Ind. 157 bu., Ohio 107 bu., Tenn. 98 bu., and in Mich. 220 bu. per acre. You can beat this record in 1904.

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THESE YIELDS PER ACRE?

120 bu. Beardless Barley per acre.
80 bu. Salzer Speltz and Macaroni Wheat.
1,000 bu Pedigree Potatoes per acre.
14 tons of rich Billion Dollar Grass Hay.
160,000 lbs. Teosinte, the fodder wonder.

Now such yields you can have. Mr. Farmer, in 1904 if you will plant Salzer's seeds.

JUST SEND THIS NOTICE AND 10c in stamps to John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., and receive their great catalog and lots of farm seed samples. [K. L.]

"Grace, can you tell me what is meant by a cubic yard?" "I don't know exactly, but I guess it's a yard that the Cuban children play in."—Boston Christian Register.

THREE YEARS AFTER.

Eugene E. Larlo, of 731 Twentieth Avenue, ticket seller in the Union Station, Denver, Col., says: "You are at liberty to repeat what I first stated through our Denver papers about Doan's Kidney Pills in the summer of 1899, for I have had no reason in the interim to change my opinion of the remedy. I was subject to severe attacks of backache, always aggravated if I sat long at a desk. Doan's Kidney Pills absolutely stopped my backache. I have never had a pain or twinge since."

A short time ago, by request, Uncle Isaac came to Waco and sat for his picture. In his hand he held a stick cut from the grave of General Andrew Jackson, which has been carried by him ever since. Mr. Brock is a dignified old gentleman, showing few signs of decrepitude. His family Bible is still preserved, and it shows that the date of his birth was written 115 years ago.

Surely a few words from this remarkable old gentleman, who has had 115 years of experience to draw from, would be interesting as well as profitable. A lengthy biographical sketch is given of this remarkable old man in the Waco Times-Herald, December 4, 1898. A still more pretentious biography of this, the oldest living man, illustrated with a double column portrait, was given the readers of the Dallas Morning News, dated December 11, 1898, and also the Chicago Times-Herald of same date

The man who does the least work in the field is the man who usually has the most accurate car for the dinner bell.

Whenever a dozen eggs sell for the price of a pound of butter, the man with the hens is ahead of the man with the cows.

Where is the man who has stuck to raising sorghum? He is not as much in evidence as he once was. It certainly is a crop that pays.

A large canvas for use during stacking will be found to be a good investment. It will pay for itself in stacking time during one hard rain.

We pay 3 per cent. Interest on Time Saving Deposits, compounded twice a year. Also a Liberal Rate of Interest on Deposits Subject to Check.

Every man, woman and child in Boone county should have an account with this Company. You will never be worth any money until you save some. It will grow while you sleep, every dollar deposited being your silent partner in assisting you to win a competence.

Persistent saving brings about wonderful results. Five cents a day for 21 years, compounded at 3 per cent. will amount to about $500. Twenty-five cents a day will make about $2,500 or enough to start your son in business. One dollar a day will make about $10,000, or more than $5 out of 100 persons ever have at once.

$1.00 will open an account, and the small depositor will receive the same consideration as the large one.

This company, in its Trust Department, acts as Executor, Administrator, Gurdian, Trustee in and all fiduciary capacities, and will contract to settle estates for a fixed sum.

VOL. XXIX. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 20, 1904. NO. 14

County Correspondence.

PLATTSBURG.

Miss Mae Sebree has measles.

Glad to report the sick all on the improve.

Miss Martha Randall has been quite sick for several days.

A fine Shorthorn cow belonging to Gaines Bros., died one day last week.

Elbert Ryle will begin teaching the public school here, the first of next month.

Jesse and Carl Wingate, of North Bend, were visiting Less Sebree, a few days ago.

Dick Kettle came very near losing his residence by fire the other night. He awoke and discovered the fire just in time to be able to put it out. Damage very light.

Bart Grant came very near getting his team killed and his wagon wrecked, while hauling ice. The wagon slipped over a bank and started down a steep hill. It struck a tree which stopped it and prevented a serious smash-up.

COMMISSARY.

Mrs. Ida Bower, of Holten, Ind., is visiting her father, Henry Griffith, of Bellevue.

Wm. Stamper, of McVille, who has been very sick, was thought to be some better Friday morning.

Roien McCarty, living on Ernest Grant's farm, will move to Belleview and crop for Al Rogers.

Mrs. Laura Marshall, of Middle creek returned last Sunday, from a week's visit among her relatives and friends.

Lawrence Phipps, of Middle creek, and cousin, Myrtle Barker, of Tenn., were guests of James Acra and family, last Sunday.

Henry Griffith and daughter Daisy, of Bellevue, and married daughter, Miss Ida Bower, of Holten, Ind., were guests of Geo. Rains and family, Friday.

There was a grand dance at John Portwood's Wednesday night. It was an up-to-date dance. Music by the gifted musicians, Chas. Kelly and Hubert Clore.

Will Price and wife, spent the greater part of this week with Ransom Ryle, and wife. Mr. Price's health is improving, and if it continues to improve he will not go to California.

We had a nice sleighride last Wednesday with Captain J. J. Lillard, behind Blackhawk Joe, one of the Captain's fine steppers; especially when the Captain holds the reins. The first ride we had last winter was behind Blackhawk.

If your hair is dry and falling out, go to Barber Clark, of Burlington, and get an easy shave, and have him apply some of his Anti Baldine and hair invigerator to the scalp of your thiukpot, and you will be pleased with the result. A few applications will make the hair soft and glossy, and stop its falling out. We know because we have been there. His charges are reasonable.

Rev. Darnell, who has been preaching for the Christian church at Belleview, has taken unto himself a rib in the person of Miss Cathryu Allen, an accomplished young lady. They will make their home in Alabama for a year at least, as he preaches there the coming year. The weddiug was a surprise to Mr. Darnell's many friends here, and all join in wishiug them happiness and prosperity.

Misses Emma and Genie Moody, Artie and Stella Ryle, Mary Gaines, and Carl Upson of Gunpowder, and Miss Maggie Kite, were guests of Miss Maud Scott uear here last Sunday. All had a pleasant and enjoyable time, as Miss Maud is a pleasant entertainer. It was a graud social. The dinner was the most elaborate gastronomical affair in the history of Commissary or vicinity. You would be a long time about the Commissary before you had a dinner like it. In Cincinnati, New York or Chicago, such a dinner would cost $10 a plate.

Henry Parsons and Tom Marshall, two inventive geniuses, contemplate putting a traction engine on the road and haul freight of all kinds to and from Cincinnati to Bellevue, by way of Burlington. Mr Parson has an improved plan for a traction engine by which doubles the speed and pulling power is gained over any engine built. They have not yet decided whether they will build it themselves, or have it built, but it is to be built on Mr. Parsons' improved plan. Mr. Parson talks of going to Columbus in the near future in the interest of the scheme.

When the fox hunters, of Belleview, have a chase in the vicinity of Waterloo, a strange dog buttsin, in the chase and causes alarm among the Belleview sports. He has been heard, but has not been seen; is a good tougher and very swift; always far in advance of all the dogs which causes the alarm. No one knows to whom he belongs. Efforts have been made to find out, but were unsuccessful. Some say its the spirit of some departed dog, and Dony Cook says it is the spirit of one of his old dogs. John Gilligan clears up the mystery. He says it is not a spirit, but is his dog Queen, the swiftest dog in Boone County, and if Dony will fix a date, and place of meeting, he will prove it to his satisfaction.

BELLEVIEW.

Jan. 16.—The ice gorge hasn't let go yet.

J. J. Walton and wife, of the hill country visited Dr. Williamson and wife. Sunday.

Dump Raines and wife and Spinny Smith and wife were guests of Henry Griffith and daughter Sunday.

Those here who have ice houses are very slow in getting them filled, as the ice on Middle creek has not been fit to put up.

George Rice, whose home is in Southern Kentucky, is here visiting relatives and friends. He will move to Illinois as soon as the river opens.

The following are on the sick list this week; Alice Cook, Mrs. Joseph Maurer, Jake Cook, Agnes Cook, Mrs. T. J. Clore, William Stamper, Mrs. William Williamson.

Alline Lodge I. O. O. F., of this place elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: Robert Rice, N. G.; Dr. Williamson, V. G; Johnny Moody, Secty.; Perry Clore, Treasurer.

Robyne, the showman, is at Jacob Cook's quite sick of pneumonia. The citizens of our town take turns in sitting up with him at night. Dr. Will Jamson says he is in a serious condition.

Following are the officers of Belleview Masonic Lodge for this year: W. T. McMillen, W. M.; Jeff William son, S. W.; James McAtee, J. W.; Moses Scott, Secretary; R. O. Ryle, Treasurer; George Williamson, Tyler; Ed Passons and Wm. Williamson, Stewards; Waller Marshall, S. D.; Charles Maurer, J. D. Last Saturday evening William Maurer took the Master's degree.

At the meeting of Evergreen Rebekah Lodge, last Saturday night, the following officers were installed: Mrs. Rea Berkshire, P. G.; Mrs. Josie Grant, N. G.; Mrs. Ley Stephens, V. G; Mrs. Annie Sullivan, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Lizzie Smith, Financial Secretary; Mrs. Sophia Clore, Treasurer; Charles Maurer, R. S. to N. G.; Mrs. Clara Smith L. S to N. G.; Miss Susie Kelly, Warden; Mrs. Stella Scott, Conductor; Miss Maud Scott, Chaplain; Mrs. Bertha Rice, I. G.; Leslie Sullivan, O. G. Wilbur Scott was given the Rebekah degree that night.

Miss Alice Cook, who has been confined to her bed for a couple of weeks with grippe, is convalescing.

The attendance at the Christian Sunday school last Sunday was 72. The pupils come, ice, snow or rain, and that is the way to make your side successful.

During my trip to Rabbit Hash, last Wednesday, found our friend Riddell knocked out by the gripp, and under John Calvert was in sole command of the yard stick and the postoffice, and he was as polite as the traditional basket of chips.

We were very much surprised, last Friday, when we received a postal card from Bro. W. Douglas Darnell, at Henderson, this State, announcing his marriage to Miss Kathleen Allen, of Morgaufield, on the 18th inst. They will make their home in Alabama, where he will preach this year. Bro. Darnell was with our church from July until after the second Sunday in December, of last year, during which time there were 19 additions. He was loved by the members, and especially the younger ones, who were very much attached to him. He and his bride have the best wishes of every member of the church here.

Ed Huey, of Illinois, soninlaw of the late T. U. S. Ryle, is visiting relatives here. ACRA.

HEBRON

Dr. and Mrs. Sayre spent Monday in Cincinnati.

Regular services at the Lutheran church, Sunday morning.

Henry Beall gave a party to the young people of this vicinity Saturday night.

Frank Jackson, of Cincinnati, was visiting relatives here Saturday and Sunday.

Hubert Gaines and sister, Miss Kathryn, were guests of relatives at this place Sunday.

Quite a number of Hebronites have walked over the Ohio at Anderson's Ferry within the past week.

Don't Worry.

This is easier said than done, yet it may be of some help to consider the matter. If the cause is something over which you have no control it is obvious that worrying will not help the matter in the least. On the other hand, if within your control you have only to act. When you have a cold and fear an attack of pneumonia, buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and use it judiciously and all cause for worry as to the outcome will quickly disappear. There is no danger of pneumonia when it is used. For sale by all druggists.

RABBIT HASH.

T. C. S. Ryle, one of the wealthiest and best known citizens of this county, died at his residence near here Sunday morning, Jan. 10, aged 77 years. The funeral was held Monday, attended by a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends, after which the remains were interred in the family burying ground. About two weeks ago he fell, receiving a cut on the head, from which blood poisoning resulted, causing his death. Mr. Ryle was a native of this county, where he always lived. Commencing life as a poor boy, by industry and good management he accumulated a fortune, being at the time of his death one of the largest land holders in the county. He was a man of striking personality and rare intellectual powers, united with great kindness of heart, whose demise is a great loss to the community. He is survived by three sons and two daughters, besides numerous other relatives and friends.

BUFFALO.

Claud Utz has had a telephone put in his home.

Telephone talk is all you hear in this neighborhood.

P. P. Neal is still improving and able to get out as far as his barn.

Those on the sick list are Bobt. Wood, Orien Shinkle and Mrs. Clark Ronse.

Mrs. A. J. Utz and Miss Jessie spent last Sunday with Mrs J. Q Elstun and family.

J S Mason and J. W. Aylor are still hauling saw logs from East Bend to the river.

Mrs. Octave Ryle and Miss Alma Ryle, of Gunpowder, were guests of Mrs Tom Stephens several days ago.

Your Hathaway correspondent was in Buffalo, talking telephone Saturday morning. And they had their meeting at Beech Grove in the afternoon of the same day.

There will be a telephone meeting at 2 o'clock next Tuesday the 19th, at the Grange Hall. It is a sure go from Hathaway to Union. There is already enough signed to run the line.

BIG BONE.

Jan. 18.—The infant son of Thomas Huey and wife, has been very sick with pneumonia, but he is convalescent.

Chickenpox is very prevalent around the Springs.

Geo. Coyle and bride, of Crescent Springs, visited his sister at this place last week.

The members of Harmony Lodge, I. O. O. F., at this place, are talking of organizing an Encampment in the near future.

The many friends of Marion Johnson will be glad to know that his health is improving rapidly in his new location, Pheonix, Arizona, where he went in search of health.

Rev. H. R. Mills, pastor of the M. E. church at this place, preached two fine sermons here Sunday. Preaching at this church on the fifth Sunday by the Presiding Elder, Dr. Sims. The Lord's Supper will be administered at the morning services.

The young folks of this community have enjoyed several dances in the past two weeks. One of the leading features of the dances is one of Lutie Bradford's new figures, which he calls Sister Flaunigau. Thursday night while dancing the Grape Vine Twist at Geo. Black's a young lady accidentally throwed her knee out of place, which caus d her to snffer violently for a little while. It alarmed the rest of the ladies to such au extent that they quit the dance and dispersed to their several homes.

HATHAWAY

Jan. 18.—Grip and colds are epidemic here.

J. D McNeely has nearly 20 young lambs with his flock of sheep.

Clay Wood and wife, of near Petersburg, spent a couple of days with your writer, last week.

Lucius Stephens, of near this place, was hauling corn that he had purchased in East Bend, one day last week.

Henry Ross and Lou Clarkson, of near Union, were the guests of R. R. Houston and Joe Weaver, our city merchants, last Saturday.

Several of the farmers in this locality had a chance last week, the first time for a while, to strip out their tobacco of which they took advantage.

Your pencil shover and family and Mrs Cora White spent last Thursday with G. L. Smith and wife, and Mrs. Cynthia Mason, and enjoyed a sleigh ride as a specialty.

Those desiring to subscribe for the RECORDER, or to renew their subscriptions for same, may do so by calling on the cor. at this place, and he will receipt for same. He will gladly wait on you at any time.

Saved From Terrible Death.

The family of Mrs. M. L. Bobbitt of Bargerton, Tenn., saw her dying and were powerless to save her. The most skillful physicians and every remedy used, failed, while consumption was slowly but surely taking her life. In this terrible hour Dr. Kling's New Discovery for Consumption turned despair into joy. The first bottle brought immediate relief and its continued use completely cured her. It's the most certain cure in the world for all throat and lung troubles. Guaranteed Bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial Bottles Free at All Drug Stores.

PETERSBURG.

The town was shocked last Thursday about noon when it was announced that Mrs. Mary Wingate, 73, widow of the late Calvin Wingate had been found lying on the floor of her room, dead. Mrs. Wingate lived by herself, and every morning a neighbor boy would go and build a fire and carry in water and fuel for her. When he called about 8 o'clock that morning he could not get in, and had the same luck about an hour later. At noon when he called and could not gain admission, he became alarmed and informed J. B Berkshire and M F Wingate, who entered the house by way of a window, and found Mrs. Wingate lying in the floor dead. As there was a large lump of coal on the grate it is believed that she got up some time in the night to build a fire, and died before she got back to her bed. She was subject to heart trouble.

A CARD OF THANKS.—We desire to thank the ladies of our church, the ladies of the Missionary Society, and other friends for their tributes and their affection and kindness shown us in our bereavement in the loss of our mother and grandmother, Mrs. Calvin Wingate. We feel deeply grateful to Rev. W. L. Selby for his consoling discourse, and to Mr. John Steers for the excellent manner in which he conducted the funeral. THE FAMILY.

IDLEWILD.

James Barnes is quite sick of pneumonia.

Mrs. Geo. Kreylich and daughter were calling on friends in Idlewild last Tuesday.

Mrs. John Jones attended the funeral of her aunt, Mrs. Calvin Wingate, of Petersburg.

Albert Gray was called to Delaware, Ind., on account of the serious illness of his mother.

Mrs. Emily Walker, of Indiana, is at the bedside of her sick father, uncle Harvy McIntosh.

Mrs. J. A. Kirtley fell on the ice in Cincinnati, one day last week, and broke one of her arms.

Miss Bernice Duncan will leave for Elgin, Illinois, tomorrow, to visit her uncle, Rev J. S Kirtley.

Mrs. C. A. Gaines is at the hospital in Cincinnati, and I am glad to report she is improving in health.

Elijah Holton was found in his barn, a few days since, paralyzed. At last accounts he was some better.

Our popular merchant went to his lodge in Burlington, last Saturday, and was promoted to a high degree in Masonary.

Death with its sickle does not spare any. I notice the announcement of the death of T. C. S Ryle, of East Bend, in last week's paper. He was one of our most worthy citizens, and was esteemed by all.

As Rev. Sproles was coming from Burlington with Mr. Passons, his horse fell and crippled itself and broke the buggy shafts. After walking part of the way he was overtaken by W. A. Gaines, who kindly took him to church and from there he was taken to Woolper school house by Hubert Grant.

In our city of the dead the remains of Dr. W. A. Clore were laid to rest last Wednesday. He will not be missed by his family and friends alone, but especially by the poor, to whom he was so kind, his life exemplifying the scripture which says: "Blessed are the merciful for they shall obtain mercy."

GUNPOWDER.

Last Week afforded some pretty good sleighing.

E. H. Surface and family spent last Saturday with J. S. Surface and wife.

Clint Blankenbeker and wife were visiting in the Beaver neighborhood last Sunday.

Mrs. Wm. Phillips, of Ludlow, spent several days last week with her daughter, Mrs. E. E. Rouse.

Robert Houston, of Hathaway, was in our burg one day last week. He is bent on going South.

J. S. Surface and wife entertained a number of their friends with a candy pulling Saturday night.

J. H Tanner and family were visiting at Florence, last Sunday, guests of W. H Tanner and wife.

Dr. Jacob Tanner, of Hebron, was the guest of H. O. Ronse one night last week. Henry has a sick horse, which the doctor is treating Uncle John Corbin and Perry Aylor had arranged to attend the ball at Florence, last week, but they decided it was a little too cold and did not go.

Lute Aylor attended the poultry show at Cincinnati last Saturday. Pete is a great fancier of fine poultry and is rapidly coming to the front with a few varieties of fine chickens.

Lute Aylor come very near losing a valuable horse a few days since. It got down in the stall with its head under the manger, and when he found it, it was considerably bruised about the head.

Mrs. E. H. Surface, while going from the Gunpowder store on the 26th of December, lost a large, brown double shawl, some where between the store and her home near Ebenezer church. The finder will confer a great favor by returning it to her or leaving it at the store.

For Sale—A dwelling and blacksmith shop in the town of Bellevue, Boone county Kentucky. This is a first-class stand for a good smith. Address Jos M. Birkle, Hebron, Ky., or Birkle Bros., Burlington, Ky.

ERLANGER.

Jan. 18.—Mr Rosoe Zinn spent last week in Chicago.

Mrs. Carl Price, of Florence, was the guest of friends here last Sunday.

L. D. Cox has leased the pretty Withrow cottage and will make that their future home.

Miss Rena Riggs, of Wyoming, who was the guest of Miss Lucy Hoover, has returned home.

A merry crowd of young people were entertained by Miss May Finnell, of Erlanger Road, last week.

Eugene Piatt is at home for a short stay with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. D. V Piatt, of Centre street.

Mr. James Lowe and sister, Miss Ora, of Williamstown, who have been visiting Miss Ida Zinn, have returned to their home.

LIMABURG.

Jan. 18.—There are many on the sick list here.

Miss Ottie Rouse and mother are ill with tonsilitis.

Very few scholars attended school last week on account of bad weather.

Mr. John Utz was visiting Mrs. Jemima Tanner, of Gunpowder, Sunday.

Sam Conrad says "it is a fine time to get away from home but a poor time to get back there."

James Petit has been wearing moccasins made of coffee sacks, since the sleet has been on the ground.

Saturday, Bert Rouse hitched his horse to a post, went into the store, and when he came out again he found it was gone. He started to walk home when he met Chas. Craven with his horse coming to hunt him.

A Terrible Accident.

A very sad accident happened at Limasburg, Monday about 3:30 p. m. by which Miss Eva Utz, aged 15, daughter of Willis Utz and granddaughter of Legraud Utz, was instantly killed. She was on a horse and attempted to pass Quigley & Beemon's wagon, on the road just north of Geo. Baker's house, when the horse slipped and fell, throwing her, her temple striking a frozen bump, and from the effects of the blow she died almost instantly. She rode up behind the wagon and Mr. Beemon was not aware of her presence until her horse had fallen. When he reached her he thought a rear wheel of his wagon had passed over her, and almost frantic with distress he carried the unfortunate girl to Mr. Baker's residence where she was noticed to gasp once. The young lady was going to the store at Limaburg for something for her parents, both of whom were quite ill, and Mr. Beemon was returning from Petersburg with a load of mill feed. Miss Eva Utz was one of the most popular young ladies in her neighborhood, and her death is a terrible shock to all. Dr. Rouse was called as soon as the accident happened but the young lady was dead before the message reached him.

Died, of pneumonia, January 11th, 1904, Miss Myrtle McMullen, aged 18 years. She leaves a mother, sister, two brothers, a grandfather and many relatives and friends to mourn her death. God has called Myrtle home, to meet her father and grandmother, who have gone on before; her dear face in this world we will see no more. All trouble and hardship, for her they are o'er; all pains and all sorrow, she will have them no more. In heaven, God bless her, she is peacefully at rest, for there is no more sufferiug in the land of the blessed. So hoping in heaven again we will meet, when called to our Maker, she will gladly us greet, with outstretched arms, dear Myrtle who now dwells far up in the skies.

ANNA MITCHLL.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much. She then mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the relief it gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others. For sale by all druggists.

J. J. Lillard, of the Commissary, was in town one day last week, and called on the RECORDER. Mr. Lillard is the pioneer citizen of his neighborhood, all those who lived there when he settled in the neighborhood having disappeared from the stage of action except not to exceed three or four, and they long since made their place of abode elsewhere. The entire face of the country surrounding him has changed since he became acquainted with it way back in the forties, and the large areas that were then towering forests long since gave way to the woodman's axe, and are now open fields. The change has come about so gradually as not to be noticed by him, scarcely.

A Very Close Call.

"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman, of Burlington, Iowa. "I was weak and pale, without any appetite and all run down. As I was about to give up, I got a bottle of Electric Bitters, and after taking it, I felt as well as I ever did in my life." Weak, sickly, run down people always gain new life, strength and vigor from their use. Try them. Satisfaction guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50 cents.

Riley & Hogan were out buying tobacco, Monday. That night their books showed a purchase of 11,000 pounds.

THE JAPANESE REPLY.

Brig. Gen. H. T. Allen, U. S. A., Has Arrived at Peking and Will Join the Russian Army as An Observer in Event of War.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister here, Thursday called on Secretary Hay and informed him that the Japanese reply to the last Russian note had been delivered Thursday morning. The reply amounts to a denial of all the important Russian propositions and Japan's counter proposals, it is said, are of a nature that almost will certainly make them unacceptable to Russia. Therefore a most pessimistic view of the future is taken at Tokio.

On the other hand, advices that come to the state department from Paris, St. Petersburg and Berlin are all of a pacific character. Ambassador Porter, at Paris, cables that pressure is to be brought to bear on the would-be belligerents, and particularly on Japan by at least two of the great neutral powers to cause Russia and Japan to come to terms and so avert open hostilities. The czar also is reported to be extremely desirous of preventing war. Taking these two conflicting sets of advices into consideration, the official opinion here is that Japan will not yield to any such pressure.

The Japanese minister has supplied the state department an abstract of the last Japanese note. Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, on his part, has acquainted the state department verbally, as is his custom, with the nature of the Russian note, so that the department is fully informed, but as both these communications have been made in confidence the officials do not feel they should make them public in whole or in part. It is stated, however, that there has been no substantial change in the Japanese proposition nor the Russian counter proposal since they were so lucidly set out by the press in its semi-official dispatch from Peking last week.

Brig. Gen. H. T. Allen, U. S. A., chief of the Philippine constabulary, has arrived at Peking from Manila. He formerly was military attache at St. Petersburg and will join the Russian army as an observer in the event of war.

AGAINST FOREIGNERS.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The state department Thursday received a cablegram from United States Minister Allen, at Seoul, Corea, stating that the Corean newspapers are trying to incite the people against foreigners and especially against American interests.

The department feels that the interests can be cared for properly by the United States gunboat Vicksburg and the United States marine guard now in the Corean capital. The European nations also have considerable guards, which undoubtedly could be relied on to assist in repressing disorder that might threaten any special foreign interests.

RIOTING EXPECTED.

The Corean Press Advocates the Slaughter of All Foreigners.

London, Jan. 15.—The Seoul correspondent of the Daily Mail says that the native press is advocating the slaughter of all foreigners. United States Minister Allen has ordered all American women and children to remain in doors and he predicts that rioting by the military is imminent. M. Collin De Plancnes, the French minister, has vainly advised the emperor to take refuge in the French legation.

A Brilliant Wedding.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 15.—One of the most brilliant weddings of the season was celebrated at St. Peters' Episcopal church Thursday when Warren C. Fairbanks, son of Senator and Mrs. Chas. W. Fairbanks, of Indiana, and Miss Helene Ethel Cassidy, daughter of Mrs. Edward T. Cassidy, of Pittsburg, were united in marriage by Rev. Edward H. Ward, D.D., rector of the church.

A Lynching in Mississippi.

Vicksburg, Miss., Jan. 15.—News was received here that "Butch" Riley, the Negro who killed C. C. McMillan near Tallulah Tuesday night, was arrested and placed in jail at Tallulah, but the sheriff was relieved of the Negro by a strong mob and the Negro was lynched.

Pittsburg, Jan. 15.—Wm. D. Scanlan, of Syracuse, N. Y., will be a member of the Pittsburg baseball club the coming season and his release will not cost the club one cent more than that paid in September.

THE FIRST SESSION.

The Constitutional Convention of Panama Meets.

Panama, Jan. 16.—Members of the junta and several consular representatives were present Friday at the first session of the constitutional convention, which was also attended by a great crowd of people.

Dr. Pablo Arosemena, temporary president of the convention, delivered the opening address, which was repeatedly interrupted by applause. Dr. Arosemena said:

"The republic will live less by its material power than by the virtues it will practice. Independence must be maintained and the republic must adopt without reserve that policy of probity which is born of justice and knowledge."

Representative Burges proposed that the convention should send a patriotic salute to the junta for its distinguished services to the country. This was unanimously approved, thus indicating the cordial relations which exist between the legislative and the executive powers.

The message from the junta to the convention begins by reviewing the history of the independence movement and its causes. The junta formally resigns legislative powers to the convention and lays before it an account of its acts, giving the reasons therefor. It says that the revenues of the republic are insufficient, because the commercial tax has been considerably diminished, owing to the anticipation of the changes which the ratification of the canal treaty would effect in the revenue system, and, also, owing to the inevitable increase in the army and the navy.

The junta formally informs the convention of the ratification of the canal treaty and says it has powerful reasons for such ratification. The message goes on to say that the benefits to be derived from this treaty are incalculable and that a seed has been sowed which will grow into a tree of greatest benefit to posterity and that this treaty will realize the noble and high aspirations of the people.

POSTAL TRIALS.

Washington, Jan. 16.—In the trial Friday of August W. Machen, the Groff brothers and Dr. and Mrs. Lorenz, charged with conspiracy to defraud the government, the defense scored an important point with respect to the character of evidence to be introduced at this time by the government. The defense insisted that the government had not brought forth any documentary evidence showing the existence of a conspiracy to defraud the government and that which was being offered naturally should follow the evidence of conspiracy so as to specifically connect the defendants with the various transactions which had been referred to. The court sustained the point.

At one point in the trial Mr. Douglass, for the defense, called on Justice Pritchard to reprimand First Assistant Postmaster General Wynne for volunteering the statement that a former employe of the post office department recently had been sentenced in Baltimore to a term of two years in the penitentiary. The suggestion was not complied with, but the justice instructed the jury that their minds must not be prejudiced by the statement of Mr. Wynne.

Perry S. Heath, former assistant postmaster general, who was subpoenaed from his home in Salt Lake City, to state what he knew about the administration of his office, was on the stand during the day.

Former First Assistant Postmaster General Johnson also gave testimony as to the practice of his office in the handling of matter originating in the free delivery division.

THE CALAVERAS GROVES.

Petition Asking That a National Park Be Established There.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The president Friday sent to congress a petition sent him by the Calaveras big tree committee of California, asking action by congress to preserve the calaveras groves by the establishment of a national park to include the groves. The president says in his communication that this grove "is not only a Californian, but a national inheritance, and all that can be done by the government to insure its preservation should be done."

Queen Lil's Claim.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The senate committee on Pacific islands and Porto Rico has made a favorable report on Senator Blackburn's bill to pay Lilinokalani, formerly queen of Hawaii, the sum of $200,000 in full satisfaction of all claims to the former crown lands in Hawaii.

New York, Jan. 16.—The orders here forwarded by the war department creating an Atlantic division, with headquarters at Governor's island, were Friday consummated and Maj. Gen. Corbin assumed command.

AMERICAN INTERESTS.

Assurance That It Will Be Protected in Manchuria.

Russian Troops Are Now Being Concentrated at the Towns of Liao-Yang and Hai-Cheng and at Other Places.

Washington, Jan. 16.—What might have developed into an unfortunate misunderstanding between the governments of the United States and Russia regarding the interest of the United States in Manchuria was adjusted at a conference at the state department Friday between Mr. Hay, secretary of state, and Count Cassini, Russian ambassador. As a result the Russian government will be advised by the ambassador that he has the best assurances that the interest of the United States in Manchuria is absolutely and exclusively commercial and that the consuls sent to Mukden and Antung will confine their activities to the faithful care of American trade interests in that province.

Count Cassini called at the state department Friday to inquire into certain statements in which several European diplomats had brought to his attention and interpreted to indicate a change of policy on the part of the United States government in the direction of political intervention in Manchuria.

The conference between the secretary and the ambassador was characterized by frank cordiality on both sides. It is said that no matter what occurs in the far east the United States will be fully protected in commercial and treaty rights so far as Russia is able to act in the affair.

Peking, Jan. 16.—It is reported from consular sources at New-Chwang that Russian troops are concentrating at the towns of Liao-Yang and Hai-Cheng and other places, where they will be in a position to re-occupy the territory between the Liao river and the great wall and seize the New-Chwang-Shan-Hai-Kwan section of the Chinese railroads.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 16.—The intimation that President Roosevelt is selecting consuls to represent the United States at Mukden and Antung, in Manchuria, the ports opened to commerce by the recently ratified treaty between the United States and China, was received in St. Petersburg merely as a matter of course.

RAILROAD ROBBERIES.

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 16.—The police here have unearthed one of the most daring and extensive railroad robberies ever committed in this city. During the past few years the Northwestern road has been robbed of thousands of dollars' worth of coal and merchandise by an organized band of their employes. Almost every car of coal that was received at the mines from here during late years was found to be several hundred pounds short in weight. While no arrests have yet been made sufficient evidence has been procured to apprehend all the guilty parties and the case has been turned over to the railroad's detectives.

THIRTY-FOUR WERE HURT.

Traction Line Car Collided With a Passenger Train.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 16.—An eastbound Michigan Electric car carrying a heavy load of passengers hurrying home at the close of the day was struck by a Grand Trunk passenger train Friday evening at Gratiot avenue and Dequindre street. More than 34 persons were injured, the heavy double truck car being carried 200 feet down the track from the point of collision and being almost demolished. Every ambulance in the city was hurried to the scene. Seven of the injured were conveyed to hospitals and 27 were taken to their homes. No one was killed, though some of the injured may die.

COUNTERFEIT NOTES.

Manchuria Is Reported to Be Full of Them.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Commercial Agent Richard T. Greener, at Vladivostock, Siberia, has reported to the state department that Manchuria is full of Russian counterfeit notes, which come from Japan and Shanghai and are manufactured skilfully. Strict orders have been given to destroy such notes and to imprison persons who distribute them.

America in the Lead.

Seoul, Jan. 16.—An additional squad of 64 American marines arrived Friday to protect American citizens, who outnumber those of any other nation, except the Japanese and Chinese, and whose active commercial interests also exceed all but those of the Japanese.

Death of Two Pioneer Brewers.

St. Louis, Jan. 16.—After having been friends and partners in business for more than 36 years, William Smith and George Tinker, pioneer brewers of St. Louis, are dead. Mr. Smith died Friday and Mr. Tinker was buried Tuesday.

The Live Stock Association.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 16.—The seventh annual convention of the National Live Stock association adjourned Friday to meet in Denver next year. H. J. Hagenbarth, of Utah, was elected president.

THE OHIO MINERS.

They Decided to Make Permanent the One Per Cent. Assessment.

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—The Ohio miners' convention Friday decided to make permanent the one per cent. assessments on earnings of miners for a relief or defense fund. Fifteen thousand dollars is to be kept available at all times for immediate needs.

The initiation fee for inexperienced men was raised to $20 with a view to the checking of the influx of foreigners to the mines of Ohio.

The convention refused to concur in a resolution presented by the Columbus Trades and Labor Assembly condemning the coal carrying and coal producing combinations of the state. President Haskins advised the miners to keep out of the controversy, as a fight for cheaper coal did not mean less profits for mining companies or railroads, but cheaper wages for miners.

Before adjourning Friday evening the convention adopted the report of the scale committee, but it will not be made public until presented to the national convention at Indianapolis. Action on the scale question was taken in secret session. It is understood the present prices for mining are reaffirmed and the delegates to the national convention instructed to oppose any reduction. The Ohio delegates leave Saturday for Indianapolis.

As a result of overproduction of Ohio coal, operators have reduced the price of coal at the mines from 10 to 25 cents per ton within the last week. The prevailing price for lump coal at the mines now is $1.50 per ton. Some of the large operators who have been selling only to the steam trade say they are now in a position to compete for domestic trade, but deny that any war in prices is being waged against the smaller operators.

ALFRED KNAPP CASE.

He Is Willing to Plead Guilty to Second Degree Murder.

Hamilton, O., Jan. 16.—It was learned Friday night that the attorneys for Alfred Knapp, who was convicted of murdering his wife and sentenced to be electrocuted but was granted a new trial, are endeavoring to secure the consent of the state to have their client plead guilty to murder in the second degree and accept a life sentence. The county prosecutor has not yet given his consent and it is said his course of action has not yet been determined.

THE STRIKE ENDED.

The Chicago Livery Drivers Ordered Back to Work.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—The strike of the livery drivers, which since its beginning several weeks ago has caused much annoyance to mourners and interference at funerals, was ended Friday and the union men were ordered back to work. A committee of owners and drivers had a conference at which it was agreed to recognize the "closed shop." It was agreed that the wage scale shall be arbitrated as soon as possible by a committee of the unions and employers.

ALDERMAN SENT TO PRISON.

He Was Convicted of a Violation of the Election Laws.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Alderman John Brennan, of the 18th ward, Friday night was taken to the house of correction to serve a sentence of one year for violation of the election laws. The specific charge against Brennan was that in the last judicial election in the spring of 1903 he purchased votes in the 18th ward in the interests of Judge Elbridge Hanecy. At the time of Brennan's conviction Herbert E. Kent and Charles A. McCarie were also convicted of the same offense, but received shorter sentences.

PLACED UNDER ARREST.

Ex-Congressman John M. Glover Again in the Toils.

Cripple Creek, Col., Jan. 16.—John M. Glover, former congressman from Missouri, was again arrested by a military squad Friday and placed in the county jail. Mr. Glover, who fought the military three weeks ago and was shot in the arm, was arrested on an order from Commander Verdeckberg because of a threatening letter sent that officer.

Will Blow Up the Railway Line.

Paper Mills Form a Combine.

Mexico City, Jan. 16.—The paper mills in this region have formed a combine with an aggregate capital of $5,000,000. The mills are all doing well and running at full speed. The organization is for the purpose of controlling this market.

No More Silver Required By Japan.

Mexico City, Jan. 16.—Bankers here engaged in shipping out silver have been informed from Japan that for the present no more silver is required, which is regarded as an indication that war is not imminent.

ENEMIES ALL RIGHT.

He Was Certain About That and He Took a Sly Shot at Them.

It is related that at a recent sham battle a young lieutenant, posted with his company behind a wall, ordered his men to fire at a detachment of troops who were marching by, says London Tit-Bits.

The guns were loaded with blank cartridges, and no harm was done; but the detachment happened to be on the same side of the sham fight as the company which had fired at it.

The commanding officer came riding up. "Why did you fire at those men?" he demanded of the lieutenant, hotly.

"I supposed they were the enemy," said the lieutenant.

"And what led you to suppose they were the enemy?"

"Because my tailor was at the head of them and I saw my butcher in the ranks. What else could I suppose, sir!"

Minister Awarded the Prize.

A good one is told on a well-known minister who was walking along the street the other day and saw a crowd of boys sitting in front of a ring with a small dog in the center. When he came up to them he put the following question: "What are you doing with that dog?" One little boy said: "Whoever tells the biggest lie wins it." "Oh," said the minister, "I am surprised at you little boys, for when I was like you I never told a lie." There was a silence for awhile, until one of the boys shouted: "Hand him up the dog!"—Mount Olivet (Ky.) Democrat.

Booker T. Washington insists that the negro is not ungrateful, and, although the younger generation may like to lose sight of the fact that their grandmothers and grandfathers were slaves, those grandmothers and grandfathers themselves do not forget it. In illustrating this he tells the story of an old colored man who saw the old street cars being replaced by cars driven by electricity, and exclaimed: "De Yank came down here 39 years ago to free de niggah, and now, glory be, dey is gwine to free de mewl!"

Veteran Joshua Heller, 706 South Walnut street, Urbana, Ill., says: "In the fall of 1899 after taking Doan's Kidney Pills I testified that they had relieved me of kidney trouble, disposed of a lame back with pain across my loins and beneath the shoulder blades. During the interval which has elapsed I have had occasion to resort to Doan's Kidney Pills when I noticed warnings of an attack. On each and every occasion the results obtained were just as satisfactory as when the pills were first brought to my notice. I just as emphatically indorse the preparation to-day as I did over two years ago."

IN MAMMOTH CAVE.

Thrilling Experience of a Party of Eighteen.

Their Boat Sank In Echo River and They Were Saved by the Coolness of a Guide and the Heroism of Another Man.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 18.—Eighteen delegates to the convention of the National League of Commission Merchants were thrown into the icy water of Echo river, which winds a tortuous course through Mammoth cave, and were saved only by the coolness of the guide, John Nelson, and the heroic work of Charles A. Muehlbronner, of Pittsburg, Pa.

The party included: W. J. Harris, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Weil, Cincinnati; L. S. Owens, Chicago; Frank E. Wagner, Chicago; John H. Barnett, Chicago; L. Lipman, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Smith, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Muehlbronner, Pittsburg; S. P. Craig, Pittsburg; H. C. Rogers, Buffalo; C. S. Stacey, Minneapolis; Ed Tubbesing, St. Paul; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ellebrown, St. Paul; Miss Lucie Patch, Boston.

The roof of the cave over Echo river is arched and the space in the center, owing to an unaccountable rise in the river, was only two and a half feet above the water. In order to ensure the passage of the boat the men and women were forced to stoop over. At one place the boat swerved to one side, raking the heads of the persons in the boat next to the bank. These leaned farther forward to escape striking their heads. This lowered one end of the boat, and the water began to flow in rapidly.

The guide saw the danger and called to Mr. Muehlbronner to jump and take the chain. This he did, landing on a steep bank, which offered only a slight foothold. Lying down on his face, he held to the chain and pulled the boat towards the bank.

The boat sank in eight feet of water, but further back where there was no landing the water is 18 feet deep. By the light of a single lantern the party escaped by climbing over Mr. Muehlbronner's prostrate form and after waiting several hours for a boat were brought in safety to daylight.

SCHOOLS IN PORTO RICO.

Annual Report of the Commissioner of Education.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The annual report of the commissioner of education for Porto Rico, Samuel McCune Lindsay, announces a substantial and satisfactory progress in the school affairs of the island. The year closed with 1,005 schools open. The total school enrollment was 70,126, which is 19 precent. of the estimated total population of the school population of the island and seven per cent. of the estimated total population of the island for 1903. For the support of all schools the department of education had available from insular appropriations $547,767, of which $545,106 actually was spent. Other expenditures bring the grand total actually spent for education during the fiscal year up to $817,815.

JAMES SMITHSON'S REMAINS.

The Vessel Bearing Them Due to Arrive at New York Tuesday.

New York, Jan. 18.—The United States dispatch boat Dolphin, Commander J. H. Gibbons, from Washington, D. C., arrived here Sunday under orders from the navy department to await the arrival of the North German Lloyd liner Prinzess Irené, from Genoa, which is due to arrive on Tuesday and which bears the remains of James Smithson, founder of the Smithsonian Institution. The Dolphin will meet the Prinzess Irene in New York lower bay and escort the vessel to her dock. The coffin containing the remains will be transferred to the Dolphin, which will take it to Washington, where re-interment, with appropriate ceremonies, will be made.

BOILERMAKERS' STRIKE.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Jan. 18.—Grand President John McNeill, of the Boilermakers of America, Sunday called a strike of the men employed at the Walsh & Weidner Boiler Co. and the Lookout Boiler Manufacturing Co., of this city, and the Lookmount iron works at Battelle, Ala. There are over 500 men affected by the strike. The union leaders claim that the manufacturers have been employing non-union men.

Will Not Vote For the Canal Treaty.

Houston, Tex., Jan. 18.—In a signed statement, Senator J. W. Bailey says that he will "retire from public life before dishonoring my state and party" by voting for the ratification of the Panama treaty.

Death of Dr. B. G. Dysart.

Paris, Mo., Jan. 18.—Dr. B. G. Dysart, an ex-surgeon of Cockrell's brigade of the confederate army, died of pneumonia at his home in this city Sunday, aged 70. He was a close friend of United States Senator Francis M. Cockrell.

Italians Coming to the United States.

Rome, Jan. 18.—The United States continues to be the chief objective point of Italian emigration, the number of emigrants going there in the year 1903 reaching a total of nearly 250,000.

ALMOST CLASHED.

Minister Powell Intervened In An Incident That Threatened to Be Serious.

San Domingo, Wednesday, Jan. 13.—An incident which came near having serious results but for the coolness and prompt intervention of United States Minister Powell took place here on the arrival of the Clyde line steamer New York. President Morales demanded that the shipping agent surrender the ship's letters and when the agent refused to comply his arrest was ordered. In order to avoid being arrested the agent went on board the New York, carrying the letters with him. He then sent for Consul Maxwell, who accompanied him to the palace, where President Morales renewed his demand and compelled the agent to give up several letters.

Minister Powell, learning of the incident, promptly went to the palace and demanded that the letters taken from the agent be delivered to him. This President Morales refused to do, but Minister Powell persisted in his demand, saying that the government had no right to take such action and that the president must hand the letters to him, which President Morales reluctantly did. Minister Powell also told President Morales that the agent was entitled to his protection, as he represented an American company and that he (Minister Powell) could not consent to this arbitrary act on the part of the government, and that furthermore the agent could not be expelled as was threatened. Finally the case was satisfactorily settled.

Minister Powell, finding that the government was unable to protect the tug Anna, which is owned by Americans, while entering San Isidro, requested the commander of the United States gunboat Newport to guard her. The revolutionists threatened to capture the Anna, and this morning a strong guard left the Newport to protect her and other vessels obliged to pass through the waters in that section of the country.

San Domingo, Sunday, Jan. 10.—The revolutionary general, Navasso, having seized cattle on an estate at La Fe, which is an American property, the agent of the estate applied to United States Minister Powell for protection. The minister was compelled to refuse the request as he has no force at his command sufficient to guard the estate.

The force on the United States gunboat Newport is too small to safeguard estates from pillagers, and in order to protect United States property the minister says there is great need of a larger warship here.

THE CHICAGO THEATERS.

Some of Them May Be Allowed to Reopen This Week.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Chicago theaters —most of them—may reopen this week. Aldermen, stirred by petitions and the demands of business men and others who are suffering financial losses through the enforced closing, have changed their ideas. Sentiment for action on the proposed ordinance Monday night, instead of a week from Monday night, has developed rapidly.

A fight will be waged on the La Salle and Sam T. Jacks over the question of whether theaters above the sidewalk level shall be permitted, and this struggle, which is sure to be bitter, may cause another delay.

MRS. HOBSON DEAD.

Boulder, Col., Jan. 18.—The mother of Richmond P. Hobson died at the home of Shirley Davis Sunday after a long illness. Her son was with her when she died and will leave with the remains Monday for Greensboro, Ala., where they will be interred. Sarah Croon Pearson Hobson was born at Richmond Hill, N. C., February 24, 1843, and for the past 20 years she has been a sufferer from dyspepsia. She came to Boulder last summer for her health.

Missionaries Warned.

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 18.—Bishop C. B. Galloway, of the Methodist Episcopal church south, cabled all Methodist missionaries in Corea to move into Seoul immediately or go at once to Japan. The bishop received advices that the missionaries are in great danger of losing their lives.

James L. Blair Dies In Florida.

Eustis, Fla., Jan. 18.—Jas. L. Blair, of St. Louis, ex-counsel for the World's fair, died here. Mr. Blair came here about five weeks ago in search of health and it was thought that he was improving until last week, when his condition changed.

No Federal Officeholders as Delegates.

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 18.—Private instructions have been given to the leaders of the republican party in Texas that no federal officeholders are to be permitted to go as delegates to the national republican convention.

Mexico City, Jan. 18.—Charles M. Pepper, representative of the United States for the projected Pan-American railway, has left here for home after a journey of 25,000 miles and visiting the capitals of 21 different governments.

Mormonism Denounced.

Philadelphia, Jan. 18.—At a mass meeting held under the auspices of the leading women's clubs of this city at Horticultural hall Sunday, resolutions were adopted denouncing polygamy and Mormonism.

MINERS CONVENE.

The Convention Promises to Be an Interesting One.

After a Session of Ten Days the Workers Will Enter Into a Joint Session With the Operators of the Central Competitive Field.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 18.—What promises to be a most interesting convention of the United Mine Workers of America convened in this city Monday. The thing that makes the outlook for the convention more interesting than ordinarily is the fact that within the last two months there has been apparently a preconcerted move on the part of several of the operators to cut wages at the rate of ten cents a ton. A conflict between operators and miners seems probable.

The convention opened at 10 o'clock Monday morning in Tomlinson hall with about 1,000 delegates from all parts of the country. According to the by-laws of the United Mine Workers there will be one vote for 100 members or less, but no representative or delegate shall have more than five votes. The convention of the miners will remain in session for ten days, and then the miners will enter into joint convention with the operators of the central competitive field. There will be about 300 of these operators present, representing Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. This joint conference is for the purpose of arranging a wage scale for the miners of the central competitive fields. It will probably last about ten days.

The first thing on the program Monday morning was the address of welcome by Mayor Holtzman, to which President John Mitchell responded. The response to the address of welcome will be followed by the report of the committee on credentials and the annual address of President Mitchell. Then will come William B. Wilson, the auditing committee and the tellers, who will announce the result of the vote for executive officers. It is understood, however, that there has been no opposition to the present officers, and it is thought that their re-election is assured.

The address of President Mitchell and the annual reports of Vice President Lewis and Secretary Wilson may not be reached before Tuesday morning. President Mitchell said Monday morning he thought that would be the case.

There are in the United States 450,000 miners, of whom 325,000 belong to the organization. Of these there are now 14,000 on strike. Ten thousand of these are in the west, 3,000 in the Meyersdale district and 1,000 in West Virginia.

In three states efforts have been made this year to reduce the wages of the miners. The national officers of the mine workers decline to anticipate in any way the probable action of the convention.

THE AMERICAN GUARD.

Reinforcements Sent to the United States Legation at Seoul.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The navy department Sunday received advices confirmatory of the press dispatches telling of the reinforcement of the American guard at the United States legation at Seoul. Two officers and 61 men were sent there from the U. S. S. Vicksburg, now at Chemulpo. They carried a machine gun with them. There are now a hundred or more men from the Vicksburg at Seoul guarding the legation. The dispatches received at the navy department show the native press to be somewhat inflammatory in its utterances against foreigners.

GEN. RAFAEL REYES.

He Did Not Sail For Home on Saturday As Expected.

New York, Jan. 18.—Gen. Rafael Reyes, Colombia's special envoy to the United States, did not sail Saturday on the steamer Allegheny for Cartagena as he said he would. When seen Sunday at the Hoffman house Gen. Reyes said: "I decided not to sail, and I do not know just when I shall start." He refused to give his reasons for changing his plans.

Umpire's Good Strike.

St. Louis, Jan. 13.—Al Warner, well-known St. Louisan, who umpired in the National league several years ago, has just lost his mother and a brother. Each left an estate. Mrs. Warner's estate is valued at $12,000, and that of her son at $70,000. Al will get most of the money.

Honors Shown Taft at Honolulu.

Honolulu, Jan. 18.—Former Gov. Taft left here Sunday on the steamer Corea for San Francisco. He expects to reach San Francisco on next Saturday night. He was given a public reception Saturday afternoon and also reviewed the national guard of the territory.

Will Be Electrocuted.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 18.—Charles Bonler, 74 years old, was found guilty of murder in the first degree for killing Franz and Johanna Frehr, an old couple, in their home November 19, 1903. The verdict carries the death sentence with it.

Rejoins His Army.

New York, Jan. 18.—Col. T. Kurada, the Japanese military attache at Rome, arrived here on the steamship Lucania on his way to Japan. He was ordered to return home on account of the probability of war.

FIFTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS.

Regular Session.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Senate—For almost five hours Tuesday the senate debated the Panama question and it was still under consideration when the senate adjourned. The discussion arose a resolution looking to the arbitration of Colombia claims on account of the Panama revolution.

House—The house for more than five hours considered the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, but reached no conclusions on it. A variety of topics, including Panama and the tariff, were discussed during the course of the debate. When the item in the bill providing for the expenses of the civil service commission was reached Mr. Hepburn (rep., Ia.) took occasion to express his opposition to the civil service system as it now exists and expressed a desire to amend the bill by striking out the paragraph providing for the expenses of the commission.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Senate—Panama was again the principal subject of consideration in the senate and, as on Tuesday, the debate was spirited. Mr. Carmack opened the proceedings with a set speech in pointed criticism of the president's course and was followed by Mr. Spooner, the only speaker of the day in defense of the president's action as lawabiding, and in defense of the president himself as a "patriotic brave and true man." Before the Panama subject was taken up there was a brief but lively discussion between Messrs. Patterson and Scott of the labor troubles in Colorado.

House—After a lively debate lasting three hours the house Wednesday, in committee of the whole, by a vote of 78 to 65, struck out of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill the paragraph providing for the salaries and expenses on the civil service commission and clerks employed under the commission. Notice was given by Mr. Bingham, in charge of the bill, that a yea and nay vote will be demanded on the amendment striking out the provision for the expenses of the civil service commission when the bill is reported in the house. No conclusion was reached in committee on the legislative bill.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Senate—The senate Thursday listened to speeches by Mr. Newlands and Mr. Dryden on the Panama canal question and to a speech by Mr. Latimer in advocacy of the adoption of a plan for the improvement of the public wagon roads of the country. Mr. Newlands declared that the course of the president in Panama was an act of war and in contravention alike of the treaty of 1846, of international law, and of the constitution of the United States. Mr. Depew praised the president's policy as patriotic and justified by precedent and law. The consideration of the post office department investigation resolutions was postponed until next Monday.

House—The house passed the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, carrying an aggregate of $29,711,701, and then adjourned until Monday next. This is the second of the big supply measures to pass the house. The house, by a vote of 88 to 172, refused to sustain the action of the committee of the whole which, Wednesday, adopted an amendment striking out the paragraph providing for the salaries and expenses of the civil service commission, thus restoring the item to the bill. Amendments adopted in committee increasing, in one instance, the salaries of territorial officers in New Mexico and Arizona and reducing the salary of the director of the census in another, met similar fates in the house. An amendment to the bill was adopted restricting the use of government horses and carriages to the president, his secretary and cabinet officers.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Senate—Friday's session of the senate began with the passage of a number of bills on the calendar and closed in like manner. The interesting thing was given over to a speech by Mr. Teller on the Panama canal question. Mr. Teller contending that the course of the president in connection with the recent revolt of Panama had been contrary to precedent and the obligation of international law. The senate adjourned until Monday.

Exceeded the Record.

Lynn, Mass., Jan. 14.—According to board of trade statistics, Lynn made 21,879,424 pairs of shoes, valued at $28,443,251. This exceeds the record of any other year. In 1902 the value was $25,000,000.

Favorable Report Ordered.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The house committee on interstate and foreign commerce Friday ordered a favorable report on the Hepburn bill extending the laws prohibiting interstate transportation of obscene literature.

Representative Williams Ill.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Representative John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, is confined to his room by sickness. The trouble started from a cold and some uneasiness has been expressed lest pneumonia should develop.

The Bill Against Injunctions.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The house committee on judiciary Friday fixed February 24, 25 and 26 next as dates for hearings on the Groesvenor bill against injunctions. The opponents of the measure will be heard first.

World's Visible Supply of Cotton.

New Orleans, Jan. 16.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton shows a total of 3,315,185, against 3,839,743 last week. Of this the total of American cotton is 3,181,185, against 3,240,743 last week.

Officers Elected.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 16.—The International Union of Hod Carriers and Building Laborers at their convention Friday elected these officers: President, Herman Lillian, Chicago; secretary and treasurer, J. A. Stemburgh, Waverly, N. Y.

Commodore Dungan Dead.

Baltimore, Jan. 16.—Commodore William W. Dungan, U. S. N. (retired) is dead at his home here. He was born in 1836. During the Spanish war he was a member of one of the navy department advisory boards.

STATE ODDS AND ENDS

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

The Senate Passed a Uniform School Book Bill.

Frankfort, Jan. 13.—Senate—Among the bills introduced Tuesday were: To amend the insurance law by making more strict the law against rebating on life insurance premiums; to amend section 200, criminal code, by providing that the mandate of the court of appeals shall not issue till 20 days have expired after the opinion is delivered; to amend the election law by allowing mileage to one judge of each precinct for bringing returns to county seats; to protect owners and keepers of horses, buggies and other vehicles from fraudulent hirers thereof; to abolish office of county assessor and boards of supervisors and providing for county boards of valuation and assessment composed of three to do all assessing and equalizing; to create the county of Beckham out of parts of Carter, Lewis and Elliott counties.

House—The following bills were introduced: To prohibit colored and white children from attending the same schools; to prohibit the issuance of any temporary restraining order; to allow husband or wife in murder cases to testify as to dying declaration of the other; to provide that a witness may be impeached by a defendant by proof that he previously made statements contradictory to his testimony; that persons convicted of setting up or running slot machines shall be fined not less than $50 nor more than $500, and imprisoned not less than one month nor more than 12 months. Fines are also provided in cases of persons having slot machines on their premises.

Frankfort, Jan. 14.—Senate—The following bills were introduced Wednesday: To amend tax and license law so that no lawyer, doctor or member of other professions in cities and towns shall be required to pay a license fee for practicing their profession; to regulate sale of intoxicating liquors by wholesale by prohibiting the wholesaleing of liquor in local option districts. Does not apply to manufacturers in such districts; to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors within four miles of any schoolhouse except in cities and towns; to make justices of the peace, by virtue of their office, overseers of public roads and ditches in their districts.

House—Mr. Newman, of Woodford county, offered a resolution creating a standing committee to be known as the committee on game, fish and forestry, to consist of nine members to be appointed by the speaker. The resolution was adopted.

Frankfort, Jan. 15.—Senate: The following bills were introduced Thursday: Providing for taxation of shares of national banks and collection thereof. To allow husbands and wife to testify as in controversies arising over their property. To regulate the speed of automobiles on public highways. To prohibit the sale of toy pistols, cannon and explosives used by children in celebrations. To prohibit horses, mules and other cattle from running on public roads. Providing for the eight-hour law for day laborers. Lieut. Gov. Thorne named the following committee on fish, game and forestry: Carrol, Farris, Hickman, Phelps, Campbell, George and Deboe. Senator Deboe presented a petition from Shelby county citizens asking that automobiles be prohibited from running on public roads.

House: The committee on capitol appropriation reported favorably on the Johnson appropriation bill providing $1,000,000 for a new capitol. The committee on insurance reported a bill increasing from $3,500 to $5,000 the annual allowance for clerk hire. The committee on codes and practice reported favorably the Clayton bill, providing that husbands and wives may testify against each other in divorce and alimony actions. The speeding bill, appropriating $75,000 for the Kentucky exhibit at St. Louis, had its second reading, and went into the orders of the day.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 16.—Senate—Without waiting for democratic caucus action, the senate performed a coup by passing a uniform school book bill Friday, and, as it was not the bill desired by the friends of the administration, it looks as though it will result in an open breach between the senate and the governor. The bill passed provides a text book commission composed of the governor, the auditor of public accounts, state treasurer and the three members of the state board of education. The governor shall be chairman and the superintendent of public instruction shall be secretary and executive officer. The commissioners shall serve without compensation, taking an oath that they will receive no benefit from any contract. The commission shall receive sealed bids for books from publishers for five years stating prices at which books can be furnished the state or any county board of education. Senate adjourned until Monday.

House—The Spalding bill, appropriating $75,000 for a Kentucky exhibit at the World's fair, was amended by limiting amount paid to commissioners to $250 each for expenses, and making commissioners liable on their bonds for any exorbitant fees or salaries paid. The amendment to reduce the appropriation to $50,000 was lost by 51 to 33. The bill passed by 71 to 14. The house adjourned until Monday.

Kentucky Timber Land Sold.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., Jan. 16.—R. F. McConnell, of Gate City, Va., has purchased 10,000 acres of timber lands in Estill and Lee counties from West & Harris for $5,000 cash. Mr. McConnell was offered a large profit on his investment, but declined.

Died in the Penitentiary.

Eddyville, Ky., Jan. 15.—Tolbert Store, who was convicted of detaining a woman and arson in the Barren circuit court in 1897 and given 19 years in the Eddyville penitentiary, died at the prison hospital of tuberculosis.

OUTSIDE INFANTS.

Those From Other States Can Not Be Adopted in Kentucky.

Cincinnati, Jan. 16.—Kentucky has raised a barrier against its citizens adopting children from other states. A copy of the law was received Friday by Superintendent Allison, of the house of refuge, from the secretary of state at Frankfort. The news was immediately imparted to the children's home, Cincinnati orphan asylum and other institutions that have been in the habit of placing children for adoption with Kentucky families.

The law is patterned after those in force in the states of Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin and Illinois, and makes it punishable by a fine of $100 for any one to adopt a child from outside the state. The enactment of the law by the state of Kentucky causes general surprise, for the reason that the state is virtually without children's homes or orphanages.

It is claimed Ohio is now caring for hundreds of Kentucky children who without the hospice offered would be rendered homeless.

The three institutions named above are now harboring upward of a hundred children who have emigrated from Kentucky in the last five years. Some, it is claimed, have been sent here for the express purpose of finding homes in Cincinnati's charitable institutions.

BOONE CO., RECORDER

Wednesday, - - Jan. 20, 1904.

W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

FOR CONGRESS.

CLIFFORD E. NADAUD, of Covington, is a candidate for Congress from the Sixth District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

HON. D. LENN GOOCH, of Covington, is a candidate for Congress in this the Sixth Congressional District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

THE indications are that Kentucky will take $75,000 stock in the St. Louis fair.

In the proper column appears the announcement of Hon. Cliff E. Nadaud as a candidate for Congress. More next week.

Ohio lost two and Kentucky, one ex-Governor, last week—Foster and Nash in Ohio, and John Young Brown in Kentucky died.

Senator Cantrill "got on his ear" in the Senate one day last week. The Senator may be right in many things he said, but he made two or three bad breaks.

THE Democratic State Executive Committee has adopted a rule prohibiting the holding of primary elections earlier than the year in the regular election is held. This is a good rule.

From the rapidity with which candidates are announcing for county offices in Grant county, with the election about two years in the future, it almost compels the conclusion that the principal business of the Grant county man is to run for office.

Senator J. Campbell Cantrill delivered a speech in the Kentucky Senate in which he defended his record as a Democrat and legislator, charged the State Administration with instituting a fight against him as the caucus chairman of the party and gave vent to some sensational utterances in regard to the school-book question.

IN MEMORIAM.

John R. Parker was born October 21, 1882; "born again" October, 1888; entered into life January 1, 1904.

The early years of his life were spent at the place of his birth near Petersburg, Kentucky. Being of a very energetic and ambitious nature he began teaching when quite young. After spending about two years in that profession he accepted a very desirable position with the Fifth National Bank in Cincinnati in October, 1902, where frequent promotions testified to his efficiency in his work, and to the worth of his character. Here he remained until November, 1903, when he was compelled to resign his position on account of his health.

On the advice of physicians and friends he sought to regain his health in California. After spending a few short weeks in Los Angeles, his frail body finally succumbed to that dread disease, tuberculosis. His remains were brought back to Kentucky, and after appropriate services at the Christian church at Petersburg, (of which he was a member) on Sunday, January 10, his body was laid to rest in the vault in the Petersburg cemetery.

When a man "comes to a full age like a ripe shock of corn," we may mourn his death, but we admit that he has finished his course and in a large measure his life is complete. But when one is cut down in the morning of life, when he is just past the age of twenty-one, such untimely death makes us doubly sad. Seldom has the announcement of death in this community produced sadness in so many hearts. Not often have so many people of all classes assembled in public to pay their sad tribute of love and respect to the memory of a departed one.

But the cause is not far to seek. The cheerful disposition, the kindly manner and Christian character always manifested in Johnnie's life are the simple explanations of it all. Always sociable, his conduct never degenerated in familiarity, but ever maintained that manly bearing and dignity that commanded respect from all classes. Energetic and industrious almost to the peril of his own health, his attainments gave promise of far more than ordinary success.

Sad indeed would be his death but for the fact of his victorious faith in Christ. His very nature would not permit him to do anything in a half-hearted or indifferent manner. Therefore, when he gave his life to Christ, his whole heart was aglow with love for his Master, and his life was a life of faithful, consistent service of the Man of Galilee. Truly he could say with Paul: "We know that if the earthly house of this tabernacle be dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."—I cor. 5:7.

DR. W. A. CLORE.

Dr. William Addison Clore was born near Bullittsville, Boone County, Kentucky, December 5th, 1869, and died at the home where he was born and reared, January 4th, 1904, of heart failure accompanying a case of pleurisy. In April, 1894, he graduated from the Ohio Medical College of Cincinnati. He was married to Miss Zadie Hand, of Kenton county, December 23rd, 1896. About three years ago he joined the Lodge of F. & A. M., at Burlington, by whom the funeral services were conducted at Bullittsburg Church, January 6. Dr. Clore needs no other eulogy than the fact that he built up a large practice in his own home and among people who had known him all his life. He leaves a wife, mother, father and sister to mourn his death; and a host of others who can say of him as Marc Antony said of Julius Ceasar, "He was my friend, faithful and just to me."

Whereas, It has pleased the Supreme Architect to call from the earthly craft to the Grand Lodge on High one of our number, Brother William A. Clore, who departed this life January, 4th, 1904.

Be it Resolved: That in the death of Brother Clore, this lodge has lost a bright and shining light, his good wife a devoted husband, his father and mother a loving son, his profession an earnest worker and the community a useful citizen.

That these resolutions be spread at large on the records of this lodge and that a page of record be set apart to his memory.

That a copy be delivered to his widow and that they be published in the Boone County Recorder.

Dragging Pains

CHICAGO, ILL., Oct., 2, 1902.

I suffered with falling and congestion of the womb, with severe pains through the groins. I suffered terribly at the time of menstruation, had blinding headaches and rushing of blood to the brain. What to try I knew not, for it seemed that I had tried all and failed, but I had never tried Wine of Cardui, that blessed remedy for sick women. I found it pleasant to take and soon knew that I had the right medicine. New blood seemed to course through my veins and after using eleven bottles I was a well woman.

Mrs. Bush is now in perfect health because she took Wine of Cardui for menstrual disorders, bearing down pains and blinding headaches when all other remedies failed to bring her relief. Any sufferer may secure health by taking Wine of Cardui in her home. The first bottle convinces the patient she is on the road to health.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

DITCH-GRADING LEVEL.

Farmers Who Learn How to Use It Will Seldom Require the services of a Surveyor.

I here give a rude sketch of a straight edge and level for grading tile ditch, which I will try to explain. First, the straight edge is five inches wide by seven-eighths inches thick and four feet one and a half inches long, making one-fourth of a rod of 16½ feet. The straight edge is leveled on the bottom, so that no lump of dirt or gravel stone can get underneath to hold it off from the bottom of the ditch. The two uprights, marked a, can be any length to suit the operator, made of one-half by three-inch stuff nailed on right-hand straight edge and the level fastened on the right-hand side of the uprights, so as to be out of the way of the staff or handle, which can be of any length to suit the operator. The bevel is fastened on the uprights with one common screw at the further end of the level. The other end opposite is fastened onto the upright by cutting a narrow slot hole in the upright, through which put a small bolt that will just fill the slot hole sideways, also coming through the level provided with a thumb nut and washer as shown on the drawing. There must be great accuracy in putting the level upon the uprights to have the bottom of the level and the bottom of the straight edge exactly parallel. When you are getting the grade or fall of ditch to the rod by raising or lowering the rear end of the level by taking the difference on a straight line with the bottom of the level measured down at each extreme end of the straight edge, you can tell just what incline your ditch will have per rod multiplying the variation by four. For instance, if the difference in length of the straight edge and the line of the bottom of the level was three-eighths of an inch, the fall in the ditch per rod would be twelve-eighths, equal to 1½ inches, as the straight edge is one-fourth of 16½ feet.

Always drive the tile tight at the top of the joint to keep out all the loose dirt. My experience teaches me that the water always enters the tile at the bottom. Always use a scoop to fit the size of the tile, then, when you fill in, the dirt will not crowd the tile out of line. In setting the level for work, have the incline so as to have the bubble always occupy the center of the opening of the level. In so doing you seldom require the services of a surveyor.—Prairie Farmer.

MARYLAND LEADS OFF.

Granges of That State Support National Demand for Federal Aid in Road Building.

The state grange of Maryland is the first of the state granges to follow the National grange in demanding that the government aid in improving the highways. At a fully attended meeting in Baltimore recently a strong resolution on this subject was adopted, and Master J. B. Ager in his annual address said:

"There seem to be great interest at this time all over the state in regard to good roads. It is said that the government has expended $500,000,000 in improving the rivers and harbors and proposes to spend $200,000,000 in building the isthmian canal. Therefore we believe something should be appropriated to assist the farmers in building permanent highways.

"According to Secretary Wilson's report the farmers have aided the government very materially. Discussing the balance of trade, the secretary says that the favorable balance of trade to the credit of this country is due entirely to the farmers. The balance of trade in the farm products during the last 14 years, no year excepted, aggregated $4,806,000,000 in products. Other than the farm products during the same period, the balance of trade was adverse to this country to the extent of $865,000,000. Our farmers not only canceled this immense obligation, but placed $3,940,000,000 to the credit of the nation, when the books of the international exchanges were balanced. He concludes that it is the farmers that have paid the foreign bondholders. Now, why should not the government aid the farmers in the construction of roads? It is shown by careful estimates that it cost $900,000,000 to haul the products of the farm to railway stations, rivers and canals, which is vastly more than it costs to maintain 200,000 miles of railway, and by careful estimates the cost could be reduced one-half. I have no doubt that on some roads it could be reduced much more."

Will Build Good Roads.

The county board of supervisors, of Elmira, N. Y., appropriated $254,000 for the construction of good roads through the county. The roads will be laid out in accordance with the plans of the state engineer and in harmony with the suggestions of the New York and Chicago Good Roads association. The roads are intended to form a part of a highway running from New York to Chicago.

Milk as rapidly as possible without irritating or worrying the cows.

BUT ONE PROPER TIME.

Noted Massachusetts Horticulturist Says That All Pruning Should Be Done in June.

After three score years of experience in orchard culture, allow me to say something on the proper time for pruning. There is but one proper time, the month of June, when the new bark forms on the wood.

More orchards are ruined by being pruned at improper times than from all other causes. If pruned in autumn or winter, the bark will dry around the stump and heal there, but never over the end; this exposed stump will rot out in a few years, leaving a ragged hole where water can enter, and the decay of the center of the whole tree begins, shortening its life many years. If pruned in the spring, the wound bleeds, the sap often running down and killing the bark below, making a black, unsightly wound, which never heals over, and the whole tree is subject to decay.

If pruned in June, when the new bark and wood is forming, the wound begins to heal at once, and no matter what the size of the branch cut may be, the wound will heal before decay begins if the tree is vigorous and in good condition.

Care should be taken to cut close to the trunk or larger branch, so that the wound may heal over the end, for if cut two or three inches from the trunk or main branch, nature forgets to carry the necessary material to heal over the wound, and again the water enters and decay occurs.

When from accident, the effect of snow or ice, a large branch is broken, cut temporarily, leaving a foot or more to be cut again close to the trunk in the month of June.

The reason farmers generally prune in early spring is that they then have time and little else to do and are anxious to be at work, and thus have some excuse; but if they could realize the damage they are doing to their own property, they might perhaps refrain and put their labor to better account at the proper season.—W. S. Ripley, in Country Gentleman.

HINTS ABOUT MILKING.

Always milk the cow dry before leaving her, but do not continue stripping after the milk is all drawn.

Always milk a cow in the same manner, at about the same time and speed. Any change will irritate and tend to excite her.

There should always be a friendly feeling between the cow and the milker, and milkers should not be changed if it can be avoided.

A cow will not "give down" her milk to a milker she hates or is afraid of, and what she does give will be deficient in butter fat.

After a little manipulation of the teats and udder, the milk is ready to "come down." Then is the time to take it, and do not delay.

The last milk drawn from a cow is much richer than the first. The last quart usually contains more than three times as much butter as the first.

No definite rule can be given as to how the teats should be handled in milking, as cows differ and hands differ so much; but be sure of one thing, please the cow if possible.

Have the stable clean and have the cow clean, or you cannot get clean milk. Lime and whitewash for walls and posts is a good thing. Land plaster is a good absorbent in the stable.

When it comes a cow's turn to be milked she knows it and expects it and wants to be milked. If you disappoint her and milk half an hour later, the chances are that you will get less and even poorer milk than if you milked at the proper time.

the blacksmith punch the holes for bolts and turn the corners. A wooden wheel will do. The large wheel of an old sewing machine is best. The average farm boy will have it built and out in the snow with it to see if it hangs right before you know it. On good garden soil, free from stones, he will do as much with it in ten minutes as you can with a hoe in one hour.—John Jackson, in Epitomist.

After some experience chicks can be selected before they are two months old. Leghorn pullets soon show their sex on the wings. Barred Plymouth Rock cockerels are lighter than the pullets, and there is a difference in the shape. Pullets seem to fill out the wings sooner and take form early. Cockerels are straight up (their heads curl over their feet), have longer legs and necks and are bare about the shoulders. The pullets have rather more of the Dorking or duck shape, not standing up so straight. Observation and experience are the best guides. It is claimed that if the little combs are examined with a magnifying glass those of the cockerels will be straight, while those of the pullets will be inclined to lean over.

PARADOXICAL PROSPERITY.

Notwithstanding good crops and an increased price for them there is evidence that both Iowa and Kansas are not as prosperous as they should be. The records of the school census of Iowa for 1893 show a falling off of pupils enrolled, the number in 1893 being 550,202 as against 560,173 for 1902, while in 1900 the number was 566,000. That shows the extraordinary loss of population in three years, when there should be a normal increase of nearly 64,000. If the farmers of Iowa are prosperous, what makes them leave the state and seek homes elsewhere? Then the surprising statement is made by the bank commissioner of Kansas that the banks of Kansas have $2,500,000 less on deposit to-day than they had in September. By all the ordinary rules of business the farmers and merchants of Kansas should have more money on deposit when they are selling their crops than when they have just harvested them, and the storekeepers should be in the same condition at the same time, for debts are being paid and the money brought into the state for the crops should find its way into the banks.

Is it the extraordinary increase in the cost of living that is impoverishing the people of Kansas and forcing emigration from Iowa? These two states have been noted as the banner crop producers of the west, and yet those signs of lack of prosperity would indicate that something is preying upon their vitals. No wonder the Iowa state grange at its last meeting denounced the extortion of the trusts and the railroads, especially the packers' trust, which not only robs the farmers but the consumers by reducing the price of cattle and hogs and increasing the price of meat. Nor is it extraordinary that the "Iowa idea" that the tariff fosters the trusts and does not stimulate agriculture, has become the issue in that state, and although smothered for a time by the manipulations of the republican leaders will be more difficult to suppress at the coming national election.

The farmers of the western states are discovering that good crops and large incomes are offset by the enlarged exactions of the trusts through the monopoly they enjoy under protection, and is forcing them to examine the tariff issue for their own salvation. All the buoyant talk of President Roosevelt of the suppression of "bad trusts" has produced no results. No trust has reduced prices and the railroads have advanced rates under his administration, and in his message to the new congress there is no word of recommendation for tariff reform. The members of his cabinet are all noted protectionists, and some of them are notoriously friends of the corporations that have been shown to be the most exacting and pernicious extortionists that have been developed in this extraordinary trust era.

If President Roosevelt was sincerely trying to lighten the burdens of the people of Iowa and Kansas and elsewhere of some of the same conditions in every state, he would certainly urge congress to reform the tariff, which a high republican has assured us is "the mother of all trusts."

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

——Why should not Mr. Roosevelt take the national chairmanship himself? He has never been elected president of the United States, and Mr. Odell asserted, in 1900, that it was proper to retain the state chairmanship until elected governor. A great many new precedents have been established of late.—Albany Argus.

——In the next national campaign the republicans will be on the defensive, and what a lot they have got to defend! There are the postal frauds, the public land frauds, the army contract scandals, the Panama grab, the administration's race policy, the promotion of Gen. Wood, the inactivity of the department of justice against trusts, etc. And there will no doubt be other things that will require defense before the campaign is fairly open. The president is still leading the strenuous life.—Savannah News.

——Roosevelt has done nothing whatever to incur the enmity of the trusts and the talk that he opposes the trusts or is opposed by them is undoubtedly a blind to curry favor with the masses. If Mr. Roosevelt shall be nominated for president next year the republican national committee will fry the fat of the trust magnates, who will give up their money by the millions to promote the success of the republican party and its candidates, who are in reality the friends of the trusts.—Syracuse Telegram.

——The National Geographic Magazine says the Philippines islands have a coast line of about 11,444 statute miles, or double that of the mainland of the United States. But the trade of this long coast is almost entirely carried in vessels sailing under foreign flags, owing to the policy of treating the Philippines as foreign territory for navigation purposes. Considering how much the islands have cost the United States up to date, this policy is little short of a national outrage.—San Francisco Chronicle (Rep.).

——Four years more of Roosevelt would reverse the old adage, and make it read, as amended, in time of war, prepare for peace.—Albany Argus.

——Secretary Root has painted the administration in glowing colors; but the man who is to succeed him in the war department can see through a thick veneering.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

——Senator Hanna's interest in maritime matters may yet cause him to abandon his by-word about "standing pat" and introduce something about dashing his starry top-lights.—Washington Star.

WEAKNESS OF ROOSEVELT.

That and the Tariff Question Will Help Elect a Democratic President.

It must be admitted, however, that there is in the national capital among republicans who keep in close touch with national politics, a doubt as to the result this year. It is, at present, a vague and indefinite feeling of anxiety, rather than a substantial fear, says the Forum. When analyzed it seems to consist largely of the feeling that the corporate interests are hostile to President Roosevelt, and that it will be impossible, therefore, to obtain the necessary funds for campaign work. Many republicans are wondering if the influence of the railroads will be thrown against the republican party this year, as it was for it in 1896 and 1900. Other republicans are speculating upon the part which the labor vote will play in the next campaign, and are anxiously inquiring whether it will be loyal to the republican party.

Another factor in the situation, which is fully appreciated by the republican leaders as menacing President Roosevelt's reelection, is the fact that, paradoxical as it may seem, democratic victory is the only method of escaping tariff revision. A word of explanation will make this proposition very clear. There is scarcely any possibility of democratic control of the senate during the next four years, owing to the fact that the present republican majority of 24 is distributed among states admittedly republican. Should the democrats, therefore, elect a democratic president and a democratic house of representatives the republican senate would stand as a barrier against any tariff reform legislation which the house might desire to enact and the president be anxious to approve. If there are in the republican party certain representatives of corporate interests who desire to rebuke President Roosevelt for what they call his lack of consideration this influential coterie can exert their power against him with the full knowledge that the election of a democratic president will not disturb their privileges through adverse legislation. In addition to this there is also in the republican party a very large contingent which believes, with Senator Hanna, in "standing pat" upon the tariff; and this contingent is thoroughly alive to the fact that the best way to prevent any tinkering with the tariff is to help elect a democratic president.

DELUDING HIM.

Signs in Ohio Indicate That Something Is Doing Against Roosevelt.

Throughout Ohio the impression seems to be general that at a conference of republican leaders in Akron on December 23 the announcement was definitely made that Senator Hanna will be a candidate against Roosevelt for the presidency. Gen. Dick is reputed to have brought the information direct from Senator Hanna, who is in Washington, to the Akron conference. The notice already given by Chairman Clingerman, of the state committee, that the convention would be held at the latest possible moment, is regarded as a move in the interest of Mr. Hanna, says the Denver News.

The point is made now that the state convention properly had nothing to do with declaring the policy of the party in the state in regard to the presidency; that its resolution does not bind the party, and that the convention elected to name delegates to the national convention is the only body rightfully entitled to declare the wishes of Ohio republicans as to the party candidate for the highest office in the nation.

While these rumors of war come from Ohio, men like Senator Platt of Connecticut, Senator Allison, of Iowa, and Senator Aldrich, of Rhode Island, persist in their public utterances, in saying that Mr. Roosevelt will be the candidate. Whether these powerful leaders of the party mean all they say is another story. In well-informed quarters the belief is growing that there is an understanding among many of the leaders to lull the president into a feeling of security while arrangements are being made in important states to deprive him, at the last moment, of delegates upon whom he confidently reckons.

Attitude of Manufacturers.

President Roosevelt and the republican party have decided to "stand pat" on the tariff question, at least until after the presidential election; the trusts have decided to "stand pat" on their high prices, regardless of the fact that the buying power of the people is nearly exhausted and that hundreds of thousands of workers have had their wages reduced radically while other hundreds of thousands are out of work. Around Christmas time several groups of manufacturers in iron and steel—each group forming an illegal trust—met, and, instead of reducing prices as was expected, decided to "stand pat." Amongst these were the manufacturers of billets, structural shapes and plates. The tariff-protected trusts are merciless in their extortion. And why should they reduce prices? The people vote for high prices at every opportunity and put themselves at the mercy of trusts by putting a tariff wall around themselves to prevent them, by any possibility, from getting cheap foreign goods. Certainly the trusts should "stand pat" on prices.

To Reduce Wages.

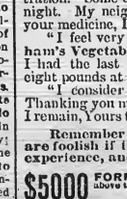
——In regard to the report that the steel trust is to cut the wages of its employes, the Richmond Times-Dispatch (dem.) says: "It expects to cut wages and in this way sell its products abroad in competition with foreign manufacturers, but the foreigners will get the benefit of the reduced price, while Americans will pay a higher price, and American workmen will have their pay reduced. Yet the protectionists tell the workingman that protection is for his benefit, and operates to keep him out of competition with foreign workmen."

Miss Gannon, Sec'y Detroit Amateur Art Association, tells young women what to do to avoid pain and suffering caused by female troubles.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I can conscientiously recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to those of my sisters suffering with female weakness and the troubles which so often befall women. I suffered for months with general weakness, and felt so weary that I had hard work to keep up. I had shooting pains, and was utterly miserable. In my distress I was advised to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it was a red letter day to me when I took the first dose, for at that time my restoration began. In six weeks I was a changed woman, perfectly well in every respect. I felt so elated and happy that I want all women who suffer to get well as I did."—Miss GUILA GANNON, 359 Jones St., Detroit, Mich., Secretary Amateur Art Association.

It is clearly shown in this young lady's letter that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will certainly cure the sufferings of women; and when one considers that Miss Gannon's letter is only one of the countless hundreds which we are continually publishing in the newspapers of this country, the great virtue of Mrs. Pinkham's medicine must be admitted by all; and for the absolute cure of all kinds of female ills no substitute can possibly take its place. Women should bear this important fact in mind when they go into a drug store, and be sure not to accept anything that is claimed to be "just as good" as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for no other medicine for female ills has made so many actual cures.

How Another Sufferer Was Cured.



"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot praise your wonderful remedies enough, for they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. For the last eight years and more I suffered with female troubles, was very weak, could not do my housework, also had nervous prostration. Some days I would remain unconscious for a whole day and night. My neighbors thought I could never recover, but, thanks to your medicine, I now feel like a different woman.

"I feel very grateful to you and will recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all. It has now been four years since I had the last spell of nervous prostration. I only weighed ninety-eight pounds at that time; now I weigh one hundred and twenty-three.

"I consider your Vegetable Compound the finest remedy made. Thanking you many times for the benefit I received from your medicine, I remain, Yours truly, MRS. J. H. FARMER, 2809 Elliott Ave., St. Louis, Mo."

Remember Mrs. Pinkham's advice is free and all sick women are foolish if they do not ask for it. She speaks from the widest experience, and has helped multitudes of women.

The Power of Jesus' Blood

It Alone Is Able to Bring the Sinner Back to God

Sermon by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher.

Chicago, Sunday, Jan. 17, 1904.

Text:—"But now, in Christ Jesus, ye who sometimes were far off, are made nigh by the blood of Christ."—Eph. 2:13.

SIN separates from God. The unregenerate sinner dwells in the far-off country. Our text tells us of those who have been brought from this far country by Christ and made nigh unto God. Paul is writing to Gentile Christians, and in a twofold sense the Gentiles were far from God. Up to the coming of Christ into the world and the fulfillment in Him of all the Old Testament promises, God had dealt with the Gentile world through the children of Israel, His chosen people. The promises were first to the Jews and through them to the Gentiles, for in Abraham and his seed all the nations of the earth were to be blessed. For this reason and in this sense the Jews were near to God and the Gentiles far off. But this "middle wall of partition" was broken down by Jesus Christ, and His sacrifice was without reference to any particular people, tribe or nation, "All had sinned and come short of the glory of God," whether Jews or Gentiles, and all alike needed redemption. Christ by the sacrifice on the cross reconciled unto God both Jews and Gentiles, and "came and preached peace to the Gentiles which were afar off, and to the Jews which were nigh." And now "through Christ both Jews and Gentiles have access by one Spirit unto the Father. Now therefore the Gentiles are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints, and of the household of God." But, as Jesus declared to the Samaritan woman at Jacob's well, who was inclined to dispute the claims of the Jews, "salvation was of the Jews." The Jews held a peculiar and intimate relationship to God, and through them was accomplished the wonderful scheme of redemption. And God still has definite plans and peculiar blessings for the Jews. They have occupied and shall yet occupy a unique and exalted place in the marvelous fulfillment of prophecy. And because of the unmeasured blessings which have come to the world through the Jews, and because the Jews are to be again gathered as a nation in Palestine, and are to welcome as their Messiah and King the One whom they rejected and crucified—because of all this, the Christian of to-day, the Gentile Christian, ought to pray for the Jew and for the peace of Jerusalem, "for they shall prosper that love Thee." In the above sense then the Jews were nigh to God and the Gentiles afar off, but in a broader and more general sense all are far from God until brought nigh by the blood of Christ.

MAN is far from God because of sin. When God created man in His own image it was for His (God's) glory, and the purpose was that the relationship between the Creator and the created should be close and intimate. Before sin entered into the world, God came and walked in sweet fellowship with Adam in the garden, but when man by his own choice disobeyed God, sin entered into the world, and separation from God by reason of sin. The expulsion from the garden—the place where God had walked arm in arm with man and communed with him—the shutting of the gate against him and the placing of the guard of cherubims and the flaming sword to keep the way of the tree of life, all typify the awful fact of separation from God by reason of sin. Man henceforth was far from God. Sin was the awful barrier which rose between the holy, pure and righteous God, and man. There are three facts in regard to sin which must be emphasized: God's hatred of sin, the certain punishment of sin, and God's unchanged and unchangeable attitude towards sin. It is as impossible for sin to abide in the presence of God as it is for darkness to come into the flooding light of the glorious sun. There is no sin in Heaven, not even the most infinitesimal taint or speck of sin, for God is there. This marks the chief difference between earth and Heaven. Sin is in the earth, but there is no sin in Heaven. It is absolutely impossible for it to gain entrance there. And every soul that goes from earth to Heaven must be cleansed and purified from all sin before it can enter there.

GOD hates sin, and sin must be punished. "The wages of sin is death." God has never altered His decree. Sin cannot escape the devouring wrath of God any more than Sodom and Gomorrah could escape the fire of God's judgment. And although God has been dealing in patience and mercy with this old world for ages, and is still waiting for it to repent and be saved through faith in Jesus Christ, His hatred of sin has not grown less, nor has His judgment upon sin been modified or changed in the least degree. God changes not. But conceptions of God do change, and there is an easy belief nowadays that God is too good and loving to punish sin, and the one who clings to sin. But this misconception, this lie of the devil the began to tell it away back in the garden, and he has kept faithfully at it ever since) is only another evidence of the fact that in some respects the world is getting farther and farther away from God as the day of grace shortens, and the night of judgment approaches. There is nothing in God's Word from Genesis to Revelation which gives warrant for believing that God hates sin less, or that His judgment upon sin has changed in the slightest degree.

BUT if God hates sin He loves the sinner, and He has never ceased in His efforts to bring the sinner back into fellowship with Him. The sinner is far from God, but God is not far from the sinner, as He yearns over him and longs to bring him back to Himself. When Paul went into that great and cultured, but wicked, city of Athens "his spirit was stirred in him, when he saw the city wholly given to idolatry." He knew that the hearts of the people were far from God, and yet in his great sermon on Mars hill, as he felt the heart-throb of God for the sinful and idolatrous people, he declared that God was "not far from every one of us." He is near, so that He can hear the cry of the penitent. He is near, and waits to forgive sin and extend mercy. God's love for sinners is attested by the fact that He has provided a way of escape for the sinner. He has wrought out a scheme of redemption which does not compromise his attitude towards sin or set aside His judgment upon sin. And this fact our text blessedly brings before us. Far off from God we are by reason of sin, brought nigh to God we may be by the cleansing power of Jesus' blood. Far off from God not because a way back to Him has not been provided, but far from God because people love darkness rather than light, and because they prefer to dwell in the far off country of sin and worldliness, instead of returning over the Jesus road to the near country of blessed life and fellowship with God. Far from God unless the power of the precious blood of Jesus has been felt to draw the soul nigh unto God. Far from God, or near to God. Two great divisions or classes. To which group do you belong? Are you with those who are separated from God by reason of sin unforgiven, a Saviour spurned, or do your glad feet stand with the great redeemed throng upon the everlasting rock Christ Jesus, whose blood has cleansed you from all sin and made you fit to come into the presence of God?

FAR from God! Who can measure all that this means? Not many weeks ago there died in one of the cheap lodging houses of Chicago, a poor, miserable moral and physical wreck of a man. In the pocket of his ragged coat was found a request that a certain man in a certain city be notified in case of death. This was done and he came and took the remains away. The dead man was the son of a wealthy banker, whose name the friend would not divulge. He had left home and wandered far from his father's care and love. Far off in Chicago he was friendless and homeless—a miserable, wretched, despised and worthless outcast; suffering and in want while alive, dying alone and unattended. Far off from home and father. It might have been different if he had willed it so. Home might have sheltered him; friends might have cared for him. Comfort and plenty might have been his portion if he had so chosen. But being far from home meant all of misery and wretchedness and degradation which the world could give. Oh, what a difference it made with him because he was far from home, and oh, what a difference it makes with the life that is far from God! And every life is far from God unless it has been brought nigh by the blood of Jesus Christ. Far from God we find the world with all her allurements, with all her ambitions, all her pleasures, her power and her activities; yes, and her woes and heart aches, her troubles and suffering, her wickedness and crime. We find the devil there going to and fro through the earth, enticing, deluding, destroying, devouring. Far from God we find everything with the stamp of sin upon it. Far from God are dangers, privations, unsatisfied longings—death. The prodigal son knew what it meant to be far from his father's house. It meant drinking to the bitter dregs the cup of sin. It meant disgrace, destitution, suffering and would have meant death if he had remained in the far country. Far from God means the darkness of sin. It means that this life is all that the soul is to enjoy. It may mean ease and plenty, pleasures and honor, riches and power such as the world can give, and give in abundance, sometimes, but the limits of this life mark the end of all that the world can give. Far from God means that for the soul there is nothing beyond. Far from God means eternal death, "for, lo, they that are far from Thee shall perish."

JESUS felt the agony of that separation from God as He hung on the cross and became sin for us. The intense mental suffering of that hour is indicated by the broken-hearted cry of Jesus: "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?" As the weight of the world's sin rolled upon His sinless shoulders, God turned from Him. Did you ever try to understand what those words, "He became sin for us," mean? Did you ever realize that in the instant that the sinless Christ became sin for us in that instant God, His Father, turned from Him, for God hates sin, He cannot permit it in His presence? Jesus, the sinless man, the Son of God, the one who perfectly kept the law of God and was entitled to entrance to Heaven, separated from God, because the sin He was carrying for you and me, and bearing the punishment of that sin in His death, in order that we might not know the awfulness of final and eternal separation from God, but might be brought back to fellowship with God and a place with Him in Heaven. Jesus knew what separation from God meant in order that we might never have to know the awfulness of that experience. We know what God's Word tells us of it. That it means darkness, and awful agony, and weeping and gnashing of teeth; that it means hell and hell's torment. But, blessed be God! we do not have to know by actual experience. Jesus has become sin for us. He suffered death on the cross and paid the penalty once and for all for sin, and "now, in Christ Jesus, we who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ."

WHO are made nigh? Those who will receive the cleansing power of Jesus' blood. Christ has made atonement for the sin of all the world, and the efficacy of that atonement is only limited by the extent to which it is received by the world. Those who are made nigh to God are those who have received the Lord Jesus as Saviour, who by faith have accepted the fact of atonement for sin as the only way of salvation. It is a blood-washed throng, whose garments are made spotless. None other may come there. The test is not church membership. It is not family connections, a good pedigree. The Jews pleaded that argument with Jesus, but because they were of the seed of Abraham did not insure their salvation. It is not good works. Perhaps that is what the stranger wore who got into the marriage supper without the wedding garment on. Certainly he was very bold in coming there in the garments he had prepared for himself, and he must have encouraged himself in the belief that he had as good a right there as anyone else. But when the Lord of that supper confronted him he was speechless, and because he lacked the spotless garments which only the Bridegroom could give him he was cast into outer darkness. Different religious bodies may have different tests which admit to membership, but there is only one thing which will admit the soul into the blessed presence of God, and give it a place in Heaven; it is the cleansing blood of Jesus. And those who are thus purified are admitted to blessed fellowship with God here in this life and also in the life to come.

"THESE are they which come out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb." "There is a paradox," says Dr. McLaren, the great English preacher. "Red blood makes black robes white. It is like some of the apparent pieces of magic that you can see performed in some of our dye-houses nowadays. There is nothing else that will touch my guilt except that one great sacrifice offered once for all for a world's sins, for your sins and mine. There is nothing else that will deliver me from the dominion of my own evil, except the power of the life and love of Jesus Christ planted in my heart, and there bringing forth the fruits of righteousness. There is an old legend which says that the only thing that could melt torment was the blood of a pure lamb. I believe that the one power which brings forgiveness and forgiveness is not mere impunity—is the sacrifice of Jesus Christ. And I know that the one power which, transfused into a man's life, can make him live soberly, righteously, and godly is that blood which is the life of Christ Himself imparted to us. So, then, that which no man can do for himself, and no man can do for any others, and without which all else that is done by us for ourselves or for others is inadequate to the necessities of the case, is done, blessed be God! for us in that shed blood of Him who in death bore the sins of, and in life imparts righteousness to, the whole world."

THE power of sin is awful. It separates from God. It curses and enthralls in this life. It ceases to everlasting death. And only Jesus' blood can break that power, only Jesus' blood can deliver from its blighting influence, only Jesus' blood can deliver from death and hell. And, blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ! we who sometimes were far off have been made nigh by His precious blood.

"Precious, precious blood of Jesus
Shed on Calvary,
Shed for rebels, shed for sinners,
Shed for me.

"Precious blood, that hath redeemed us!
All the price is paid;
Perfect pardon now is offered,
Peace is made.

Let it make thee whole;
Let it flow in mighty cleansing
O'er thy soul.

"Though thy sins are red like crimson,
Deep in scarlet glow,
Jesus' precious blood can make them
White as snow.

Ever flowing free!
O believe it, O receive it,
'Tis for thee."

Be Brave.

To maintain a steady and unbroken mind, amidst all the shocks of adversity, forms the highest honor of men. Afflictions supported by patience and surmounted by fortitude give the last finishing stroke to the heroic and virtuous character. Thus the vale of tears becomes the theater of human glory; that dark cloud presents all the beauties in the bow of virtue. Moral grandeur, like the sun, is brightest in the day of the storm, and never is so truly sublime as when struggling through the darkness of an eclipse. Patience is the guardian of faith, the preserver of peace, the cherisher of love, the teacher of humility. Patience governs the flesh, strengthens the spirit, sweetens the temper, stifles anger, extinguishes envy, subdues pride; she bridles the tongue, restrains the hand, tramples upon temptations, endures persecution!—Royal Path of Life.

WHILE HE WAS WORKING.

The barber tucked a towel under a customer's chin and then cleared his throat, relates the Philadelphia Press.

"A victim—I mean a customer of mine," he began, "told me a story the other day which illustrates to my mind, at least, that some men really don't know the difference between patent medicine and Schuylkill water. It was this way:

"This customer of mine had a friend who had a great deal of trouble with his hair. It was all the time falling out. He asked all his friends what he could get to keep it in. Most of them suggested that he get a basket, but finally one of them told him of a patent medicine.

"So the man whose hair was bothering him got a bottle of the medicine and discovered that it was a dark brown sticky stuff that he was to rub on his hair five times a day. He tried it the first day, and it appeared to do good, but the second day some one got there first, and emptying the bottle of medicine, filled it up with sarsaparilla. And all day long that poor man rubbed the soft drink on his hair and never noticed the difference. But he did notice, though, that there was an unusually large number of flies swarming about his head. Bay rum?"

Needed Not the Country.

"And do none of you know anything about the country?" asked the teacher, sadly.

"Oh, yiss, ma'am, I know," said Eva Gnoinowsky. "The country is the Fresh Air Fund."

"Then you've been there," cried Miss Bailey. "Tell us about it, Eva."

"No, ma'am, I ain't seen it," said Eva, proudly. "I'm healthy."—McClure's.

Dr. Williamson Swears.

Yorktown, Ark., Jan. 18th.—Last week a statement was published from Leland Williamson, M. D., of this place, to the effect that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best medicine for all Kidney Diseases and that he uses them with uniform success in his daily practice.

No one who knows Dr. Williamson will doubt for a moment the complete truth of his fearless declaration, but to completely clinch the matter in the minds of those who may not have the pleasure of a personal acquaintance with this celebrated physician, Dr. Williamson has appeared before Mr. H. E. Greene, J. P. for Montgomery county, and made a sworn statement.

In this sworn statement the doctor has cited a number of cases which have been completely cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. Here is case No. 1:

"Henry Hall, Sr., age 48, an American, attacked with Malaria Haematuria or Swamp Fever, temperature ranged from 101 to 105, highly coated tongue, constipated bowels, hemorrhage or passage of blood from Kidneys, used febrifuge and Dodd's Kidney Pills to relieve the inflammation and congested condition of Kidneys and to render the urine bland and non irritating. Recovery complete after two months' treatment of the Pills."

MRS. COL. GRESHAM Was Given Up BY THE DOCTORS.

Pe-ru-na Saved Her Life.

[It was catarrh of the lungs so common in the winter months.]

MISS JENNIE DRISCOLL

Miss Jennie Driscoll, 870 Putnam Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"If people knew how efficient Peruna was in the cure of catarrh, they would not hesitate to try it. I have all the faith in the world in it as it cured me, and I have never known of a case when the person was not cured in a short time."—Jennie Driscoll.

Mrs. Col. E. J. Gresham, Treasurer Daughters of the Confederacy and President Herndon Village Improvement Society, writes the following letter from Herndon, Fairfax Co., Va.:

Herndon, Va.

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio:

Gentlemen:—I cannot speak too highly of the value of Peruna. I believe that I owe my life to its wonderful merits. I suffered with catarrh of the head and lungs in its worst form, until the doctors fairly gave me up, and I despaired of ever getting well again.

"I noticed your advertisement and the splendid testimonials given by the people who had been cured by Peruna, and determined to try a bottle. I felt but little better, but used a second and third bottle and kept on improving slowly.

"It took six bottles to cure me, but they were worth a King's ransom to me. I talk Peruna to all my friends and am a true believer in its worth."—Mrs. Col. E. J. Gresham.

A PLAIN TALK

On a Plain Subject in Plain Language.

The coming winter will cause at least one-half of the women to have catarrh, colds, coughs, pneumonia or consumption. Thousands of women will lose their lives and tens of thousands will acquire some chronic ailment from which they will never recover.

KEEP PERUNA IN THE HOUSE.

Unless you take the necessary precautions, the chances are that you (who read this) will be one of the unfortunate ones. Little or no risk need be run if Peruna is kept in the house and at the first appearance of any symptom of catarrh taken as directed on the bottle.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

RICHWOOD.

Richard Lampton improves very slowly.

Renters will be on the move again in a few days.

Mr. Andy Collins' health does not improve much.

Several car loads of corn have been received here recently.

John J Tauuer, who has been on the sick list, is better.

It is time to begin the discussion of our rural mail route again.

Our bank is prospering, and its quarterly report shows that something has been doing.

O. F. Gaucken received a box of oranges, a few days ago, from Edmund Stephens, in Florida.

Walter Grubbs has for sale 3 stacks of timothy hay, about 10 tons of timothy hay in barn, and about 4 tons of clover or mixed hay.

O O. Dixon, our local professional nurse, is home taking a much needed rest from his professional duties. He is splendidly equipped with all modern appliances for his profession.

COMMISSARY.

Jan. 23 —John Cloud spent last Saturday night and Sunday with Bud Goodridge.

Musters Joseph, Willie and Miss Alice Walton have chickenpox.

Ben Cason has the scalp of another fox. Ralph shot one one day this week.

Harry Aora and family spent the week visiting Mrs. Acra's parents on Woolper.

A. E. Chambers, of Petersburg, was a pleasant guest of Mrs. Lurenia Scott, last Friday.

O. D Phipps and wife, of Richwood, were guests of his father and brother, near here last week.

Miss Sadie Marshall was a guest of Misses Minnie and Susie Rice, and Nannie Goodridge this week.

Neighbor W. T Ryle is confined to the house with a severe cold, and has a woeful, weeping look in his eyes.

The art of saying appropriate words in a kindly way never ceases to please, and alike is within the reach of all.

One day this week the wind blew a gate against Capt. J. J Lillard, and it palnted one of his eyes a beautiful black.

C. H Acra, Ben Kirtley, Columbus Popham, and Mrs. Georgia Louden transacted business in Aurora, last Monday.

Louis Merrick received a telephone message Friday moruing from East Bend that his father was sick and not expected to live.

John McGuyre, of Grant county, was visiting amoug relatives here this week. He says the tobacco in Grant county is nearly all stripped and sold at very fair prices.

W T. Ryle is the recipient of a very handsome present from his brother-in-law, Charles Craven, while the Commissary received a handsome present from Mr. Ryle.

The ice is all gone from the streets and sidewalks in Commissary. We now have a softer place to light when we slip and fall, aud the sensations experienced are quite different.

H P Parsons returned from Cincinnati, last Tuesday, and reported Mrs Parsons but little better. Mr. Parsons quite sick now. Dr. Williamson was called to see him Friday evening.

Ernest Ryle, Bellevue's versatile correspondent, as he returned from Burlington last Monday gave us a short call. We gave him a couple of apples, supposing that he had not had his dinner. He looked at them with pleasure and said, "thank you. I am hungry, but I will take them to my wife. They will be such a nice treat to her." This raised him several notches in our estimation. His wife was a Cook, and if she is anything like the cooks around the Commissary, she is kind hearted, and dishes with him.

While Louis Merrick and Cecil Snelling were cutting wood one day last week for Jack Walton they noticed a bee flying around among the newly sawed blocks. One said to the other: There is bee tree right here." They watched it be it raised in the air and flew across a hollow near by and entered a hole in an old tree, from which they noticed bees flying in and out. They cut the tree and got about 75 lbs. of nice honey This is the eighth tree that has been found and cut near the Commissary during last summer and this winter.

The marriage of George LaVanway and Miss Carrie Louden brought about among the people a discussion as to the time when the old Searcy house near here was built. We have been to some trouble to ascertain the age of the building, and from the best information we have been able to obtain, it was built in the year 1825. It was not built earlier than this date, because Col. Jas. Akin's father located in this county in 1824, and it was not built at that time. J. J. Lillard was at a wedding at the house in 1847, and it was an old house then. It will have been built 79 years some time this year. It is, perhaps, the oldest log house in the county in which there is a family now living.

If a cold winter indicates a good fruit year, 1904 ought to be alright along that ne.

BELLEVIEW.

Jan. 23 — A light snow fell here last night

Rohyne, the showman is some better.

Mrs. Ida Brown is recovering from an attack of grippe.

A heavy rain fell here last night and it is still raining and warm

It is thought the ice from the gorge above will all sink before it reaches here. The river rose 5 feet last night. An '84 flood is predicted.

John Deck, of Woolper, was in our town Friday. His daughter Alice, who has been with Mrs. Alice Cook, returned home with him.

While eproute home from Burlington, last Monday, we stopped and warmed by Bro. Thomas' stove. After we had got warm he treated to apples and we went on our way rejoicing in his hospitality.

Everyone here made a break for the river front Friday, when it was known that the ice gorge was passing. It was a grand and also an awful sight. The ice was plied 8 to 10 feet high and the river was full from shore to shore and dotted with pieces of wreckage here and there, which told their own story of property swept away at ports above here.

Jan. 25.—This winter is a reminder of that of 63-4.

W W. Grant had a large run of work for the last two weeks.

About all of the tobacco growers got their crops bulked last Friday.

E. L. Grant and wife spent the day, last Sunday with Miss Julia Dinsmore.

There will be a large attendance from here at the sale of T. C. S. Ryle, next Saturday.

I am informed that Roland McCarty and family will soon be citizens of Belleview.

Horace Hewitt and wife, of Aurora, were calling on friends here a couple of days last week.

Dan McCarty, who is reported to have pneumonia, is much better.

We are glad to report our friend, James Rogers, who has pneumonia, is getting along nicely, and hope he may be out again soon.

Your reporter while in Aurora, last Monday, spent a short time with our old school mate and friend, H. J. Marshall, very pleasantly, in talking over our school days.

Your reporter and wife extend their heartfelt sympathies to Mr. and Mrs. William Utz, in their sad bereavement, in the loss of their loving daughter by such a sudden and sad death. Let us with manner, for God knows best.

It is reported that W. W. Botts will move his saw mill to Tennessee, where timber is more plentiful. We are very glad to see him prosper, but will hate to see him and his worthy wife leave our midst, for they are good neighbors and worthy citizens.

Bro. A. J. Hargett, of Lexington, will preach in the Christian church here on Sunday, February 7th, at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. All are invited to attend the Sunday school at 10 a. m. that day. ACRA.

LIMABURG.

The Limaburg school passed the following resolutions on the death of Miss Eva Utz:

We, the teacher and pupils of the Limaburg school, are

Resolved, That Eva was one of the brightest and best among our number; she was conscientious, dutiful, obedient, industrious and amiable; her disposition was happy and contented; her lessons were always well prepared; whatever she did was done well.

That there was room in her heart for all her friends; and that, without except lon, we all loved her. The schoolhouse is very lonely indeed since we know that she will come no more. We shall miss her beyond power of words to express, and we shall never forget her bright, happy face and the sweet association we have had with her.

That we do extend our most sincere and heartfelt sympathy to her parents and relatives. It is well that we can all say together, "We sorrow not as them that have no hope." We know that Eva had her "lamp all trimmed and burning;" that she was "ready when the bridegroom called"; and she has gone with Him

To that beautiful home up in heaven, That home where no tear drops fall; There with Jesus among the angels, She waits to welcome us all.

HATHAWAY

Jan. 25 —The public school closed here last Friday.

Mrs Caroline Ryle, of Beech Grove, is not expected to live very long.

The Union and Ha haway Telephone Company, surveyed its line last Friday.

Houston & Weaver, of this place, will not go to Georgia. They will remain here for a while.

Your writer and family spent last Weduesday and Thursday visiting his brother and family of near Petersburg. While there we made a trip to the town, and met some of my old friends and acquaintances and formed many new ones, which I am very glad to have. I had the pleasure of meeting two of the Recorder's worthy correspondents, James B. Tolin, and Bert Smith.

VERONA

Measles are all the style.

The roads are getting muddy again

Mr Geo. Roberts is busy receiving tobacco now.

Mrs. Jno. Cotton, who died near Independence, was brought to New Bethel cemetery for interment, Monday. An able funeral discourse was delivered by Rev. S. M. Adams.

One of the most enjoyable occasions was a pound and a tacky party at the residence of Mrs S. A. Waller, in honor of her 76th birthday. The lads and lassies for miles around assembled at her hospitable home on the night of Jan. 18th. The usual routine of games was enjoyed by all until 10 o'clock, when a sumptuous lunch was served, after which the prize for the tackiest girl was awarded to Miss Ethel Myers, and tackiest boy, to Willie McCrasder. The judges for the young ladies were Messrs. Jno Kennedy and Dick Chapman. The prize was a lovely vase. The judges for the young men were Misses Nora Fry and Annie Lee Wolfe. The 76 guests departed, thanking Mrs Waller and Miss Lena for their enjoyable time, and wishing Mrs. Waller to live to enjoy many more such birthdays.

GUNPOWDER

Jan. 25.—J. W. Rouse has been on the sick list for about a week with a severe case of grip.

The school at Pleasant Ridge will close next Friday.

Preaching at Hopeful next Sunday, it being the fifth Sunday.

C. C. Talbot is remodeling his house adding very greatly to its appearauce.

D. I Tanner, of Bromley, spent last Sunday with his parents, Henry L. Tanner and wife near here.

Although the weather was very inclement a large crowd attended the funeral of Miss Eva Utz on the 21st. The funeral was conducted by Pastor Slater, at Hopeful church, of which Miss Eva was a company member, having united with that body at the age of 13 years. She was also an active member of the Sunday school, was always found at her place in the Sunday school when it was possible for her to be there. Her kind and generous disposition had won for her a host of friends and she was a great favorite with all of her associates. Mr Summers, her former teacher, who had an opportunity to know something of her many virtues, spoke some very comforting words. He testified to her many characteristics which constitute a noble christian life The pall bearers consisted partly of members of her school class: Misses Kittie Tanner, Susie Snyder, Emma Clutterbuck, Edna Barlow, Sadie Beemon, Grace Anderson and Artie Tanner, bore a handsome mouument of flowers. We are left to wonder why Eva was called away so early in life, her age being only 15 years, 1 month and 16 days We should remember that the Lord makes no mistakes, and what He doeth is for a wise purpose and though it is hard for us to be separated from our loved ones, we should bow in submission to His will. Miss Eva leaves a devoted father and mother and a host of friends to mourn her departure. After the beautiful service the remains were placed in the Hopeful vault to await final interment.

Joseph Scott has the following stock for sale: 6 Poland Chiua sboats farrowed Sept. 2, 1903; 2 males and four females Five Poland China sboats one male and four females, farrowed Sept 4, 1903; 2 registered bull calves, their births Oct. 12 and 15, 1903. Mr. Scott has been to considerable expense to get his stock graded to a high staudard, and any person wishing anything in his line will make no mistake in dealing with him.

IDLEWILD.

Cal Graddy was out taking a drive for his health, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Walton were visiting her brother, Sunday.

Chas. Arther has left C. E. Stephens to engage in business in Newport.

Our friends in Denver are well, and report the weather there clear and bright.

The deepest sympathy is felt here for the parents of Miss Utz, who met her death on Monday of last week.

Thompson & Hawkins have been around this week buying tobacco. Some of the growers are done stripping.

Wm. Hedges and wife spent Monday with Mrs. Geo Walton, and on Tuesday they visited your correspondent.

Farmers who have much stock are getting scarce of feed. The kind of weather we have had causes stock to require a great deal of feed.

We were glad to see W. M. Rogers, of Walton, last Saturday. He was in the neighborhood on business, and at the same time visited his relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs Lafe Mc'ord passed here in a hack, a few days since, en route to see her sick father, Elijah Holton, near Petersburg. They reside at Warsaw.

George Walton is on the sick list with a cold. In many families every member is more or less ill of a cold. But what else could be expected to result from such sudden changes in the weather as we have been experiencing. Warm and rainy last week, which was followed by a sudden change that drove the mercury down to 12 above zero.

"Are there not enough or have they not interest, love and enthusiasm in the Southern cause to hold meetings of respect and veneration as other countries have done, especially Owen. Old Boone ought not to be excelled by none in such a glorious tribute to such an honored and worthy veteran of the Confederacy as Gen John B. Gordon, of Atlauta, Georgia."

WALTON.

California may have a millionaire for a ticket-agent, but Walton has a drummer millionaire a real thing, working this territory—A Stuntenbecker.

Owing to the ice in the river a large quantity of Big Boue water has been shipped from here recently. A load of 7,000 lbs. was shipped south from here last Friday.

Our popular L. & N. agent, S. W. Beverly, was called to Campbellsburg, on account of the death of his uncle While he was away Berry Noell had charge of the office.

J. R. Johnson, Supt. of the Snyder Canning & Preserving Co. was in Walton Saturday, looking after his contracts for the coming season. Your correspondeut held him up for an interview. Mr. Johnson said it was too early to give a statement as to the outlook.

One day last week Edgar Stevenson and Miss Maggie Craddock went to Erlanger, the Gretna Green of Northern Kentucky, and were married by Rev. Jordan Carter When they returned their friends were entertained with an old time, jolly dance.

The B G. C's young ladies' club came to grief at its last meeting. The members entertained themselves with ghost stories of the Wilke Collins type and many hair-raising experiences. The result was when they went home they were frightened almost to death. They have adjourned sine die.

Mr. and Mrs. Ran Rouse, with a charming diuner, entertained Mrs Sidney Hume, Mrs. M. G. Rouse, Mr. Howard Smith and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Smith, last Thursday. The genuine Kentucky hospitality and delightful manner of entertaining one at this charming home is proverbial.

The most charming social event of the week was the delightful 6 o'clock dinuer given by Mr. and Mrs T. F. Curley to the Walton school board and their ladies. Covers were laid for 12. Six courses were served and consisted of all the delicacies of the season. Their charming daughters assisted in entertainiug the guests.

Don't Worry.

This is easier said than done, yet it may be of some help to consider the matter. If the cause is something over which you have no control it is obvious that worrying will not help the matter in the least. On the other hand, if within your control you have only to act When you have a cold and fear an attack of pneumonia, buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and use it judiciously and all cause for worry as to the outcome will quickly disappear. There is no danger of pneumonia when it is used. For sale by all druggists.

Since the Kentucky Exhibit Association has succeeded in raising the full amount, $100,000, for giving Kentucky representation at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, its entire efforts henceforth are to be directed towards the gathering of exhibits from every county in the State. It has arranged for displays from all but sixteen counties. Committees are now at work in these sixteen counties and it is evident that before the World's Fair opens on April 30 every county in the State will have representation. The Association is hoping that this representation will be adequate. It wants to give to every county space sufficient for an attractive display of its products and resources, believing that great good will result from such exhibits. The Association has committees at work in every county and urges citizens generally to come forward at once with any exhibits they may think worthy space at the exposition, turning them over either to the World's Fair Committee or sending them direct to the Kentucky Exhibit Association at Louisville.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Fargus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the relief it gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others. For sale by all druggists.

14 East 120th St., New York City.
Dear Sir: Oct. 15th, 1903.

"I had been suffering severely from kidney trouble. All symptoms were on hand; my former strength and power had left me; I could hardly drag myself along. Even my mental capacity was giving out, and often I wished to die. It was then I saw an advertisement of yours in a New York paper, but would not have paid any attention to it, had it not promised a sworn guarantee with every bottle of your medicine, asserting that your Swamp-Root is purely vegetable, and does not contain any harmful drugs. I am seventy years and four months old, and with a good conscience I can recommend Swamp-Root to all sufferers from kidney troubles. Four members of my family have been using Swamp-Root for four different kidney diseases, with the same good results."

With many thanks to you, I remain,
Very truly yours,
ROBERT BERNER.

Human Types—The Moralist

Lessons From the Young Man Whom Jesus Loved But Who Lacked One Thing.

Sermon by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher.

Chicago, Sunday, Jan. 24, 1904.

Text:—"Then Jesus beholding him, loved him, and said unto him, One thing thou lackest."—Mark 10:21.

THE world is full of people of splendid moral character, whose ideals are high and whose lives are irreproachable. They have a sense of the responsibilities and obligations and possibilities of life. They are ready to bear their share of the burden of domestic, and social, and political life, and are a wholesome factor in the business world. The impress of their lives is felt upon the community in which they live, and their influence, like the ripples on the bosom of the lake, extends in ever-widening circles from the center of private life to the circumference of the life of the nation. People whose lives are a strength to the home, a safeguard to the community and a bulwark to the nation. People of whom it can be said that the world is better because they have lived, and for whom when death has cut short their careers there is sincere mourning. Men and women who use their time and abilities and resources to wholesome and profitable ends; who do not dissipate their energies upon the mere sensual and fleshly desires and appetites. Men and women, in short, whom the world esteems and honors, and whom God loves.

SUCH was the young man who came to Jesus in the incident from which our text is taken. He was a superior type of young manhood. He was of a high moral character. Unlike so many, many young men, probably of his own day, and certainly of to-day, he avoided all of the indiscretions and excesses and sins of youth. Notwithstanding the fact that he was very rich, and hence exposed to great dangers and temptations which so often prove the undoing of rich young men, he found no time to sow wild oats, but earnestly sought the highest and best in life. What an example he is to the rich youth of to-day! Like Daniel of old, although surrounded by every luxury and the means to gratify every whim and desire, he had purposed in his heart that he would not be defiled with the unclean and unwholesome and undesirable things about him. A Jewish youth, familiar with the law, doubtless the words of the Psalmist: "Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way? By taking heed thereto according to Thy Word," had exerted an influence over him which had made him strong to choose the right. He knew the law of God, for when Jesus quoted it he was able to respond that he only did as know the commandments, the framework of all the law, but he had kept those commandments from his youth up. He had honored his father and his mother. What a noble son he must have been. How proud they must have been of him. What store they must have set by him. He had never stolen from or defrauded his neighbor. He had never been a tale bearer, witnessing falsely against others. He was strictly honest in word and deed, and he did not forget the rights of his neighbor. That was a good deal for a rich young man to be able to say. But he could make these claims in sincerity of heart. He was your pure type of the moralist, and, thank God, there are a good many people in the world who belong to that class.

AND "Jesus, beholding him, loved him." I am glad that God's Word did not fail to record this attitude of Jesus towards this splendid young man, for it emphasizes the fact that moral worth is held in high regard by God and that He has a love for the moralist which is genuine and tender. And here we must distinguish between the moralist who is such at heart and the moralist who is only such in pretense and when the eyes of his friends are upon him. That this young man belonged to the former class is certain, for the eye of Jesus was quick to detect any hypocrisy or sham, and He was bold to expose and denounce such, and if the young man before us had not been genuine it would not have been possible to say that Jesus beheld him with loving eye. The hypocritical Pharisees were zealous moralists, and delighted to parade their virtues and hide from the gaze of the world their secret corruption and sin. And they have left in the world to-day a numerous seed. Men and women who make a pretense of loving virtue and professing to walk in the paths of honor and rectitude, but whose lives in the shadow of secrecy and obscurity are sadly at variance with their profession. Men and women who stand high in the esteem of their loved ones and friends, but men and women about whom it cannot be said, as in the case of this young man, that "Jesus, beholding them, loved them." But Jesus loved this young man because of his real worth, because he was sincere in his love for the good and pure and the highest and best in life. He loved him because he recognized the supreme authority of God's law, and in so far as it was possible for him to do, lived it out in his life. Jesus loved him, and He has not ceased to love those who possess such characters. I repeat it again, that we find warrant for believing and claiming that God beholding the genuine moralist has for him a special and real love.

BUT this is not saying that Jesus believed that this young man was perfect, or that He was satisfied with his high standard of life and living; in fact, the subsequent words of Jesus clearly prove that Jesus yearned for a higher and better experience for that young man. God loves the moralist, not because he satisfies the righteous demands of God, not because God does not see beyond the moralist infinite heights which he can climb only by Divine grace and help, but God loves him because He, Who is the incarnation of righteousness and truth and holiness, must love the feeble but brave efforts of man to obey His righteous law. God would rather have a man or woman live a pure than an impure life. He would prefer to have them honorable and useful and helpful members of society, rather than a dishonor to themselves and a menace to the community in which they live. He would prefer to see a man possessed of learning and skilled in the arts and trades and professions of the world than to have him ignorant and shiftless and improvident. God has placed no premium on sin or ignorance, poverty or crime. God would not rather look into a corrupt life than a life of moral rectitude. He does not delight Himself in the poorest and meanest and lowest in human nature and life, and turn with the frown of disapproval from the highest and best of which the human life is capable. The marvel of God's grace, which can reach down to the lowest depths of human need and lift up to the highest possibilities in Him, is another question for consideration. We are here taking man apart from God's grace and estimating him for his own intrinsic worth, and we say that God is ready to give to every man his due. And in the sense in which Jesus loved that young man of splendid life and great responsibilities and large possibilities, so God to-day loves the men and women who belong to that class. And the world owes to these a great debt of gratitude.

BUT why did this young man come to Jesus? That he did come Scripture declares plainly, and that he came seeking something which he did not possess, and yet which he had a deep consciousness he needed, is evident from the question which he abruptly asked of Jesus. He had great riches, so that there was nothing in all the world which money could buy which he was not able to secure. He had exalted position, for he was a ruler, and young at that. He had, best of all, high moral integrity. He delighted in the law of God and kept it as perfectly as human flesh can keep the law of God. With this pure exalted character must have come an inward delight and satisfaction which the one wedded to sin can never know, for it has been said that "virtue is its own reward." But notwithstanding all this he was not satisfied. He longed for something which he knew he did not have. And so he seeks out Jesus, the Son of God, and eagerly asks: "Good Master, what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life?" He knew he could not buy eternal life with his riches. He knew his position would not secure it for him. He had the deep consciousness that notwithstanding his upright, pure and noble life he could not enter God's presence and claim it as his right. It was not a question of this life, but of the life which is to come, which was troubling him. It was the supreme question. Within his own heart and life he could not find the answer. He must go to the Lord for that. And here is where we want to lead you, dear man or woman, whom God loves as He beholds your noble life and self-sacrificing character. Perhaps, as with this young man, you stand head and shoulders above your fellows in moral worth, high ideals and pure, noble motives, but at your best you realize deep down in your heart that there is something beyond you, that you are not satisfied, that the old, old question, the supreme question, is constantly demanding answer. You try to answer it by a purer life, by more kindly, loving, self-sacrificing deeds, but it is ever the same question, and you cannot find within your own heart or life its answer: "What must I do to inherit eternal life?"

WE do not know how long this young man had struggled with this question, we do not know how long you have wrestled with it, but we do know this in connection with the young man: He was dead in earnest, and wanted an answer to his question. His earnestness is evinced by the eagerness with which he seeks out Jesus. Though a young man of wealth and position, and hence used to the dignities and proprieties of life, he comes running out upon the public highway to overtake Jesus. He was not content to sit in his luxurious home and send his attendants to Jesus, asking an audience. He could not wait for that. He must see Jesus and obtain from Him an answer to his question, and so out of the house he ran; down the dust-covered road, along which the people were thronging after Jesus, he sped and, indifferent to the startled and curious gaze of the crowd, he kneeled at Jesus' feet and asked that supreme question, which must come to every heart: "What must I do to inherit eternal life?" Dear friend out of Christ, are you anxious enough to have the supreme question of life answered, to lay aside dignity and position and everything and seek Jesus? Perhaps you have had others try to give you the answer to your question. Perhaps you have sought human wisdom and reason to tell you the way to eternal life. I am inclined to think that this young man had repeatedly asked this question of those older and wiser than he, and perhaps he had obtained answers, but they did not satisfy his soul. He must see Jesus and hear from His lips the answer. And you, dear friend, must seek Jesus and let Him tell you the answer to this supreme question which troubles every heart.

BEHOLDING this splendid young man before Him, no trace of evil in his glowing face, no insincerity in his honest eyes, Jesus looks lovingly down upon him, but He dares to tell him the truth. This is what God always does to the soul, and the young man knew Jesus told him the truth. The very fact that he answered not a word, but went away from Jesus' presence sad and deeply grieved, is proof that he recognized in Jesus' words the voice of God to his soul, and if he were not willing to yield obedience to His commands, he could not inherit eternal life. Jesus said to that dear, noble young man, who had succeeded in living such a splendid life: "One thing thou lackest." So near to God and eternal life that he lacked but one thing. And that is the nearest that the moralist can ever get to God and Heaven and eternal life. The moralist needs the grace and mercy of God to give him eternal life as much as the deepest-dyed sinner. "One thing thou lackest," is what God says to every soul who has not surrendered to Him his dearest treasure and come and followed Jesus. The lack of that one thing in that young man's life was enough to blast his hopes of eternal life. Clinging to his riches and turning his back on Christ, he was absolutely without hope for the life to come. All that that young man had, all that he was in character, could not secure for him a place in Heaven. One thing he lacked, and that was absolute subjection and surrender to God. And as the refusal of that obedience vitiated all his other acts of obedience, so it convicted him of unrighteousness and rebellion before God. He preferred his riches and his position in life to Christ and His service. And how is it with you, dear friend, to whom has come this supreme question? You know you never yet have found its answer in your own splendid life, in your own deeds. God's answer to your heart is ever the same as it was to that splendid moralist of old. "One thing thou lackest." It is the Christ.

"AND he was sad at that saying, and went away grieved; for he had great possessions." No sadder tragedy is witnessed in Heaven or earth than when the soul comes face to face with the supreme question of eternal life and then refuses to abide by the answer which God gives. That young man was concerned about his soul's welfare, but not enough so as to obey the conditions which God laid down. He was sad with that sadness which comes from rejection of God's claims. It was the first faint pang of that eternal sadness and anguish which his soul was to feel as it passed from life here to eternal death beyond the grave. Unless that young man repented of his choice made that day and later surrendered all to God and followed Jesus, we know that he did not inherit eternal life, know that through all the centuries which have passed since his soul passed into the great beyond, it has been shut out from the presence of God and the joy and peace of Heaven. What folly he displayed that day! Clinging to his riches for a few short years and then Death's cold hand robbing him of all that he possessed and sending him naked and without hope into the next world. Went away sad and grieved and without hope, when he might have gone away with a new joy in his heart, and eternal life as his rich possession.

"ONE thing thou lackest." Those are blessed words, for they tell to the soul that that which is lacking God wants to supply. One thing that dear young man lacked, and Jesus longed to supply that lack. His hands were full with the burden of riches. Jesus says empty them of those perishable baubles that I may fill them with the treasures which are eternal. It is as though a beggar were to come into the presence of the rich man with his hands filled with pretty pebbles picked from the beach. The rich man holds out sparkling gems in exchange for the cheap, common pebbles. The beggar wants the gems but he will not give up his pebbles. What folly! "Throw away the pebbles and make room for the glittering diamonds," we cry. "But I would lose that which I spent much time in gathering. That which is pretty. That which I want." "But," we exclaim, with impatience at such blind and inexplicable folly, "suppose you do lose them, see what you are to get in return." And is it any less folly for the soul to come into the presence of Jesus and refuse to yield the perishable things of this life in order that it may receive that which it lacks of the riches and fullness of God? "One thing thou lackest," oh, soul, if you have not the Christ, and that lack robs you in this life and in the life to come. Are you going away sorrowful from the presence of the Christ? You need not. As you are conscious, even as was that young man, that high moral integrity, and a life filled with good works cannot save you, come to Jesus and let Him supply the lack which is in your life and heart. Oh, how Jesus yearns over you and longs to make your life complete and give you hope for the life to come! It may not be riches which are standing in your way of salvation. It may be a proud heart which you are not willing to yield to Him. It may be a friendship or love which you are not willing to give up if He should ask you so to do. It is something. And while you cling to it you are preventing yourself from receiving the greater blessing. You are losing the supreme blessing upon you life. "One thing thou lackest." It is the presence of the blessed Christ in your life and heart. Will you not yield all to Him and take up your cross daily, and follow after Him? With all your graces and virtues, with all your noble character and generous deeds, you fall short of the requirements of God. "One thing thou lackest." It is the Christ.

HERRING FISHERIES

Passes Law Protecting the Leviathan from Capture for Ten Years—Other Countries Engaged in Herring Fishing.

The herring fishery of Norway is a considerable industry and gives employment to a great number of inhabitants on the sea coast. For the past few years the catch of herrings has greatly diminished and the Norwegian fishermen seeking for a reason therefor has come to the conclusion that the increased whale fishing is responsible, for the number of whales is reduced and scattered by the persistent warfare upon them, the schools of herring have not been driven into the coast.

For this reason the Norwegian government has just passed a bill prohibiting the catching and landing of whales upon the coast for the next ten years. The modes of fishing for herring are various and there is great variety as to the size of boats and number of nets. The general practice is that when the herring is caught near the shore the boats carry them to the curing stations, or if at a distance from the shore, there are large vessels prepared to buy the catch and cure them. One mode of fishing for herring on the Norway coast differs from that in vogue in other countries. A long range of strong nets, having small meshes to prevent the herring being fixed in the meshes, which would cause the nets to sink and defeat the purpose for which they are intended, is stretched behind a school of fish and the fish are then gradually driven into the narrow bays or creeks among the rocks, and taken out and cured at leisure. A visitor to Hitteroe tells of seeing such a "lock" so crowded with fish that an oar would stand up in the mass.

Over 100,000 men are engaged in the cod, mackerel and herring fisheries of Norway, of which one-fifth, or over 20,000 follow herring fishing.

The British Isles, France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Germany, etc., have extensive herring fisheries. The method of catching and curing of the fish in the different countries differ somewhat. The natives on both sides of Behring straits are accustomed to fish herring in summer with the seine net, and a novel method is practiced on the river Kovima in winter. The natives place branches or osiers early across that river in such a manner as to prevent the herring passing, but openings are left for weirs and nets to encircle and take the herring.

Holland is heavily interested in the herring fishing, she exporting in 1904 383,446 tons of cured fish. Germany took most of this, 276,027 tons, Belgium 23,153 tons and the United States 63,554 tons. The importance of Holland's herring fishing is annually increasing. In 1900 the Dutch fleet numbered 611 boats; in 1901, 643; in 1902, 686; and in 1903, 736.

Belgium in 1901 imported from Holland over 14,000,000 pounds of herring

salted and smoked, and about the same amount from France and Holland, and in view of this enormous consumption it is not strange that a number of Belgians are now organizing a company for the purpose of exploiting the herring fisheries with a steam fleet. Formerly Germany was dependent upon foreign countries for its supply of herrings, but she now owns a number of boats and provides nearly the entire amount of fish required for home consumption.

France makes a large showing in the herring fisheries, having 542 vessels and 6,312 men engaged in the industry in 1899. The total catch amounted to over 4,000,000 tons. The herring fisheries of New Foundland amount to a considerable, although some seasons owing to various circumstances, there is a big falling off in the catch. A large part of the catch is exported to the United States.

BRIDGING AN INLAND SEA.

Stupendous Engineering.

We have in times past been told much of wonderful feats in railroad building, and much has been written of the engineering skill and daring that directed the course of the iron horse across the prairies and mountains that lie between the Missouri river and the Pacific Ocean. "In the grandeur and magnitude of the undertaking, the Union Pacific—Central Pacific has never been equaled. The energy and perseverance with which the work was urged forward, and the rapidity with which it was executed, are without a parallel in history," were the statements of the special government commissioners to the Secretary of the Interior.

Thirty-five years ago there was no time to spend on work similar to that which has just been completed. Then the world was watching while the builders of the Union Pacific and Central Pacific raced for supremacy. It was a magnificent contest, but nowadays the owners of the road have been brought to consider other problems. One of these necessitated the solution of the grade question and the straightening of the track.

One of the most interesting and difficult feats of railroad engineering ever undertaken has just been completed by the owners of "The Overland Route," Union Pacific and Southern Pacific Railroad—the building of a bridge across the Great Salt Lake between Ogden, Utah, and Lucin, Nevada.

The work being practically completed, the new track was formally opened on Thanksgiving Day when Mr. E. H. Harriman, head of the Harriman Lines, and a big party of railroad magnates partook of Thanksgiving Day dinner in the middle of Great Salt Lake.

The Ogden-Lucin "Cut Off" is 102 miles in length, 75 miles on land and 27 miles on trestle work and fillins over the waters of Great Salt Lake. It presents a practically level track except for a short distance on the west end near Lucin, Nevada, where a slight grade is encountered.

The use of this cut off will throw out the trans-continental traffic over the old line from Ogden to Lucin, Nevada, around the Lake. This strip of track is one of the most expensive of the Harriman system, the maximum grade over the long Promontory hill is 104 feet to the mile and helper engines are always necessary. The elimination of the use of these engines will mean the saving of at least $1,500.00 a day in operating expenses and also a saving of several hours in running time.

Active work was commenced in 1902, and thus the almost impossible task was completed in about 22 months. The last pile was driven during the last week of October. This great work has cost over $4,200,000.00.

The cut off runs from Ogden west 15 miles over level country before reaching the lake proper, then takes a straight arm of the Lake 9 miles to Promontory. Then five miles of solid road bed and then 35 miles west over the west arm of the Lake toward Lucin and thence across the Great Salt Lake Desert to Lucin, Nevada. Across the east arm of the Lake, it will be almost a continuous fillin supported by trestle. Near the middle of the lake will be a gap of 600 feet of open trestle work left for the waters of the Bear river which flow into the south arm of the Lake.

Across Promontory Point runs five miles of solid road bed and here difficult work was encountered. A cut of 3,000 feet long in sand and rock of barren bluff being necessary. At this point, the most beautiful on this inland sea, surveys have been made for an immense summer resort.

Across the west arm of the Lake is 11 miles of trestle work with a fillin approach at each end of four miles. In completing the work of spanning the Lake, one great difficulty was encountered across the east arm by the settling of fillins and trestle work. This was caused by the salt of the flow of the Bear river having collected for centuries over the bottom of the Lake and having formed a salt wall of 100 feet. It took 1,000 tons of rock in piles which appear to have reached the bottom of the Lake proper and which has resulted in a firm and splendid road bed.

In a speech which he made at the Alta Club, Salt Lake City, on the eve of the opening of the "Cut Off," Mr. Harriman said:

"The completion of this undertaking will reduce the distance between San Francisco and Salt Lake by 41 miles, and will eventually bring the time between the two cities down to 22 hours.

"It is intended to reduce the running time from Salt Lake to Chicago to 36 hours, and put passengers into New York in 56 hours from Salt Lake.

"These two railroads—Union Pacific and Southern Pacific—have spent in the last three years somewhere near $130,000,000 in repairs and improvements aside from the expenses of operation or maintenance."

Not Without Distinction.

A note of family pride was struck in the conversation between three small Reading boys the other day. The parts played by their respective grandfathers in the civil war were being depicted by two of the boys in vivid colors. The career of each, it seemed, had been halted by confinement in southern prisons, and it was on the latter fact that the lads laid particular stress. The third youth, unable to match these recitals with any military achievement of his own forefathers, preserved an envious silence for a while, and then, not to be outdone, said, disparagingly: "Why, that's not so much. My Uncle Bill was in jail a long time, and he was never in the army at all."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Billion Dollar Grass and Alfalfa.

When we introduced this remarkable grass three years ago, little did we dream it would be the most talked of grass in America, the biggest, quick, hey producer on earth, but this has come to pass.

Agr. Editors wrote about it, Agr. College Professors lectured about it, Agr. Institute Orators talked about it, while in the farm house by the quiet fireside, in the corner grocery, in the village post-office, at the creamery, at the depot, in fact wherever farmers gathered, Salzer's Billion Dollar Grass, that wonderful grass, good for 5 to 14 tons per acre, and lots of pasture besides, is always a theme worthy of the farmer's voice.

A. Watford, Westlore Farms, Pa., writes: "I have 60 acres in Salzer's Alfalfa Clover. It is immense. I cut three crops this season and have lots of pasture besides."

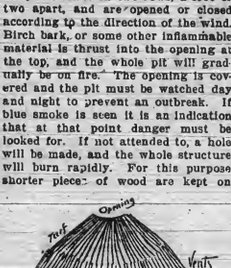
CHARCOAL BURNING.



In Some of the Rural Districts of New England This Is an Important Industry.

I was much interested last summer in visiting the charcoal camps of southern New Hampshire, and in listening to the description of the old-fashioned way in which this industry is there carried on. In fact, the camp oftenest visited was one in which my great-grandfather had "coaled" for many years, and which is now used by my father's cousin. The method of "setting up" a pit was first described. Sticks of pine, oak, birch, alder or hemlock are cut into pieces of about seven feet in length and set up, as in Fig. 2. Upon these sticks are placed shorter ones, while at the top is a cylindrical opening. The whole structure is then covered with layers of sweet fern, or a similiar wrapping, in order to prevent the dirt, which is afterwards put on, from sifting through. This process of "dusting" is followed as far as the "shoulder" of the pit, and from there up the structure is turfed. Vent holes are made in the sides of the pit to act as drafts. They are made in two rows, a foot or two apart, and are opened or closed according to the direction of the wind. Birch bark, or some other inflammable material is thrust into the opening at the top, and the whole pit will grad ually be on fire. The opening is covered and the pit must be watched day and night to prevent an outbreak. If blue smoke is seen it is an indication that at that point danger must be looked for. If not attended to, a hole will be made, and the whole structure will burn rapidly. For this purpose shorter piece of wood are kept on hand and thrust into the aperature, then the whole covered as before. The boy in Fig. 1 is evidently chopping these pieces of wood. Behind him is a pit which has been burning for some time.

After the pit has been burning for a week or ten days (hard wood requires a longer time than does pine), the process of "drawing" the coal begins. Of course the pit has settled, so that it now is nowhere near its former size. The "coalers" with large rakes, draw the coal into concentric circles, a foot or two apart. The object of this is to allow the fire to burn entirely out of the coal, and it must be watched as closely as before; in fact, it must be watched all night. Buckets of water are kept on hand and from time to time the liquid is used to extinguish fire. After the coal is cooled thoroughly it is placed in a rough shelter made of logs or other coarse material. For this purpose a utensil in shape like a huge dustpan is employed. Now the coal is ready to be marketed. In olden times it used to be cried through the streets, and sold from house to house, or carried directly in large wagonloads to Newburyport or Portsmouth. Now it is more frequently sent by carloads. "Coaling" is quite a profitable business. The average pit yields about 1,000 bushels, and this is sold for from 15 to 20 cents per bushel, according to the quality of the coal. Sometimes it is sold by the cord. Alder makes the best coal for forging as it gives an even heat. Hemlock is liked the least, because of its tendency to snap. Charcoal burners are a very happy set of men. At night the camp rings with mirth and jollity. Stories are told, songs sung, and when one is hungry eggs are boiled, potatoes and corn roasted, and occasionally in the day time the woods are foraged for toothsome gray squirrels or partridges.—M. O. Poore, in Rural New Yorker.

Get Ahead of the Weeds.

In attacking the weed problem do not wait till the enemy is in possession and then try to drive it out. Get in ahead of the weeds with a good seeding of some cultivated crop that will come up quickly and cover the ground well and smother out the weeds. Buckwheat is one of the very best crops for this purpose, because the first pair of leaves that comes up forms a canopy that completely covers the ground and so doesn't give anything else much chance to grow. Almost any grain or cultivated crop heavily seeded down with grass or clover will have a very good effect in killing out weeds.—Prairie Farmer.

IDEAL TYPE OF HOG.

Every Breeder Should Set Up a Standard of His Own and Work Up to It Consistently.

In visiting many herds and flocks I have been most strongly impressed with the fact that there is no uniformity of type in them. Each man has all sorts of types and kinds in his herd or flock, says Prof. G. E. Day, of Guelph. The result is that they breed up a flock or herd that will never be of any use in the country. Each young breeder, and old one, too, for that matter, must find out what is the right type; then set this up as an ideal and work to it. You cannot reach your ideal at once. It may take ten, fifteen, twenty or even forty years to do so, and perhaps you may never reach it, but keep it ever before you, never lose sight of it for an instant, nor let anything else drive it away. You will find that the man who makes a success of breeding is he who sticks to his ideal with, as it were, a bulldog tenacity, and though he may not become famous, he will at least make a name for himself in his sphere of life. I would emphasize the importance of getting the right type fixed in one's mind as an ideal. There is a type of hog that gives the best bacon, and if the production of bacon hogs is the ideal a man has set up for himself, then he should get as near to the ideal type as possible. Some breeds of hogs come much nearer that type than others. In judging of the length of a hog it is not enough that he should be long from the nose to the tail, but it is of special importance that he should be long between shoulder and ham. I have heard some people say that it costs more to produce the bacon type of hog than the fat kind. I want to give you this for your encouragement—it has never been proved that it does cost more. Our experiments show very conclusively that it does not necessarily cost more to produce a pound of gain in a good bacon hog than in a fat hog, and that a good bacon hog is an economical producer.

CORN FEED PROBLEM.

It Cannot Be Ignored Any Longer by Swine Raisers Who Are Trying to Do Well.

A dozen years ago the farmers of the corn belt that were engaged in the raising of hogs would consider no other feed for swine except corn. They began to feed the pigs corn about as soon as they were weaned and continued to feed them corn till they were butchered. Corn was very cheap then except in occasional years when there was a partial corn crop failure. In those days corn was not only cheap, but freight rates were high and it cost a great deal to get the corn to market. There was a saving to the producer in marketing his corn crop in the shape of pork. Since that time there has been a great change in the position of corn relative to oats and other grains. There are many commercial uses to which corn is now put that formerly were not dreamed of. It now seems likely that the general average of corn prices will rise from year to year, responsive to the increasing demand and the restrictive area of country in which corn can be grown. The future is likely to see the oat and barley crops more largely used in the finishing of swine than is dreamed of at the present time. At any rate we are about at the end of feeding pigs on a whole corn diet. We cannot now figure out a profit with such a course of feeding. For a long time yet hogs that do not follow cattle will be finished on corn, but we may expect to see that finishing period grow constantly shorter. Men will also realize that a change to clover and grain other than corn will give them some benefits in the way of increased stamina in their swine as well as more fecundity. The corn feed problem is one that cannot be ignored longer, but is in course of solution by every swine raiser that is trying to make money.—Farmers' Review.

HORSES IN WINTER.

They Need Regular Exercise and Rations Lighter Than Those Given in Busy Seasons.

A certain amount of exercise is necessary in the healthy wintering of idle horses, and it is economy to give it. Some are inclined to give quite a good deal of exercise, i. e., by allowing them a run every day the weather will permit, either in a large lot or in a pasture. In cold weather, if snow is not flying, a horse will exercise freely, and the ground, being frozen, will do no damage. It will, perhaps, be best to stable them at night when bitter cold; but there are those who do not, and claim to get good results from their methods. However, it is probably better that horses should be in stables during cold nights and stormy days. Idle horses do not need the feed that working horses do. If one has plenty of good clover hay they will scarcely need anything else to go through the winter with in good shape. In the absence of this, shredded corn fodder is an excellent substitute, but in feeding either it is well to give about a fourth ration of grain. Good bright wheat or oat straw may be fed for roughness partly and give good results. When straw is fed the amount of grain must be increased one-half. It is poor policy to let work horses, when idle in winter, get poor, as then in spring, when needed, they are in poor condition to meet the demands made upon them. At the same time it is not best to pamper them. Good muscle-forming foods with a sufficiency of flesh-formers to keep them normal is the happy medium desired.—Agricultural Epitomist.

Mabel Parker, who is on trial at New York for forgery, has created a decided sensation in court. She began by selecting her own jury, practically, on the first day. Then, when they were seated in the box, she whiled away the time by making caricatures of them on stray sheets of paper handed to her by reporters. These found their way into the newspapers and she was immediately deluged with orders for cartoons. She has sketched the judge, the district attorney and her own counsel, and one of the papers publishes a poster drawing labeled: "This is me."

MEDICAL EXAMINER

Of the United States Treasury Recommends Pe-ru-na.

Other Prominent Physicians Use and Endorse Pe-ru-na.

Dr. Llewellyn Jordan, Medical Examiner United States Treasury.

DR. LLEWELLYN Jordan, Medical Examiner of the U. S. Treasury Department, graduate of Columbia College, and who served three years at West Point, has the following to say of Peruna:

"Allow me to express my gratitude to you for the benefit derived from your wonderful remedy. One short month has brought forth a vast change and I now consider myself a well man after months of suffering. Fellow sufferers, Peruna will cure you."

A constantly increasing number of physicians prescribe Peruna in their practice. It has proven its merits so thoroughly that even the doctors have overcome their prejudice against so-called patent medicines and recommend it to their patients.

Peruna occupies a unique position in medical science. It is the only internal systemic catarrh remedy known to the medical profession to-day. Catarrh, as everyone will admit, is the cause of one-half the disease which afflicts mankind. Catarrh and catarrhal diseases afflict one-half of the people of United States.

Robert R. Roberts, M. D., Washington, D. C., writes:

"Through my own experience as well as that of many of my friends and acquaintances who have been cured or relieved of catarrh by the use of Hartman's Peruna, I can confidently recommend it to those suffering from such disorders, and have no hesitation in prescribing it to my patients."—Robert R. Roberts.

Dr. R. Robbins, Muskogee, I. T., writes:

"Peruna is the best medicine I know of for coughs and to strengthen a weak stomach and to give appetite. Besides prescribing it for catarrh, I have ordered it for weak and debilitated people, and have not had a patient but said it helped him. It is an excellent medicine and it fits so many cases.

"I have a large practice, and have a chance to prescribe your Peruna. I hope you may live long to do good to the sick and the suffering."

Dr. M. C. Gee, writes from 513 Jones St., San Francisco, Cal.:

"Peruna has performed so many wonderful cures in San Francisco that I am convinced that it is a valuable remedy. I have frequently advised its use for women, as I find it insures regular and painless menstruation, cures leucorrhoea and ovarian troubles, and builds up the entire system. I also consider it one of the finest catarrh remedies I know of."—M. C. Gee, M. D.

Catarrh is a systemic disease curable only by systemic treatment. A remedy that cures catarrh must aim directly at the depressed nerve centers. This is what Peruna does.

Peruna immediately invigorates the nerve-centers which give vitality to the mucous membranes. Then catarrh disappears. Then catarrh is permanently cured.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Washington has thousands of party line telephones. The best of feeling does not always prevail between those on the party lines when both want to use the 'phone at the same time, says the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle. A prominent politician is on a party line with a doctor. He was in great haste to get a friend over the 'phone and began ringing and shouting "hello." The other subscriber wanted to use his telephone at the same time, with the result they were soon saying harsh things to each other.

"Who are you," demanded the politician.

"I'm Dr. Blank," was the answer.

"Oh, pardon me, doctor, you can have the line. It it weren't for you I couldn't make a living."

"Well, who are you?" asked the doctor.

"I'm Jones, the undertaker," was the answer.

A new county is to be carved out of Carter, Lewis and Elliott counties and named in honor of Governor Beckham.

Frankfort people do not consider anything too good for the Legislature, since it settled the million dollar capitol question in their favor.

With the school book bill, the World's Fair appropriation and the appropriation for a new capitol all being out of the way the legislature can now go after small business.

In an interview at Washington Senator Blackburn declared that in his judgment the Kentucky delegates to the Democratic National Convention should be uninstructed both as to candidates and platform.

The appropriation of $1,000,000 for the erection of a capitol building at Frankfort, means a $1,500,600, but Kentucky is able to have the new capitol even at that cost. An appropriation of $500,000 would have meant $1,000,000.

Political animosities are cutting no ice with the Kentucky General Assembly. Leaders of each party have been invited to address that body, ex-Governor Bradley, of this State, and ex-Governor Patterson, of Pennsylvania, responding last week, each being cordially received.

The legislature is on excellent terms with itself. The break between the Governor and Senator Cantrill had very little effect on the members. Some people predicted that the friends of each would line up and lock the wheels of legislation on all important subjects, but better counsel prevailed and business proceeds as though nothing had happened.

It is reported from Washington that the President and Senator Foraker had combined to tackle Senator Hanna's presidential boom in Ohio, but their effort to put Hanna out of the way was only a few hours' old before they discovered that they had entered upon a task they could not accomplish, and both are sorry that they ever begun the scrap with him.

The RECORDER is in receipt of a copy of the Monroe, (Michigan) Democrat, in which is given a graphic and accurate account of the valorous deeds and heroic death of the brave Kentuckians, who went to the aid of the settlers of Michigan in the war of 1812-1813; also of the beginning and the successful termination of the endeavor to erect a monument in memory of the event. On the first page of the Democrat is a picture of a monument on which is represented a scene at the battle of the River Raisin, where the noble Kentuckians gave up their lives in defense of their neighbors. In thus honoring the dead Kentuckians Michigan honors herself.

If the uniform school-book bill accomplishes the reform in the prices of text books that it is claimed it will, the passage of that bill alone will be worth more to the poor classes in Kentucky than all the laws enacted by half a dozen of the last legislatures. The law as passed is a combination of the various bills offered in the Senate and was formulated by the Educational Committee. The State commission will be the Governor, Auditor, Treasurer and the three members of the Board of Education whose duties shall be purely ministeral. The real adoption will be made by a county board consisting of the County Superintendent, County Judge and County Attorney, and from among the books offered by the various companies, the State Board must select the ones endorsed by the greatest number of county boards. A set of prices is affixed varying from ten cents for a spelling book to eighty cents for a higher geography.

HON. CLIFF E. NADAUD, CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS.

For the second time Colonel Clifford E. Nadaud, of Covington, Attorney and Flour Broker, offers himself to the Democracy of the Sixth District of Kentucky for Congress. His authorized announcement will be found in another column of the RECORDER.

He requests us to say that he will remain in the contest loyal, honorable and steadfast in his candidacy until nominated or defeated. e will make a more thorough canvass of the Sixth District than he made two years ago, and hopes to communicate with every voter in the eight counties either in person or by letter. No yoong Democrat in Kentucky is more deserving of honors at his party's hands than Colonel Nadaud.

In the campaign for the State Officers last November he was tireless in his efforts for Democracy's cause from the moment the canvass was begun until the last ballot was cast at the polls. Besides being a Colonel on Governor J. C. W. Beckham's staff by recent re-appointment, Nadaud is a close and warm friend of the State's Executive, and his defense of the administration on the stump was admirably presented. From one end of the Sixth District to the other he went in all conditions of weather to preach Democratic doctrine. As one of the party orators on Gov. Beckham's special train he was complimented by Kentucky state leaders for his effective campaigning. Governor Beckham, Hon. Allie Young, Congressman Ollie M. James, Judge Lewis McQuown and other distinguished Democrats were his associates in that special tour of a railway section of the district.

Since his race for the Democratic nomination for Congress two years ago Colonel Nadaud has broadened in his views and experiences. He was examined in the Court of Judge John M. Lassing, and admitted to the practice of Law, at Burlington, Boone County, in the spring of 1903.

Should he be honored with nomination and elected to Congress by the Democrats of the Sixth District, backed by a knowledge of the law, he will be well fortified and equipped for a brilliant career, and one useful to his constituents. He has been a close student of the great questions coming before Congress, and is especially well informed on the issues discussed by the Nation's Democratic leaders. Whether in personal victory or defeat he will be found in the thick of the gigantic national battle to be fought at the polls in November 1904.

Such is the unselfish devotion of Colonel Nadaud. He proved this claim of his friends the moment on the evening of the Primary Election two years ago, when it was known Mr. Gooch had defeated him for the Democratic nomination. In a speech that night to an enthusiastic crowd at the Court House in Covington, he quickly and willingly submitted to the verdict of Democratic voters expressed at the polls, and declared his heart and soul in the work on behalf of his former opponent. From that time no man in the party worked harder for Mr. Gooch's success as the Democratic candidate than Nadaud. The latter does not now propose to build up his own canvass by seeking to tear down the fences of his opponents. But he will urge that as Congressman Gooch has had two terms at Washington it is only fair that another in the district be given a chance at the honor. As was done in the first race Colonel Nadaud pledges his best efforts to the people of the Sixth District if they should choose him as their public servant. He says he will be energetic, fair and honest if trusted with the responsibility of a seat in Congress, promising to consult the whole people of the district as to their wishes before acting on important, general or local legislation. He will endeavor to extend the rural free postal delivery to every desired section of the district; work for larger appropriations for the improvement of the Ohio, Licking and Kentucky rivers, and all rivers dependent upon them in any way; see that the deserving pension applicants in the district get their just dues; inaugurate a plan of public buildings for the larger towns in the district, and be found at all times alert and working for his constituents.

The death of General John B. Gordon, in Florida, where he was spending the winter on his plantation, removes from the public one of its most distinguished characters. He entered the Confederate army from Georgia as the Captain of a company and came out of the war as a Lieutenant General. Since the close of that sanguinary conflict he has assiduously devoted himself to the betterment of his people in whatever way he found that he could do that work most effectively. He was twice Governor of his State and served two terms in the United States Senate, but he will probably be best remembered by the people at large as a lecturer, his, "Last Days of the Confederacy" drawing as large crowds, North as well as South, as any other popular lecture that has ever been delivered, and his "First Days of the Confederacy," which was a later production, meeting with as generous a patronage. Gen. Gordon had been the Commanding General of the United Confederate Veterans since its organization, in which position he will be succeeded by Gen. Stephen D. Lee.

The selfish man did not enjoy Christmas.

Old age is a joy when youth has been well spent.

We step up when we stoop down to help the needy.

The strong man avoids temptation in order to show his strength. The fool courts it in order to exhibit his weakness.

The man who is fond of declaring that he means everything he says usually tells so much that he convinces people that he is wrong.

The snow could not keep itself out of sight very long, and another small supply of the beautiful came last Friday night.

Lost—A 1 year-old red calf. Information leading to its recovery will be thankfully received by B. Long, at Richwood, Ky.

Johnnie Duncan left last Friday morning for Macon, Georgia, where he has a good position with a gentleman who handles a great many trotting horses.

Johnnie Hogan's horse pulled loose from the buggy as he was going over to Bullittsville, one day last week. The mud was too tough for buggy riding.

There have been twenty-three trials for murder in Henry County and but one verdict of guilty has ever been returned, says the Owen County Democrat.

The court of appeals handed down an opinion, last week, affirming the judgment of the Boone circuit court in the Powers will case. The judgment sets the will aside.

County Clerk Adams thinks a mad dog passed through Burlington out the Florence pike, last Saturday morning. It was seen snap a dog or two here in town.

The most important move made in this part of the country last week was that made by the ice in the Ohio river. It was an expensive move, but it had to be made.

M. T. Graves, of Ludlow, and Attorney Joel C. Clore, of Cincinnati, were in town last Friday for a few hours. Mr. Graves still has a very strong hankering for the country.

Col Theodore Riley, of Erlanger, was a guest at the Boone House, last Thursday night. The Colonel had in charge a drummer, who he was introducing to Boone County merchants.

The Williamstown Courier can not keep up with the candidates they are announcing so rapidly. If a primary election is not pulled off at an early day, Grant county will have a very short crop in 1904.

Mr. W. H. Morris, of near New Liberty, tells us of a remarkable freak of nature in the shape of a headless lamb. It was one of twins, and was perfectly formed, with the exception of where there should have been a head, a stub with perfectly formed ears was to be seen. The lamb only lived a short time. —Owen Democrat.

The Rising Sun Recorder says: "The Ohio river has been a curse to the cities and towns on its banks between Cincinnati and Louisville for forty years. But for the river, railroads would be running on both sides of the river." How would it be possible to run a railroad on both sides of a river not in existence? Will Bro. Waldo please explain?

Mrs. Mollie Allen, of South Fork, Ky., says she has prevented attacks of cholera morbus by taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets when she felt an attack coming on. Such attacks are usually caused by indigestion and these Tablets are just what is needed to cleanse the stomach and ward off the approaching attack. Attacks of bilious colic may be prevented in the same way. For Sale by All Druggists.

Domestic Troubles.

Squire James Cowan, of near Carson, sold his crop of tobacco of about 10,000 pounds to Oliver S. Clendening, the representative of the Continental Tobacco Company, located here for 9½ cents all round. The tobacco was fine and weighed about two pounds to the stick. He delivered his first load Friday—about 1,200 pounds.—Warsaw Independent.

Mr. W. T. Smith, who lives about a mile northwest of town, celebrated his 85th birthday last Friday, with a dinner that was enjoyed by several of his friends. Mr. Smith is a well preserved man and gets about better than many men who are 20 years younger than he is. Notwithstanding the bad weather this winter he has taken care of three horses and three milch cows, as a pastime.

One day last week Sheriff Allphin received a telephone message from Rising Sun, requesting him to arrest William Shepherd, who was wanted there on a charge of breaking into a store. Shepherd had been in this neighborhood, but had disappeared the day before it was known that the Rising Sun authorities wanted him. Before leaving here Shepherd had his mustache removed. He left Erlanger on a South bound train and several persons having bought tickets that morning for stations south of Erlanger the agent there could not give any information as to where he had gone.

Later—Shepherd returned to Burlington last Friday evening on the bus, and was arrested by Sheriff Allphin, who took him to Covington the next day and delivered him to an officer from Rising Sun, he having consented to return to Indiana.

Born in the same year, 1838, within a few weeks of each other, and in neighboring counties in the Blue grass, Senators Joe C. S. Blackburn and Jas. B. McCreary have climbed the political ladder together. Their first meeting was as students at Centre College, Danville. Neither thought then that in 1903 they would meet again as members of the United States Senate, sitting as the representatives of their native state of Kentucky. Senators Blackburn and McCreary entered the Confederate army as Captains of Kentucky companies. Both entered Centre College as classmates. They later became room-mates and graduated in the same class in 1857. Both began the study of law and both were practicing attorneys at the outbreak of the Civil War. Both served through the war. Both served as representatives in the Kentucky legislatures in the sessions of 1871 and 1873, while Mr. Blackburn was a leader on the floor. When Mr McCreary was elected Governor of Kentucky, Mr. Blackburn was elected to Congress from the Seventh Congressional district. In 1884 Mr. McCreary was elected to the 49th Congress from the Eighth district and at the same session, Mr Blackburn took his seat as the junior Senator from Kentucky. Their friendship continued and for years they met as delegates from adjoining districts to the state and national conventions of the Democratic party and have participated together in all the campaigns. On March 4, 1903, Senator McCreary was escorted before the president protem of the United States Senate by Senator Blackburn and took the oath of office as senator. After the ceremonies were over Senator Blackburn put his hand on the junior senator's shoulder and said: "McCreary, when we were school boys we did't expect to meet here, but I'm mighty glad of the meeting" "So am I Joe," replied Senator McCreary. When Senator McCreary was ten years old and was a bare footed boy in Richmond, William J. Stone was born in Madison county. When Captain McCreary marched off to war at the head of his company "Little Billy" Stone was one of the boys who followed the brave little band to the outkirts of the town and bade good bye to the boys in gray. When the 49th Congress convened, Captain McCreary met "Little Billy" again, but "Billy" had grown considerably and was a newly elected member from Missouri. On March 4, 1903, they met again, both as United States Senators. Senator Stone took the oath of office as junior senator from Missouri on March 5, the day after the junior senator from Kentucky was sworn in.

Hudson Bros., horse and mule dealers of Louisville, say their agent in New Orleans has been asked for prices on 5,000 horses by a Japanese merchant, presumably for use in the cavalry in the impending war between Japan and Russia.

Last Friday was a busy day with Sheriff Allphin. In the morning he went to Covington to get a colored man, who, a few nights before, entered the residence of Frank Respass, of Richwood, and stole a revolver, a hat or two and some other small articles. The negro admits doing the job, and was wearing one of the hats when arrested. Friday night he arrested William Shepherd charged with a burglary in Rising Sun.

It does not look as if we shall get out of coal, at any rate this winter. It is estimated that beneath the earth's crust there are about 8,000,000,000,000 yards of coal at depths available for the use of man—a round numbers at little over 7,000,000,000,000 tons.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER.

There Is Evidence of Foul Play—Wisp of Mustache Hair Discovered Clutched in Victim's Hand May Give a Clew.

Bedford, Ind., Jan. 23.—The dead body of Sarah Schaeffer, Latin teacher at the high school, was found Friday morning by William Cook and his son-in-law, John Hendricks. Cook is a cabman and found the woman when he went to get his cab out of the shed. She was lying under the cab, and the earth around showed signs of a struggle for life. The body was well dressed. The face of the woman was lacerated, and her whole body was covered with mud and blood. The shed floor was a pool of blood. The woman's body, when found, was cold and stiff. The shed is located within 50 feet of the street.

It has developed that a wisp of mustache hair was found in the clutches of the victim and upon this clew the police and a number of private detectives are basing their investigation. Miss Schaeffer's umbrella was found open in a barn lot near the shed. A brick with which the wounds were inflicted has also been found covered with blood.

A Negro was said to have been seen near the alley where the assault was committed about the time that Miss Schaeffer left her boarding house. Bloodhounds have been given the scent, but could follow it not more than 50 yards from the place where the body was found. A whisky bottle coming from a saloon in the city was found about 50 feet from the shed.

Evidence that Miss Schaeffer, the murdered girl, received two anonymous letters threatening her with punishment if she did not change her boarding place from the home of Dr. D. D. Nicholson has been disclosed. Miss Schaeffer subsequently changed her residence for fear that the threat might be carried out.

A dragnet is to be instituted throughout the surrounding country and all suspicious characters will be compelled to prove their whereabouts on the night of the murder.

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 25.—A red-haired man was arrested by the police here Sunday and is being held awaiting instructions from the Bedford authorities. When found the suspected man was in a schoolhouse with another man taller than himself. The police suspecting robbery, approached, and the taller man fled. The man with the red hair, however, stood his ground, and, drawing a revolver, flourished it at Chief Johns, who, with Officer Hugh Hinkle, was making the arrest. They approached him and he offered no further resistance.

He gave his name as Tom Boyd, but declined to state anything about himself. He was told that he was suspected of the Bedford murder, but refused to say anything.

STARVED TO DEATH.

Leonidas Hubbard, Jr., New York, Died in the Wilds of Labrador.

Quebec, Jan. 23.—Word was received Friday night from Chateau bay, Labrador, that a courier had arrived from Northwest river with the information that Leonidas Hubbard, jr., of New York, had died of starvation in the wilds of Labrador on October 18. The remains are on their way to Quebec, so the report says, by dog train, which is expected to reach Chateau bay some time in March.

New York, Jan. 23.—Mr. Hubbard, who was assistant editor of Outing, was sent out by that magazine to explore the interior of Labrador. In his party were Dillon Wallace, a New York lawyer, and two Cree Indians. The explorers left Rigolette about the beginning of July, 1903. Their object was to penetrate to the settlement of Nascauphes Indians, where, so far as known, no white man has ever been.

Memorial Services Held.

New York, Jan. 25.—Memorial services, under the direction of the Actors' Church Alliance of America, in sympathy with the sufferers and bereaved in the Iroquois theater fire in Chicago, were held at the Princess theater Sunday.

St. Louis, Jan. 23.—The Missouri Press Association, in annual session, expelled former Lieut. Gov. John A. Lee and L. I. Page, editor of the Bonne Terre Star, because of their alleged connection with boodle scandals.

Colonists Arrive in Mexico.

Monterey, Mex., Jan. 25.—A party of Indian territory colonists reached here Sunday and will proceed to Las Palmas, on the line of the Mexican Central railroad, for the purpose of settling upon a tract of 50,000 acres of land.

Requests From Military Academies.

St. Louis, Jan. 25.—Requests are being received from military academies all over the United States as to accommodations for their organizations during the World's fair and for the assignment of the dates.

SEVERE WINTER WEATHER.

Cold Wave Extends Over the West and the North.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Extreme cold weather was recorded in various sections of the north and west Sunday. The cold wave extends over a wide area, embracing the Upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys and the western lake region. Particularly severe weather is reported in the Dakotas, Eastern Montana, Northeastern Nebraska, Northwestern Iowa, Northern Illinois and Indiana and portions of Wisconsin and Michigan.

The thermometer Sunday in this city registered 11 degrees below zero. There is suffering among the poor people and many of the homeless applied at the police stations for shelter. Only one death, that of a fisherman, has so far been reported. The weather bureau observer says that it is possible that the mercury may go to 20 below Monday and that the cold wave will last several days yet.

At St. Paul Sunday the minimum on the official thermometer was 33 degrees below zero. Other thermometers registered as low as 40. Bismarck reported 28 and Superior, Wis., 36. In a number of places in the northwest it was the coldest weather of the year. A severe blizzard raged at Houghton, Mich., trains being late and traffic badly impeded.

Duluth, Minn., Jan. 25.—With one exception Sunday was the coldest day since 1864. The government thermometer registered 37 degrees below zero early Sunday and at 8 o'clock Sunday night stood at 24 below. Forty-seven degrees below zero was reported at Ely, on the Vermillion range, Sunday morning, while towns on the Mesaba range reported from 35 to 45 below.

Sioux City, Ia., Jan. 25.—At 8 a. m. the government record of temperature was 21 below zero, and it has not been higher than 8 below all day.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 25.—The coldest weather of the winter was experienced in the entire northwest Sunday. Superior reported a maximum temperature of 36 degrees below zero, La Crosse 24 and Milwaukee 16. Only one case of suffering was on the police record, a man being found with his hands and feet frozen.

Burlington, Ia., Jan. 25.—The mercury fell to 8 degrees below zero Sunday evening, the second coldest night of the season. The cold is increasing.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 25.—Specials showed Wisconsin to have experienced the coldest weather Sunday night of any state in the union. New Richmond reported a maximum temperature of 45 degrees below zero; Hayward and Cumberland reports 40; Superior 36, and Unity 38 below. Other low temperatures are Black River Falls 32, Barahoo 31. Oshkosh reports the coldest weather in 25 years, the registration being 28 below. A strong northwest wind is blowing.

LYNCHING AT GUTHRIE, KY.

Guthrie, Ky., Jan. 25.—Lewis Radford, a Negro, was lynched here at 6 o'clock Sunday night by a mob of from 30 to 40 Negroes. Radford was arrested Sunday morning, accused of killing Priscilla Frozell, also a Negro, Saturday night. Radford was seen in company with the Frozell woman about 8 o'clock Saturday night, going in the direction of the Standard Oil Co.'s yards, at this place. Radford confessed to having been in the woman's company Saturday night and of assaulting her, but denied to the last the act of killing her.

Marshal Burries employed John Dock, colored, to feed the prisoner, and Sunday night while he was in the jail corridor a mob rushed in and demanded the keys to Radford's cell. Dock refused at first to deliver the keys. The mob then gave him several blows on the head and drew their pistols. The keys were promptly delivered. Radford refused to leave the cell, and the mob began firing upon him, several shots taking effect. In all eight shots were fired. The prisoner was dragged, half-dead, to a tree a few yards from the jail door and was hanged to a limb.

WENT SUDDENLY INSANE.

Killed His Sister, Declaring He Obeyed a Divine Behest.

Dunkirk, N. Y., Jan. 25.—Miss Hannah Hall, 30 years old, was murdered Sunday at her home in Vanburen by her brother, Isaac Hall, who gave himself up to the police. Hall, who is 33 years old, declares that he obeyed a Divine behest when he killed his sister. He attacked her while she was asleep, first shooting her, then dragging the wounded woman through the house, he cut her throat and finally placed her neck across a chopping block and completely severed the head from the body.

Hall and his sister lived alone, both parents being dead. Until this time Hall was considered a model farmer and his sister was a great favorite. Hall is religiously inclined and there is no doubt that he suddenly became insane.

Col. Arthur Lynch Liberated.

London, Jan. 25.—Col. Arthur Lynch, who commanded the Irish brigade of the British forces during the war in South Africa, and was afterward convicted of treason and sentenced to imprisonment for life, was liberated Sunday "on license."

Death of Chester Adkins.

Ripon, Wis., Jan. 25.—Chester Adkins, 82 years old, died Sunday. He was the last surviving member of the original 19 founders of the Wisconsin "Phalanx," a society which Horace Greely started a model one.

A MOB OF COREANS.

Attacked Electric Car Owned by Americans.

The Car Was Partially Destroyed—Prompt Action of American Legation Guards Prevented Serious Riot—Situation Critical.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The state department Sunday received official information of attack Sunday by a mob of native Coreans on an electric car in Corea, the line being owned by Americans, because of the fact that it had killed a Corean. The news came in the following telegram, received under Sunday's date, from Minister Allen at Seoul:

"This morning on the electric railway, which is the property of American citizens, a Corean was accidentally and unavoidably killed. Thereupon a mob of natives attacked and partially destroyed the car. The operators of the car would have been injured had it not been for the presence of mind and action of our guard, and serious riot would have occurred."

Although there have been previous reports of disturbances in Corea this is the first mob attack made thus far on property of Americans. The railroad is owned and operated by Americans, H. R. Bostwick, of San Francisco, and H. Collbran being its principal officers. It runs through the heart of Seoul, the Corean capital.

The guard which made the rescue came from the American legation. It consists of 100 marines, who were sent there some time ago to be on hand for the protection of Americans and their property. Reinforcement of this guard has been urged and could be made in a week's time by details of marines from the Philippines, but nothing has been decided on this point. Conditions in Corea are recognized to be critical, and the state department is keeping in close touch with the situation.

No fresh instructions have been sent as yet as a result of Sunday's mob at Corea.

The Corean legation has received no advices concerning the matter. The Corean government has notified its legation here that it has issued a formal declaration of neutrality as between Russia and Japan in the event of war, and Minister Min-Hui-Cho has formally advised the state department of this action.

GOV. TAFT ARRIVES.

He Immediately Took a Train For Washington.

San Francisco, Jan. 25.—Former Gov. Taft, of the Philippines, arrived here on the steamer Corea. With him were Mrs. Taft, their two children, Fred Carpenter, his secretary, and Judge Wolfly, attorney general of the Philippines, who is traveling with the governor's party on his way home on leave of absence.

The governor was met hy a number of representative army and navy men and civil officials on the tug Golden Gate, to which the party was transferred after the Corea had reached the quarantine station. The tug carried its passengers to the Oakland mole, where Gov. Taft boarded the eastern overland train for Washington. On arriving at the capitol he will at once assume his duties as secretary of war.

THE BRITISH FLEET.

It Is in Readiness to Move Within Five Minutes' Notice.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 25.—According to officers of the Northern Pacific steamer Victoria, which arrived from the Orient Sunday, the British fleet at Hong-Kong is being kept in readiness to sail at a moment's notice. No sailor, they say, is allowed on shore leave over night; the ships are all coaled, and everything is in readiness for the entire fleet to move within five minutes after receipt of orders.

Walking Around the World.

Big Blaze in New York.

New York, Jan. 25.—The building, Nos. 546-548 Broadway, occupied by Morimura Bros., Japanese goods; R. E. Bonar & Co., hats, and Cranford & Quigley, Rossenwar Bros. and Finkelstein & Maaget, clothing, was destroyed by fire early Sunday. Estimated loss $250,000.

Corean Soldiers and Police as Robbers

Seoul, Jan. 25.—Corean soldiers and police at Pyengyang disguised as robbers have looted all the wealthy native houses. Foreigners are growing very uneasy over the condition of affairs. The natives seemingly are apathetic.

Almost Killed Its Keeper.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 25.—Maddened by the intense cold, which had frozen its ears and trunk, an elephant belonging to an animal show which had been exhibiting at a local theater, almost killed its keeper, Conrad Castens.

Ready For Exhibits.

St. Louis, Jan. 25.—The Louisiana exposition now stands ready and is waiting for the full and general installation of exhibits. The managers request that they be sent in as early as possible.

PITTSBURG FLOOD SUBSIDING.

Two Towboats and Two Boat Houses Destroyed By Fire.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 25.—The flood of Saturday has in a great measure passed this point, but portions of the two cities are still submerged and will not be freed from the water until after midnight.

In Allegheny the gas supply was erratic and the distribution of coal by the city authorities in the poorer neighborhoods brought out riotous conditions. When the fuel was dumped in the streets men, women and children fought for it, requiring a strong guard of police to restore order.

Wreckage and huge cakes of ice strew the streets. A thick settlement of slimy mud, mingled with ice, makes many districts unfit to walk through. Huge timbers, portions of doors, stairways, barrels, boxes, cans and other debris washed upon the streets by the flood, have rested where the water left them.

The big coal companies have been busy all day preparing their fleets for coal shipments to the south. There are 30 towboats in the harbor ready to start and it is estimated that fully 10,000,000 bushels of coal will have started by Monday noon.

Much excitement was caused by a fire Sunday which destroyed the Hackett Elizabeth, the towboat Olivette and two boat houses. The Elizabeth was set adrift and in passing under the Union bridge set fire to that structure. This fire, however, was soon controlled. The burning hulk of the Elizabeth continued down the Ohio until she sank a mile or so below. The loss will not exceed $25,000.

A FLOOD AT WHEELING.

One-Third of the Homes Are Partially or Wholly Inundated.

Wheeling, W. Va., Jan. 25.—The crest of the flood swell was reached at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon when the stage was 44 feet 2 inches. Fully one-third of the homes in the city were wholly or partially inundated and the sharp fall in temperature has caused a great deal of suffering. On the island very few streets are out of the water, and many second stories are invaded.

Word reached here Sunday evening that Joe Cutler and Charles Reynolds, who cut loose in a light barge from the steamer Lizzie Townsend when that boat burned Saturday, were picked up about Matamoras. The towboat Sam Brown sighted the craft at Sistersville and heard the cries of the men for help. The steamer gave chase for five miles, and finally overhauled the barge, and took the two men off more dead than alive. In Benwood there is not a single block that is high and dry, and the 5,000 people there are living in second stories or on the hillsides.

THE OHIO RIVER.

Navigation Opened In Part After a Long Suspension.

Cincinnati, Jan. 25.—With the arrival here of the steamer Courier, Sunday night, navigation was opened in part of the Ohio river after a complete suspension of almost two months. During that time seven large packets and a dozen smaller ones and hundreds of coal barges have been anchored here. Two small packets were wrecked by the breaking of ice gorges and the number of barges lost will never be known. The total direct loss is placed at $200,000. The indirect loss is much greater. It is stated that the loss of one of the large packets by being laid up is $1,000 per day. The river is open for navigation now only between Louisville and Maysville, Ky., so that none of the through packets up the river for Pittsburg or down the river for Mississippi points are yet able to run on account of the ice. While freezing weather again prevails through the Ohio valley the river is now too high to be again closed up.

THE ICE GAVE WAY.

Towboat and Barge of Coal Sunk—Three Men Are Missing.

Cincinnati, Jan. 25.—The ice around Coney Island gave way Sunday night and sunk the towboat Adelle at Brown's landing, east of this city, together with a barge of coal. Loss $15,000. Three men, employed on the Adelle, whose names could not be learned, are missing and supposed to have been drowned. The river has been rising rapidly here since Sunday midnight.

Crushed to Death By An Elephant.

London, Jan. 25.—George Lockhart, well-known elephant trainer and circus proprietor, was accidentally crushed to death by an elephant while he was attending to the unloading of circus animals at the railroad station at Walthamstow.

Excitement in a Theater.

Berlin, Jan. 25.—During the performance at the Deutches theater, the fall of a portion of the ceiling of the corridor caused great excitement. With the exception of an usher, who was slightly hurt, no one was injured.

The Mayflower Leaves For Norfolk.

Colon, Jan. 25.—The United States steamer Mayflower, Capt. Albert Cleaves, left here for Norfolk, Va., Sunday morning. The flagship Olympia and the torpedo boat destroyer Truxton are at present the only American warships in the harbor.

Munroe-Sharkey Bout.

New York, Jan. 25.—Jack Munroe and Tom Sharkey have decided to accept the offer of the National Athletic club, at Philadelphia, and will box before that organization next month. The bout will be for six rounds.

A Dentist's Advice.

Toledo, Ohio, Jan. 25th.—Mr. Harry L. Lewis, Dentist, 607 Summit street, this city, says: "I certainly advise anyone no matter how severe they may have Kidney Trouble to take Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I was troubled with Kidney Disease for several years and Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me. I had used many so-called remedies without any benefit. Four months ago, I was flat on my back with this painful trouble and must say that I almost gave up hopes of ever getting any better. Through a friend's advice I purchased six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"At first I could see but little benefit, but after two weeks, I could see an improvement. I had been getting up several times at night and pains in my back were very severe. When I had taken six boxes I felt better than I had for years. The pain had all gone and I didn't have to get up during the night at all. I continued the treatment until I had used several more boxes, and now I am glad to say that I am completely cured."

On Pneumatic Casters.

The rapid multiplication of motor-carriages has created a demand for experienced drivers or chauffeurs, and schools of training have been established to fit men for receiving the license which she law requires.

An automobile expert in charge of one of these schools says that an applicant recently entered and approached him. "I want to take lessons," he said, "to fit myself to be a chiffonier."

The U. S. Dept. of Agriculture

Every woman feels that she ought to be the boss.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Mrs. Hughson, of Chicago, whose letter follows, is another woman in high position who owes her health to the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered for several years with general weakness and bearing-down pains, caused by womb trouble. My appetite was poor, and I would lie awake for hours, and could not sleep, until I seemed more weary in the morning than when I retired. After reading one of your advertisements I decided to try the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so glad I did me. No one can describe the good it did me. I took three bottles faithfully, and besides building up my general health, it drove all disease and poison out of my body, and made me feel as spry and active as a young girl. Mrs. Pinkham's medicines are certainly all they are claimed to be."—Mrs. M. E. Hughson, 347 East Ohio St., Chicago, Ill.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

More than a million women have regained health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If the slightest trouble appears which you do not understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for her advice, and a few timely words from her will show you the right thing to do. This advice costs you nothing, but it may mean life or happiness or both.

SWEPT BY A TORNADO.

Thirty-Seven Persons Killed and Over a Hundred Injured.

Bedding, Carpets and Wearing Apparel Are Scattered For a Distance of Ten Miles Through What Was Previously Forest.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Jan. 23.—A disastrous tornado swept over Moundville, Ala., a town of 300 inhabitants, 15 miles south of Tuscaloosa, early Friday, and as a result 37 persons were killed and more than one hundred injured. Every business house with the exception of a small drug store was completely destroyed.

The tornado struck the city from the southwest and mowed a path a quarter of a mile wide through the town.

Surgeons were rushed to Moundville from Greensboro and Tuscaloosa and all possible was done to alleviate the sufferings of the injured. By the force of the storm persons were blown hundreds of feet from their beds in the blackness of night. Through terror a father, mother and three children fled from their home to seek refuge, and in their excitement left a 5-year-old boy in bed. Friday he was pulled from beneath some timber and thus far it is impossible to find any other member of the family.

Bedding, carpets and wearing apparel are scattered for a distance of ten miles through what was a forest, but which is now as clear as if though cut by the woodman's ax.

Freight cars were torn to splinters, the trucks from them being hurled hundreds of feet from the track.

The depot, the hotel, warehouses, gins, 30 houses, the store houses occupied by R. L. Griffin, A. W. Wiggins & Son, J. W. Domenick, A. D. Griffin and W. P. Phifer, together with their stocks, were completely destroyed. Where they stood it is impossible to find even the pillars upon which these structures rested.

Bales of cotton which were stored in warehouses were torn to atoms, the fragments of lint lodging in trees, making it appear as though that section had been visited by a snow storm. Heavy iron safes, the doors of which in some instances were torn from their hinges, were carried away by the force of the wind.

A young clerk employed by W. P. Phifer, hearing the terrible roaring of the storm, let himself into a well in the center of the store. He had no sooner found his place of safety when the store was completely demolished. He was drawn ont uninjured.

E. P. Seymour, of Nashville, Tenn., among the killed, had accepted his position as operator at the railroad station Thursday evening.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Jan. 23.—The town of Hull, four miles north of Moundville, suffered from the tornado. The Bates Lumber Co.'s planing department was completely wrecked and the Negro fireman crushed. Four residences and one church were demolished.

MINISTER TO PANAMA.

Mr. Buchanan Is About to Return to the United States.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Confirmation is had at the state department of the report that Mr. Buchanan, American minister to Panama, is about to return to the United States, starting in a few days from Colon. Important private business is assigned as a reason for the minister's return. The department is not informed that his visit is anything more than a mere leave of absence, but it knows that Buchanan consented to assume the Panama mission only on an understanding that his appointment must be temporary, and as affairs on the isthmus are regarded as being in excellent shape from an administrative standpoint, it is possible that he will consider that he has carried his full undertaking when he returns to Washington.

THE EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGES.

All the Cases Against Frank Siegel Were Dismissed.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 23.—All the cases against Frank Siegel, former president of the defunct Siegel-Sanders Live Stock Commission Co., who was charged with embezzlement on seven indictments, were dismissed by the prosecuting attorney here Friday. The prosecutor stated that as one of the cases against Siegel had been dismissed, there was no chance of convicting him on the others. The charges were instigated by Frank Rockefeller, a brother of John D. Rockefeller, who lost nearly $350,000 in the failure of the firm two years ago.

Week's Business Failures.

New York, Jan. 23.—Business failures in the United States for the week ending January 21 number 266, against 215 last week, 253 in the like week in 1903, 232 in 1902, 281 in 1901. In Canada failures number 25, which compare with 39 last week.

Joe Grim Won the Purse.

Baltimore, Jan. 23.—Joe Grim, of Philadelphia, won the purse hung up by the Eureka Athletic and Social club in a ten-round bout Friday night, and an additional $100 from Gans, who thought he could put Grim out in six rounds.

Musicale at the White House.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The third of the series of evening musicales given this season by Mrs. Roosevelt took place at the white house Friday night before a large gathering. The program included piano and vocal solos.

FIFTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS.

Regular Session.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Senate—The senate required less than a minute Tuesday to dispose of the motion to refer to the committee on post offices the various resolutions looking to an investigation of the post office department. The question had been previously debated for hours at a time, but Tuesday no senator manifested any disposition to discuss it further and it was adopted without negative vote. After the passage of a half dozen bills the senate returned to consideration of the Panama question. Mr. Quarles spoke for almost two hours in support of the course of the administration and was followed by Mr. Patterson, who criticised the president's course in Panama.

House—The house considered the Hepburn pure food bill, but did not complete it. When the house was ready to adjourn on motion of Mr. Hepburn a recess was taken until 11:55 Wednesday. This course will retain the bill before the house without interruption for consideration Wednesday. Just before the recess an amendment coming from the democratic side was adopted inserting the word "wilfully" relative to the sale of prohibited adulterated goods by retailers, which would make it incumbent on the government to prove knowledge on the part of the retailers that such goods was contrary to law.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Senate—Mr. Patterson Wednesday completed and Mr. Platt (Ct.) began a speech on the Panama canal question. Mr. Patterson declared that the president was largely responsible for the revolt in Panama, and announced his decided preference for the Nicaraguan route. Mr. Platt took this pronouncement for Nicaragua as the text for his remarks, saying it explained the mystery of the otherwise unexplainable opposition on the part of the democratic senators of the Panama treaty.

House—The house passed the Hepburn pure food bill on a rising vote, 201 to 68, its opponents being unable to secure a roll call on the bill. The amendment of inserting the word "wilful" with reference to the persons who sell adulterated or mishranded goods, and which would have compelled the government to prove intent to violate the law by the venders was stricken out on a yea and nay vote in the house. Several attempts were made to amend the bill, but no material changes were made. The bill fixes the standards of foods and drugs as to their purity, strength and character and defines what shall be considered adulterations or misbranding of foods and drugs. It also probibits interstate commerce, importation and exportation, of such misbranded or adulterated articles. It is proposed to enlarge the scope of the bureau of chemistry to include the burean of foods and impose upon it the duty of performing all chemical work for the other executive departments. This bureau will be charged with the duty of inspecting food and drug products which belong to inter-state or foreign commerce. The secretary of agriculture is given authority to employ such chemists, inspectors, clerks and laborers as may be necessary for the enforcement of the act. One section of the bill provides penalties for the introduction of adulterated or misbranded foods or drugs and another section requires the secretary of agriculture to prescribe rules and regulations to govern the director of the bureau of chemistry and foods in examinations of articles required to be inspected under the law. Violations of the law shall be reported by the secretary of agriculture to the proper district attorney of the United States, who is to direct the cause, the proceedings to be prosecuted without delay.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Senate—Mr. Platt (Ct.) concluded his speech on Panama Thursday. He defended the course of the president throughout the Panama revolt and eulogized the executive personally as brave and fearless. During the morning hour Mr. Morgan spoke in explanation of his bill for the annexation of Panama to the United States, basing his argument on the ground that the pending canal treaty practically contemplated that result.

House—The army appropriation bill was under consideration in the committee of the whole for five hours, most of which time was devoted to a general discussion of the tariff question. Mr. Hull (Ia.), chairman of the committee on military affairs, explained the provisions of the army bill and Messrs. Parker (rep., N. J.) and Prince (rep., Ill.) paid tributes to the army, as now organized. The only opposition to the army bill was made by Mr. Baker (dem., N. Y.), who said he was opposed to war.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Senate—The senate Friday adopted the resolution of inquiry concerning affairs in Panama introduced on the 8th inst. by Mr. Gorman, and listened to a speech on the Panama question by Mr. Dolliver and another on the subject of reciprocity by amendments. Adjourned until Monday.

House—The house passed 209 pension bills and also resolutions calling on the secretary of war and the attorney general for information as to the number of horses and carriages maintained at government expense for officers of these respective departments. A bill permitting the withdrawal duty free from the St. Louis exposition of articles donated to religious, scientific, educational or literary institutions also passed.

Postmasters Can Be Delegates.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Postmaster General Payne Tuesday said there was nothing to bar postmasters or other federal office-holders from serving as delegates to political conventions, whether national, state or county.

Carroll D. Wright to Resign.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Carroll D. Wright, commissioner of labor, authorized the statement that he intends to resign by the end of 1904 to remove to Worcester, Mass. Mr. Wright was elected president of Clark college at Worcester.

Nothing Was Saved.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 22.—Fire, starting in one of the Hall & Munson factories at Bay Mills Friday night, reached every factory in Bay Mills. The total value of plants was $300,000. Nothing was saved.

A FLIMSY PRETEXT.

The President's Isthmian Policy Right in Line with Republican Spoliation.

If the president is not decidedly shaky in justifying his Panama record to the conscience of his people, then our reading of this second message is hopelessly at fault, says the Springfield (Mass.) Republican. His radical shifting of ground and his promiscuous clutch at the remark of an anonymous Panama native reported in the press, reveal a disturbed state of mind. His distortion or misinterpretation of facts is notable. His assertion that the orders to the naval officers, prior to the revolution, to prevent the landing of Colombian troops "within 50 miles of Panama," were in line with the government's traditional policy, is ridiculous. He fails to show any precedents for the naval orders he gave prior to his own administration—for there are none. The orders of 1902, which are cited, are not parallel and, moreover, they were strongly protested by the Colombian government—a fact that is not mentioned. The president still ignores, as if it were death itself, the vital point that he had no right, under the treaty of 1846, to prevent Colombia from making an effort to maintain her sovereignty in her own territory; and that his action, taken as it was before the local uprising, was an enormously destructive act of war upon a sovereign and friendly nation.

Mr. Roosevelt bulids up his case upon the unwarrantable assumption that there was but one possible canal route, and that route the Panama. He even tells congress in so many words that there is now "no alternative" to Panama—which is astonishing in view of the plain terms of the Spooner act—and that "the only question" involved in the present canal treaty "is whether or not we shall build an isthmian canal." If congress had hitherto taken the president's view it would never have legislated to the effect that there was an alternative route. What we see is an overriding of congress by the executive, who has recklessly taken the bit into his teeth and proposes to drag the national legislature after him. Throughout all his messages, papers and diplomatic correspondence the past year can be seen the plain determination to seize the Panama isthmus, if the opportunity offered; or to advise congress to have it seized, if Colombia should not at once bend to our will. As the desires of the United States increased, in the president's mind, the rights of Colombia decreased.

All attempts at moral or legal justification of this episode are ineffectual. We need only to keep in mind the essential facts to detect the fallacy and the bumbug and the spoliation of the hour.

——Republican abuse of Senator Gorman will do him good. It is an announcement to democrats that republicans recognize his ability as a leader and mean to do what they can to weaken his influence. The democratic party will not push him aside because of anything republicans say of him.—Savannah (Ga.) News.

——What are Porto Ricans? It has just been decided that they are not aliens, but it is by no means yet conceded that they are American citizens. At present, therefore, they are neither fish, flesh nor good red herring, and they will doubtless feel relieved when the supreme court gives them some political status.—Indianapolis Journal (Rep.).

——It looks as if the Roosevelt campaign is being personally conducted.—N. Y. World.

——It having been decided by the republican administration that the "progress of civilization as it is expounded in foreign commerce and American investments in Santo Domingo" will not permit the continued activity of the revolutionary party in that country, we shall probably hear in a short time that another expansion of the American government has taken place and that another independent people has been wiped off the map as a nation.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

UNIVERSAL WAGE REDUCTION.

The Trusts Continue to Flourish, But Workers and Consumers Do Not Thrive.

There are two reasons given for the protective tariff by the republicans, one that it protects the manufacturers from foreign competition and the other that it raises the price for labor. As about all the manufacturers have been organized into trusts or combines and every industry has long ago thrown off its swaddling clothes and none of them can any longer be called infant industries, the first reason for a protective tariff falls to the ground. The rapid decrease in wages now going on, the numerous strikes and the continued high cost of living would seem to demolish the other reason. But the protectionists are still saying "let well enough alone," although their voices are much less strident than when Hanna issued instructions to "stand pat." There has been no lowering of the tariff tax, the Dingley bill is still supposed to "adequately secure American industrial products against the competition of foreign labor," but the old machine shows signs of wear and rasps and groans when the labor cogs need oiling. Where protection is highest there seems to be the most friction, as in the iron and steel industries.

The latest to show signs of demoralization is the lumber and logging business in which wages have declined about 25 per cent. A dispatch from Ontonagon, Mich., to the Boston Transcript, says:

"During the past few weeks there has been a notable change in the labor situation in logging circles in northern Michigan, the opening of the season men were so scarce that lumbering concerns could only get a small portion of the help needed. High wages were no inducement. Now, however, more men are applying for work than can be employed and wages have dropped from $30 and $35 per month, including board, to $20 and $26. Some employers are said to be securing green hands for as low as $18 per month."

The wood and lumber schedule of the Dingley bill is still protecting the lumber trusts and combines, and allowing them to continue the exorbitant profits on lumber and shingles, but the men in the woods and who run the saw mills are not partaking of the prosperity.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS.

——The race is not to the swift, but his $35,000,000 packing trust constitutes a pretty fair corner on what the race eats.—St. Louis Republic.

——The voice of Senator Platt, of New York, is still for President Roosevelt. The senator's lung power, however, is rather on the decline.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

——In the approaching struggle the Democratic party cannot give better proof of its fitness to govern the country or offer surer hostage to public opinion and fortune, than by sternly eliminating from its consideration the trivial and meretricious.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

——The subpoena servers found Perry Heath at last, or rather, Perry Heath found them. And now the former first assistant postmaster general and present conductor of the Hanna boom for the presidential nomination will promptly start for the east to tell what he knows of the alleged machinations of Macben.—Ithaca (N. Y.) Observer.

——Mr. Platt says the signs indicate "the return of the democratic party to a sane and dangerous condition." In other words, he sees troubious times ahead for the g. o. p.—Binghamton (N. Y.) Leader.

——We don't want Santo Domingo. Our experience in getting something like $100,000,000 worth of trouble for $20,000,000 when we acquired the Philippines should have taught a lasting lesson, but apparently it has not. The only thing the country can do, seemingly, is to wonder where the annexation madness will break out next and into what complications it will eventually lead us.—Houston (Tex.) Post.

State News Happenings

SCHOOL BOOK MEASURE.

The Bill Was Passed By the Senate and Now Goes to the Governor.

Frankfort, Jan. 21.—Senate—The senate passed the bill creating the new county of Beckham, to be carved out of the counties of Carter, Lewis and Elliott. Both the democrats and republican nominee for the senate agreed by a five to three vote Wednesday afternoon to report favorably the Heflin bill to eliminate the Negro vote by enacting the grandfather's clause. An amendment was approved providing that after the year 1910 the law should apply to both whites and blacks. The democratic joint caucus practically settled the school book fight Wednesday night by adopting all the amendments to the Cantrill bill proposed by the caucus committee of nine that has had the bill under consideration since last week. Nearly all the amendments were to correct the verbiage and remove the ambiguity from several sentences, and all are entirely acceptable to Senator Cantrill.

House—The first bill was the Bradley bill, requiring registration certificates to be exhibited at the polls—a duplicate of the Farris bill passed on Tuesday in the senate, except that it requires registration in both fifth and sixth class towns. Rogers (rep.) offered an amendment exempting fifth-class towns. Bradley defended his bill and spoke against the amendment, saying that the Rogers amendment was to offer an opportunity for importing Negroes. Rogers withdrew his amendment, after being assured that the bill did not require registration in the county. Judge Guffey (rep.) offered an amendment to require registration throughout the state. The amendment met but being in proper form it was withdrawn and a motion by Guffey to recommit the bill lost. Hanna (rep.) offered amendment to provide fines and disfranchisement for 20 years for buying or selling registration certificates. The Guffey amendment was defeated. The Hanna amendment was defeated by a strict party vote. The bill was then adopted by a vote of 70 to 20.

Frankfort, Jan. 22.—Senate—The feature of Thursday's session was the passage of the world's fair appropriation bill by the senate and the amended school book bill by the house. The world's fair bill will go to the governor Friday for his approval. It provides for 15 commissioners and an expenditure of $75,000. The Farris local option bill providing for the county unit instead of precinct unit in voting in the local option question was taken up Thursday, and made a special order for next Thursday. The J. F. Porter bill increasing the school fund tax rate from 22 to 26½ cents by taking three cents from the sinking fund rate and one and a half cents from the general expenditure rate, preparatory to extending the school term to six months, passed the senate unanimously.

House: The house went into committee of the whole to consider the senate school book bill and amendments. The democratic caucus committee's amendments were adopted and the committee of the whole reported to the house, which adopted the amendments. The bill came up for final passage, the only votes against it being cast by Messrs Thomas Drewry, of Louisville, and Vaughan, of Johnson county. The result was 81 for and 2 against. Mr. Guffy and several others declined to vote. The house passed the Claybrooke bill No. 9, permitting husband and wife to testify against each other in suits for divorce or alimony. The vote was 59 to 13. The bill had the indorsement of the state bar association.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 23.—Senate—The state uniformity maximum price for school book bill finally passed the senate Friday, and will become a law as soon as Gov. Beckham signs it. As it has an emergency clause that makes it effective at once, it had been freely predicted in certain quarters that the senate had passed the Cantrill-Gillenwater bill as a bluff, and would never concur in any house amendments that might be made, so it was refreshing when the senate on motion of Senator Cantrill, adopted the 28 house amendments without a dissenting vote. On motion of Senator Carroll a rule was adopted providing that all bills proposing appropriations shall be referred to the committee on appropriations. Adjourned until Monday.

House—The house adopted a resolution offered by Representative Bourne, that W. J. Bryan be invited to address the general assembly February 3, the anniversary of Goebel's death. A resolution by Bourne, that the house stand adjourned on February 3, and that memorial services be held for William Goebel, was adopted. On motion of Mr. Drewery, unanimously adopted, the house extended former Gov. W. O. Bradley the courtesy of the speaker's chair. Gov. Bradley made a brief speech, in which he complimented the representatives for passing the state capitol bill and the World's fair bill. The committee on corporate institution reported favorable a bill to create an express commission to control express companies. The Edwards bill, to allow the mayor of a first-class city to remove members of the board of public safety and board of public works, was favorably reported. The Guffey bill, to make the operation of slot machines a misdemeanor, was adopted by a vote of 59 to 1. House adjourned till Monday.

Noted Lawyer Dead.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 22.—Judge Z. Gibbons, noted habeas corpus lawyer, died suddenly, seated in a chair at his home Thursday morning. He was 73 years old and leaves a widow, who was Miss Lillian Anderson, of Louisville.

Charged With Forgery.

Lancaster, Ky., Jan. 22.—A sensation was created here when Deputy Sheriff Arnold placed Taylor Sanders, a well-known farmer, in the county jail, charged with forging his father's name to notes to the amount of $180.

TWO EX-GOVERNORS.

Robert S. Patterson, of Pennsylvania, and W. O. Bradley, Kentucky, Meet.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 22.—At the Capitol hotel at supper Thursday afternoon at adjoining tables sat ex-Gov. Robert E. Patterson, of Pennsylvania, the only democrat who has filled the executive chair in Pennsylvania since the war, and ex-Gov. W. O. Bradley, the only republican who has held that office in Kentucky with the exception of the few days it was held by Gov. W. S. Taylor. Mr. Patterson is here on business for the life insurance company of which he is president. Mr. Bradley is taking up the fight for President Roosevelt in this state and is said to be here in company with other republican leaders seeing republican members of the legislature and others in the interest of the president.

Late Thursday night it was stated that ex-Gov. Bradley will probably not be opposed for national committeeman from this state by Internal Revenue Commissioner John W. Yerkes and that Mr. Bradley is sure to be a delegate to the national organization to be held at Chicago.

NEW CAPITOL BUILDING.

The Kentucky House of Representatives Passes the Bill.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 21.—When the state capitol appropriation bill came up in the house Wednesday Barton, of Pendleton, led the debate favoring it. Black, of Knox, leader of the republican minority, spoke for the bill. He said the new capitol should be built, with a statue of Lincoln on one side and one of Jefferson Davis on the other, typifying southern unity. Barton's amendment, providing that at least four of the five commissioners must be present at a meeting when contracts are let was adopted. The bill then passed, yeas, 91; nay, 1. Thompson, of Bourbon, cast the only negative vote. The bill appropriates $1,000,000, and makes the state board of sinking fund commissioners a board of state house commissioners. The passage of the bill in the house insures its becoming a law, and thus settles a controversy of a century's standing.

STRICKEN WITH PNEUMONIA.

Representative J. T. Pride Is in a Precarious Condition.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 23.—Representative J. T. Pride, chairman of a committee from the Kentucky legislature to inspect the state institutions located in Lexington, was stricken with pneumonia in the lunatic asylum Friday afternoon and is in a precarious condition. He is unable to be moved. Mr. Pride lives in Union county and could not take his seat in the legislature till three days after the election on account of age. Pride was a star tackle on the State college football team for the season of '92, and was injured in the Thanksgiving game that year, from which he never entirely recovered. The trouble of Friday is the outgrowth of that injury. The other members of the committee returned to Frankfort Friday night.

Alleged Tobacco Combines Indicted.

Henderson, Ky., Jan. 22.—The grand jury Thursday indicted the so-called tobacco combines. Taree indictments were returned, one against the Imperial Tobacco Co. and two against the American Tobacco Co. The charges are that the companies are doing business in this state without having filed a statement with the secretary of state giving change of agency and giving the location of its office or offices in this state and the name of the agent or some one upon whom process can be served.

Cantrill A Candidate.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 23.—Judge Jas. Cantrill, who figured in the trials of the Goebel suspects, has authorized the announcement that he will be a candidate for the democratic nomination of judge of the court of apeals from this district, to succeed Judge Burnam, whose term expires January 1, 1905.

Ex-Gov. Bradley Addresses Solons.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 23.—The house, an overwhelmingly democratic body, Friday paid former Gov. W. O. Bradley the high compliment of inviting him to address that body. The ex-governor was received with applause, and his speech, which was from a patriotic standpoint, was loudly cheered.

Recovers Sight and Dies Later.

Barboursville, Ky., Jan. 23.—John Johnson, blind for many years, had violent convulsions, which lasted for several minutes. He recovered and found that his sight had been restored. He seemed as well as ever, but fell dead about two hours later.

Miss Louise Dohrmann Dead.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 23.—Mrs. Louise E. Dohrmann died Friday morning at her home, 441 East Gray street. She was the widow of Rev. John F. Dohrmann. Dr. Dohrmann founded the German Baptist orphan home in this city.

They Lived in a Cave.

Rockport, Ky., Jan. 23.—Elizabeth Ragland, her daughter, Margaret Evans, and three small children, were Friday arrested on a charge of being public nuisances. They were living in a cave when arrested.

Croup.

The peculiar cough which indicates croup is usually well known to the mothers of croupy children. No time should be lost in the treatment of it, and for this purpose no medicine has received more universal approval than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Do not waste valuable time in experimenting with untried remedies, no matter how highly they may be recommended, but give this medicine as directed and all symptoms of croup will quickly disappear. For Sale by All Druggists.

VOL. XXIX. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1904. NO. 16

County Correspondence.

HATHAWAY

Feb. 1.—Several from here attended the Ryle sale, Saturday.

Joseph Rich and Raymond Smith spent last Sunday as guests of Nathan Smith.

James White, of Petersburg, and Mr. Ogden, of North Bend, were in this neighborhood, last Friday night.

It is reported that L. O. Hubbard has the premium crop of tobacco in this nick o' woods, and has it ready for sale.

Richard Clements and son, Sidney, and family, of Gunpowder, spent Sunday week with Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Adams, of this place.

Arch Rouse and family, of this place, made a very pleasant trip to Mr. R.'s parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Rue, near Bellevue, one day last week.

E. C. Franks is about through gathering his large crop of corn, and says he has the best crop of tobacco he ever raised and wants 10c a pound for it.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Smith spent last Friday with your correspondent and family of this place, who has been somewhat indisposed for several days.

Nathan Smith entertained seven of his neighbors and friends, Sunday, and to see that cobbler pie that he makes would make any lady of his age take a back seat.

The firm of Houston & Weaver, some time ago caught a genuine case of Georgia fever, but along came a medicine man, and sold them a remedy to remove the fever.

We very much desire to see H. Clay White, of Grant county, win in his race for County Judge. As there are three others in the race, we believe he will win out by a large majority.

Ira D. Adams leaves here for Rising Sun, where he will engage in the tobacco business with his brother, O. W. Adams, at that place, where they will handle considerable of the weed in the next few months.

The death angel has invaded this vicinity and has removed from us an old and esteemed christian, Mrs. Caroline Ryle, who departed this life Jan. 24th, aged 77 years. She was born May 17th, 1826. She reared a large family of children 7 of whom are still living. She was a member of Big Bone church over 50 years, and was a devoted christian in every respect. In her last days she entertained a bright hope in her Savior. She was ready and willing to go when the summons came, and her spirit took its flight to the realms above, that heavenly home where suffering is no more and joy and peace forever reigne.

The remains were taken to Big Bone church, last Thursday, where the funeral services were conducted by Rev. S. M. Adams at 11:30 a. m., in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives. The remains were laid to rest in the cemetery to await the final resurrection. H. G. Blanton, of Erlanger, was the funeral director.

ERLANGER.

Feb.—Mrs. Maud Sarbeck was the guest of friends on Walnut Hills, last week.

Miss Rosebud Finnell is convalescing from her recent illness.

Mr. Ollie Dixon, of Richwood, was visiting friends here Monday.

C. L. McCormick, of Cincinnati, was the guest of friends here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Aylor have returned from a visit with friends at Richwood.

Services will be held at both the Christian and Methodist churches next Sunday.

Miss Fannie Codey has returned home after a pleasant visit with Miss Maydie Tanner.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. De. V. Platt have taken one of Dr. Blanton's handsome residences on Commonwealth Avenue, and will remove there soon.

Mrs. A. L. Vickers, who has been quite ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Eugene Sayers, of Commonwealth Avenue, is very much better and will soon be out again.

Through the bravery and quick thoughts and action of Mrs. Samuel Johnson, was averted what might have been a disastrous fire. The lace curtains caught fire from a spark, and soon were all a blaze, when Mrs. Johnson pulled them from the windows and smothered the fire with rugs, and dashed water on them, putting out the fire. Almost everything in the room was ruined. The fire was out before the engine arrived.

HEBRON.

Leslie Aylor is very ill with pneumonia.

Miss Callie Lee Clore was visiting in the city, Saturday.

Miss Ida Harding is convalescent after several weeks' illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Clore were calling on relatives in Ludlow, Monday.

Harry Hicks, of Covington, spent a week with his sister, Mrs. C. E. Clore, recently.

R. L. Bradford, of Cincinnati, was the guest of his parents here, Saturday and Sunday.

The Odd-Fellows held their first meeting in this town, Saturday night. After initiating thirteen candidates they gave a grand supper.

The funeral of Mrs. Nancy Clark, who died at her home near Limaburg, last Friday, was held at the Lutheran church Sunday afternoon, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends.

Spencer Aylor and Will Graves will exchange residences this week, Will Graves moving to the property he recently purchased of Chas. Clore, and Spencer Aylor going to the house occupied by Mr. Graves.

PETERSBURG.

Four above zero Monday morning.

Wade and Warren Tolin are sick with the measles.

Four-fifths of the population of heaven will be women.

Sis. Pauline and Workum made first trips Monday in eight weeks.

A child of Frank D. Smith died of pneumonia, Sunday morning.

Capt. Lafe McChord and wife are visiting Mrs. McChord's parents.

Col. E. M. Bolton, who was so suddenly stricken is now up and about.

It is the intention to inter the remains of Paris and John Parker in the same grave.

Rev. Milo Atkinson has gone to Covington to take charge of the Fifth St., Christian Church.

Mrs. T. B. Mathews and daughter, Miss Lois, are spending several days visiting relatives in Covington.

Enel is scarce in town and Col. T. B. Mathews has opened the Distillery coal yard and is selling coal to all comers.

For five days last week Pete was cut off from the outside world and no mail was received at this point in that time.

I. S. Baisly, of Missouri, was the guest of J. M. Thompson and family, one day last week. Jim and Irvin used to be old neighbors years ago.

Mr. Ellison Cox, a prominent young river man, and Miss Cordelia Rector, daughter of W. D. Rector, were married at the residence of the bride's parents, last Sunday at 3 p. m., by Rev. Atkinson.

Evangelist Bromley has gone to his home at Wilmore, Ky., after holding meeting at the M. E. Church for three weeks. Four persons, Miss Alta Hensley, John and Sam Blackburn and Socrats Autrau united with the church.

BUFFALO.

J. S. Mason is on the sick list.

Mrs. A. J. Utz was visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Elstun last Thursday.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Armamith has pneumonia.

Mrs. Mary Allen entertained a number of her friends at dinner, last Tuesday.

Joe Huey has rented and will move to the Jack Stephens farm in the spring.

It is reported that the Union line has out the finest poles of the whole business.

Mrs. C. M. Allen and Mrs. Richard Feldhaus spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bradford, last Sunday.

Mrs. Emma Marshall returned home last Saturday after a pleasant visit with friends in Florence and the city.

Mr. C. M. Allen is building a new house on his farm near Big Bone church and will move as soon as it is complete.

Dick Allen, who has been living on Bert Sullivan's place near Burlington, will soon move to the Oscar Ryle place near Grange Hall.

The Union and Waterloo Telephone line had a meeting at Hathaway, last Thursday, and made satisfactory arrangements for line connection.

Robert Willis, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Aylor, of near Big Bone, has been very low and not expected to live with double pneumonia, but at this writing he is some better and there are some hopes of his recovery.

Robt. Rice, of Florence, was in town Monday. Mr. Rice's record as salesman caused his retention as one of the 5,000 men retained when the manufacturers of mowers and binders combined. He is now doing the work heretofore assigned to five men.

FLICKERTOWN.

Born, to Claborn Campbell and wife, on the 21st ult., a girl.

It is beginning to look like our R. F. D. will be a go at last.

Lee Williams and wife gave the young folks a party last Saturday night.

L. Nichols dropped a stick of wood on his foot, and was disabled several days.

The weather clerk furnished us some of the all-wool and a yard-wide goods, last week.

Floyd Snyder sold his saddle horse to his brother, Herbert, one day last week. Price, $80.

Bud Moreland, who lives on J. W. Gaines' place is very poorly with rheumatism. He will move back to Petersburg this week.

The young folks enjoyed themselves with an old time "shin-dig" at Bert Smith's last Friday night. It was the wee sma' hours before they departed for their homes.

One of our young men had the misfortune to break the axel of a borrowed buggy when taking his best girl across the raging waters of Woolper creek a few days since.

James Thompson, of Petersburg, made a tour of this neighborhood last week, and bought several crops of tobacco at fair prices. Very little of it has been delivered. He bought as follows: Jas. Snyder, jr., 8¼ cents; Jas. Snyder, sr., 8 cents; Floyd and Herbert Snyder, 8 cents; Henry Deck, 8 cents; Louis Sullivan, 8 cents; Leslie Williams, 6¼ cents; Charlie Hensley, 5¾ cents; Bert Smith, 6 cents round.

Escaped an Awful Fate.

Mr. H. Haggins of Melbourne, Fla., writes, "My doctor told me I had Consumption and nothing could be done for me. I was given up to die. The offer of a free trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption induced me to try it. Results were startling. I am now on the road to recovery and owe all to Dr. King's New Discovery. It surely saved my life." This great cure is guaranteed for all throat and lung diseases by all Druggists. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial Bottles free.

FLORENCE.

Born, on the 18th, to John Buckner and wife, a boy.

Mrs. Arch Corbin, of Elsmer, spent Saturday with friends here.

Carey Carpenter, of Erlanger, was the guest of friends here Sunday.

Dr. Charles Souther, of Wichita, Kansas, is visiting his parents here.

Miss Caroline Latham is visiting her sister, Mrs. L. A. Conner, at Locust Grove.

Miss Beatrice Carrol has returned to her home in Bankliek, after a pleasant visit with her aunts, the Misses Grogan.

Rev. Jordan Carter preached a very interesting sermon Sunday morning at the Methodist church. There was no evening service on account of the bad weather.

Miss Virginia Smith and Mr. Noel, of Walton; Miss Ethel Souther and Mont Walton, of Pt. Pleasant, were guests of Miss Stella Carpenter from Friday until Sunday.

A number of young people were very pleasantly entertained by Carl Clutterbuck and sister Miss Emma, Saturday evening. Flinch, crokinole and kissing games, were indulged in until a late hour and everyone had a good time.

The Odd-Fellows' ball that took place at the Town Hall, Friday evening, was a success in every way. A nice supper was served in the lodge room by the wives of the Odd-Fellows. Ed Osbourne and Eva Clutterbuck won the prize for the best waltzers. Miss Deanie Ickman, of Covington and Scott Kelly, of Bellevue, were the judges.

BELLEVUE..

Jan. 29.—Miss Cordia Clore, spent several days last week visiting on Clore's Ridge.

The snow that fell here Wednesday was from 3 to 4 inches in depth.

Mrs. John Glore and Pearl Rice, who moved to Connersville some time ago, have moved back to Bellevue.

Oscie Rice will move with his family to South Dakota in the spring. He will take charge of a cattle ranch there.

The thermometer registered 12 below zero here one morning this week. The outlook is gloomy for merchants and river men.

No mail was received here either Tuesday or Wednesday on account of the ice. It was the first tripe that the mail carrier has missed in 14 years of service.

Mrs. Caroline Ryle, of Waterloo, died last Wednesday, the 27th inst. She was over 70 years old and had been an invalid for several years. The remains were interred in the cemetery at Big Bone Thursday in the presence of a host of friends and relatives.

Last Sunday, while Ed Nixon was showing Robert Nixon, his brother, how his new repeating shot gun was manipulated, the gun was discharged in the latters home and the shot tore a large hole in the wall near the clock. He will probably be more careful in the future with a gun that isn't loaded.

We were grieved to hear of the death of Mrs. Annie Stephens, of Rabbit Hash, who died Thursday morning, the 28th inst. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved family in their affliction.

RYLE.

LIMABURG.

Feb. 1.—Owen Aylor is on the sick list.

Aunt Betty Aylor is threatened with pneumonia.

Master Lloyd Weaver has a very sore hand from a cut made by his air rifle.

Frank Crisler, of Ludlow, was visiting his brother, Ben Crisler, recently.

Geo. Baker, our village blacksmith, is buying horse shoe nails by the spring wagon load.

Miss Lizzie Ryle was visiting Miss Emma Adams, of Burlington, Friday and Saturday.

Miss Mabel Vest and Everett Aylor spent Saturday evening with Miss Essie and Sadie Beemon.

Israel Rouse was taken suddenly ill while returning from telephoning to the doctor for his son.

Claude Rouse claims to have the champion saw of the county. With it one man can saw nine cords a day.

A large crowd passed through Limaburg Saturday night on their way to attend the meeting of the Odd-Fellows at Hebron.

Bert Rouse is very much pleased with his telephone. He says if he gets sick now he can lie in bed and telephone for the doctor without bothering any one else.

Budd Baker met with a bad accident Friday. He was trying to head a cow, which ran against a scantling he held in his hand, knocking his thumb back and hurting it badly.

Mr. Waters near Limaburg, has sold his tobacco he raised on his home place and on Mr. Ed Farrell's land for 7 and 8 cents. He is to deliver it to Mr. Stevenson, of Erlanger, next week.

COMMISSARY.

Jan. 30.—Richard Londen spent last Sunday with his daughter on Clore's Ridge.

Mrs. Bernard Rogers is visiting her father and mother this week.

Will Price and wife have been visiting his sister in Constance since last Saturday.

Leslie Sullivan and May and Leonie Cason, were guests of Miss Sadie Marshall last Sunday.

Miss Grace Slayback, of Erlanger, came down Wednesday to visit her mother a few days.

Mrs. Josie Grant and Miss Maud Scott were callers at Mr. W. T. Ryle's, Thursday afternoon.

There was not a single person passed the Commissary Tuesday, and Clutterbuck was the first to pass Wednesday.

Miss Nannie Goodridge spent Wednesday and Wednesday night with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Goodridge.

Mrs. Gene Kelly spent Thursday with Mrs. Randall and Pearl Botts, while Gene made a business trip to Petersburg.

Miss Nannie Goodridge entertained with a candy party Tuesday night. It was an up-to-date party and all enjoyed themselves.

Young people think their love is greater than any other love, and old people think their wrongs greater than other's wrongs.

Carl and Ralph Cason went to Richwood, Monday. Carl returned Wednesday with his sister, Anna, who was visiting her sister, Mrs. Orlin Phipps.

Wm. Slayback, Bd Burris, Dode Snelling and Wilber Scott, called on the Commissary Wednesday night, and spent a couple of hours very pleasantly.

T. J. Walton, your 'phone message to Wilber Scott over the keyhole line was received and delivered at 2 o'clock p. m. I was away on official business at the time of its receipt.

This was the coldest week of the winter at the Commissary. It sent the cold chills chasing each other up and down the spinal column of the Mayor, whenever he stepped out.

Tom, a cat of Mrs. Ransom Ryle, a very large and beautiful one and the pet of the family, has pneumonia, and is in a precarious condition, but it is thought by the careful nursing of nurse Jennie Sebree, that he will pull through.

Deputy Hubert Rouse brought out the mail Wednesday and delivered it to patrons on the upper end of Long street, and then turned it over to the regular carrier. By not delivering it to all the patrons he missed an excellent supper.

H. P. Parsons received a letter Friday from Cincinnati, stating that Mrs. Parsons is improving, but Hubert has been unable for duty for several days. Hubert, wife and Mrs. Parson all wrote words of sympathy, comfort and cheer, Mrs. Parsons telling him "not to fret and worry, but cheer up, that she would be able to come dancing some day, if it is the Lord's will. She said, "Henry, remember I took care of the kids and awaited your return for three long years without a murmer, now don't fret and worry because I am gone a few months." At the time of the receipt of the Cincinnati letter, he received one from his granddaughter at Milan, Ind. The two letters cheered him so that he was as nimble as a young man of 20, and he challenged Tom Marshall for foot-race, which was declined. We left him dancing a jig with an old tom-cat on his shoulder.

LANDING.

Jan. 31.—Look out, Normanvillians, the water is coming, and if it gets 18 inches higher, than '84, as reported it will, you will have to fly to higher grounds, as there will be only 6 dwellings above high water mark. It will be on the floor of J. C. Miller's store.

Mrs. Gertrude Carroll and Mrs. L. R. Miller spent Thursday with C. A. Slater's family, at Hume.

Rev. H. R. Mills and Dr. Simms took dinner with G. L. Miller and family after an able discourse by Rev. Simms, last Sunday.

H. F. Jones and wife expect to move in the near future, to the Dr. Ryle farm near Hathaway. We are sorry to lose good neighbors, but our loss is Hathaway's gain.

Our school will close next Friday. Prof. Newman has done good work and the patrons appreciate it. He will begin another five months school at Big Bone church, Feb. 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Moore, Misses Sallie and Pearl Hughes, Mr. Bob Hughes and Master Tom Hughes, all of Beaver Lick, attended church at Big Bone the 5th Sunday.

Mrs. Gertrude Carroll is trying to be the lady that will be sent to the World's Fair by the Commercial Tribune, and all coupons of same will be thankfully received by her.

One of the greatest social events of the season was the celebration of the Wooden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Miller, Jan. 19. Several useful presents were received and after the guests departed the younger set gave them a surprise party. Many games were played, but the features of the evening were, pit, a dinkey party, and a peanut shower. Near midnight all dispersed for their several homes, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Miller many more years in which are other useful celebrations.

CRESCENT.

Miss Janie Quinlan, who resides with Mr. and Mrs. Meiman, entertained quite a crowd of young folks, Sunday evening. Miss Janie has made many friends while here in Boone, To know her is to love her. The young folks had a merry time. Games and good music were enjoyed by all present. The guests were Misses Emma and Katie Scott, Minnie and Goldie Baxter, Emma and Frances Bramlage, and the Misses Meiman, Messrs. Joe Meiman, Joe Scott, Carl Clutterbuck, Hubert Carpenter, Chester Utz, Will Cahill, Charlie Carpenter, Geo. Tabben, Bud Scott, Carl Puthoff.

IDLEWILD.

Miss Zayda Gaines is visiting her cousin at Home City.

Mrs. Lucy Sullivan was the guest of Mrs. Ella Acra, Sunday.

E. M. and Milton Gaines were Sunday guests of C. E. Stephens and wife.

W. L. Cropper and wife visited Mrs. Cropper's father, Sunday. He is very sick.

Steven Bros. have, so far, made the best sale of tobacco to Thompson—8½c.

Mesdames George Walton and Wm. Hedges visited Mrs. Wm. Clore, last Monday.

Misses Lutie Gaines and Nellie Duncan visited Mrs. Chester Davis, of Ludlow, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Howard, of Petersburg, were visiting relatives at Francesville, Sunday.

The housekeeper's great desire is for her hens to be generous while the price of eggs is so high.

Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Walton had as their Sunday guests, Mr. and Mrs. Lafe McCord, of Warsaw.

Our old neighbor, M. T. Graves, now of Ludlow, is visiting his relatives and friends in this neighborhood.

The burial of Mrs. Miller, the venerable mother of Mrs. Utzinger, took place at 2 pm. at Bullittsburg, Monday.

Our popular merchant, W. D. Crop poe is visiting in Louisville. Elmo Gaines has charge of the store in his absence.

Some ice houses here were filled with a combination of ice and snow off of the creek. Since the last rains the ice is clear and 6 inches thick in places.

Rev. Milo Atkinson passed through here a few days since, moving to Covington, where he will supply Rev. Miller's church, while the latter visits the Holy Land.

Mr. Thermer, of Dearborn county, Indiana, closed his school at the Berkshire school house last Friday. He will prepare himself for a professor at Lebanon, Ohio.

Our mail carrier's horse gave out as he was coming home through the deep snow, one day last week, and Earnest threw the mail sack across his shoulder and walked home.

Mrs. J. A. Gaines enjoys very much the talk and the sweet music of the graphophone that her son, Attorney A. W. Gaines, of Chattanooga, presented her as a birth day present. Her friends who have telephones share the pleasure the instrument affords.

Last Wednesday was a cold day for a fact. At 6 a. m. it was 12 degrees below zero here. Our best weather prophets predict that February will be very cold, snowy and sleety, with heavy rains. If these predictions are correct the suffering for fuel for the poor and for food for stock will be very great.

WALTON.

Atty. J. G. Tomlin has been quite sick for several days.

Miss Jessie Reckets, a charming young lady of Verona, is visiting friends here.

John Kipp and Raymond Byland were out from the city to see their parents, Sunday.

There is a pair of fine twins down at Phil Stapleton's that is hard to beat. They weigh 19 pounds.

Edwards Brothers have painted the interior of their store, which adds very much to its appearance.

A. M. Rouse, of the firm of M. & R. Rouse, made a business trip down the L. & N. a few days ago.

Roy Stamler had on the market Monday, a Belgium hare, 3 months old and that weighed 5½ pounds.

Dr. Cleek, our popular dentist, accompanied by his mother, was visiting friends in Verona, Sunday.

Mark Benson will move to the Hind farm, which has been occupied for many years by Henry Florence.

The Masonic Lodge at this place will hereafter hold its meetings on the first and third Fridays in each month.

Mrs. Russie Taylor has returned from the city, where she had a pleasant visit with her brother, John English.

Charles Beech, of this place, and Miss Sarah Osborn, of Jonesville, were married Monday. They will make Walton their home.

Roy Stamler has been carrying his head in a sling for a few days. Cause—a sheet of ice, a pair skates and a barbed wire fence.

Edward Bristow will move to town from his farm south of here. He and his wife are excellent citizens and will be welcomed to our city.

Mrs. Rogers, who has been confined to his room for several weeks, is able to be about town, very much to the delight of his many friends.

Quite a number of our young people went down to Miss Jennie Carpenter's last Friday evening, and were entertained in a most delightful manner.

John L. Vest, the affable attorney and hustling telephone manager of the Kenton Telephone Co., was over this week in the interest of his Company.

Tinsley Morris has rented the Pheonix Hotel, and will take possession on the first of March. He and his wife are well known here, and will make fine host and hostess.

Mr. Johnson, Superintendent of the Snyder Canning and Preserving Co., is offering 22½ cents a bushel for tomatoes to be grown the coming summer. Contracts can be made at the Walton Drug store.

R. F. Fossette and wife are moving into the Rouse property. They are a very interesting young couple, and Walton has a ready welcome for them. And so has your correspondent, whose next door neighbors they will be.

Charles A. Roberts, the clever young druggist of Verona, was in Walton, last Friday, on business. He is attending his second course of medical lectures at the Kentucky School of Medicine in Louisville. His many friends here wish him success.

GUNPOWDER.

Feb. 1.—Several from here attended the Ryle sale last Saturday.

Mrs. Media Tanner is on the sick list.

S. E. Slater and family were guests of B. C. Surface and wife, Saturday night.

Noah Zimmerman is still confined to his room, with a severe case of neuralgia.

Mrs. B. C. Tanner has been on the sick list for several days. She has throat trouble.

J. M. Conner, of Cincinnati, passed through here Burg last Saturday enroute to the Ryle sale.

Wm. Star and wife gave the young people of the neighborhood a dance, one night last week.

Claud Rouse is a resident of our burg, having moved in with his grandmother, Mrs. Polly Rouse.

Robert O. Ross from away down on Gunpowder, passed through our burg last week enroute to Erlanger.

George Hammon delivered his crop of tobacco to Thomas Stevenson, of Erlanger, last week. Price private.

J. P. Utz and Mrs. Perry Beemon, of Limaburg, were guests of their sister, Mrs. Winnie Tanner, one day last week.

B. C. Surface came very near meeting with a serious accident last Friday. While cutting ice it broke and he went down. The water was considerably over his head, but he caught with his arm and kept his head above the water until assistance reached him, and released him from his perilous position.

UNION.

Miss Lillian Corbin is home again. Her school closed last Friday.

Miss Nannie Burkitt spent Wednesday night with Miss Connie Freeman.

Miss Rachel Wilson has been the guest of Miss Nannie Bristow for several days.

Miss Whooster, of Erlanger, is with her daughter, Mrs. C. E. Clements, who is ill.

I am afraid we are going to lose our cashier. His trip to Burlington looks very suspicious.

Mrs. J. W. Conner entertained quite a number of her Erlanger friends with dinner, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Wilson, of Covington, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Hogan, last week.

Mrs. B. L. Norman left Tuesday for Lexington, where she will attend the Norman-Daingerfield wedding.

Mrs. Charles J. Bradley and Miss Bessie Talbot, of Florence, spent Thursday night with Mrs J. J. Garrison.

Miss Bernice Johnson gave a Flinch and pit party Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Conner.

C. J. Bradley and family and Miss Nannie Bristow spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. and Miss Baker, of Covington.

RICHWOOD.

M. Grubbs lost a cow last week.

Mt. Zion school will close this week.

Thos. Rice filled his ice-house last week.

Coal is hard to obtain here, as both dealers are out.

M. L. Tanner and family were guests of M. Grubbs, Sunday.

Mrs. Allen, of Erlanger, was guest of friends here, last week.

Excelsior Grange will meet Saturday, February 6th, at 2 p. m.

Walter Grubbs delivered two loads of mixed hay to Thos. Flemming, last Saturday.

Geo. C. Good, the Covington merchant, was the guest of Walter Grubbs, Thursday.

A good many of our citizens attended the Ryle sale near Rabbit Hash, last Saturday.

O. F. Clacken lost a valuable horse, last week, by slipping on the ice and injuring itself.

Ollie Dixon will rent his farm known as the Berry Dixon homestead, to some responsible person.

Mrs. Jane Conner is a guest of relatives in the city, and having her eyes treated by a specialist.

Walter Grubbs and family, Louis Clarkson and wife were guests at William Glacken's, Sunday.

Walter Carpenter gave the young folks a dance Thursday night, and a large crowd had a jolly good time

Public Speaking.

Hon. Clift E. Nadsad, candidate for Congress has published a list of appointments for 140 speeches in the district. His Boone county dates are all in February and are as follows:

Verona, Wednesday, 10, at 7:30 p. m.

Richwood, Thursday, 11, at 8 a. m.; Union at 9:30 a. m.; Beaver Lick at 11 a. m.; Hume at 1:30 pm; Berkshire at 2:30 pm; Big Bone at 3:30 pm; Normansville, 5 pm; Hamilton 7:30 pm.

Walton, Monday, 15, at 7:30 pm.

Dixon, Monday 22, at 8:30 am; Gunpowder, 9:30 am; Limaburg, 11 am; Hebron, 1:30 pm; Constance, 3 pm; Bullittsville, 4:30 pm; Petersburg, 7:30 pm.

Idlewild, Tuesday 23 8 am; Maxville 1:30 pm; Waterloo 2:30 pm; Rabbit Hash, 4 pm; Bellevue, 7 pm.

Florence, Wednesday 24, at 9 am.

Carrying in fuel and feeding the stock has been all the farmers could do for several weeks.

The Legislature has made an excellent record to date, but there is plenty of time in which to spoil the broth.

Love as a Factor in Soul Winning

IT IS THE INDISPENSABLE EQUIPMENT OF THE CHRISTIAN WORKER.

Sermon by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher.

Chicago, Sunday, Jan. 31, 1904.

Text: "Hereby know we love, because He laid down His life for us; and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren. But whoso hath the world's goods and beholdeth his brother in need, and shutteth up his compassion from him, how doth the love of God abide in him? My little children, let us not love in word, neither with the tongue; but in deed and truth."—1 John 3:16-18.

THE supreme fact in the world to-day is that Jesus Christ laid down His life for the sins of the world, and the supreme obligation upon the followers of Christ is that of telling others of the One Who is mighty to save. With the new relation of the believer to God through the cleansing power of Jesus' blood comes a new relation to the world lost in sin. The one saved, by the very nature of the new power which has become operative in his life, must himself become a soul-winner. The man brought from the sinking ship to the shore in the breeches-buoy becomes one more man at the end of the life line to draw others from the brink of death to safety on shore. As Christ reaches out and saves it is that the one saved may become another channel through which redeeming grace may reach those still in peril. Far out in the surging waves of sin the precious human souls are going down to death. Christ throws out link by link the human chain to reach the sinking ones and draw them to Him. He is mighty to save. His arm is strong, and from it flows to His followers a never-failing current of power. But suppose the human chain is too short to reach that perishing soul far, far out in the grasp of the dashing waves.

THINK of the life-savers on the shore battling with the waves and, with that heroism which braves death itself, seeking to save the precious lives of those struggling in the dark waters. With strong hand clasped in strong hand the men stretch the human life line far out into the raging sea. The waves break in mad fury about them as though filled with angry fear of losing their human prey. The wind howls in cruel glee and lashes the foaming waters until they seem possessed with a fury and power horn of hell. But the brave men hear not the shrieking wind nor do they hesitate before the awful breakers, for just before them going down to death is a human life. The white face has turned towards them in mute appeal, the hands are thrust out in desperation. The human life line stretches every muscle and nerve. Almost they have reached the drowning man. Another wave may bring him within reach of their strong hands. But no! Oh, God! just when salvation seemed near, another wave came and swept him out of reach. The line is too short! "Out a little farther!" is the cry which goes up. And the man on the shore shouts back: "Another man is needed. My God! for another man." One of the rescued ones springs up from the sands where he has been resting after his awful battle with the waves and becomes part of that life line. It reaches farther out into the surf, now. The drowning man is reached just as he is sinking out of sight forever. A shout of joy goes up which sounds above the raging of the storm, and the precious life is brought safe upon the shore. As the men crowd round, chafing the hands and applying restoratives to the nearly dead man, a glad cry of recognition hursts from the lips of the last man to join that life line—the man who was needed to effect the rescue—and he exclaims: "My brother! my brother!" Ah, what joy surged through his heart as he realized what it had meant for him to become part of that life line.

AND Christ saves you, oh Christian, that you may become part of the life line reaching out into the world and rescuing the precious souls going down to eternal death in the black waters of sin. Your failure to respond when the cry goes up: "Another man needed? The line is too short!" may prevent the rescue of one far out in the waves. And it may he your own brother or sister, your father or mother. A great many prayers are requested for loved ones, and there is much anxious thought and even prayer for them, but, do you know, I do not believe it will avail much in rescuing the perishing ones unless the one wishing to have the rescue effected joins the life line and helps in drawing to the glad shores of salvation. I may ring my hands on the shore and cry in agony to God for my dear ones still out on the perilous waters of sin, but, unless I become one of the life line, unless I put one hand in the strong hand of my Saviour and reach the other one out in eager effort to draw the perishing one to Jesus, my loved one may be lost forever right before my very eyes.

WITH this truth clearly seen and sincerely accepted comes the desire to know how to become a soul winner. Question of qualification and equipment is at once raised. As we hear our Lord say to us: "Go tell," we turn to Him and, in fear and weakness, plead, as Moses did of old: "Oh, Lord, I am slow of speech." And if it is not a stammering tongue it is something else which we feel utterly unfits us for the doing of that which the Lord has commanded us to do. We feel that because we have not the sturdy faith of a Peter, or the power of argument of a Paul, or the eloquence of an Apollos, we are not able to become a soul winner. In false modesty and humility we shrink back from the post of duty and the life line falls short. We think that if we could speak as that other Christian speaks, or if we knew our Bible as some other one does, or if we had the consecration and faith which are possessed by some other brother or sister we would be glad and eager to join the ranks of the soul winners. But we have not, and so we hesitate and go not at our Lord's command.

How much Bible knowledge does it take to become a soul winner? Ask that ignorant, humble laborer into whose heart the Christ had gained entrance and who went out among his fellow workmen and repeated the one verse of Scripture which he knew: "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth upon Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

How much wisdom and learning and skill in argument does it take to become a soul winner? Ask that little boy whose infidel father sought to sow the seeds of infidelity in his little heart and so printed a sign, "God is Nowhere," and placed it on the walls of his home and asked his son to read it. The little fellow had been to Sunday school and had learned of God and Jesus, the Saviour, and he promptly spelled out the words and said: "God is Now Here." And God was there, for the unexpected reply sent the arrow of conviction straight to the father's heart. The mass of infidelity and unbelief was swept away as no argument could ever have done, and a little child it was who led the father to Jesus.

HOW much eloquence does it take to become a soul winner? Ask that convert of the Water-street mission, Billy Kelly, who before his conversion was beekeeper and sport. After he came to Jesus he went to work at rough, hard labor. He was surrounded by wicked, drinking men. He longed to bring them to Christ. He could not be eloquent in pleading his Saviour's cause. He could not even speak without stumbling and faltering in his message. But he could say: "I've been down to the mission, and you better come, too." And they did come at the simple invitation, and found salvation, and Billy Kelly became an important link in the life line reaching out for lost men. And so ignorance, and weakness, and lack of Scriptural knowledge are not a bar to entering the ranks of the soul winners. There are Pauls and Apolloses, and they are used mightily by God, but, thank God! Jesus calls the one talented and the half-talented and the quarter-talented disciples into His service, and He blesses their efforts in the saving of men. Learning, eloquence, deep understanding of the Bible enlarge one's possibilities of service for the Master, but a qualification which is more important than all these, and which all may possess from the lowest to the highest, from the weakest to the strongest, from the unlettered artisan to the intellectual giant, and which all must possess if they would be in the ranks of the soul winners, is love—simple, sweet, powerful love. Love is an essential element in soul winning. Whatever else may be needed or not needed, this is certain, the soul winner must have love.

IN THAT inimitable classic, the thirteenth chapter of I Corinthians, Paul tells us about love, the greatest thing in the world. In words of marvelous grace and simplicity, he shows that all knowledge, all power, all charity and good works are absolutely a negative quantity, in God's estimation, without love. Faith—yes, because "without faith it is impossible to please God." Hope—yes, because "hope maketh not ashamed," and because "hope as an anchor to the soul is sure and steadfast." But above all else love, for it is the crowning glory of all else. As F. B. Meyer beautifully puts it: "Faith is the root, hope is the stem, and love is the perfect flower." "God is love," and hence is the source of love. "God so loved that He gave." Herein is the depth of God's love revealed. "God commendeth His love towards us in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us,"—here is conquering love. "Hereby know we love, because He laid down His life for us"—here is love the begetter of love. God's love not only conquering, but God's love filling, Love, giving birth to love. We have then God's love—the true love—revealed through Christ; love conquering through Christ, and love begetting love through Christ. This is the love which is a factor in soul winning. But it is not the love which always rules in the heart and life of Christ's followers. Faith may be present in saving power; the Christian graces and virtues may be a possession of the heart and an expression of the life; Christian service may be faithfully and freely rendered, but love may be lacking—that love which bleeds and suffers and dies that souls may be saved.

PAUL, who loves to reach his climaxes on the sublime pinnacle of love, pleads with the Christian in the third chapter of Colossians, to "above all these things, put on love." And as we glance back over the verses which precede we discover that the apostle has set a high standard and placed a rare value upon love. He says: "Put on as God's elect, holy and beloved, a heart of compassion, kindness, lowliness, meekness, long-suffering, forbearing one another and forgiving one another; even as the Lord forgave you, so also do ye." But while that towering peak of love is still ahead, Paul is not satisfied, and he goes on to urge that "above all these things put on love." It is like climbing the Alps. While the loftiest peak is still ahead and unscaled the mountaineer is unsatisfied. He must press on until from the summit he may view all the lesser peaks. So the Christian is urged by Paul to mount up and still up. Put on compassion, but do not be content to rest at that altitude. Put on kindness, but do not delude your heart into the thought that kindness is the full expression of the Christian life. Lift up the eyes and behold the heights still beyond. Attain meekness and long-suffering, and forhearance and forgiveness, and still love, the "summum bonum," remains towering above all else. Paul calls it the "bond of perfectness," as though love were the essential element needed to unite and make of the others one harmonious whole.

IT IS as though one wishing to make a garment should secure all the materials, the cloth, the lining, the buttons, the trimmings, etc., and should lay one material after the other upon the person and expect them to make one complete whole. The cloth might be all that could be desired, the lining good, the trimmings and buttons just what were needed, but if they were not securely and properly joined the one to the other in its proper place there would be no garment at all. So it would be with the character which had compassion here and kindness there, meekness, longsuffering, forbearance, forgiveness, if love were not present to make them one complete, and beautiful, and harmonious whole. Compassion without love—is it possible? Yes! Kindness without love? Yes! Long suffering, forbearance, forgiveness, without love? Yes! For compassion is not love. Kindness, meekness, etc., are not love. And so the Christian life may he rich towards God in many ways, but the essential element of love may he lacking, and the greatest factor in soul winning he missed.

Another phase of this question of love as a factor in soul winning is suggested by Paul's admonition in the twelfth of Romans to "let love he without hypocrisy." How the devil loves to counterfeit. He tries to pass the mintage of hell as the genuine coins of the kingdom. How much it behooves the Christian to test for the true ring; to make sure that he is not aiding in circulating a bogus article instead of the real thing. "Let love be without hypocrisy." Let it not he a false and superficial love which is devoid of inward inspiration and power. That kind of love is not soul winning love. How we ought to subject ourselves to the Searcher of all hearts to let Him probe deep and discover if that which we have supposed was love is only a sham.

BUT may all be possessed of this true, soul-winning love? Yes, verily, for God gave that love might be expressed and Christ gave Himself that love might be possessed. Love is the one thing all His followers may have in unstinted measure. "Hereby know we love, because He laid down His life for us." In exact ratio as the sense of what God has done for the soul through Christ love becomes the possession of the soul. As Jesus said: "To whom much is forgiven, the same loveth much." The possession of love is great in degree as the work of Christ is manifest to the heart. The more I get of Christ and His saving grace, the more capacity I have for love. The love of Christ can fill my heart only as the Christ is there to draw that love.

And with possession comes expression. Love within means power in service without. Consciousness of Christ's sacrifice stirs to self-sacrifice—the laying down of Christ's life gives to the Christian a willingness likewise to suffer. Not sentimental expression of lip and tongue, but real genuine expression of love in deed and truth. Loving souls into the Kingdom, instead of trying to talk them into the Kingdom. Christ laid down His life that we might know love. We must lay down our lives that others may become conscious of that love.

A CONVERTED Catholic with deep feeling told me once that the only thing that ever brought her out into the light and blessing of the Gospel was the unfailing and all-conquering love of one who sought her conversion. Where arguments and talking and pleading had failed love won its way and was triumphant. She pleaded with Christians that if they were to win souls for Christ they must love them with a love which counted no sacrifice too great, a love which could endure all things, a love which was constant and tender. How can a love that will not sacrifice reveal a Christ who died? How can a love that will not get way down alongside the unsaved soul, even if it is in the gutter, reveal the Christ who came all the way from Heaven to earth to save? How can a love which is not persistent reveal a Christ who stands patiently waiting to he gracious? How can a love which will not break with its longing to see souls saved reveal the Christ whose heart hurst with anguish for the lost world? Paul became a Jew that he might gain the Jews; "to them that are under the law, as under the law, that I might gain them that are under the law; to them that are without law, that I might gain them that are without law; to the weak became I as weak, that I might gain the weak; I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means save some." And Paul was able to do all this because of love—the marvelous love of Christ—was operative in his life. And if you would be a soul winner—and you must be unless you stop your ears to your Lord's commands, and shut your eyes to your supreme obligation as a Christian—you must have love! Love!! Love!!!

COMPENSATING WAGES.

Workingmen on the Verge of Starvation in Many Lines of Industry.

Several democratic congressmen have taken Congressman Hepburn, of Iowa, to task for his reckless and unfounded assertions on November 19, that:

"There is labor in every part of the country for every man who wants a place to work, and there is a compensating wage for every man who will perform a day's work."

But no other congressman has made Mr. Hepburn and his statements appear quite so ridiculous—to use mild terms—as did Congressman Baker, of Brooklyn in his maiden speech in congress. The following is a part of the column report of Mr. Baker's speech as it appeared in the New York Times of December 15:

"Is there any man, even upon the republican side," he asked, "who, as we see growing up gigantic fortunes almost beyond calculation, and in our great cities hundreds of thousands of individuals who scarcely know where their breakfast is coming from in the morning, will pretend that these hundreds of thousands of individuals who have none of the wealth of the world have received compensating wages for their toil?

"'Compensating wages,' we are told, exist for every man who desires to work, and yet the evidence was brought out before the coal strike commission that under the system of slavery that existed in the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania persons have worked for 14 years and never received one solitary penny for wages.

"Cardinal Gibbons says of the persons employed in the clothing industry in Baltimore: 'They are living on starvation wages. The result is that in a few years they become incapacitated for work.' When they become incapacitated for work where are they going to receive the compensating wages that are to support them?

"This condition is not unique. Right in my own city of New York, for nearly two years, men have come to my door almost every day to ask me for what little influence I have to get them a job in the city parks. That pays two dollars a day, but a foreman in that department tells me that on an average the men only work four days a week.

"These men are hegging for an opportunity to earn eight dollars a week in the great city of New York, where rents are so high, where prices have been increased in this period of prosperity, where trusts have been able to squeeze lahor down and raise prices up.

"The cost of living has gone up 37 per cent. during this period of so-called prosperous times, and at the best wages have not gone up more than ten per cent. A compensating wage. Is it a compensating wage that gives to the toiler one-fourth of the increase and makes him pay the whole increased cost of his commodities?

"In the great state of Iowa (Hepburn's state), where we are told every man has his bank account," he continued, "the farm laborers do not receive in wages as much as the mileage that is paid to the gentleman from Iowa to come to congress.

"A gentleman who at the time of the great labor trouble at Homestead was very careful to remain secluded at Skibo castle; who was very careful not to respond to cablegrams sent him asking him to use his influence to see that the struggle should be ended—Andrew Carnegie—has a great deal to say about the 'beneficent system' instituted by the United States Steel corporation, which is called their "bonus" for their employes.

"Says Andrew Carnegie: 'In the bonus granted to employes we have proof of regard for them which cannot but tell, and the distribution of shares in the concern has an advantage which so far even no partnership has enjoyed.'

"Yes; never before in any large way, on any large scale has an industrial corporation been able to foist upon its workmen stock at 82½ which sells today in New York at 52⅝."

Protection Versus Bounties.

Over in Canada the government is having trouble with some of the protected steel plants about the amount of bounty due them. It says the manufacturers are not entitled to all they claim. This shows what a coarse, clumsy system they have there in comparison with our smooth working tariff system. The Canadian manufacturers are only asking for a few millions a year in bounties, while one of our steel manufacturing organizations, by means of the tariff system, took about $70,000,000 from the people last year, and there was no dispute with the government as to the amount, and only now and then a few trifling kicks from the plundered victims. A small sum like $3,000,000 or $4,000,000 looks big when taken openly from the government treasury and turned over to the trusts; but $70,000,000 can be taken secretly and given to the trusts and not a word will be said. The bounty system is not "in it" with protection.

—There are the days when the republicans of Indiana having gone way back and sat down, people can begin to get a true idea of what the state will look like on the 9th of November. "So damnably democratic," as "Uncle Mark" put it when he learned of the results of the last election in Missouri.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

SOMETHING OF A DILEMMA.

The Republican Party Is Between the Devil and the Deep Sea Over Hanna.

Between the growing distrust of Roosevelt and the doubtful availability of Hanna the republican party finds itself in a desperately weak situation; a situation which is baldly disclosed now, says the St. Louis Republic, with Roosevelt being pounded all along the lines of the organization and the Wall street influence going with the organization in the effect to develop Hanna's boom.

Distrust of Roosevelt has crystallized into open opposition by the business interests, not only of Wall street, but of the country very generally. The great part of the business of the country does not possess either the interest or the influence of Wall street in politics; but is conservative; desires to follow the established commercial conventions; relies substantially upon a secure and conservative administration; and resents vagaries which are apt to dusturb and unsettle its whole basis of operations. Uneasiness perhaps best describes the attitude of America's commercial interests toward Roosevelt; not so much uneasiness for his further acts during the present term as for his course should he receive the office upon his own account by the vote of the people.

In contemplating the Roosevelt of now and the Roosevelt of the future a clear distinction is made. Mr. Roosevelt, suddenly elevated to the presidency by the tragedy at Buffalo impliedly assumed a continuation of McKinley's policies; these constituted a tacit incumbrance, as it were, and the obligation rested upon the successor to carry them out. Unquestionahly this obligation has had a restraining influence upon Mr. Roosevelt, though he has by no means kept within the limitations of the McKinley conservatism at all times. He has been sufficiently impulsive, radical and erratic on several occasions to demonstrate what he might do if placed in office upon his own responsibility and without the superimposition of restraining influences.

Given a clear title to the presidency by popular suffrage, what would the pride, the egotism and self-will of this extremist lead him to? This is the question which the financial, industrial and mercantile communities are asking themselves.

The answer is indicated by the forces which are rolling up for Hanna. Ohio and Indiana are for Hanna. New York goes without saying. Pennsylvania would be for him likewise. Probably Illinois would. The influences in these states are strong enough to dominate the machine, or "organization."

Would Hanna make a stronger candidate than Roosevelt? In one sense he would. Behind him would be united and thorough organization. Behind him would also be the republican interests known as "Wall street," which have withdrawn from Roosevelt. "Business interests" generally would perhaps accord to Hanna, if president, a greater confidence than they now repose in Mr. Roosevelt.

But from the standpoint of the people, Hanna would be no unmixed blessing. Relegated to Hanna for its nominee, the republican party would have to face defensively the great national question of corruption in the federal service. The department scandals have conclusively revealed the link which connects boodle with the machine with which Hanna is associated and has been largely instrumental in perfecting.

Yet the fact remains that Hanna is no more identified with the organization than was Roosevelt up to within recent weeks. Roosevelt assiduously cultivated machine strength by every means in his power; by appointments, by capitulations to the machine, by concessions, even by the abandonment of previously expressed convictions and intentions concerning vital issues. And by these means he succeeded in developing and possessing a no inconsiderable pull with the powers that be. Nor did his machine strength wane until the distrust of the financial and mercantile interests generally became manifest and Wall street threw its influence into the opposing scale.

Thus the republican party stands between the devil and the deep blue sea; hetween unsafe radicalism and machine concentration—the former dangerous to commercial, industrial and financial health; the latter lacking, even in greater degree, the confidence of the masses.

—In 1902 the deficit in the post office department was $2,900,000; in 1903 it was $4,500,000; for the present fiscal year it is officially estimated to reach $7,200,000, notwithstanding the fact that for these three years the increase in the receipts is $25,000,000. This, aside from the rottenness revealed throughout the department, can afford little encouragement to those who advocate government control of so many lines of the country's business.—Louisville Courier Journal.

—The growth of executive power already has become too dangerous for the best interests of the country. It is taking us all to rapidly away from the original limitations of the federal government set by the fathers of the republic. What is imperatively demanded now is a check upon executive authority and not additional power placed in the hands of the president for the weal or woe of the nation.—Pittsburg Post.

Best in the World.

Estherville, Ia., Feb. 1st.—Mr. George J. Barber, of this place, says:

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best medicine in the world. There is nothing as good. I had been sick for over 15 years with Kidney Disease, which I finally turned into Bright's Disease. I was treated by Doctors in Chicago, but they didn't do me any good. The best Doctor in Estherville treated me for five years with no better success. I heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and made up my mind to give them a trial.

"I am very thankful to be able to say that they cured me completely, and I think they are the best medicine in the world."

The honest, earnest, straightforward experiences of real living men and women are the only material used in advertising Dodd's Kidney Pills. One such testimony is worth more than a thousand unsupported claims. The people who have used Dodd's Kidney Pills are those whose evidence is worth consideration, and surely nothing can be more convincing than a statement like Mr. Barber's. There are thousands of others just as strong.

FRAUDS IN A BALE OF HAY.

Frauds in Watch Cases.

According to an article in the Cincinnati Commercial, a fifty-one pound stone was recently found in that city secreted in a bale of hay of eighty pounds.

This is not as bad as finding a lump of lead of nearly one-half the weight of the solid gold watch case secreted in the center of the case.

Gold watch cases are sold by weight, and no one can see where this lead is secreted until the springs of the case are taken out and the lead will be found secreted behind them.

These cases are made by companies who profess to be honest but furnish the means to the dishonest to rob the public. It is not pleasant for anyone to find that he has lugged a lump of lead in his watch case.

Another trick the makers of spurious solid gold watch cases is to stamp the case "U. S. Assay." The United States does not stamp any article made out of gold and silver except coin, and the fakir, by using this stamp, wants to make the public believe that the government had something to do with the stamping or guaranteeing the fineness of the watch case.

Another trick of the watch fakir is to advertise a watch described as a solid gold filled watch with a twenty or twenty-five-year guarantee. These watches are generally sent C. O. D., and if the purchaser has paid for the watch, he finds that the Company which guaranteed the watch to wear is not in existence.

The Dueber-Hampden Watch Company of Canton, Ohio, who are constantly exposing these frauds, will furnish the names of the manufacturers who are in this questionable business.

THE BROWNLOW BILL.

It Advocates the Kind of "Paternalism" Which Will Make Our Country Prosperous.

Some very worthy people with irreproachable intentions profess alarm at the purposes and provisions of the Brownlow good roads bill because it savors of paternalism. To hear them expatiate on that dread evil with which the country is threatened by this bill one with humorous susceptibilities and a logical sense cannot fail to be amused. What is this awful bogie man thus invoked to frighten people into an unreasoning apprehension just as children are made tractable after dark by weird and supernatural suggestion?

Paternalism is the exercise in government of those methods which a father with good instincts practices towards his children. In the domestic sphere it is always commended, because it is humane and decent and produces only happiness and good. It is really the measure of efficiency and perfection in free government. "Of the people, by the people, for the people." History contains no record of any savage tribe with a geological survey, a census bureau, weather bureau, department of commerce and labor, or a division distributing seeds, potatoes and turnips free through its post office, or even with a post office to distribute them through. Government of the people, by a tyrant, with a club, always lacks the alarming attributes of paternalism.

WALTER B. BROWNLOW.

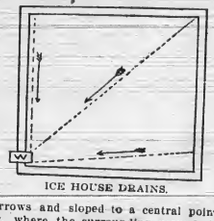
The framers of our national constitution, realizing that they were preparing an instrument by which the people of that and coming time were to evolve the most perfect and effective government on the earth, incorporated into that instrument all the paternalism feasible at that period of human knowledge, and provided for advance in knowledge by incorporating a provision empowering congress to legislate for the "general welfare." It is a fact that nearly all the progress we have made in that government has been in improving and adding paternalistic features. In this year of grace, 1904, we shall expend in the United States and our insular possessions practically $150,000,000 for our postal service alone, and that is typical paternalism.

The most beneficent way in which a kind father can assist his children is by helping them to help themselves. That is the principle of the Brownlow bill in so far as it involves any paternalism. A very interesting precedent for government assistance and stimulus to a state, in a matter which the state could not have carried out alone, has been afforded in California. The Fifty-sixth congress appropriated $400,000, to be used in conjunction with an equal amount appropriated by the legislature of California, to construct a dam across the narrows of the Yuba river, one of the tributaries of the Sacramento. Hydraulic mining, one of the industries which had made California known as the "golden state," had been paralyzed by a decree of the United States court, enjoining all hydraulic mining on the head waters of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers. The debris washed down from the banks of gravel, which had been dissolved to get their hidden gold, had been carried down by the waters and deposited upon the lowlands. Farms had been destroyed, cities had watched the rivers flowing by gradually raised until their bottoms were far above the streets and inundation prevented only by high levees. The only method by which such damage could be prevented and the industry resumed was to build a dam and, by thus holding back the water, making a settling pond. To do this on a sufficiently extensive scale to afford satisfactory and adequate relief required a greater expenditure than California felt that it could afford.

She appealed to congress to help her with the burden and congress responded. The dam is being built. Great benefits are anticipated. It is expected that the object lesson thus afforded will induce the expenditure of much state and private money for a similar purpose and that the government, having thus helped the people to help themselves in this way, need not be called on further.

It is not true that any kind of salt will do for dairy butter. Salt has a great deal to do with the quality and keeping properties of butter. Only the best should, therefore, be used. It may cost a trifle more to buy it, but the return will make up for that in a short time.

MANAGING A HEIFER.



Much of the Young Animal's Success as a Dairy Cow Depends on a Correct Start.

No matter how well a heifer is backed up by the milking qualities of ancestors, much of her success as a dairy cow depends on getting her rightly started. Accordingly, though kept in a thrifty condition, she should not be encouraged to fatten while growing, lest when growth be attained all her surplus food goes to fat. It is advisable to have her freshen as soon as she is two years old, if not a little before, and, generally speaking, the calf removed the moment it is born—if possible so she will not see it, least of all touch it. Given, then, two quarts of sweetened and salted oatmeal, or linseed gruel, including drinking water with the chill taken off, she should four hours later be milked and the calf fed. That the milking may be nothing new to her, her udder and teats should have been previously handled, and even some milk drawn every night and morning if the udder happens to be too full for a few days before the calf is dropped. During this critical period she might be fed a moderate grain ration twice a day, composed of bran and corn meal, but if so her udder should be closely watched, to see if it becomes hard and hot; in that case it should be bathed in warm water and rubbed with a camphorated preparation and the grain ration, of course, stopped. Assuming, however, that she freshens in every respect without mishap, in a week or two her food should be steadily but lightly increased, with the milking done by the same person at regular hours. The object should be to make her maintain a good flow for a long time or until she calves again, if possible, and if she seems capable of enduring this treatment, she should be liberally fed. While the practice of continuous milking from year to year is not to be advocated, since, as a rule, cows do better work and produce stronger progeny when given a chance to build up for a month or six weeks before parturition, it is policy to establish in the heifer, if one can, the habit of long milking which will go with her through life.—Agricultural Epitomist.

Encourage the dog and the cat. Feed them well and give them good care. They are useful on the farm.

Good friend, raise your own mutton. If there is a single good reason why you should not we should like to know what it is.

Sheep will eat hay that is half weeds. Yes, but that is not the kind of feed they ought to have. Weeds and good solid flesh do not go together, any more than clear johnny-cake and good health do with the men folks.

Most any man can get up in the morning and throw a lot of hay into the manger for his cows. But that is not dairying. Dairying means care as well as feeding. Study, as well as getting up at four o'clock in the morning. Gentleness and patience, no less than the heavier tasks connected with a herd of cows from which one hopes to make his living.—Farm Journal.

Elgin as Ornamental Crab.

This variety has been in cultivation for a number of years and originated in Illinois. Tree rapid, vigorous grower, forming an upright, spreading head. Tree 25 inches in circumference at base, 22 inches at head. Generally free from disease. First bloom was noted in 1892, a few fruits were produced this year, and in 1895 the trees bore a heavy crop. This variety has continued to be productive, bearing good crops in 1897, 1899 and 1901. Thirteen bushels were picked from two trees in 1899. Fruit of good size for a Siberian crab; oblate in form, dull in color, and of poor quality. We do not recommend this variety. However, it is a beautiful ornamental when in full bloom and for that purpose has some value.—Report of Virginia Station.

Cow Stables in Holland.

In Holland many of the cow stables are attached to the residences in which the owners live. The stables are in front. These stables are usually well-built structures, but have few desirable features in the way of light and ventilation. However, as the Dutch stable is part of the house, it has to be kept clean, no matter how great the labor required to accomplish this. This is the more necessary, as the cows have to occupy their stalls continuously throughout the winter months.

FINERY FOR THE FAIR.

Elaborate Trimmings and Fancy Details Characterize the Season's Gowns.

Tailors and dressmakers are turning out more black cloth costumes than ever, and they are for both old and young women, reports the New York Tribune. The smooth finished black cloth gown is considered much "smarter" than the rough texturer, however fine. These gowns are both plain and elaborately trimmed, short for street wear or long for carriage use. They may be "brightened," if desired, by contrasting furs, lace accessories or dashes of color on the hat, in plumes or rich velvet flowers and foliage.

For neglige gowns simplicity is the leading "note," but it is, for the most part, a rich and costly simplicity, unless one have both the tact and leisure to do the amount of dainty hand work that distinguishes them. China silk, cashmere, albatross and dainty crepes are the favored materials, and are exceedingly effective. A dainty effect is gained in a white morning gown of albatross by having its flowing lines fall over a lining of rose colored taffeta, by trimming it with bands of rose-pink embroidery, outlining the front, neck, shoulders and sleeves, which are opened over undersleeves of pink silk mull.

Ostrich feathers grow more beautiful in their soft and exquisite colorings, shading and "fluffiness." And, after all, they are so serviceable, as they will bear any amount of wear and hard usage, and can be easily and cheaply renovated.

Coque feathers are "smart" in the natural glossy green tones shading into black, and are most effective when worn on soft felt and heavier hats and with any dark street costume. Stoles to match may be had, and the "play" of these feathers rippling in a crisp breeze is charming.

There is quite a "rage" for fancy vests, and these, being adjustable, may be many and varied, to suit the occasion, coat or gown. White, the new blues, gray, red, hunter's green and black may be embroidered with gold, or in dainty Persian colors; or any of the rich brocades for gowns may be used, even the fancy "vestings" for men.

Ribbons, in their perfection of texture and tones, are used for almost everything. Beautiful Marie Antoinette and pompadour ribbons are joined by bands of lace insertion, or by fagoting, and modeled into the loveliest evening gowns, negliges, dressing sacques and (in narrow widths) even dressy blouses.

A BREAKFAST DISH.

Golden Brown Pancakes and Sausage with Gravy and How to Prepare Them.

One of the favorite dishes on the farm in cold winter mornings is that of golden brown pancakes served with the darker brown sausage and gravy. And nowhere can such pure, sweet sausage be found as on the farm where the housewife herself prepares the ingredients and superintends the making, says the Prairie Farmer Home Magazine. Sausage may be a homely dish and there is no variety in the way of preparing them, but even then it makes a vast difference whether they are served up pale and grease-soaked or brown and crisp. It is preferable to remove the meat from the skins, though perhaps they present a more attractive appearance when incased in the skin. If they are served in the skins, they should be so cooked that the casings do not break, causing an unsightly appearance. The cause of their breaking is that the outside cooks too rapidly, even before the center has become warmed. To prevent this, place the sausages upon the stove in a pan of nearly hot water and allow them to remain there until heated through. Do not allow them to boil. Remove from the water and drop upon a hot, dry pan, frying them a rich brown all over. In their tempting brown gravy they will prove an excellent dish to serve with the cakes. A recipe for light savory cakes is as follows: Sift into one pint of flour a teaspoonful of baking powder and one-half teaspoonful of salt. To this add two well-beaten eggs, a level teaspoonful of baking soda dissolved in buttermilk, and sufficient buttermilk to make the batter of the right consistency. Sour milk may be substituted for buttermilk. For greasing the griddle it is best to use a small piece of salt pork attached to a fork. Rubbing this over the griddle each time before dropping in the cakes will furnish just the right amount of grease for frying.

Perhaps waffles will make a pleasant substitute for cakes. Sift one pint of flour, a teaspoonful of baking powder and a teaspoonful of salt, into a bowl. Beat separately the whites and yolks of three eggs; stir the yolks and a tablespoonful of melted butter into a pint of milk. Pour this mixture into a hole in the flour; beat all together, adding the stiffened whites, and pour the batter into a greased waffle iron.

Temper and Complexion.

Temper has much to do with the destruction of a fine and delicately tinted skin. You are familiar with the woman who becomes pale with anger or purple with rage, yellow with disappointment, or green with envy. The pallor, the purple patches, the jaundice, and the "greenery-yallery Grosvenor gallery" hues are apt to become fixed—and a woman whose complexion consists of a scheme of color in which these tints predominate distinctly bears the color imprint of the sere, the yellow leaf.—Chicago Tribune.

Miss Rose Gordon, 2,103 Oakland av., Oakland Heights, Madison, Wis., writes:—

"A few years ago I caught a severe cold, which resulted in chronic bronchitis and catarrh. Our family physician prescribed medicines which gave temporary relief only. I began taking Peruna and improved at once. Two bottles cured me. I recommend Peruna to all sufferers, and am most grateful to you for your valuable medicine."—Miss Rose Gordon.

Washington, D. C., 609 H street, N. W. Dear Dr. Hartman:—I used to think that the doctors knew all about our aches and pains and were the proper ones to consult when sick, but since I have been sick myself I certainly had good reason to change my mind. During the winter I caught a heavy cold, which developed into catarrh of the bronchial tubes and an inflamed condition of the respiratory organs. The doctors were afraid that pneumonia would set in and prescribed pills, powders and packs until I sickened of the whole thing, as I did not improve. One of the ladies in the home had a bottle of Peruna and she advised me to try that. Shortly after I began using it I felt that I had found the right medicine. I used two bottles and they restored me easily and pleasantly to perfect health. While my stomach was very delicate, Peruna did not nauseate me in the least, but gave me a good appetite, and I wish to express my gratitude to you for restored health."—Miss Rosalie Von Struenning

CATCHING COLD

There is no fact of medical science better established than that a teaspoonful of Peruna before each meal during the winter season will absolutely protect a person from catching cold. Now, if this is true (and there is no doubt of it), thousands of lives would be saved, and tens of thousands of cases of chronic catarrh prevented, by this simple precaution within reach of every one.

After a cold has been contracted a teaspoonful of Peruna every hour will shortly cure it, leaving no trace of it behind. After chronic catarrh has become established, or the first stages of chronic bronchitis or consumption have been reached, it will take much longer to effect a cure.

It seems strange that as well known and well established as these facts are any one should neglect to profit by them, and yet no doubt there are many who pay little or no attention to them and go on catching cold, acquiring chronic catarrh, bronchitis and consumption.

Catarrh May Permeate the Whole System.

Mrs. Mary E. Sampson, West Derry, Rockingham county, N. H., writes:—"I had terrible headaches, both ears run and I was nervous all the time, also had trouble each month; was deaf in one ear for thirty years. I took six bottles of Peruna and one of Manalin, and am happy to say that it is the best medicine that I ever used. I am not so nervous, my appetite is good, everything I eat agrees with me, and I am feeling better in every way. I think Peruna is a Godsend to women and a blessing to suffering humanity."—Mary E. Sampson.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

FOR CONGRESS.

HON. CLIFFORD E. NADAUD, of Kerton county, is a candidate for Congress from the Sixth Kentucky District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

HON. D. LINN GOOCH, of Covington, is a candidate for Congress in this the Sixth Congressional District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

AT last Louisville and Lexington abandoned the dog in the manger policy, and, as a result, Kentucky is to have a decent State Capitol building at Frankfort. The Senate settled the matter at 6 p. m., last Thursday, by passing, unanimously, the House bill appropriating $1,000,000 to erect suitable State buildings at Frankfort. The fight has been on for one hundred years. Ever since the first State Capitol Commissioners selected Frankfort as the capital the fight has been on between Lexington and Louisville as to which should take the prize away from Frankfort. Neither one would let the other have it, and each preferred to let it remain in Frankfort rather than that the other should have it, and the result was no appropriation for the public buildings was possible until these cities gave up the fight and decided to assist Frankfort to get an appropriation that will put up buildings that are commensurate with Kentucky's progress and development.

In connection with the bill appropriating $1,000,000 to erect a new Capitol building at Frankfort, some history of the State's early buildings is of interest. The official manual of the State gives the following:

"On Monday, the 4th of June, 1792, the first session of the first General Assembly was held at Lexington, the seat of government of the new State, and on the 5th of November of the same year the second session was held. These meetings were held in a rude two story log building, which was the first temporary Statehouse. On December 22, 1792, the General Assembly adjourned to hold its next meetings in the house of Andrew Holmes, at Frankfort, and henceforth Lexington ceased to be the seat of government.

"The second Statehouse of Kentucky, also temporary, was a large frame house in the lower part of Frankfort. In this the session of 1793 was held.

"The third Statehouse of Kentucky (the first permanent one,) erected for the purpose, was occupied for the first time as the Capitol by the third General Assembly on Monday, November 3, 1794. This is described by historians as being of stone, very rough and unsightly, and three stories high. The first floor was occupied by the public offices; on the second floor was the hall of the House of Representatives and the several courts of justice; the Senate chamber was in the third story, and hence the distinction at that early day of the 'upper' and 'lower' house. The records show that the State paid not exceeding $3,500 toward the erection of the first permanent Capitol, the remainder having been subscribed by Andrew Holmes and others to secure the location at Frankfort. It was destroyed by fire November 25, 1813.

"The fourth Statehouse of Kentucky was, of course temporary, a building having been rented by the State until the completion of a new Capitol.

"The fifth Statehouse of Kentucky (the second permanent Capitol) was built in 1814—16. Its construction was authorized by act of January 31, 1814, when a commission was appointed to contract for and superintend the erection of a new Capitol. It was constructed at a cost of $40,000, which $20,900 was realized from individual subscriptions and the balance was appropriated by State. The building was of brick, two stories high, with two rooms on the first floor, which were utilized by the Legislature, while the courts of justice were accommodated on the second floor. There were two wings detached from the main building used as offices by the State officials. On November 4, 1824, the second permanent Statehouse was burned, leaving only the wings intact.

"The sixth Statehouse (again temporary), and rendered necessary by the recent fire, consisted of the seminary building on the east side of the Capitol Square, where the Senate held its sessions, and the large meeting house on the west side, which was occupied by the House of Representatives. On December 12, 1825, the latter body was again forced to move, as the meeting house burned, and the sessions were held in the Methodist church, for the use of which a voluntary rent was paid.

"The seventh Statehouse of Kentucky (the third permanent Capitol) was first occupied by both houses of the Legislature on December 7, 1829, and is the same in which the sessions are held today (January, 1904). Six different appropriations were made, aggregating $85,000.

"In 1869 new and more commodious State buildings were projected. An appropriation of $100,000 was made and a commission was created to formulate plans for the new Capitol.

"In 1871, an additional appropriation of $55,000 was made which but partially completed the work as already begun, and consequently the east wing was left, and is still, in an unfinished condition, while the west wing was never commenced. Consequently, the old west wing of the second permanent Capitol built in 1814-16 still stands and is utilized for public offices."

Secretary Bristow, in his recent report to Congress, urges some necessary reforms in connection with the rural mail delivery. Heretofore carriers have been allowed to carry packages of merchandise, act as agents for newspapers and otherwise carry on a mercantile business. The tendency of this has been to cause them to make the carrying of mail a secondary matter and thus to neglect it. Secretary Bristow recommends that all this be prohibited, and the carriers be confined exclusively to the business of collecting and delivering mail. To offset this, their salaries should be raised to living proportions, so as to obviate the necessity of engaging in side lines. This, in fact, is the crucial point. The present wages of carriers are wholly inadequate and they must either be allowed some means to supplement them are quit the service. This great government can not expect men to work for it at a loss and no doubt Congress will see the necessity of giving the carriers decent salaries. Farmers are vitally interested in this matter as rural mail delivery is their especial perquisite, and they should take action to individually and collectively urge their members of Congress to do the fair thing by the faithful carriers.

Prof. Henry of the Wisconsin Station claims that American cattle feeders are giving their stock too much grain. He says, in part:

"I have spent considerable time in going through literature on the subject and am surprised that the British feeder gives to his fattening beeves but a small grain allowance. You all know that the turnip or rutabaga as we call it, is extensively used in feeding operations in Great Britian. On searching authentic sources of information I find that the usual grain allowance for the fattening steer in England and Scotland ranges from six to eight pounds per head daily. In a few cases it reaches ten pounds, and in only one case out of a score or more of reports have I found it stated that so much as twelve pounds of grain were fed to a steer in a single day and this amount only at the close of the feeding period.

"The grains used in Great Britain consist usually of barley, corn meal, cotton seed meal, and linseed meal. With the small grain ration is fed from fifty to 100 pounds of cut straw, and five to ten pounds of hay, either cut or long. On this ration the steer of England and Scotland usually makes a gain of between one and three-quarters to two pounds per month. There is no need of saying that the English stockman does not fatten his bullocks or that they are inferior to ours when they are sold for the block. The English stockman, as a rule has good cattle and he puts them on the market usually in a finished condition."

The corn selected for the seed should be the first finely developed ears, well filled and deep grained. Those ears that are from stalks that bear at least two good ears, should be given the preference. "Like begets like," will be found to hold good in corn production as well as in live stock breeding.

Those holding merchandise tickets given out by Riddell & Crisler are requested to present them by the 20th inst. for redemption.

Late yesterday evening Rev. J. A. Kirtley, who is very ill, was thought to be a little better.

The Chicago papers, especially the Tribune, have a good deal of fun at the expense of the country newspapers. What's the matter of 'em? Are they jealous because we live out here where we can get fresh air and fresh eggs and enjoy life as it was meant to be? These poor, warped artistes (note the e in that word) fiddle around like a lot of school-girls and hit upon some of the funniest things you ever heard of. Why, every now and then somebody laughs at them. The writers laugh and think its a good joke when some of the country newspapers say, "Hiram Higbee has sold his Holstein cow to Ez Mawfield," but of course it is the thing when they say, "Algie van Poochenstein has just returned from the Epsom-Squirtem kennels." Oh, that's great. That bull pup would bring about 20 cents in the dog pound and H. Higbee's cow would bring at least $20 in the dark. Because "Ozzie Benton was over to Union Center Thursday to see his best girl," they throw a shoe. But if "Harold Worstinghauser Pook, the society leader was in Milwaukee last Sunday to visit Miss Gertie Crabst," they drool all over their 30 cent "dickey" and have three pictures of Gertie and Harold on the front page. It's all right for them to set the standard but its time they get out of their rut and changed the subject.—Ex

"Put some more ice in the stove—we must keep cool," is likely to be an oft heard remark in the near future. Prof. Willis Moore, chief of the weather bureau, announces that his invention for cooling rooms will soon be put on the market says a Washington dispatch.

Prof. Moore does not claim to have discovered a new force, but only to have utilized principles well known in physics. He calls his apparatus the "nevo"—spell it backward and it is a reversed oven—a contrivance for cooling instead of heating. It resembles a stove, being a cylinder of copper or galvinized iron, with a door midway of its height.

Buy a medium sized nevo and you have a stove six feet high and two feet in diameter. Put it in your bed room or office. Close all the doors and windows, save that one window near the stove is pulled down from the top a foot or two. Break up one hundred lbs. of ice to the size of the furnace coal and mix it in a tub with 150 pounds of salt. Shovel the mixture into the nevo, open the pipe to let out the thawed water at the bottom, and in a short time your room will be at a comfortably cool temperature.

From the stove comes dry clean washed air of the temperature of eighteen degrees Fahrenheit. A stove of this kind will cost about $2oo, and with it you may cool a room 15x15 feet at a cost of $60 to $75 for a summer. The ice stoves may be had of various sizes.

A great many tobacco growers in this county think they should receive as good prices for their production as they read about being paid in other counties. The trouble with Boone county tobacco is its quality is of a lower grade than that produced in the counties where fancy prices prevail. The defect in quality is not the fault of the growers, but it lies with the soil which is deficient in some property that is necessary to produce high grades, therefore don't fall out with your local buyers and think they are robbing you because they do not offer the prices that high grade tobacco produced in other localities demand.

From Far Away Washington.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

I came to Tacoma, Washington a few months ago to visit a sister who has been living here 20 years. As I have taught several schools in Boone County, I naturally was interested in schools and made some inquiries about them, but had no thought of teaching, as I thought schools were all taken. I was advised to take the examination and did, and before I received my certificate a trustee of a school (sent by the Superintendent) came for me to take their school. I hesitated for it was 30 miles in the country on a new R. R., but I investigated and found a new school house with 24 pupils enrolled, a salary of $45 a month and a country not as wild as I expected, so I took up a six months school and now send for the RECORDER.

The first day I was in the country I had venison for dinner, but the deer do not come down near us. To hunt them one has to go further up in the mountains.

Eatonville, where I am teaching, is 30 miles east of Tacoma, near the mountains. We have had no cold weather and but one little snow. It is much warmer west of the mountains than it is east of them, caused by the Japanese current and salt air. We have no Indians in Eatonville, but there are some on their reservation just out side of Tacoma. They are becoming quite civilized and it is a common sight to see them driving through the streets, a family in a 2 horse wagon; not very stylishly dressed but with many bright colors.

One of the principal industries here is lumber sawing and shipping it to all parts of the world. Some of the saw mills are out in the timber and saw it and ship it in; others are on the sound and have the logs shipped in, saw and ship away on sailing vessels.

There is also a great deal of wheat shipped here from east of the mountains, then loaded on vessels and shipped to all parts of the world.

Anna Schwaitz.

Public Roads.—What Are They?

I notice from the RECORDER that the Fiscal Court of Boone county has granted special franchises to different parties to erect and maintain on the county roads a telephone line for a period of 20 years. Also, that the County Judge has advertised for sealed bids for the sale of a telephone franchise in the county of Boone. Now, the following inquiries I would like to have answered: Are not the county roads public thoroughfares for the purpose of public use in going from and to different portions of the county? and does not the landowners over whose land the roads are run have to pay taxes on the portions taken from them? I understand that nearly all the roads in the county are required to be 30 feet wide. Now, suppose these parties who have been granted special franchises go on and erect telephone poles along these different roads, and it becomes necessary for the Overseer of the roads in making the necessary repairs on the roads to plow the banks, and by so doing, undermine the telephone poles and cause them to fall? Can the Telephone Co. institute suit for damages? or it may be necessary to quarry the banks for metal for use on road and thus undermine the poles.

Suppose again the County Court should discontinue any of the roads over which the telephone has been erected, would not the land revert to the one who pays the taxes, and would they not have entire control of the land, and if so have the Telephone Co. remove their line?

The Fiscal Court has already granted special franchises: now suppose in compliance with the County Judge's requirements some other parties who make the most acceptable bid be granted the special franchise, would not that be a conflict of authorities? Are not the county roads intended for public thoroughfares? Will some one please answer?

Beware of Ointmenss for Catarrh that Contains Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co. Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and is made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

M'KINLEY'S BIRTH.

The Event Celebrated in Several Cities by Banquets.

Men of Distinction in Business and Political Life Guests of Birthday Banquet of McKinley Association of Connecticut.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 30.—A McKinley day banquet was given Friday night by the Tippecanoe club at the Hollenden hotel. Two hundred persons were present. Red carnations were the decorations. Gov. Herrick sent a large bunch of carnations to Lieut. Gov. Harding, one of the speakers, who placed it within view of the audience. Congressman Cushman, of Washington state, responded to the toast "William McKinley."

At Youngstown nearly 400 members of the Forsker club held a banquet. Among the speakers was Congressman R. W. Tayler.

New York, Jan. 30.—The annual McKinley dinner of the West Side republican club was held Friday night at the Waldorf-Astoria. A special table was set for the guests from Canton, who came to hear the eulogy of The late president by his former fellow townsman, James J. Grant.

Those who spoke were: Representatives E. D. Crumpacker, of Indiana, "Suffrage;" Congressman William Alden Smith, of Michigan, "Panama;" M. Linn Bruce, "The Republican Party;" Adam Bede, of Minnesota, "The West," and James J. Grant, Canton, O.

New Haven, Ct., Jan. 30.—Men of distinction in the business, political and social life of Connecticut were guests Friday night at a birthday banquet of the McKinley Association of Connecticut in Harmony hall. Nearly 350 covers were laid beside each of which was a carnation and a menu card bearing a likeness of William McKinley.

President John F. Caffey, of the association, read a telegram from Senator Hanna expressing regret at his inability to be present and his sympathy with the commemoration of the birthday of McKinley.

Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, of New York, spoke on "McKinley and the Spanish War."

Speaking of American expansion, Gen. Woodford predicted that the time was near at hand when San Domingo "must become ours" and that sometime the American Dominion would extend from the Panama canal to the Arctic ocean.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 30.—The Omaha McKinley club Friday night celebrated the birth of William McKinley with a banquet at which Gov. Van Sant, of Minnesota; Gov. Mickey, of Nebraska; Edward Rosewater, of the Omaha Bee; Murat Halstead, of Cincinnati, and John L. Webster and Gen. Cowin, of Omaha, were guests. Two hundred and fifty banqueters wore red carnations.

In an address delivered by John L. Webster, he said:

"Lincoln, the liberator and war president, said to Europe during the civil war, 'Hands off,' and she obeyed. McKinley said to the world powers that the policy of the open door for commercial trade must prevail in China and they acquiesced. Roosevelt said to Europe, 'You must not make war on Venezuela,' and they did not. When these men spoke it was America speaking and the world recognized the voice."

FIRE IN THE CAPITOL.

It Was Speedily Extinguished By the Use of Chemical Apparatus.

Washington, Jan. 30.—The Washington fire department was called on at 4:45 Friday afternoon to extinguish a blaze coming from the chimney leading from the fire place of the foreign affairs committee room at the house end of the capitol. The fire was speedily extinguished by the use of the chemical apparatus without apparent damage to the building. No commotion was occasioned by the fire, which was not generally known until after it had been extinguished.

MUSICALE AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

Mrs. Roosevelt Entertained a Very Large Company.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Mrs. Roosevelt gave another musicale at the white house Friday night to which a very large company was invited. The program was entirely of an instrumental character, with Mr. Ferruccio Busoni as pianist. The invited guests included the cabinet, senators and representatives in congress, and a large number of city and out of town people.

Reception In Honor of Gov. Taft.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Official Washington Friday night gave a cordial welcome to Gov. William H. Taft, the incoming secretary of war, at a reception given in his honor by retiring secretary Root. There was a large attendance.

The Week's Business Failures.

New York, Jan. 30.—Business failures in the United States for the week ending January 28 number 242, against 266 last week, 230 in the like week in 1903, 303 in 1902, 238 in 1901 and 171 in 1900. In Canada business failures number 18.

The Pope in Poor Health.

Paris, Jan. 30.—A dispatch to the Rappel from Rome says the pope is suffering poor health due to physical depression, and that there is talk in Jesuitical circles that a conclave will be held at an early date.

PHILIPPINES FOR FILIPINOS.

That Will Be the Keynote of the Policy of Secretary Taft.

Washington, Jan. 30.—The Philippines for the Filipinos will be the keynote of the policy of Secretary Taft toward the far eastern archipelago. In almost the last speech he made before leaving the Philippines for home, he reiterated this keynote, which he first sounded when he was inaugurated as governor of the Philippine islands. This speech has been published by the insular government in an official form and has just reached the war department. In it Gov. Taft declared that this doctrine did not exclude the encouragement of American enterprise or the American investment of capital in the Philippines, for the reason that nothing, not even education or a free form of government "can make more for the elevation and civilization of the Philippine people than the investment of American capital in the material development of these islands."

FOR MILITARY MANEUVERS.

Gen. Chaffee Recommends the Purchase of Four Tracts of Ground.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Lieut. Gen. Chaffee, as chief of staff, has made a report to the secretary of war, which will be transmitted to congress, urging an appropriation of $2,000,000 for the purchase of four tracts of ground, one in each of the four quarters of the United States, for military maneuvers. Gen. Chaffee says that experience shows that it is not possible to rent suitable tracts, so he proposes to take the 95th meridian and cross it by the 29th parallel, purchasing the maneuvers tract within each of the four quarters formed. He says investigation indicates a desirable locality in the Conewago valley, in Pennsylvania, one near West Point, Ky., and one in California. The tracts desired must be from seven to eight miles long and from three to four miles wide.

FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT.

Secretary of Chicago Federation of Labor Cited to Appear.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—E. M. Nockels, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor, has been cited to appear in court Saturday to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court.

Nockels was called before a grand jury Friday to give evidence concerning alleged acts of lawlessness committed during recent strikes in Chicago and he was told to bring the books and records of the Federation of Labor with him. He refused to bring them and told the grand jury that he had no intention of obeying the order. He was thereupon cited to appear before Judge Gary.

THE PATENT OFFICE.

Washington, Jan. 30.—The report of the commissioner of patents for the calendar year 1903 shows that the patent business transacted exceeded all previous records. The total cash receipts of the office were $1,616,698, leaving a surplus of $188,000. There were 50,213 patents applied for and 31,699 issued. The report predicts the same increase for the present year and says the patent office since its inception in 1836 has furnished a net balance of $5,682,540 to the government.

EGBERT HANGED FOR MURDER.

The Condemned Man Made a Brief Speech on the Scaffold.

Salem, Ore., Jan. 30.—Harry D. Egbert, who murdered John G. Saxton and John West last October, was hanged Friday. Egbert made a brief speech on the scaffold.

"My friends," he said, "take me as a mark; keep your children off the streets and, above all, out of the saloons. Bad raising and bad company is the direct cause of my downfall. I have repented my sins."

ATTACKED BY A LION.

The Keeper Nearly Lost His Life in the Combat.

St. Louis, Jan. 30.—During an exhibition Friday night at the Zoological garden, a lion known as Caesar attacked Keeper Steve Lawrence. The lion had only recently been received and Keeper Lawrence had entered the cage to make it perform some tricks. Caesar sprang at Lawrence and almost denuded him of clothing. He was fighting for his life when a policeman rushed in and shot the lion to death

Coal Employes Strike.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 30.—Two hundred employes of the Victor Coal Co., at Pawnee, struck because Hugh Morgan was discharged for exceeding a two day's leave of absence. Hugh White, president of the company, and Commissioner Herman Justi, of the Illinois Operators' association, have requested the men to return to work pending investigation.

Ex-Mayor Ames Wins.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 30.—The supreme court knocked out the indictment upon which ex-Mayor Ames was convicted and sentenced to prison for malfeasance in office. He was convicted of accepting bribes from immoral women for protection.

The Prosecution Abandoned.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—Satisfied with the finding of the coroner's jury that investigated the Iroquois theater fire, the independent prosecution started by Arthur E. Hull was Friday formally abandoned in court.

JOINT CONFERENCE.

Miners and Operators of the Central District Meet.

Jacob C. Kolsen, of Terre Haute, Was Selected Permanent Chairman and Secretary Wilson Was Chosen Permanent Secretary.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 29.—The first session of the joint conference of the miners and operators of the central competitive district was devoted almost entirely to speeches, and the second session was delayed because of the late arrival of the Pittsburg delegation of operators.

F. L. Robbins, of the Pittsburg delegation, will act as floor leader of the operators, with W. S. Bogle, of the Indiana operators, as his lieutenant. President John Mitchell, of the miners' organization, will act in the same capacity for the miners, with Vice President T. L. Lewis as lieutenant.

Jacob C. Kolsen, of Terre Haute, was selected as permanent chairman of the joint conference, and W. S. Wilson, secretary-treasurer of the miners' organization, was chosen permanent secretary. C. L. Scroggs, secretary of the Illinois operators, was chosen assistant secretary.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 30.—At the joint conference of the operators and miners Friday, the miners' demands for an increase were presented by President Mitchell and a substitute from the operators, demanding a decrease of 15 per cent., was submitted by H. L. Robbins. Both were voted down.

In opening the argument for the operators, Mr. Robbins, of Pittsburg, called attention to the fact that the miners have had an increase of 66 per cent. during the last seven years. He referred to low priced coal mined in the Connellsville coke region. He said the Meyersdale (Pa.) district and West Virginia coal was being dumped in on the Ohio and Pittsburg operators' markets and he said it was taking the place of their coal on open market and on the river.

In reply to Mr. Robbins, President John Mitchell spoke for the miners. He said: "A reduction in wages will benefit no one. The operators would not be benefited. They would have to give it to the railroads."

Referring to the differential and the run of mine basis demand, Mr. Mitchell said: "We are in earnest and terribly in earnest about this. Outside of the Ohio and the Pittsburg district, coal is now mined on the fair run of mine basis, and we have honest methods of weighing and paying for the product of a miner's labor. We propose to insist on these things in all parts of the central competitive field."

Secretary Wilson spoke in defense of the seven cent differential saying that the present scale gave to the operators almost 1,000 per cent. on their investment in machines.

The propositions of both the miners and operators were voted down and afterward, on motion, were referred to the joint scale committee.

A motion to admit the commissioners from outlying districts, particularly from Iowa, to the meeting of the joint scale committee, elicited discussion and was defeated. A joint committee was appointed to look after the relief of the sufferers from the Harwick mine disaster. The conference adjourned at 5 o'clock, subject to the call of the scale committee.

HEAD-END COLLISION.

Engineer Killed and Fireman Badly Injured Near Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Jan. 29.—In a head-end collision Thursday night between a B. & O. S. W. passenger train and a freight train near Cullums Station, five miles from here, Engineer George Munser was killed and Fireman Harry Thompson was seriously injured. Several passengers were slightly bruised.

Both engines were badly wrecked, each being reared up in the air. Several of the freight cars were wrecked, the goods they contained being strewn beside the track.

More Postal Scandals.

St. Louis, Jan. 29.—Charles L. Blanton, a clerk in the architectural division of the United States treasury department at Washington, and Dr. James B. Vernon, of St. Louis, formerly of Fayette, Mo., appeared before Judge Adams in the United States district court Thursday and gave bond in the sum of $5,000 each to answer May 23 to indictments charging them with receiving money for the location of post office sites throughout the state. There are four indictments against each of them.

Shipping Cotton to Japan.

Houston, Tex., Jan. 29.—A shipment of 3,600 bales of cotton destined for Japan left here for San Francisco. The shipment required 41 cars and is a record so far as the Oriental trade is concerned.

World's Auto Record Broken.

Ormond, Fla., Jan. 29.—William K. Vanderbilt, jr., broke the world's automobile record for a mile by covering the distance in 39 seconds. The best previous record was made by Harry Ford over an ice course at New Baltimore, Mich., in 39 2-5 seconds.

Appraiser of the Port of Chicago.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 29.—L. T. Hoy, secretary of the republican state central committee, has resigned his position as secretary of the state board of pharmacy to accept the position of appraiser of the port of Chicago.

BRIDEGROOM WAS NERVOUS.

He Thought the Parson Was in Too Big a Hurry for the Wedding Fee.

Rt. Rev. Dr. Leighton Coleman, bishop of Delaware, told the following story, says the Philadelphia Telegraph, to some friends in town whom he was visiting recently:

"A young man came up to me one day with the remark: 'Bishop, I want you to marry me on next Wednesday.'

"'All right; I'll marry you.'

"'Well, I want the church bell to ring.'

"'Yes, you can have the bell rung.'

"'Well, I want the organ to play.'

"'All right, you can have the organ.'

"'And I want everything else anybody ever had at a church wedding.'

"'You shall have it.'

"Well, the night came, the bell rang, the organ played, the church was crowded, and everything went off as the young man wanted it. When the ceremony was over the young couple waited, instead of leaving the chancel. So I held out my hand, shook hands with the bride, and then held out my hand to the bridegroom. He had his hand deep in his trousers pocket, and as I stood with my hand out, he said, somewhat impatiently, and in a tone that could be heard all over the church:

"'I'm getting the money out just as fast as I can.'

"Then everybody in the church giggled."

A Late Business Call.

"Curious what men do when they're drinking," said Representative "Tim" Sullivan. "When I was in New York I heard a story about a man I know who had been out nearly all night, and was considerably the worse for wear.

"He came along a street and saw an undertaker's sign, with a night bell, just over a speaking tube. He rang the bell fiercely.

"'What is it?' yelled the undertaker down the tube. 'What do you want?'

"'Nothing in particular,' the chap replied; 'only I want to say to you that you're the last man I'll do business with.'"—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Salzer's Earliest Cane.

Another new thing. Can be cut six times during a season and sprouts again with lightning rapidity. Next to Salzer's Teosinte it will make more green fodder than anything else, cheap as dirt and grows everywhere.

Of Salzer's Renovator Grass Mixture, just the thing for pastures and meadows, Mr. E. Rappold, East Park, Ga., writes, "I sowed Salzer's Grass Mixture on soil so poor two men could not raise a fuss on it,' and in forty-one days after sowing I had the grandest stand of grass in the County. Salzer's Grass Mixtures sprout quickly and produce enormously." 100,000 barrels of choice Seed Potatoes.

SALZER'S NEW NATIONAL OATS.

Here is a winner, a prodigy, a marvel, enormously prolific, strong, healthy, vigorous, producing in thirty States from 150 to 300 bu. per acre. You had best sow a lot of it, Mr. Farmer, in 1904, and in the fall sell it to your neighbors at $1 a bu. for seed.

CONSTANT ACHING.

Back aches all the time. Spoils your appetite; wearies the body; worries the mind. Kidneys cause it all and Doan's Kidney Pills relieve and cure it.

H. B. McCarver, of 201 Cherry St., Portland, Oregon, inspector of freight for the Trans-Continental Co., says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble which had annoyed me for months. I think a cold was responsible for the whole trouble. It seemed to settle in my kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills rooted it out. It is several months since I used them, and up to date there has been no recurrence of the trouble."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Four years ago I was nearly dead with inflammation and ulceration. I endured daily untold agony, and life was a burden to me. I had used medicines and washes internally and externally until I made up my mind that there was no relief for me. Calling at the home of a friend, I noticed a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My friend endorsed it highly, and I decided to give it a trial to see if it would help me. It took patience and perseverence for I was in bad condition, and I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nearly five months before I was cured, but what a change, from despair to happiness, from misery to the delightful exhilarating feeling health always brings. I would not change back for a thousand dollars, and your Vegetable Compound is a grand medicine.

WAR IS THREATENED.

The Colombian Government is Helpless to Prevent It.

In an Interview Sunday Gen. Reyes Said: "If Colombia is Thinking of Going to War, I Know Nothing About It."

Government is helpless in effort to prevent war. In less than a month from now 10,000 men will be on the isthmus. This information, confirming rumors cabled from Panama yesterday that Colombia intends organizing and sending an expedition against Panama, comes as a surprise, in view of the changed attitude of the Colombians, who had apparently accepted the inevitable and depended on Gen. Raphael Reyes, their special envoy to Washington, to save what he could from the wreck. Gen. Reyes was to have sailed Saturday for Barranquilla on the steamer Valencia, but for the second time he deferred his departure. Gen. Pedro Nelisphina and De Lucas Caballero, colleagues of Gen. Reyes on the Colombian commission, sailed on the Valencia.

The story continues on seemingly good authority, it is stated, that Gen. Reyes remains here because his negotiations with the state department at Washington have been completely broken off and that he has a tentative promise from this government that Colombia will he taken care of with a pecuniary balm for her injured feelings.

Gen. Rafael Reyes, special envoy from Colombia, said Sunday regarding the report that his country was about to send an army to Panama:

"If Colombia is thinking of going to war I know nothing about it and have nothing to do with it."

Gen. Reyes expects to leave for home in a few days. He said that so far as he was concerned his negotiations with the state department at Washington ended with his note of January 13, delivered to Secretary Hay. "Negotiations terminated then," he added, "unless the state department reopens them. I have nothing further to add to that note."

MRS. FLORENCE MAYBRICK.

She Has Been Removed From Prison to a Private Asylum.

London, Feb. 1.—Mrs. Florence Maybrick, who is serving a life sentence for the murder of her husband, has been released, but was removed from Aylesbury prison January 25, presumably to a private institution for the purpose of recuperation. She is still undergoing sentence under guard, and though apparently not an inmate of any prison, she still remains as much a prisoner in the eye of the law as when she was at Aylesbury.

On the authority of the United States embassy here a press representative is authorized to definitely deny that Mrs. Maybrick has been pardoned.

The Daily Mail Monday morning says that Mrs. Mayhrick is now in Liverpool and that the following conditions attach to her release from prison:

That she will not appear on the public stage or write a book of her experiences and shall in no way endeavor to attract public attention to herself.

RACE TROUBLES.

A Party of Negroes Fired Upon White Men, Wounding Two.

Webster, Pa., Feb. 1.—One of a party of five Negroes fired upon a party of white men who had been making fun of them. Two of the white men were wounded, one of them fatally. In trying to get away from the infuriated companions of the injured men, one of the Negroes was drowned in the Monongahela river. For some time a bitter feeling has existed here among a number of white men headed by Robert Wilson, who was fatally injured, and the Negroes of the vicinity.

CONSUL SKINNER'S PARTY.

Details of the United States Mission to King Menelik.

Marseilles, Feb. 1.—The following details of the governmental mission to King Menelik, of Abyssinia, which was led by United States Consul Robert P. Skinner, have been obtained. Mr. Skinner's party arrived here Saturday on board the steamer Victoria.

The American marines and blue jackets who accompanied the expedition were left at Aden and went on to join the American gunboat Machias.

Consul Skinner and the other members of the party are in good health, and they speak enthusiastically of the reception accorded them by King Menelik. On the way to the coast the party saw one elephant and heard a number of lions, but experienced no exciting adventures. In the course of an interview Mr. Skinner said:

"President Roosevelt selected a most opportune time for establishing relations with Ethiopa, as Americans heretofore have been too indifferent to the remarkable development which is now going on in Abyssinia. Our cotton goods pass through many hands before being sold at high prices in Abyssinia, but now Americans have an opportunity to conduct their own trade. King Menelik will send some of the products of his country to the St. Louis exposition, as well as a commission composed of able men, to show the Americans commercial opportunities in Abyssinia. The king is a broad-minded statesmen who will welcome Americans."

During the visit of the Skinner party at the capital, King Menelik received them surrounded by an imposing assemblage of 2,000 functionaries. The escort of American marines established a camp called "Camp Roosevelt," which attracted a great deal of interest.

The king made a personal inspection of the camp, which lasted for three hours, and after having witnessed the maneuvers of the marines, he asked one of the men for his gun and loaded and fired it. This act on the part of the king pleased the visitors greatly. The Americans were impressed with the assimilative ability of the Abyssinians, Consul Skinner saying that the country is being rapidly modernized, and that new roads, bridges, water supplies, telephones and telegraph lines are being constructed. He considers the Abyssinians to he the "Japanese" of Africa. He points out, however, that the postal and banking systems are defective and unsatisfactory. The money is on a silver basis. Consul Skinner believes that Americans will find a large field for activity in the gold, coal, petroleum and asphalt possibilities of Abyssinia.

An official report of the result of the mission has been forwarded to Washington.

PERISHED FROM THIRST.

Bodies of Between 20 and 30 Men Found in the Desert.

Salt Lake, Utah, Feb. 1.—The bodies of between 20 and 30 men, who perished from thirst while attempting to cross the desert between Moaha and Los Vegas, Nev., have been found within a few weeks, according to advices received from the latter place. The men, it is believed, were mostly tramps, who attempted to make the long journey on foot without sufficient supplies of food or water to carry them across. Many of the bodies found were without clothing and it is believed that the victims had gone insane from thirst and had wandered about in a nude condition in search of water. Some of the victims are supposed to have drank water from "Dead Man's well," which is located almost in the center of the desert. The water from this well, while temporarily alleviating thirst, is sure death to those who drink it.

FIVE MINERS KILLED.

Powder in the Cage in Which They Were Being Hoisted Exploded.

Mahanoy City, Pa., Feb. 1.—Five men were instantly killed in the Maple Hill colliery of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Co. The victime were rock men.

The men were killed by an explosion of powder in a steel cage in which they were being hoisted. The explosion ripped the cage apart and the mangled forms of the rock men fell 300 feet to the bottom of the shaft. The head of one of the men was blown off. The Maple Hill is one of the collieries visited by the anthracite strike commission and it is one of the best equipped in the hard coal regions.

MYSTERY UNSOLVED.

No Clew to the Murderer of Miss Sarah Schafer.

Two Men Are Under Suspicion and Half of Bedford Think One is Guilty and the Other Half Believe Him Innocent.

Bedford, Ind., Feb. 1.—Ten days have gone by since the murder of Miss Sarah Schafer, the pretty teacher of Latin in the high school here. Local officials, six detectives and 20 newspaper men have been constantly at work since the morning following the murder when the body was discovered, but the murderer has not been found.

Two persons have been arrested on suspicion and released with their innocence clearly established and the detectives have turned their attention almost exclusively to the higher circles of Bedford where two persons are under suspicion.

So strong do the detectives think the evidence is against one of these men that they have made the remark openly that his arrest would follow shortly. On the other hand, the city authorities insist that he will not he arrested. One-half of Bedford thinks him guilty, another half declares him innocent. If there is any tangible evidence against this young man it has not been made public. The detectives were declaring Sunday that they have secured evidence of vital importance during the past 12 hours which includes some article found in the shed where the murder was committed. They positively refuse to say what this is. The officials all said Sunday there will be no arrest made Monday so far as they know now. Both of the Bedford men under suspicion, it is claimed by the detectives, have been repulsed by Miss Schafer for advances made by them.

SIDEWALK INJURIES.

Personal Suits Amounting to $38,666,952 Pending Against Chicago.

Chicago, Feh. 1.—Personal injury suits amounting to $38,666,952 are pending against the city of Chicago, according to the report of City Attorney John F. Smulski, made public Sunday. The council, the legislature and finally the people are appealed to for relief. Sidewalk injuries caused the most of the injury suits.

Mr. Smulski in his report shows that the interests combining to loot the city in this way amount practically to an organization. Names of lawyers, mostly young men, and doctors, occur with great frequency in the list of suits. The city attorney says the piling up of suits will inevitably continue for some years even should the city at once begin to tear up every wooden sidewalk.

The city attorney says the main cause of this condition is the deplorable state of the city's finances, which makes it impossible to care properly for its streets aud sidewalks. The remedy, he says, is a new city charter. The many judgments awarded against the city are pointed out and Attorney Smulski says that unless favorable action is taken in regard to a new charter inevitable bankruptcy will result.

BURKHOLD'S SHORTAGE.

An Examination of the Books Shows It to Be $241,000.

Cincinnati, Feb. 1.—The report of the experts who have completed their examination of the books of the Franklin bank, of this city, shows ex-Cashier Harry Burkhold to have been $241,000 short. Burkhold was superceded as cashier several months ago and has been so prostrated by his financial collapse that he is not expected to recover. John J. Kilgour, president of the Franklin hank, says there will be no prosecution and that the bank and the creditors will not lose a cent. Burkhold has given President Kilgour power of attorney to sell securities and settle up his affairs, and out of the two millions of Burkhold's holdings it is thought about thirty thousand will be left for his estate.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 1.—Grant C. Gillett, the former cattle plunger, who fled to Mexico three years ago, has made a definite move to settle with his creditors, whom he owes an aggregate sum estimated at $1,500,000.

FIFTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS.

Regular Session.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Senate—The time of the senate Tuesday was again divided between consideration of the Panama question and other subjects. There was only one speech on the canal question and it was made by Mr. Stone (Mo.), who spoke to a resolution directing the senate committee on foreign relations to make an investigation into the Panama revolt. He contended that the circumstances indicated complicity on the part of the United States in the secession of Panama and urged that in the interest of the country's good name all the facts should be known.

House—Mr. Boutelle (rep., Ill.) addressed the house for nearly two hours in a reply to statements by Mr. Williams (Miss.), the minority leader, in his "stand pat" speech of a few days ago. Mr. Williams in turn replied to Mr. Boutelle. The house had under consideration at the time the urgent deficiency bill. Mr. Boutelle received close attention of both sides of the chamber, and when he spoke of the passing of the last trace of bitterness between the north and south he was loudly applauded both sides.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Senate—The senate proceedings Wednesday included a speech by Mr. Simmons (N. C.) in support of the Panama canal treaty and the passage of a number of bills and resolutions. Mr. Simmons was the first democratic senator to favor the measure on the floor of the senate. He announced his disapproval of the intervention of the United States in the Panama revolt. Among the bills passed was one granting to citizens of Porto Rico and the Philippines the right to take advantage of the naturalization laws of this country, but Mr. Spooner moved to reconsider the vote, thus leaving the question undisposed of.

House—General dchate in the house on the urgent deficiency bill digressed to a discussion of political topics, the race question and aerial navigation. Mr. Burkett (Neb.) led off with a discussion of the political situation from a republican viewpoint, and Mr. Cochran (Mo.) spoke for the democrats. Mr. Wardwick (dem., Ga.) made an extended address on the race problem. Discussion of flying machines was precipitated by the report of the appropriations committee, which recommended the tabling of a resolution calling on the secretary of war for information as to expenditures that had been made in connection with flying machine tests. The resolution was tabled.

Washington, Jan. 29.—Senate—The time of the senate Thursday was devoted to debate rather than to set speeches on the attitude of the United States towards the Panama revolution. The was a va... however, in that the discussion also had reference to the right of the president to withhold information called for by the senate. The immediate foundation of the controversy was the democratic caucus resolution calling on the president to state whether he has yet supplied all the papers in the archives bearing upon the Panama affair. The democrats contended for the right for the senate to demand information in the possession of the executive department bearing on treaties before the senate, while the republican speakers spoke in defense of the discretion of the president to withhold information.

House—The house for an hour was entertained by a speech by Mr. J. Adam Bede (rep., Minn.), who made his maiden effort and won his spurs. His remarks were replete with wit and humor as well as serious thought. Now and then, for purposes of illustration, he would tell a story whose recital greatly amused his auditors. He received the closest attention of republicans and democrats alike and drew laughter and applause first from one and then from the other side of the house. There also was a discussion on finance by Mr. Hill (rep., Ct.), and Mr. Williams (dem., Miss.), besides references to the Panama canal and the race problem in the south.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Senate—The senate Friday adopted the resolution introduced by Mr. Culberson for the democratic caucus which calls on the president to state whether the senate has been supplied all the facts bearing on the controversy of Panama. The vote on the resolution was unanimous, but there was a roll call on the amendments, calling for the information only in case the president should consider it not incompatible with the public interest to supply it. This amendment was adopted by 39 to 20. The Culberson inquiry no sooner had been disposed of than the Bacon resolution looking to the adjustment of our differences with Colombia by arbitration was considered. Mr. Bacon made an extended speech in support of the proposition, holding that even if there was no truth in Colombia's charges the mere fact that charges were made raised an issue which should be met in a conciliatory manner. Adjourned until Monday.

House—The house considered whether members of congress are entitled to be paid mileage a second time. The controversy on an item in the urgent deficiency bill providing for two payments of mileage for senators and members of the house on account of the extra session which merged into the regular session. An adjournment was taken before a conclusion was reached. Consideration of the amendment increasing the appropriation for the expenses of the district land offices precipitated a discussion on the subject of alleged land frauds. The provision in the urgent deficiency bill to defray the expenses of the international exchange commission and another provision authorizing the consolidation of customs collection districts, were stricken out.

To Maintain Post Roads.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Representative Maddox introduced a bill providing for the per capita distribution of not to exceed $25,000 annually of the surplus in the treasury among the states and territories for the construction and maintenance of post roads.

Controls Manufacture of Powder.

San Francisco, Jan. 30.—The Dupont Powder Co. secured control of the manufacture of powder on the Pacific coast through the absorption of the California Vigorite Co. The consideration is said to be $300,000.

STATE NEWS ITEMS

THE KENTUCKY SOLONS.

The Boonesboro Fort Bill Passed in the Senate.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 27.—Senate: The five bills amending the game laws and establishing a state fish and game warden were reported favorably and made a special order for next Tuesday. Senator George's bill, providing for an emendment to the constitution so as to return to the viva voce system of voting, was made a special order for Friday at the same hour as the "grandfather clause" bill. Gov. Beckham sent in the following appointments, which were referred to the committee on charitable institutions: Dr. Minnie C. Dunlop, to be third assistant physician at the Lexington asylum; to be commissioners of deaf mute institute at Danville, B. O. Rodes and E. W. Lillard (to succeed themselves), Joe McDowell, Jr., to succeed G. E. Wiseman, and W. J. Bohon to succeed W. S. Rowland.

House: The Butler hill passed, providing for an increase in the length of the common school term to six months. Chairman Drewrey, of the municipalities committee, reported favorably on the Edwards bill, recommended Monday on motion of Dr. Averdick, and made a speech in behalf of the measure, which he said allowed the mayor of Louisville to remove members of the board of public safety and public works who were inimical to the administration. Mr. O'Conner, of Louisville, stated that he opposed the bill, but it was adopted by a vote of 53 to 22. The Miller bill, appropriating $15,000 annually for the Kentucky Children's Home society, was passed by a vote of 72 to 2. The Bourne bill to adopt as the state law the Carroll edition of the Kentucky statutes was unanimously passed.

Frankfort, Jan. 28.—Senate—The following new bills were presented Wednesday: Act fixing April 1 as the day upon which all state and county taxes shall be due and payable; to amend the revenue laws of first-class cities so as to carry into effect the amendment of Section 181 of the constitution that was voted on at the recent election; regulating the production, admission and inspection of documents in actions in law and actions of an equitable nature. The J. F. Porter bill, extending the term of common schools from five months to six months, was passed unanimously. The Nat Porter bill to protect liverymen from fraudulent representations by people who hire horses and vehicles, was passed with 20 ayes and 5 nays.

House—The house ended the only election contest of the session by ousting the republican and seating the democrat by a strict party vote. The house bill appropriating $1,000,000 for a new state capitol is also a special order for Thursday, and seems dead sure of passage by a practically unanimous vote. By unanimous consent the following bills were introduced: To provide for the licensing of architects and regulating the practice of architects; to establish an additional circuit court district comprising Floyd, Knott and Letcher counties.

Frankfort, Jan. 29.—Senate—The Burnam resolution appropriating $2,000 for a monument to mark the site of the old fort at Boonesboro, in Madison county, was reported without expression of opposition by the committee, and after an eloquent speech by Senator Burnam was passed by a vote of 23 to 2. The capitol appropriation bill was passed. The Cantrill schoolbook bill as enrolled was read by the clerks and signed by the president. It went at once to the governor.

House—Mr. Barton indicated the presence of S. R. Hollen, of Covington, seated Wednesday to succeed H. D. Gregory, and he was sworn in. The Ray bill, allowing an amendment of the constitution by a majority of all votes shown by caucus returns, was reported unfavorably, but was advanced to its second reading by a vote of the house. The Ray hill to allow the state board of valuation and assessment to assess for taxation the shares of stock in national hanks, was reported favorably by the committee on revenue and taxation and advanced to the calendar. The same committee reported favorahly the Sharp bill providing for the assessment of promisory notes. The Hearn bill, regulating the practice of pharmacy, was reported favorably by the committee on public health.

Frankfort, Jan. 30.—Senate—The senate passed the Booles bill, which is of interest to Cincinnati and Covington people, as it places all railroad and other bridges that span streams that form the boundary line between states on the same footing as railroads, which means the bridges will be assessed for taxation by the state railroad commission. The Catron resolution indorsing the Panama canal treaty was voted down in the senate overwhelmingly, although all the republicans present and three democrats voted for it. Adjourned until Monday.

House—The house took up the new senate bill creating the new county of Beckham out of parts of the counties of Carter, Lewis and Elliott and passed it. It is now ready to go to the governor for approval or veto. It was contended in the house that the new county does not comply in size to the requirements of the new constitution, and does not leave the other counties up to the limit in territory. It is probable the question will be tested in the courts if the bill becomes a law. Adjourned until Monday.

Death of An Aged Woman.

Owensboro, Ky., Jan. 29.—Mrs. Sallie A. Higgs died at Brown's Valley, in this county, of old age. She lacked a few weeks of being 100. She was married in Marion county and moved here when she was 20 years old. She reared ten children.

FIRE AT MADISONVILLE.

The Loss in Property Will Reach into the Thousands.

Madisonville, Ky., Jan. 30.—Fire originated in the East Side hotel in this city at an early hour Friday morning and completely destroyed the hotel property, the business office of the Reinecke Coal Co. and badly damaged the fine Cumberland Presbyterian church, one of the finest church buildings in the city. Had it not been for the fast work of the fire department much of the business portion of the town would have been destroyed, as the fire was right in the heart of the city. The loss in property will reach into the thousands. All of the property was covered with small insurance.

NEW CAPITOL BUILDING.

The Bill Passed Through the Senate By a Unanimous Vote.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 29.—The passage through the senate Thursday afternoon by unanimous vote the house bill appropriating a million dollars for a new capitol at Frankfort marked the end of a fight which had been waged for the removal of the seat of government since the days when Henry Clay came to the legislature as a representative from Lexington and started a fight which has been the cherished ambition of that city since till the present session, when Lexington, Louisville and other towns joined in and aided Frankfort for the present hill.

HEAD-END COLLISION.

Three Men Were Fatally Injured at Middlesboro, Ky.

Middlesboro, Ky., Jan. 28.—In a head-end collision between a Southern railway and a Louisville & Nashville train here Wednesday night three men were fatally injured. Injured: Joseph Manring, brakeman, of Middlesboro, both arms and both legs crushed, will die; Henry Bamwell, Southern fireman, of Knoxville, hurt internally, will die; Arthur Biddle, Louisville & Nashville fireman, arm broken and hurt internally. One engine and four coaches were demolished. Both trains claimed the right of way from Cumberland Gap to Middlesboro.

MOONSHINE RAID.

Two Men Placed Under Arrest on Sugar Loaf Mountain.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 30.—Wm. Castle, of Carter county, deputy United States marshal, arrested Presley Crow and John Hilderhrand on a moonshine raid and returned here Friday.

The prisoners were operating on Sugar Loaf mountain in Rowan county and it is now believed that their moonshine still may account for the reports of an active volcano which alarmed residents of that vicinity.

Goebel Memorial Services.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 29.—Both houses of the legislature and the mayor appointed committees to arrange for the Goebel memorial services next Wednesday and to meet W. J. Bryan, who, upon his address Wednesday evening, will be introduced by Gov. Beckham. It is unofficially stated that Mr. Bryan's address will not be of a political nature.

OLD SPANISH MISSION STYLE.

New Mexico's Pavilion at the World's Fair is of Quaint Architecture.

New Mexico's pavilion on the Plateau of States at the World's Fair, has been designed after the style of an old Spanish mission. The plans were recently adopted and work on the building will begin at once.

The building will be of staff, a story and one-half high. It will present an imposing frontage of 70 feet, on one of the main boulevards, and will have a depth of 50 feet.

On entering the New Mexico Building one finds himself in a large reception hall. To the right is a room for executive and administrative uses. To the left are rooms for the commissions and superintendents of exhibits. There will be a ladies' and gentlemen's waiting room. The building is designed especially as the headquarters for New Mexicans and their friends who visit the World's Fair, and they will find plenty to remind them of home.

The grounds around the romantic structure will be laid out in typical gardens. Splendid specimens of cactus will be shown and many of the most beautiful flowers of New Mexico will embellish the place.

FRUIT DISPLAY IN GOOD HANDS.

Col. Ion B. Nall's committee in the work of the Kentucky Exhibit Association is a joint one, having in charge exhibits of both agriculture and horticulture. He has assigned Mr. M. F. Johnson, of Fern Creek, Jefferson county, the president of the Kentucky State Horticulture Society, to look especially after the horticultural end of the display, and Mr. Johnson has called to his assistance the following well-known fruit growers: J. M. Garrett, Fort Garrett; S. B. McVean, Alexandria; H. F. Hillenmeyer, Lexington; Thomas L. Button, Bedford; J. C. Hawes, Fern Creek; W. J. Lee, Pitts Point; William Cook, Bowling Green; G. N. McGraw, Bagou, and O. Piper, Clinton.

Personal Mention.

Judge Lassing was quite ill several days last week.

Mr. W. T. Smith has been quite ill for several days.

Mrs. R. S. Cowen has been quite sick for several days.

C. W. Myers, the popular merchant of Florence, was at court Monday.

Wilbur Westbay, of Covington, spent several days in Burlington, last week.

Col. Graddy, of Petersburg, spent last Saturday night and Sunday in Burlington.

Robert Allen, of Big Bone, was attending to business in Burlington a few days since.

J. M. Eddins has been traveling incog for several days. He has had that flowing mustache removed.

J. J. Walton, of Bellevue precinct, was looking after business in Burlington last Thursday afternoon.

James Beall, a Hebron carpenter and builder, was in town last Friday, looking out for work to begin on early in the spring.

Sheriff B. B. Allphin and wife spent several days last week with friends on Mudlick. Mr. Allphin's venerable mother had been quite ill, but she was getting better when he came home.

J. R. Wilhoit, the hustling Metropolitan Life Insurance agent, of Florence, was among the small crowd in town Monday. The Metropolitan people landed a good agent when they contracted with him.

A letter received from W. C. Brown, who is in Colorado to repair his health, informs his wife that he has improved in every particular, and can now eat anything his appetite craves and sleeps the night through without interruption. This is good news for his many friends here.

Last Saturday as O. P. Conner was leaving his son Albert's, the mare he was riding hung her foot in a hole and fell, throwing him over her head, down a considerable descent. He struck on his hip and side and was hurt considerably. He was not able to be out the next day, but is now about recovered from his injury.

Chas. Wilson, of Idlewild neighborhood, presented the RECORDER a bundle of old papers, last Monday. Among them are several copies of the Burlington Advertiser published by W. H. Nelson in 1849. One of the papers is the Weekly Aurora Commercial in which is a letter written by the late F. Riddell while in the Legislature in 1861.

Better Than Gold.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicine I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by all Druggists.

Notice is hereby given that I will on Monday, March 7th, 1904, between the hours of 1 o'clock pm. and 2 o'clock pm., at the court house door, in the town of Burlington, Boone county, Kentucky, offer for sale for cash to the highest bidder, the following real estate or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the common school district tax assessed against it and the cost of collecting the same:

J. M. EDDINS, Collector.

B. Long, of Richwood, has a one-year old red calf at his house, which he would be pleased for the owner to come and get.

INDIGESTION

"I was troubled with stomach trouble. Thedford's Black-Draught did me more good in one week than all the doctor's medicine I took in a year."—MRS. SARAH E. SHIRFIELD, Ellettsville, Ind.

Thedford's Black Draught quickly invigorates the action of the stomach and cures even chronic cases of indigestion. If you will take a small dose of Thedford's Black Draught occasionally you will keep your stomach and liver in perfect condition.

THEDFORD'S
BLACK-DRAUGHT

More sickness is caused by constipation than by any other disease. Thedford's Black-Draught not only relieves constipation but cures diarrhœa and dysentery and keeps the bowels regular.

All druggists sell 25-cent packages.

"Thedford's Black-Draught is the best medicine to regulate the bowels I have ever used."—MRS. A. M. GRANT, Sneads Ferry, N. C.

Mrs. W. S. Acra is some better.

W. S. Acra has a nice Poland China male hog for sale.

Eugene Randall was visiting at Edward Botts, Sunday.

School commenced here last week with a fair attendance.

J. E. Botts made a business trip to Aurora, one day last week.

Miss Madge Akin has had a severe case of neuralgia in her face.

Misses Lou Acra and Lou Akin were guests of Hogan Wingate and wife, last Tuesday.

Mrs. Lizzie Sullivan and Mrs. Hogan Wingate spent last Wednesday with Mrs. W. S. Acra.

Charles and Miss Lou Sullivan were guests at Newton Sullivan's, last Saturday and Sunday.

Dr. Hopkins, of Rabbit Hash, was at Edward Botts', the other day, trying to buy one of Ed's standard bred horses.

Albert Acra came very near having a burnout a few mornings since. Fire popped out and had a good start in the clothing on his bed when his wife discovered it and awoke him.

John Baldon will move his mill to Richwood about the 15th of March, and he desires that those who want sawing done before he moves get their logs to the mill in the next few days.

BELLEVUE.

Feb. 6.—There has been some fine weather for stripping tobacco.

John Berkshire, of Petersburg, was in town Friday evening.

Benj. Kelly and wife entertained with a delightful party last Friday night.

Those about here who have ice houses, filled them with very fine ice this week.

Mrs. James Setters, who has been quite sick of la grippe, we are glad to report much better.

Clay White passed through here last Thursday moving to Frank Smith's place near Aurora ferry.

Artie and Stella Ryle, of Commissary, visited Charlie Clore and wife, of this place, last Saturday and Sunday.

It is reported that Tom Wingate and family will move to Newport, where he will drive a team for a coal company.

Lincous Kelly and wife gave the young folks a dance, Monday night, and it was enjoyed by all who attended.

D. M. Snyder, of Burlington, was visiting relatives here Friday, and assisted to puta refractory telephone post in position.

John LaFever, of McVille, who has been at work in Lawrenceburg, has returned home, owing to the scarcity of work there.

Doll Walton and Oscie Rice passed through here Friday, driving 25 cattle which they were taking out to Doll's to pasture.

Hubert Brady will receive tobacco at the Corbin warehouse here. He has bought several crops at prices ranging from 6 to 8¼ cents.

James Conner came down from the city to visit friends and attend the T. C. S. Ryle sale. A Chicago cattle man was also at the sale.

After a two weeks' visit to Louisville and Cincinnati, John Maurer has returned home to remain until the river is free of ice before he goes to port again.

Our mathematicians are puzzling their heads over the following problem: A and B are hoeing 2 rows of tobacco. There are 50 plants in each row. B hoes 3 plants on A's row to give him a start, and when A gets out he hoes 6 back on B's to meet him. Somesay A hoes 6 more than B, while others say that he only hoes 3 the most.

A resident of Bellevue reported an item to your reporter, who must take this means to apologize to his informant for its nonappearance. In the first place we don't think the editor would have published it, and if he did it would only make hard feelings and we would have been called upon to divulge its source, so, with malice to none and for the benefit of all, concerned, we left it out of our items.

KYLE.

RABBIT HASH.

Farmers are selling their tobacco at prices ranging from 6 to 8¼ cents.

Miss Sylvia Wasburn, of Lermond, Ohio, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Mary Hillis.

The heavy ice in the river has caused the ferry to suspend operations several days this winter.

Rev. Chas Gant and wife, of Clyde, Ohio, were visiting the latter's father, N. E. Vanness, a few days since.

Sam Hicks and R. L. Huey bought a mule from Sam McConnell for $148 a few days since, making three mules they have bought in East Bend recently

Will some of our farmers who have had experience with Alfalfa in this county please give us some information as to the kind and situation of land best adapted to its growth?

The sale of the late T. C. S. Ryle's personal property was well attended, and most everything brought an unusually good price. Cattle—feeders, $3 80; hogs, 5 cents or more; horses and mules sold well, according to age and quality; sheep, above the appraisement.

BUFFALO.

Mrs. J. Q. Elstum has been very sick for the past week.

David Marshall spent Saturday night and Sunday with Joe and Robt. Green.

Mrs. A. J. Utz entertained quite a number of her friends at dinner, last Saturday.

Mrs. Nannie Stephens, of Gunpowder, was visiting Mrs. N. H. Clements, last Saturday afternoon.

The public thoroughfares certainly are the landowners. who pay the taxes and work the roads, and if any one sets posts near the road ditch, the overseer can order them moved. No one has a right to obstruct the public highway. If he does the grandjury will take care of his case. If you wish to be in it, get your privilege from the farmers. If you wish to build get the late decision on setting telephone poles along the public thoroughfare from the court of appeals, then you will know just what to do with poles.

COMMISSARY.

Carl Cason transacted business in Rising Sun, last Tuesday.

Bert Smith has a No. 1 wagon with good bed and log bolsters for hauling logs, for sale at a bargain.

Willis Smith caught a chicken hawk, last Wednesday, that measured 51 inches from tip to tip. Hogan Wingate has caught three lately about the same size.

Wm. McGlasson, of Hebron, who has been running a huckster wagon along this route for 14 years, is talking of going into the grocery business in Ludlow and running it in connection with his huckster business.

The young folks of the neighborhood were pleasantly entertained at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Passons, last Friday night, with nice vocal and instrumental music. Uncle Andy and family are royal entertainers.

A large eagle has been seen in this neighborhood several times lately, but all efforts to capture it have been unsuccessful. Its roosting place was discovered a few days ago and a party of men armed with shot guns started for the place that night, thinking Mr. Eagle would soon be a dead bird; but when they got there it had departed for parts unknown, since which time it has not been seen.

BELLEVUE.

Feb. 8.—Jas. Rogers is convalescing slowly.

Several persons about here have the Tennessee fever in its last stage, but it can easily be eradicated.

Several from here attended the party at Mrs. Laura Marshall's, on Middle Creek, last Saturday night.

W. W. Botts and wife visited the latter's mother and sisters in Petersburg, last Saturday and Sunday.

Rogers Bros. hauled goods from the city last week. Ice or no ice they will supply the wants of their customers.

Miss Minnie Deck is in the city to purchase a home for her and her mother. The community will hate to give them up.

Edwin Kelly and Miss Lou Louden were married on the 2d inst. in Rising Sun. Congratulations and best wishes to them.

Ernest Stephens and C. G. Riddell, the Rabbit Hash merchants, passed here last Saturday with large invoices of merchandise they were from the city on wagons.

Mrs. Bell Clore's hay and stock barn was struck by lightning Sunday morning and damaged to the extent of $10 or more. The building was not set on fire nor was any stock injured.

We were glad to hear from Miss Anna Schwartz through the Recorder. She has a host of friends who will be pleased at any time to hear from her, and who wish her all the prosperity possible.

Bro. A. G. Hargett preached in the Christian church here Sunday morning and evening. Morning subject—What think ye of Christ? Evening subject—What will you do with Jesus? He handled both subjects in a very plain, interesting manner. The very pleasant manner in which he approaches a person leaves a favorable impression with all whom he meets.

HATHAWAY

Mrs. James White and Mrs. Ennis Nixon, of near Petersburg, were guests of Mrs. W. S. White last Monday night and Tuesday.

G. A. Ryle and wife and son, Manly, spent one day last week visiting his son, Elmore and wife, one door above the writer's place.

Mrs. Ethel Sebree and son, Adolpha, of Woolper Heights, spent last Saturday night and Sunday with her parents on Gunpowder.

William Goodridge and Mr. Stephens, of Locust Grove, were hauling 50 cent corn and a nice lot of hay from East Bend, last week.

Miss Edna McElroy has closed a five months school at the Grange Hall and has taken up a three months subscription school at the same place.

Jo. B. Utz was in our burg last Thursday and looked as saucy as a big billy goat. His cap was pulled down on his ears, while he wore a big overcoat.

John S. Mason has converted himself into a first class cook since his wife has been afflicted with quinsy and he says he can bake anything to a finish.

There will be a good many telephone poles put in the ground this week on the Waterloo, and Hathaway telephone line if the weather will open up for that line of work.

We were very thankful to our friend who furnished us with items last week, and will heartily accept a continuance of the same from any one who has a nice item, any old time.

John H. Stephens, a brother of B. H. Stephens, of this place, who was born and raised in this county, and left this State and went to Texas in 1878, died at his home in Taylor, Texas, January 25th, where he had located some years ago. He was about 50 years old, and died of dropsy of the heart.

J. C. Revill has the names of about forty persons, citizens of this county, who are 80 years old and over. Some of them are up in the nineties.

IDLEWILD.

Dogs killed 6 of W. A. Gaines' sheep last week.

Our Stevens friends have measles in their family.

Legrand and Hon. J. A. Gaines are both on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. McCord have returned to their home in Warsaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Hogan were calling on Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whitaker, Sunday.

Alvin Corn bought 400 bushels of corn from Charlie Shinkle, last week, at 5¢ cents a bushel.

Mrs. C. A. Gaines has returned from the hospital in Cincinnati. Her health is improved very much.

Wiuston Gaines has returned from a visit to his brother, Bernard, and other relatives at Oxford, Ohio.

All friends congratulate W. B. Shotwell on having his wire-stretcher accepted by the Patent Office at Washington.

Sunday was an unlikely day, consequently a small congregation attended church to hear a most excellent sermon by the pastor.

What special products will this county contribute for exhibition at the St. Louis Fair? She must not be excelled by any county in the State.

Bro. Sproles preached Mrs. Miller's funeral at the Uzzinger homestead, after which the remains were put in the vault at Bullittsburg. It was a very bad day.

The snow and ice here was caused to disappear by the hard storm of Sunday morning. The rain came down in torrents and damaged the roads and farms badly.

Perry Kirtley, of Kansas City, Jas. Kirtley of Cincinnati, and Mrs. W. O. Kirtley, of Lawrenceburg, are at the bedside of their father, Rev. James A. Kirtley, who is not expected to live. All his near relatives have been to see him, and they have the sympathy of all.

LIMABURG.

Mrs. Ezra Aylor is quite sick.

Clint Weaver is able to be out again.

Clark Beemon had a valuable cow to die recently.

Sawing wood is the order of the day since the thaw out.

Master Luther Rouse, who has the mumps, is some better.

Wheat and young grass looks very badly since the thaw up.

The snow is all off the ground for the first time since thanksgiving.

Mrs. Jemima Tanner was visiting Mrs. Jerry Beemon, last Thursday.

Mrs. Madge Wood was visiting Miss Clara Hossman, of Hebron Saturday and Sunday.

W. C. G. Rouse brought a very fine sample of his burley tobacco to the store Saturday.

Mr. Hammons and son, of Gunpowder, have moved to the late M. B. Tanner's house near here.

Bob Brown gave the young folks a dance, last Wednesday night. It was greatly enjoyed by all.

John Craven and wife, of near Florence, were visiting his brother, Noah Craven and family, Sunday.

John D. Mitchell has been moving through our town on his way to Florence, where he will make his home.

Since Quigley & Beemon have moved their feed across the road the rats are bothering the neighbors considerably.

News has been received here that M. L. Rouse, near Lexington, is to have a sale on the 24th inst., and move nearer the city.

The creek at this place was higher Sunday morning than it has been since last spring. The rain tore up the fields and roads badly around here.

The Limaburg school closed Tuesday and Mrs. Wood returned to her home in Ohio. Those receiving high averages in the final examination were: Glady Rouse, Hildreth Conrad, Essie Beemon, Lillie Ryle, Grace Anderson, Sadie Beemon, Carl Anderson Oliver Rust and Wilber Kelly.

GUNPOWDER.

Feb. 8.—A heavy rain storm passed over here last Saturday night, accompanied by considerable hail.

J. H. Tanner and family broke bread with the writer, last Sunday.

Miss Leila Floyd is visiting at Hartwell, Ohio, the guest of Mrs. Lila Paddock.

Your cor. entertained the Hopeful Church Council last Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Lila Paddock, of Hartwell, O., spent several days last week among friends in this neighborhood.

E. H. Snyder has the largest crop of tobacco in this neighborhood, and is working a full force of hands stripping.

J. S. and E. E. Rouse Milling Co., have dissolved partnership. The latter going out. The business will be conducted by J. S. Rouse.

Better Than Gold.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicine I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by all Druggists.

VERONA

Feb. 8.—Health of the community generally good, except colds.

Quite a storm struck this place last Sunday morning.

Will Snyder has purchased the J. N. Dickerson property near O. K. Whitson's store.

Omer Waller's school at the Craven school house closed last Friday. Omer is liked as a teacher and will likely get the spring school there.

The old Larry Dwire residence, owned by J. G. Tomlin, was consumed by fire last Wednesday night. Origin of the fire not known, as there was no one at home. Walker Reandenour occupied the house.

The people of this neighborhood have been annoyed with a multitude of crows this winter. A company of sport men was organized one day last week, and a raid was made on the birds without any success in killing or driving them off.

This community was shocked and over come with sadness by the sudden death of Richard Sleet last Thursday at 11 o'clock. He met death by his own hands, shooting himself through the head. The deceased was one of the most higbly esteemed and wealthiest farmers of the neighborhood. The funeral was preached by Rev. Johnson, Friday, at 2 o'clock in the presence of a large congregation, that met to pay the last tribute of respect to their friend and neighbor. The remains were buried in New Bethel cemetery.

PETERSBURG.

Feb. 6.—The river is about clear of ice today.

The moving season is upon us again and a great many changes will take place in this neighborhood.

Miss Lola Mathews arrived home today from a piessant visit with her grandparents in Covington.

Miss Mamie Buchanan, who was threatened with typhoid fever, is much better and is able to be about.

Lou Terrill, authority on fruit, tells your correspondent that there will be a half crop of peaches this year.

Edwin Gaines, jr., is now a Knight of the Grip, traveling for Hon. D. Linn Goooh, selling his pills and liniment.

Capt. Billy Hartman has crossed the river every day this winter, but one.

Mrs. Chas Alloway, formerly of this place, died at her son's in Cincinnati, one day this week. She had gone there to nurse his family through the typhoid fever, when she sickened and died. Her remains were taken to Nicholasville for interment.

A reliable grapevine tells the Recorder that the entries for the "County Derby" to be pulled off next year has already been made up. The following entries have been recorded on the books: For Sheriff, M. F. Wingate, of this place; Malchus Southern, of Constance, and B. B. Hume, of Big Bone. For County Clerk, B. W. Adams still has the bee in his bonnet, but Jameson Rogers, of Walton, and R. A. Brady, of Bellevue, are being groomed and will be at the pole when the starter says go. Two will start in the County Attorney's race in the persons of D. E. Castleman and N. E. Riddell. There are no entries so far in the County Judge's race, and there is not likely to be as Perry has made a good officer.

HEBRON.

Mrs. Joe Birkle has the "Dutch" measles.

Robert McGlassou is attending school at Ludlow.

Miss Oma Haukins is a guest of relatives in Ludlow.

Miss Lizzie Roberts, of Verona, has been the guest of Mrs. Ruth Hind for several days.

Mrs. Fannie Harris has returned from a pleasant visit in Kenton county with her sister, Mrs. Moffet.

Almost every house in town is occupied at present. Four or five families were house hungry, Friday.

Dr. C. C. Mctealfe came up to Walton, Saturday, looking very much improved in health. He says farming agrees with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stephenson entertained their friends with a merry dance, Thursday evening. Many were present and had a fine time.

Raymond Ryland, who is connected with a Telephone Co. in Cincinnati, has been sick a good deal this winter. He was out Sunday looking better.

Rev. F. S. Pollitt will preach in Walton next Sunday morning and evening. The Communion will be administered at the morning services.

To the bereaved brother and other members of the Sleet family, many friends in this vicinity extend their sympathy for the loss of T. Q. Sleet.

Large quantities of tobacco have been coming in during this soft spell of weather. The warehouses here have done less this wiuter than for many years.

Thos. McElroy, of Norwood, Ohio, came out to see his parents, Saturday. Mr. McElroy is recovering from a five weeks spell of typhoid and is just able to be about.

W. E. Vest turned the trick for two more fine farm land sales in Verona district, last week. Mr. Vest is doing more in real estate than any one in this neck o' the woods.

Mrs. Willie Norman delightfully entertained with a social, the older and younger set. A pleasant and enjoyable evening was spent by nearly all the young folks in town.

The wind and rain storm on the the night of the 6th tore up jack about here. Down at Richwood M. G. Ronse had his partly unroofed and a porch to the L of his house torn down.

Mrs. Martin, who is visiting her sister at Alexandria, we regret to say has been sick with pneumonia, but is some better. Her many friends will be glad to have her well enough to return soon.

The plans for the factory building are out and they are much larger than any one expected. When the contracts are let this will be a busy corner of Boone. If the readers will allow me the inele gant expression, "something will be doing."

West Dickerson sold to Rev. H. R. Mills, of Beaver Lick, a fine bunch of thoroughbred White Plymouth-Rock chickens. The roosters weighed 8 lbs. and the hens 6 lbs. each. They were hatched the 22d of last May.

Wm. Ransier got an ugly fall from the top of a building on which he was at work, striking his head, which was badly cut. Mr. Ransier had a narrow escape, and he does not know what caused him to fall. No one saw it.

The storm last Saturday night did a great deal of damage in the Richwood neighborhood: Its trail was about 100 yards wide. Great damage was done to the Conner property, all the out buildings being torn dowu, and the L of the house is badly wrecked and unroofed—all the chimneys are down. Two barns on the Hicks farm were unroofed—damage about $1.500. At the Ransier place a barn was badly ripped up the sides. Some damage at Mr. Shadley's home, but have not learned what The house at Mr. Carpenter's was blown from its foundation. Over in Kenton county a barn was blown away leaving the horses tied to poles, and not hurt.

At a meeting of the Mills Chapter of the Epworth League at the home of the pastor, Rev. F. S Pollitt at Walton, on February 1st, an earnest effort was made to put the League on a more substantial basis. The first part of the evening was devoted to the literary part of the program. A short sketch of the life of Longfellow was followed by the reading of one of his poems by Mrs. Alice Coffman and a song by Basil and Daisy Pollitt. A recitation by Mr. Joe Reed was followed by a reading from Lowell by Rev. F. S. Pollitt. After settling up the affairs of the past year and electing new officers, the meeting adjourned. The League extends a cordial invitation to all its friends, of Walton, and to all strangers in our town to attend the League meetings. Mr. Joe Reed has promised to help us in our literary meetings with his recitations, and this of itself is a great inducement.

Escaped an Awful Fate.

Mr. H. Haggins of Melbourne, Fla., writes, "My doctor told me I had Consumption and nothing could be done for me. I was given up to die. The offer of a free trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption induced me to try it. Results were startling. I am now on the road to recovery and owe all to Dr. King's New Discovery. It surely saved my life." This great cure is guaranteed for all throat and lung diseases by all Druggists. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial Bottles free.

The Pure in Heart

WHO THEY ARE AND HOW THEY BECOME SUCH

Sermon by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher.

(Copyright, 1904, by J. M. Edson.)

Chicago, Sunday, Feb. 7, 1904.

Text: Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God.—Matt. 5:8.

GOD in dealing with man gets down below the surface. His all-searching eye penetrates to the hidden recesses of the heart, and He knows a man as he is and not as he appears. Man is governed almost wholly in his opinion and estimate of others by externalities, but God never, for the inner condition of the heart is of infinitely more concern to Him than the occasional outward expression in the life of that which is within the heart. For this reason, Jesus, Who "knew what was in man," denounced the scribes and Pharisees, and called them whited sepulchers. Outwardly to the eyes of men they were intensely religious and devout, faithfully observing the rites and ceremonies, and carefully yielding obedience to the letter of the law, but as Jesus looked within He saw the true condition and likened it to a moldering, putrifying mass of dead men's bones. He accused them of being careful to cleanse the outside of the cup and platter, while the inside was full of uncleanness. When Jesus came He brought men face to face with their real selves. He startled and convicted by declaring and showing that the sins of the heart were more real and more terrible than the sins of the outward conduct. The murderer was not only he who put forth his hand and actually took human life, but he who was angry with his brother. The adulterer was not only he who actually indulged the lust of the flesh, but he who even looked upon a woman to lust after her, for in so doing he had committed adultery with her already in his heart. The thief was not only he who took that which belonged to another, but he who in his heart coveted another's possession, for he who is a thief in thought and heart needs only the opportunity to make him such in very deed.

THANK God there are forces and conditions operative among men which prevent a full realization in the outward conduct of the sins of the heart. Why am I not a murderer before the law, condemned and shut behind the prison bars? Not because I have never been angry with my fellow man. Well do I remember when a boy of about fifteen striking my older brother with a heavy stick which I held in my hand at the time and felling him to the ground. Had it been an ax or a knife which my hand held I should have struck just the same, for I was beside myself with anger and did not realize what I was doing. As it was, my brother was only severely bruised, but he might have been killed as far as the anger which filled my heart was concerned. In God's sight I was a murderer, for all the conditions of heart were favorable to the commitment of murder. Why am I not a thief in the eyes of the law and wearing the prison garb? Is it because no desire ever was felt in my heart to take that which did not belong to me? Or is it not rather that a wholesome fear of the law has kept my hands and feet from going in the way of dishonor? Or is it not because the favorable opportunity has never come to me to steal? Why am I not a guilty moral leper breaking the laws of God and man and violating the sanctity of the home? Is it because no impure desire has ever stained my heart and made it guilty before God? Or is it not rather that fear of the consequences of sinful indulgence or the lack of favorable opportunity has kept me from the outward commission of the awful crime? Ah, He Who searcheth the hearts of men and knoweth every thought and desire of the heart knows that not once but many, many times the inner attitude and condition of the heart have been favorable to the commitment of the outward sin. As far as the desire and will to do the wrong are concerned it has been committed in the heart. I might be able to go before the human judiciary and be proved innocent of murder, or theft, or adultery or other crime, but could I go before God Who searcheth the heart and escape so easily? Who would be as willing to submit their hearts to the scrutiny of their friends, as they are their lives? Ah, how we hide and cover up within the dark recesses of our hearts things which for all the world we would not have revealed to our friends, and yet we must remember that the Lord seeth it all, He knoweth it all, and it is with Him we have to deal, it is to Him we must give a final accounting.

THE pure in heart! Just what did Jesus mean? Who are the pure in heart? Certainly Jesus never used words carelessly or with vagueness of meaning. When He said "pure in heart," I take it that He meant "pure in heart." And if such is true, it can mean nothing short of a heart free from the taint of sin. If I say that the candy I offer you is pure, I mean that not the least adulteration or harmful ingredient has entered into its manufacture. To say that it is pure defines its condition. If I have several lots of candy, not any one of which is pure, I may say of one which has less adulteration in it than another that it is purer than the other, and of a third which has the least adulteration of all that it is the purest of all, but if I say the candy is pure, there is no need of comparative or superlative degree. If it is pure, it cannot be more pure or most pure. And so I believe in our text Jesus is not using a relative term, but an absolute one. A pure heart—a fixed and certain quality, and not arranged upon a sliding scale to suit varying grades and conditions. There is a disposition on the part of some people to qualify the declarations of God, and try to bring them down to man's level. This is reprehensible. It is perilous. When God says: "Be ye holy, for I am holy," "Be ye perfect, even as your Father in Heaven is perfect," He meant exactly what He said, and could not possibly mean anything else. If one begins to qualify or weaken the statements and commands of God, where will he end? And if one has the privilege of adjusting Scriptural declarations to his own views all have the same privilege, and the result is that we have as many different standards as there are Christians. But this is manifestly wrong, and brings confusion and vitiates God's Word. It is infinitely better and safer to attempt to reconcile and harmonize our views with God's Word than it is to try to accommodate God's Word to our views and conceptions. And so when Jesus speaks of the pure in heart, it was not with the thought that each was to decide for himself just how much that term implied, but it was with one definite and fixed condition and standard in mind. The pure in heart—those whose hearts are sin-free.

WITH this interpretation, however, the difficulties in the way seem almost insurmountable. Surely, if the pure in heart are those in whom is no taint of sin, there can be none such, and hence no one has the hope of seeing God. But we know that this last is not true. We know that the infinite purposes of God center about man, and that it is His longing, loving desire that all should come into His presence. God's Word teaches of a Heaven which He has prepared for man, that he might dwell with Him forever. We know that from Genesis to Revelation, as the sin and failure and depravity of man are unfolded, the mercy, love and forgiveness of God are gradually revealed in the marvelous redemptive work. And knowing this, we believe that when Jesus spoke of the pure in heart He spoke of a condition possible to man. If he said: "Blessed are the pure in heart," there must be such among men. And if there are those who are really and truly before God pure in heart, it is evident that they are pure, not by nature, not by self cleansing and purifying, but they have been made so by a higher and mightier power than their own. We have, then, three propositions which we want to get clearly fixed in mind. First, that pure in heart means a heart free from all sin and sinful thought and desire. Second, that there are those who in God's sight are pure in heart; and third, that the pure in heart are such not by inherent possession, but because they have been made so by Divine transforming power. With these three propositions in mind let us repeat our text again: "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God." Does it not begin to mean more to us, and does not the harmonious relation of the promise of the last half of the verse to the condition named in the first clause become more apparent?

THE pure in heart to see God. Why, of course! Who else could come into His holy presence, and where else could the pure in heart go? Christ was not declaring something new and strange. It is as natural for purity to center in Heaven in the presence of God as it is for the flower to turn its face towards the sun, or for the lark to mount up the early morning skies and greet the glorious king of day as he advances up the royal pathway of light in the eastern heavens. It is not thought strange that the magnet should draw the steel to close contact with itself. It is not deemed unusual or singular that people of like tastes and purposes and sympathies should be drawn together in close fellowship. Why should it be considered anything but the most natural, the most fitting, that a pure heart should find its affinity and its complement with a God of purity, and in the place where naught but purity is known? The pure in heart to see God—of course! And only the pure in heart can possibly see God! for in God's dwelling place "there shall in no wise enter into it anything unclean, or he that maketh an abomination and a lie."

THAT man cannot become pure in heart by his own effort is demonstrated by human experience and the teaching of God's Word. The heart under man's management and control is "deceitful above all things and desperately wicked." Man is sometimes deluded into the thought that he can carry on the heart house-cleaning alone, as the man to whom Jesus referred who drove out the evil and swept and garnished his heart and then flattered himself that he had done a splendid and enduring bit of work. But it was the same old heart with its sin-scarred walls, and there was a fatal emptiness which invited back the evil reenforced by other evil spirits more wicked than the first. And the man woke up to find his latter condition worse than the first. No, man cannot clean his heart so that it can be called pure. He can polish up and cover up and "garnish," but he cannot purify. The alchemist of the middle ages had no more hopeless task of transmuting the base metals into gold than has the man who tries to make of his sin-stained, sin-scarred, sin-breeding heart a pure heart such as is necessary to admit to God's presence. David realized the utter hopelessness of the task of trying to purify his own sinful heart, and so in helplessness he cries out: "Create for me a clean heart, O God!" What man cannot do for himself, God is able and willing and anxious to do for him. "Blessed are the pure in heart," because they bear the stamp of the Divine touch, because they come fresh and clean and spotless from the marvelous laboratory of God, where the foul has been made clean, where the base metal of human conditions has been transmuted into the pure gold of Heaven. The pure heart is the handiwork of God. And "Blessed," indeed, then "are the pure in heart, for they shall see God."

BUT what about the process by which the pure heart is created? What is man's part and what is God's? Man's part is to submit to the Divine process and God's part is to create a new and pure heart. Man must place himself in the hands of God like the inert clay rests in the hands of the potter. Then God through the power of Jesus' blood cleanses from all sin and gives the pure heart into which He comes to dwell in the person of His Son. Then begins man's active and positive relation to the pure heart which God has created for him. All sin has been taken away, but the capacity, the tendency to sin has not been eradicated, and cannot be while the soul is clothed upon with the mortal flesh of the earthly body. The struggle begins to keep the heart pure. It must begin and the warfare against the sins of the heart and life must be waged unceasingly. But here again human strength and power fail. It is just as impossible for man in his own strength to keep pure the cleansed heart which God has given him as it is for him to make the pure heart for himself at the start. But God again comes to the relief of poor human need and offers the strength of His conquering Son. And what is impossible for human strength and will alone becomes possible by Divine help, for "His strength is made perfect in weakness." So it is not only a question of the securing of a pure heart, but the maintenance of a pure heart.

A PURE heart may be kept pure in two ways. First, by excluding all impurity, and second, by removing impurities when they succeed in getting in. The first is the ideal condition and must be constantly and earnestly striven for. The secret of success in excluding from the heart the evil thought and desire and purpose and thus preventing their fruition in the life in the sinful act, is found not so much in aggressive attitude against the evil as in eager, earnest pursuit of the good. A man succeeds best in keeping the cleansed heart pure by filling it so full of the presence of Christ that there is no chink or cranny through which evil can enter. And he must keep so busy that there are no idle moments in which the lurking enemy, sin, may take him unawares and bring him into subjection. Jesus said to His disciples: "Now ye are clean through the Word which I have spoken unto you." And His Word, abiding in the heart, is the strongest kind of defense against evil. Paul's prescription to the Christian who would keep his heart pure is found in the fourth chapter of his letter to the Philippians. He says: "Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honorable, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things."

BUT if sin enter the heart the second method of maintaining a pure heart is to be applied. The heart must be cleansed from the impurity, the sin. And blessed be God, He has made ample provision for such condition. For "if any man sin, we have an Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous, and He is the propitiation for our sins, and not for ours only but also for the whole world." And because He is "the blood sprinkled mercy seat, for that is literally what propitiation means, "if we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and cleanse us from all unrighteousness." And how we have to keep bringing to Him our sin-stained hearts that He may forgive and cleanse. But He does not rebuke or chide us as we feel that we deserve when we come to Him (and oh, how often the fear that He will do so keeps us from bringing the guilty heart for cleansing), but true to His promise He does cleanse from all sin, and sends us away rejoicing, for what heart is so glad as the pure heart! How the sweet music of Heaven fills the chambers of the heart from which have been removed the disfiguring marks of sin. And what a chamber of horrors and unrest it is when filled with sin. But does not the Saviour grow weary in the task of purifying the hearts of His followers? Do the cleaning works grow weary of cleansing the soiled garments brought to it? Do the ore mills and smelter ever grow weary taking the crude, impure rock and turning out the yellow stream of pure gold? Never! That is exactly what they have been established for. And Jesus Christ has come for the specific purpose of cleansing us from all sin, and He longs to make the heart clean and to keep it clean as we daily and hourly bring it to Him for cleansing. It is the privilege of all to be pure in heart, for the blood of Jesus Christ cleanses from all sin, and "blessed," yea, thrice blessed, "are the pure in heart, for they shall see God."

It is little we can bring to pass, but our will and desire may be large. Nay, they may grow till they lose themselves in the infinite abyss of God.—John Tauler.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN
A TRIBUTE

By HON. C. W. RAYMOND

Judge United States District Court for Indian Territory. Late Vice-President Illinois Bar Association.

To the Great West the ideal man in politics is the great war president.

Lincoln is the typical American. He worshiped at the shrine of liberty. His Book was conscience. His creed was justice. His text was truth. His speech was honor. His prayer was for the public good.

His music was the Battle Hymn of the Republic, and from his benediction the sweet incense of charity perfumes the century and the world. God was his ministering angel and he a willing subject.

In all the years of civilization his name will be a beacon to lovers of liberty and government by the people.

He believed in law, and license to do wrong was chief among his hates.

He believed in liberty, and gave a life in proof of his belief.

He believed in justice, and strict constructionists were ever making accusation because he leaned too much to mercy's side.

If precedent stood in the way of right he pushed it from his thought and signed a bill of rights giving liberty to black as well as white.

His heart was kind to his fellow men.

Forgiveness was the motto of his daily life.

Charity was the prayer which led the business duties of the day—and love as wide as earth gave tone to all his deeds.

He played no game hurtful to moral life.

He signed no law net sanctioned by honest thought.

He made no speech which after years did not applaud and praise.

He did no act which brought the blush of shame to face of friend or foe.

He did what none have yet accomplished—fought a civil war of frightful magnitude and forced the vanquished by sheer love and charity to gather at his bier and tomb and there shed tears over the silent heart they had helped to break.

Like the great Moses of Israel, from the top of fame's lofty mount he was permitted by the Almighty to view the promised land and Era of peace, but not permitted to enjoy the fruits of his great labor and wisdom. He left us to finish the journey alone, amid cheers for the return of peace, amid universal sorrow for the departure of his great spirit.

His life is the marvel of a marvelous century.

Born in a cabin as lowly as the Saviour of man, he saved a nation.

Reared in obscurity, the light of his noble deeds shines in every corner of our world.

Surrounded by bitter poverty, he passed on life's highway every favored man of the century.

Passing his youth among the ignorant and lowly, he achieved, a distinction, the just pride of the Anglo Saxon race.

Coming to manhood with few of the graces of education he led easily the most gifted of his countrymen.

As a river boatman he touched elbows with the meekest of the Republic.

As a merchant he earned the title of "Honest Abe."

As a lawyer he ranked with the leaders of a bar noted for its dignity and learning.

As a politician he leaves to posterity a rich legacy of consistency and fair dealing.

As a legislator in Illinos he laid the foundation of an endless fame.

As a member of congress honor and character gave prophecy of future loyalty and integity.

As a private citizen he was the political leader of his state.

His first inaugural address is now a part of the world's choice literature and stands side by side with the Declaration of Independence.

His speech at Gettysburg will live as long as the oration of Demosthenes on the crown.

His second inaugural should find place in the text books of our schools and colleges and be read with Washington's farewell address to the American people.

His humanity will ever keep his name in the list of the world's heroes.

Ten thousand years may come and go, but the fame and face of Abraham Lincoln will stand out in history then as clearly defined and noble as it does to-day.

Stand as securely fixed in manly politics as Shakespeare stands in literature.

Stand as heroic in the midst of times full of conflict as Alexander or Caesar stand in war.

Stand as steadfast and true in lessons of patriotism as shine the names of Kossuth and Washington.

Stand in deeds of honor and valor as imperishable as Cromwell or Columbus.

Stand as strong in statecraft as stand Pitt and Webster.

Stand as noble in character and performance of duty as live Luther and the Martyrs.

Stand as a doer of imperishable deeds as stand the names of Wellington and Bismarck.

He was a genius without alloy.

A patriot without pride of self.

A true American whose life and conduct should be example for us all.

In God's great gallery he is nature's master piece.

WHY LINCOLN QUIT BY JINGO.

Lincoln day this year brought out several characteristic stories of the martyred president, some of which may be new, all of which are good. One relates to that extreme, correctively critical attitude which Secretary Seward always maintained toward the president.

Mr. Lincoln and the secretary had managed to escape from a man who had been boring them, and, as they reached the house, the president threw himself into an armchair, and exclaimed:

"By jingo, governor, we are here!"

Mr. Seward replied by asking, in a reproving tone:

"Mr. President, where did you learn that inelegant expression?"

Mr. Lincoln immediately turned to several young men who had entered the room in time to hear the exclamation, and said:

"Young gentlemen, excuse me for swearing before you. 'By jingo' is swearing, for my good old mother taught me that anything that had a 'by' before it is swearing. I won't do so any more."

LINCOLN'S SHREWD ADVICE.

He Displayed the Wisdom of Solomon in Settling a Quarrel Between Neighbors.

Abraham Lincoln, the lawyer, was one day confronted by a complaint against the trespassing chickens of an indifferent neighbor. Because of the friendly relations existing between the two families, the client did not favor a lawsuit; killing the chickens might cause a feud, and a higher fence would be an insult.

"A hopeless case," said Lincoln; "you are taking the remedies from me. However, come back tomorrow."

The next day Lincoln learned from his client that he had two children, and his offending neighbor three.

"Go home," said the lawyer, after grave reflections, "boil a dozen eggs hard, and color them after the manner of Easter eggs. After each visit from your neighbor's chickens place one of the eggs in the yard. Your children will find them, and when they question you, credit the eggs to the offending fowls."

A few weeks later the client entered Lincoln's office and said in explanation:

"When my little ones learned the source of those colored eggs, they were wild with glee, and with them tantalized their little neighbors.

"Then the neighbor's children tried to keep the chickens at home, and my little ones tempted them away. After each visit there was a colored egg, and sometimes two.

"Those children worried themselves sick, and made their parents frantic. This morning a load of palings and barb wire arrived at my neighbor's."

"I thought the plan would work," said Lincoln.

Lincoln's Hay Crop.

A story of Abraham Lincoln would have to be older than the one below to lose its characteristic savor.

In the summer of 1857 Mr. Lincoln was sitting in his office, when he was visited by one of his neighbors, an excellent farmer, but one inclined to increase the size of his crops, even after harvesting. He had given on this particular morning a skillfully padded account of the hay he had put in.

"I've been cutting hay, too," remarked Mr. Lincoln.

"Why, Abe, are you farming?"

"Yes."

"What you raise?"

"Just hay."

"Good crop this year?"

"Excellent."

"How many tons?"

"Well, I don't know just how many tons, Simpson, but my men stacked all they could outdoors, and then stored the rest in the barn."

SCRAPS OF INFORMATION.

The late Italian premier, Zanardelli, it should be noted, was a great lawyer, and as a writer on legal subjects he achieved a European reputation. He was the author of the modern penal code of Italy, which is regarded as well-nigh a perfect work of its kind.

"Al" Daggett, who died at Mumford Falls, Me., recently, in obscurity and poverty, was a dictator in New York politics for many years, being made state chairman by the "half breeds" when Conkling and Platt resigned from the United States senate.

M. Coquelin, the great French comedian, recalls with amusement the verdict passed on him when, a youth of 20, he presented himself as a candidate for admission to the conservatoire in Paris. "I can see two fatal difficulties in the way of your becoming a good actor," said one of the chief professors, "your face and your voice." As all who have seen him will admit, these are precisely the most valuable features of the great actor's endowment to-day.

Senora Rosa Abreu, the richest woman in Cuba, is a handsome, intelligent, aristocratic looking widow, worth $2,000,000, and with no incumbrance. She lives in the Cerro, a fashionable suburb of Havana, was born in Cuba, as was her late husband, and all her interests and sympathies are entirely non-Spanish. La Senora is very democratic in manner, and takes great interest in a society originated by American women to aid the poor. Her plantation, one of the largest in Cuba, consists of 150,000 acres of magnificent coffee land.

ALL SORTS.

Mary A. Swain, of Franklin, N. H., has a piano over 200 years old. It is probably the first upright piano made.

Susie Gentry, of Franklin, Tenn., has the largest, most interesting and most valuable collection of gourds in existence.

The number of visitors to Niagara falls averages three-fourths of a million a year. In the year of the Buffalo exposition there were 3,000,000.

Nathan Perry Beers, for 66 years a teacher in the public schools of New York, has just retired. During his entire career he never administered corporal punishment to a pupil.

Formerly in the Trans-Baikal provinces, at Tsasetchue, the cream butter was prepared in the primitive way; now there is a butter factory, with separators, with a capacity of 542 pounds a day, handworked, but it is proposed to introduce steam power.

On the island of Trinidad oil is found amid a huge tropical vegetation, and is said to be of first-class illuminating power. A Canadian company is exploiting the field. It is intended to build a pipe line, by means of which the oil will be conveyed to the harbor of Port of Spain.

Rev. J. B. Toomay married a negro couple in a shoe store at Carthage, Mo., the other day. After the ceremony the groom asked the minister how much he owed him. "Tell me what your wife is worth to you, and that will be my price," answered the minister. The black man grinningly handed him one dollar. The minister seemed to approve of the groom's estimate, for he pocketed the money without returning any change.

TERSE AND TRUE.

Silent men seldom contradict themselves.

Many a girl shatters her ideal when she marries him.

Two often cease to be company after they are made one.

It is twice as easy to fool yourself as it is to fool other people.

Only a poverty-stricken office is compelled to seek the man.

A Valentine

By Warren Clarke

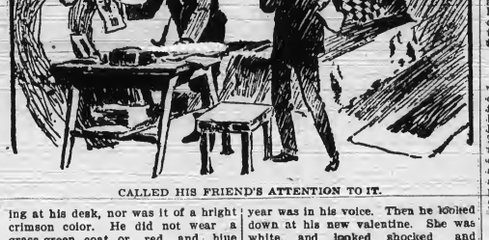
I've often heard of Cupid,
The merlike King of Darts,
The roguish boy, whose chiefest joy
Is piercing tender hearts.

To me the tale is stupid,
For many a day and year,
I wandered near Sir Cupid
Without the slightest fear.

'Tis true he had a quiver—
The quivering of his arm,
That seemed more like a shiver,
Could such a child do harm?

'Tis not that I am lore-lorn,
I know, indeed, Love's joy
But in my heart the joy was born
Sons aid of saucy boy.

For when I saw my Phillis,
The light in her sweet eyes
Pierced my heart more swift than dart
That ever Cupid flies.



Pierced my heart and held me
There nevermore to go,
A capture made in rapture,
Ere Cupid strung his bow.

So sound no more his praise
His arrow useless lies,
For Cupid has no power
So great as Phillis' eyes.

POOLEY'S VALENTINE

THERE was no good reason why the comic valentine should have hurt young Pooley, but it did hurt him, though he hugged the mortification to his bosom with Spartan fortitude and laughed so much at it that no one in the family circle suspected that he did not enjoy it as much as they evidently did.

The points of resemblance between the valentine clerk and Pooley were not striking. Pooley's ears were of normal size, and did not flap from the sides of his head in a manner suggestive of an alarmed elephant, nor was he in the habit of decorating them with quill pens. They would hardly have known a quill pen in the office if they had seen one. Then, he had rather a good nose—long enough to express sagacity, but not so long as to smear the columns of figures in the ledger before him when he was working at his desk, nor was it of a bright crimson color. He did not wear a grass-green coat or red and blue checkered trousers and purple-striped shirt cuffs, and, being a rather modest and well-conducted young man, the charges of snobbery and humpbrousness in the atrocious doggerel below the valentine seemed singularly flat and inappropriate. But it was true that he was a clerk, and, though he had never considered that disgraceful, it somehow seemed to him now to afford ground for the sneer.

CALLED HIS FRIEND'S ATTENTION TO IT.

At the least, Pooley thought, it showed that somebody disliked him—probably honestly believed that he was snobbish and humptious, so that his maligned ears tingled and he burned with resentment every time the comic valentine met his eye.

That was quite frequently, for he had taken particular pains to have it pinned above his little work table in the sitting-room—just to show how little he cared. When friends came in he was sure to call their attention to it.

In addition to this, Pooley spent much time speculating as to who had sent the thing. He compared the handwriting on the envelope that had contained it with the handwriting of his friends and acquaintances, and came to many conclusions, the result of which was that his friends began to complain among themselves of a certain change in his manner—a lack of the old warmth and frank kindness, and a cold and distrustful air. The evil influence lasted for exactly one year. For some months before the St. Valentine's day following he had been more than slightly under another influence. It had pretty golden hair and blue eyes and its name was Margaret. Margaret was a friend of his sister, and had been to Pooley's house several times.

So it happened that just before St. Valentine's day Pooley spent quite an extravagant sum of money in the purchase of an arrangement of laces, ribbons, violets and amatory verse, which he directed with his gloved left hand, and mailed secretly. On the morning of St. Valentine's day he himself received a modest little card which seemed to give him inordinate delight. His sister noticed it, and wanted to see what his card was, but Pooley firmly refused to gratify her curiosity.

"It's another comic one," declared the sister. "You're afraid to show it."

Her remark somehow dashed Pooley's pleasure. He was nervously apprehensive for the rest of the time that he was in the house. He started at the sound of the postman's second knock, and felt an unaccountable sinking of his spirits when he returned home that evening.

It was a pleasant surprise to him, therefore, when he found nothing worse than Margaret—not that she had the appearance of awaiting him; in fact, she seemed rather surprised than otherwise to see him, though, of course, it was natural enough that he should be at his own home.

The sister was good-natured, and she went away and left Pooley to entertain Margaret. The talk, somehow, turned on valentines, and she said she had received one that she liked very much indeed. She described it as consisting of violets, lace, ribbons and poetry. The poetry, she thought, was sweet, but she blushed as she said it, and it sounded better than that. Pooley said he had received a valentine, too, and he felt encouraged to say some things about it—and things in general—that put them on exceedingly familiar terms in the course of about five minutes.

"Well," said Pooley, at last, "this is a different Valentine's day to last year's to me. Did you ever see that thing? Do you think it looks like me? I'd like to know what idiot sent it."

The last words he spoke in a bitter tone. The pent-up resentment of a year was in his voice. Then he looked down at his new valentine. She was white, and looked shocked and frightened.

"What is it, Margaret?" asked Pooley, with much concern.

"Oh!" she cried, bursting into tears, "it was I sent that horrid thing. I—I didn't know you then—and—and it—we were sending a lot of them—the girls—and—anyway, I know it was silly, but I didn't think it would hurt anybody's feelings—and to think that it was you! Oh, I'm so unhappy, and I'll never—"

"Oh, pshaw!" said Pooley. "You don't think I minded! Why, I thought it was a good joke—but it's a better one this year."

Then he took down the comic valentine and gazed fondly on the atrocious cleric, then folded it up tenderly and put it into his breast pocket.—Chicago Daily News.

St. Valentine's Day.

The 14th of February is observed in commemoration of St. Valentinus, a bishop of Rome noted for deeds of kindness and beneficence. Shakespeare refers to the day as one on which birds choose their mates. From whatever source the day derived its origin, it appears that sending friendly or sentimental messages on the 14th of February is an ancient time-honored usage. It is a pleasant and harmless diversion, if not abused.

Girlish Confidences.

"You told Charley Chubbins you thought he sent that beautiful valentine!"

"Yes. Charley is a very nice young man, with good prospects."

"But you know well enough that he didn't send it."

"Of course. But it didn't do any harm to let him know that I shouldn't have been a bit angry if he had."—Washington Star.

But, goodness, I've forgot your name
—Detroit Free Press.

AND HE GOT IT.

But It Proved to Be Something He Did'nt Care to Hold Very Long.

An indulgent mother of the Tuxedo colony was traveling on a local train one day in company with her three-year-old son, his nursemaid, and a copy of a society magazine which absorbed her attention, relates the New York Times. The son was occupying the seat behind her with his attendant, who attempted every once in awhile to curb his restless and rebellious spirit by a gentle denial of his latest whim, but each time the mother, noticing only that some argument was in progress, and without looking up from her book, would remark: "Let him have it."

The nursemaid thereupon would yield to this double demand.

Finally a strong and rather venomous looking wasp flew against the window pane, and the youthful hunter reached out to grasp it, and wailed dejectedly when he was once more restrained by the watchful caretaker. Again the fond mother, without raising her eyes, exclaimed:

"Oh, do let him have it!"

And the howl which followed the nurse's compliance caused an amused smile to pass around the car.

FOOTWORK ON THE PIANO.

"First Steps in Music" by a Youthful Artist with Too Much Pedal.

Clifton Bingham, the author of "In Old Madrid," is not himself a musician, but his ear is delicate and sensitive, and nothing annoys him more than to hear bad singing or bad playing says the New York Tribune.

He was visiting a cousin of his in London, and this cousin has a son, a boy of 12 or 13, who practices on the piano every morning. The muscular lad, banging false notes from the instrument with tremendous vigor, tried Mr. Bingham not a little.

"What on earth are you playing there, Jimmy?" the song writer called from the next room one morning.

"An exercise from 'First Steps in Music,'" the boy answered.

"I knew you were playing with your feet," said Mr. Bingham, "but would you mind stepping a little lighter on the keys?"

Gratitude Well Expressed.

Sanlt St., Marie, Mich., Feb. 8th.—Mr. C. L. Smith, painter and decorator, whose home is at 309 Anne street, this city, makes the following statement:

"I was laid up with some kind of pains. Some said it was Lumbago, others Sciatica, and others again Rheumatism. A few of my friends suggested that it was lead poison, but whatever it was it gave me a great deal of pain, in fact, almost completely crippled me. I had to use two canes to walk about and even then it was a very painful task.

A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills and I began the treatment. After I had used the first box I was able to throw away one of the canes and was considerably improved. The second box straightened me up so that I could go about free from pain without any assistance and very soon after I was completely cured, and happy, without a pain or an ache. Dodd's Kidney Pills seemed to go right to the spot in my case and they will always have my greatest praise."

Willing to Take a Chance.

A pious citizen, has a 15-year-old son who does not promise to be exactly "a chip off the old block." Not long ago the father discovered to his sorrow that his boy and several others of the neighborhood had a habit of matching nickels. The wrathful parent led the erring lad to the time-honored attic, where hangs a certain strap. The boy didn't have any agreeable impression of what was to come, and, on the ground that it is only the first plunge that counts, he called out: "Say, dad! I'll go you heads or tails for two lickings or none!"—Chicago Chronicle.

PILL TRADE MARK IMITATED.

Druggist and Clerk Are Held in Bail for Court.

Charged with infringing upon the trademark of Carter's Little Liver Pill Company, Joseph T. Griffith, a druggist at the southeast corner of Fourth and Vine streets, was held in $500 bail for Court this afternoon by Magistrate Jermon, and at the same time Griffith's clerk, Joseph C. Fore, was held in $300 bail for Court on the same charge, and also for selling certain articles the sale of which is prohibited by law.

The men were arrested this morning upon warrants issued by Magistrate Jermon at the instance of Brent Good, No. 130 West Fifty-second street, New York, and Charles C. Orcutt, No. 12 Jumel Terrace, New York, representatives of the Carter Company. They stated that the latter had spent $3,000,000 in advertising and getting their label known, and did not purpose to permit others to reap the benefits.

The label in question is a small one containing a large letter L, and the one used by Griffith is an exact copy, except that it does not contain Carter's name.

The prosecution showed how easily the imitation product could be palmed off on the would-be purchaser of Carter's pills, owing to the similarity of the labels, and held that it was evidence of a deliberate attempt to deceive.—Philadelphia Telegraph, Jan. 27, 1904.

CAUGHT BY THE GRIP.
RELEASED BY PE-RU-NA.

LA GRIPPE is epidemic catarrh. It spares no class or nationality. The cultured and the ignorant, the aristocrat and the pauper, the masses and the classes are alike subject to la grippe. None are exempt—all are liable.

Have you the grip? Or, rather, has the grip got you? Grip is well named. The original French term, la grippe, has been shortened by the busy American to read "grip." Without intending to do so a new word has been coined that exactly describes the case. As if some hideous giant with awful Grip had clutched us in its fatal clasp. Men, women, and children, whole towns and cities are caught in the baneful grip of a terrible monster.

The following letters speak for themselves as to the efficacy of Peruna in cases of la grippe or its after effects.

After Effects of La Grippe Eradicated by Pe-ru-na.

Mrs. Fred Weinberger, Westerlo, Albany County, N. Y., writes:

"Several years ago I had an attack of la grippe which left my nerves in a prostrated condition. Then I had another attack of la grippe which left me worse. I had tried three good physicians but all in vain. I gave Peruna a trial. In a short time I was feeling better and now I am as well as anyone."—Mrs. Fred Weinberger.

Hon. James R. Guill of Omaha.

Hon. James R. Guill is one of the oldest and most esteemed men of Omaha, Neb. He has done much to make it what it is, serving on public boards a number of times. He endorses Peruna in the following words:

"I am 68 years old, am hale and hearty, and Peruna has helped me attain it. Two years ago I had la grippe—my life was despaired of. Peruna saved me."—J. R. Guill.

A Relative of Abraham Lincoln.

Mr. Silas S. Lincoln, who resides at 913 I. Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., has the honor of being third cousin to Abraham Lincoln. He writes:

"I had la grippe five times before using your medicine. Four years ago I began the use of Peruna, since which time I have not been troubled with that disease. I can now do as much work at my desk as I ever could in my life. I have gained more than ten pounds in weight."—S. S. Lincoln.

Pe-ru-na Not Only Cured La Grippe but Benefited the Whole System.

Miss Alice M. Dressler, 1313 N. Bryant Ave., Minneapolis, Minn., writes:

"Last spring I suffered from la grippe and was partially cured, but the had after effects remained through the summer and somehow I did not get strong as I was before. One of my college friends who was visiting me asked me to try Peruna and I did so and found it all and more than I had expected. It not only cured me of the catarrh but restored me to perfect health, built up the entire system and brought a happy feeling of buoyancy which I had not known for years."—Alice M. Dressler.

An Actress' Testimonial.

Miss Jean Cowgill, Griswold Opera House, Troy, N. Y., is the leading lady with the Aubrey Stock Co. She writes the following:

"During the past winter of 1901, I suffered for several weeks from a severe attack of grippe, which left a serious catarrhal condition of the throat and head.

"Some one suggested Peruna. As a last resort, after wasting much time and money on physicians, I tried the remedy faithfully, and in a few weeks was as well as ever."—Jean Cowgill.

A Southern Judge Cured.

Judge Horatio J. Goss, Hartwell, Ga., writes:

"Some five or six years ago I had a very severe spell of grippe, which left me with systemic catarrh. A friend advised me to try your Peruna, which I did, and was immediately benefited and cured. The third bottle completed the cure."—H. J. Goss.

If you do not derive p... and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

A WOMAN'S MISERY.

Mrs. John La Rue, of 115 Paterson Ave., Paterson, N. J., says: "I was troubled for about nine years, and what I suffered no one will ever know. I used about every known remedy that is said to be good for kidney com-plaint, but without deriving permanent relief. Often when alone in the house the backache has been so bad that it brought tears to my eyes. The pain at times was so intense that I was compelled to give up my household duties and lie down. There were headaches, dizziness and blood rushing to my head to cause bleeding at the nose. The first box of Doan's Kidney Pills benefited me so much that I continued the treatment. The stinging pain in the small of my back, the rushes of blood to the head, and other symptoms disappeared."

SALZER'S FARM SEED NOVELTIES

Salzer's National Oats.

Most prolific Oats on earth. The U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Washington, says: "Salzer's Oats are the best out of over four hundred sorts tested by us." This grand Oat yielded in Wisconsin 156 bu., Ohio 127 bu., Michigan 231 bu., Missouri 255 bu., and North Dakota 210 bu. per acre, and will positively do as well for you. Try it, sir, and be convinced.

A Few Sworn to Yields.

Salzer's Beardless Barley, 121 bu. per A.
Salzer's Romulaeker Corn, 204 bu. per A.
Salzer's Big Four Oats, 304 bu. per A.
Salzer's Rye Bal'ana Oats, 180 bu. per A.
Salzer's Pearl Potatoes, 726 bu. per A.
Salzer's Onions, 1,000 bu. per A.

Salzer's Speltz (Emmer).

Greatest cereal wonder of the age. It is not corn nor wheat, nor rye, nor barley, nor oats, but a golden combination of them all, yielding so big a crop of grain and a ton of rich straw by per acre. Drought-proof and rust-proof on earth. Does well every where.

Salzer's Million Dollar Grass.

Most talked of grass on earth. Editors and College Professors and Agricultural Lecturers praise it without stint. Yields 14 tons of rich hay and lots of pasture besides, per acre.

Salzer's Teosinte.

Salzer's Teosinte produces the rich, juicy, sweet, leafy stocks from one kernel of seed, in this way: In April or May, drop fifty kernels of green fodder per acre, and the crop will everywhere, East, West, South or North.

Grasses and Clovers.

Only large growers of grasses and clovers for seed in America. Operate over 5,000 acres. Our seeds are warranted. We make a specialty of Grasses and Clovers, Fodder Plants, Corn, Potatoes, Onions, Cabbage, and all sorts of Vegetable Seeds.

For 10c in Stamps and the name of this paper, we will send you a lot of farm seed samples, including many of above, together with our unapproached 1904 illustrated catalogue, for but 10c in postage stamps.

FOR CONGRESS.

HON. CLIFFORD E. NADAUD, of Kerton county, is a candidate for Congress from the Sixth Kentucky District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

HON. D. LINN GOOCH, of Covington, is a candidate for Congress in this the Sixth Congressional District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

THE Kentucky Legislature will go over to St. Louis, Friday.

SENATOR HANNA, of Ohio, has typhoid fever, and is a very sick man.

THE new dress of type has improved the looks of the Rising Sun Recorder very much.

THE big fire in Baltimore destroyed $200,000,000 worth of property and threw 50,000 people out of employment.

GRANT COUNTY is now well supplied with financial institutions. Besides numerous Building Associations it has ten banks.

THE Foraker-Hanna fight in Ohio is confined to the Democratic papers, which have had them engaged in a war for several years.

THE Legislature has demonstrated its capacity to do business now let it display good judgment and adopt the resolution to adjourn at an early date.

FRANKFORT real estate is worth considerably more than it was before the capital question was settled. The old town is threatening to take on a wild and woolly west boom.

THE Senate Committee on Appropriations has decided to report favorably the bill appropriating $400 for the erection of a monument over the grave of President Zachary Taylor and $100 yearly to keep it in repair.

ABOUT all the eligible men in Grant county having announced as candidates for office, the ladies are now entering the canvass, Miss Anna R. Beasley having announced as a candidate for Superintendent of public schools.

THE Postoffice department has decided that the six Democrats who secured the highest averages in the Mason county rural delivery examination are entitled to the positions as carriers, and the appointments will be made, notwithstanding the fight the Republicans put up against their appointment.

THE Cincinnati Commercial Tribune is making a fight to prevent the nomination of President Roosevelt for reelection. The C. T. is very sanguine that he will be defeated if nominated, and its persistent contention along that line has brought upon it a very emphatic censure from the Roosevelt followers.

THE Blue-Grass Clipper regards the creation of Beckham county as a serious mistake, and predicts that those who passed the bill will finally regret it. The Clipper takes the grounds that there are now too many pauper counties in the State, and there are but few who do not agree with it on that point.

IT did not take the Kentucky Legislature long to decide that it would not pass an election law requiring an educational qualification. There are two sides to that question in Kentucky, while in some States such a law is absolutely necessary to continue the government in the hands of the better element.

THE storm last Sunday morning did a great deal of damage in Central Kentucky. The southern part of this county suffered considerably from the wind, as told by the Walton, Richwood and Midway correspondents. In every neighborhood in the county the land was washed worse than it has been for years, and the damage to farm lands reaches up into the thousands of dollars.

SENATOR CAMMACK, of Owen, who represents this district was chairman of the committee that reported to the Senate the bill appropriating $1,000,000 for the building of a new capitol at Frandfort, thereby writing his name indelibly in the history of Kentucky, as by the final passage of his bill ended a fight that had been in progress since a time to which the mind of man runneth not to the contrary. He will, henceforth, be known as Capitol Cammack.

THE RECORDER has before it a copy of the "Thirty-First Annual Report of the Central Kentucky Asylum for the Insane," of which Dr. J. G. Furnish is Superintendent. In his report the Doctor goes into details, and that the readers may acquire some idea of the magnitude of the institution, the following extracts therefrom are given:

"There were present at the close of the last fiscal year 1,252 patients. Of this number 644 were white males, 440 white females, 88 colored males and 80 colored females. During the year there were admitted 201 white males, 142 white females, 15 colored males and 24 colored females making a total of 379.

"For the same period there were discharged, 170 recovered and 35 improved. Of these 102 were white males, 84 white females, 7 colored males and 12 colored females One hundred and fifteen have died, 62 white males, 42 white females, 3 colored males and 5 colored females. Ten white males and 1 colored male escaped and 26 were removed, 17 white males, 8 white females and 1 colored male. The whole number treated and maintained was 1,631.

"There were present October 1, 1903, 1,214. Of these 622 were white males, 425 white females, 87 colored males and 80 colored females.

"The percentage of deaths on whole number treated is 7.05.

"We have received from the auditor in quarterly drafts, $189,238,48, from pay patients, $5,976.40 and from sales of the steward, $10,527.92, making a total of cash received from all sources of $205,741.80.

"The current expenditures for the year was $186,651.12, leaving a surplus of $16,091.68 which was appropriated by the Board of Commissioners."

The water problem has annoyed the Superintendent for several years, and he recommends that the capacity of the asylum be not increased until the water supply be made adequate, which accomplished will make the institution second to none of its kind.

At the close of the year for which the report was made, September 30, 1903, Boone had 17 patients in the institution.

Hon. William C. Whitney, former Secretary of the Navy, died Tuesday at his home in New York, while under the influence of either which had been administered by his physicians preparatory to a second operation for appendicitis.

Senator Dehaven, of Oldham county, has introduced in the Senate an Automobile Bill which he thinks will not meet with so much objection as some of the others, as he says he is not so particular about the rate of speed as he is about the automobilist stopping when he meets persons riding along the roads. While his bill limits the speed to fifteen miles an hour, he says he is willing that it should be amended in that respect.

President Roosevelt has asked for the removal from the White House of another newspaper reporter. This is the third case in which the President has taken offense at newspaper articles. The first case was the demand for the withdrawal of a New York newspaper's representative at Oyster Bay. The second was his complaint against a newspaper man on a local paper who had written an account of Senator Scott, of West Virginia, leaving the White House regardless of the President's request that he remain, and the present case is the request that the society editor of a local paper, a cultured and widely known woman who has been engaged in newspaper work there for several years, be no longer detailed at the White House.

Poultrymen in South Africa should be doing very well at the prevailing prices for fresh eggs, which are quoted at eighty-five cents to $1.82 per dozen, according to season. This scarcity of fresh eggs has led to a demand for condensed eggs which are made by partly drying the contents of eggs and adding sugar. In this form they ran fifteen to the pound and are put up in air-tight boxes.

HAVING made a record of which the people of the State should feel proud, the legislators will labor to sustain their rep.

The oldest inhabitant has not seen in Frankfort a Legislature with so little of the lobby, so little of the "cold bottle and hot bird" feature, and so much in earnest about sure enough work in the interest of the people who sent them here, as the body now in session. It has already made a record, and if followed out to the end will be such as is void of blemish.—Kentucky Journal.

That diphtheria may live in packed clothing almost indefinitely is shown by an incident which occurred in an Ohio village. A child died of diphtheria and its mother packed the dresses and toys in a chest. The mother died fifteen years afterward, and her daughter and granddaughter who opened and handled the contents of the chest, were duly taken ill of diphtheria, although there had recently been no cases in the village.

The Burley Tobacco Growers' Association seems to be "up against it." After having assurances that they would be able to finance their organization they have been compelled to surrender for this year, and probably for all time. Fighting the trusts these days is a losing fight unless the assailant has unlimited money at command, and this the Growers' Association has never had, and we fear ever will have.—Midway Clipper.

In spite of all reports to the contrary, the United States Senate seems to be growing more youthful. Thirteen years ago a careful computation was made, from which it appeared that the average age of its members was 60 years. There were then only eight who were less than 45. Today the average age is 59 years and 4 months, and in a slightly larger Senate there are fourteen men, instead of eight, who are less than 45. This difference is doubtless due to the new States which have come into the Union since that time, whose political leaders were naturally younger men. The Delaware overturn has also given the Senate two youthful members. It is almost a rule that the young States have young Senators.

The Lancaster Record makes the following just comment: One of the brilliant (?) bills introduced in the present legislature provides, "No person guilty of trespass who is found walking on a railroad unless the railroad maintains a fence four feet high along the course." The people of Kentucky howl for "more railroads," and frequently wonder why more are not built. It is just such tommyrot as the foregoing which drives them out of the state. It is a wonder that some 2x4 "solon" doesn't make it unanimous by introducing a bill to prohibit the operation of a railroad in Kentucky. No enterprise is so harrassed by adverse legislation and little, annoying, unjust suits as are the railroad companies. With the legislative bodies and cheap-scrub lawyers constantly at their heels it is no wonder the roads are no more progressive. What Kentucky needs is more railroads and fewer chug-headed legislators and scrub lawyers.

Touching upon the use of blankets, for horses, a good horseman says they are an essential feature for stable use, when the horses are standing there in the winter season. He says: "A blanket should always be thrown over the horse in cold weather, or even in the cool weather of spring and autumn, when standing after being driven. While the horse is working there is no danger that he will suffer from the cold. If a blanket is used the average horse will sweat and the moisture will be retained, and in this way the danger from taking cold is much greater. A horse should always be blanketed, when standing in a draft or in the rain, using a cloth or rubber blanket, as the case may be. After a hard drive and the horse has become heated, do not cover him for about five minutes, letting him steam. Then put on a light blanket; allow this to remain half an hour, then remove this and put on your heavy one. This gives the animal a warm dry covering, after you have removed the light blanket, which is wet from the steam of the horse. A thorough rubbing first, if convenient, is excellent. In blanketing your horse see that the blanket is sufficiently large to cover the animal from neck to tail; see also that the breast flaps are sufficient to protect this sensitive part, and that the sides and flank are fully protected. If not do not buy it at any price.

St. Valentine's day is close at hand.

St. Valentine's day comes on Sunday, this year.

W. C. Weaver had a severe case of quinsy, last week.

In 1849 there were 8,500 miles of railroad in the United States.

The cold weather soon filled the river with ice again last week.

Most of the ice put up last week looked like it was of an inferior quality.

J. J. Walton and Osce Rice drove a nice bunch of cattle through town yesterday.

Hubert Gaines was in town Saturday morning exercising a couple of his steppers.

The 43 mules sold at sheriff's sale in Lawrenceburg on the 1st inst., averaged $125.

It did not take very long for the ground to soften up very considerable last week.

Considerable change in the weather from Sunday morning until Monday morning.

Jeff Eddins has the best record as an eater of roasted rabbits. Charles Westbay is a close second.

Several new cases of measles in town. That disease seems to have the entire county in its grasp.

I keep constantly on hand coal, hay, corn, and all kinds of food for stock. T. L. Utz, Florence, Ky.

Old timepieces that have been laid aside for years can be made to run like new, by Clark the jeweler.

The boats started out last week, but the frequent floes of ice prevented them from doing much business.

The bodies of Mrs. Bart Aylor and Chas. R. Crigler were taken from the vault at Hebron, last Thursday, and interred.

Oscar Ryle is collecting his fishing paraphernalia for a spring campaign. Oscar thinks the creeks will be full of fish this spring.

The sale of the personal estate of the late Dr. W. A. Clore, of Bullittsville, will take place today. A large crowd will be in attendance.

Last Thursday was pension day, and several of the old veterans were on hand having their papers put in shape for their quarterly draw.

The RECORDER has added several new subscribers to its list, this year, while many have come in and renewed for another twelve months.

Rev. Atwood was unable to fill his appointment at Gunpowder, last Sunday, on account of his eyes which are giving him considerable trouble.

O. P. Phippa is arranging to move to the Baker place just west of Burlington. He expects to be installed in his new home by the first of next month.

The boys have been enjoying some excellent music at Everet Hall's barber shop the past several nights—Beall, Tanner and Roberts manipulate the musical instruments.

Thomas Adams, the noted wire fence builder is putting up a long string of fence for County Attorney Castlemen and others on what is known as the Baker place west of town.

Those who have sugar orchards anticipate a good season. If long freezing is necessary to a good season it is assured for 1904. Get your buckets and other accouterments ready.

You can distinguish the members of the R. R. Club from the other citizens of the town. Every time they hear a gun crack or see a dog they try to run under the nearest building.

The farmers' telephone company with head quarters at Hebron began staking oits line off last week. That company will put up considerable wire and install a large number of 'phones this spring.

Nearly Forfeits His Life.

A runaway almost ending fatally started a horrible ulcer on the leg of J. B. Orner, Franklin Grove, Ill. For four years it defied all doctors and all remedies. But Bucklen's Arnica Salve had no trouble to cure him. Equally good for Burns, Skin, Eruptions, Bruises, and Piles. 25c at All Druggists.

Poles are set for the telephone line from Rabbit Hash to Bellevue. The wire will be put up in the next few days, and the eighteen boxes on the line placed in the residences.

A Card of Thanks.—We desire to thank our neighbors and friends for their kindness and sympathy to us during the last sickness of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Louisiana Stephens. THE FAMILY.

James L. Clore has been awarded the contract for carrying the mail another four years on Burlington and Erlanger route. He gets about $450 per year, which is a considerable increase over his present pay.

Amos Collins, several years ago a citizen of this neighborhood, living on the farm now owned and occupied by J. C. Revill, died at his home, Winn, Arkansas, last week. His remains were brought to Covington for interment.

The ground-hog didn't see his shadow. It was raining gently when he came out of his hole. He didn't go back, in as much as winter is over.—Georgetown Times.

Would that it had been thus in this part of the country.

The hardest rain that has fallen here in a long time was that of last Sunday morning. It was accompanied by vivid lightning and heavy thunder. Water courses were higher than they had been for years, and laud was washed badly.

The telephone company that will run a line from Burlington to Locust Grove neighborhood, began setting poles at this end of the line last Thursday. The poles they put up in Burlington are skyscrapers. The work of putting up the wire began yesterday.

Some attribute the scarcity of hen eggs, this winter, to the fact that the hens have been eating snow for several months, and such diet is not condusive to a supply of eggs. Those who have kept their hens in the house say they have been laying all winter.

Richard Q. Sleet, of Verona, aged 65, and a bachelor, committed suicide last Thursday morning by shooting himself in the head with a pistol. He was a wealthy and influential citizen, and his rash act was a great shock to the community in which he spent his life. No cause is assigned for the act.

The culvert at the first gate on the Bellevue pike was not large enough to carry off the large volume of water that came to it last Saturday night, and, as a result, the cellar under the toll house was filled with water, and a considerable quantity of canned goods belonging to Mrs. Adams was destroyed.

Mysterious Circumstance.

One was pale and sallow and the other fresh and rosy. Whence the difference? She who is blushing with health uses Dr. King's New Life Pills to maintain it. By gently arousing the lazy organs they compel good digestion and head off constipation. Try them. Only 25c, at all Druggists.

When the Universalist church building in the Waterloo neighborhood was razed in the summer of 1902, there was considerable speculation as to when it was built. We have before us a copy of the Burlington Advertiser of October 20th, 1849, in which is the following item: "Tomorrow the Universalist church on Middle creek will be dedicated."

Our farmer friend, W. C. Goodridge, who lives about two miles southwest of Burlington, was in town one day last week talking traction road. He has the route selected over which it should pass by his place to the river at Bellevue. He says that this winter has demonstrated the need of the road, and that there is no good reason why it should not be built.

Several of the ball players that made the Aurora team of 1903 famous have secured engagements in different miner leagues. Sam Vansickies will play in Louisville, Ky.; Walter Block with Dayton, O.; Paul Minish with Evansville and Elbert Kerr with the Macon, Ga., team. However there is enough good base ball talent here to give Aurora a good team in 1904 and we'll have one.—Independent.

Louisiana Stephens, daughter of Richard and Pamela Stephens, was born near East Bend, Ky., October 25, 1836, and died January 28, 1904, after an illness of three weeks. On January 29, 1904, a large crowd of sorrowing relatives and friends attended the brief and beautiful services which were conducted by A. G. McConnell, after which her remains were laid to rest in the family cemetery on the old farm, where she was born and raised. On May 24, 1860, she was united in marriage with Thomas N. Stephens. Of this union four children were born, of which three survive her, viz: Pamela Stephens, Sidney J. Stephens and Solon Stephens, jr. Her husband also survives her, and to him the sympathy of all is extended, for the loss of the companion, who, for nearly forty four years has traveled the journey of life by his side. Her only brother, Solon Stephens, sr., also survives, and to him her loss will be irreparable, for between them there existed more than the ordinary affection of brother and sister. She was an affectionate wife, a kind and loving mother and a friend who was steadfast and true, practicing charity in a quiet way of which very few knew except those directly interested. She was a highly educated and accomplished lady, a great reader, a close observer of current events, with decided opinions on all questions, a gifted conversationalist and one who always made people better for an intimate acquaintance with her. Truly this community has lost one of its most valued citizens.

But now for her;
"Life's troubles are o'er,
She is waiting for us on that other shore."

BY ONE WHO LOVED HER.

The Kentucky Building at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition will be fittingly dedicated on Saturday of this week, February 13, and all citizens of the State and former citizens now residents of other communities are invited to attend the ceremonies and help give the "New Kentucky Home" a rousing "house warming." The General Assembly now in session at Frankfort, has accepted the invitation of the Kentucky Exhibit Association to be present and the members, headed by Gov. Beckham, will go over to St. Louis Friday in a special train, tendered the Exhibit Association by the L. & N. R. R. and Henderson Route. The dedication will be made the occasion of the formal transfer of the building from the Exhibit Association to the Commissioners recently named by Gov. Beckham, under the provisions of the act making an appropriation of $75,000 to supplement the fund raised by the Association for the State's representation at the exposition.

The dedicatory exercises will embrace a welcome address by President Francis, himself a transplanted Colonel; the tender of the building by President A. Y. Ford, of the Exhibit Association, to Governor Beckham and his acceptance of same.

The heavy rain last Sunday morning injured the turnpikes considerably by tearing the stone up and washing them away.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

There is no doubt that the immediate products of the soil will support human life longer and far more economically than if those products are worked over into animal products, as meat, milk, or eggs. But in the production of human food from the soil there is a great amount of material produced incidentally, that cannot be used for human food, yet is suitable for the lower animals, and can, where used in this way, be converted into food for the human family, writes H. P. Miller in Practical Farmer. Farmers must learn to utilize all of the incidental products. Very much of the great wealth of large manufacturing concerns has been made from products that were formerly wasted. No other great business could prosper under like wastes with those prevailing upon most farms. Much has been said of the necessity of feeding the soil under continuous cropping, and none too much, but under average conditions it is a great waste to mature a crop and turn it all into the soil. Sixty to eighty per cent of the fertilizing value of a crop may be returned to the soil in the excrements of animals to which the crop is fed.

A CONFLAGRATION IN BALTIMORE CITY.

Fire Broke Out in the Wholesale District on Sunday.

The Estimated Loss to Property Will Aggregate About Two Hundred Million Dollars.

Engines Were Sent From Philadelphia and Washington to Assist Baltimore Firemen.

Business Houses Were Blown up With Dynamite to Check the Spread of the Flames.

About Twenty Blocks of the Most Modern and Substantial Buildings Are in Ruins.

The Post Office Building and the $4,000,000 Courthouse Are Doomed—The Holliday Street Theater Has Been Blown Up.

Baltimore, Feb. 8.—The fire which broke out at a few minutes before 11 o'clock Sunday morning in the wholesale dry goods house of John E. Hurst & Co., has raged with unrestrained fury continuously ever since, and at midnight it is still unchecked but is steadily eating its consuming way eastward on Baltimore street, after having destroyed almost all of the large stores and warehouses in the wholesale district around Hopkins place and all the buildings on both sides of Baltimore street from Howard to Holliday streets, from Charles and Baltimore to Charles and Lexington and on Fayette street, Charles to Holliday, including a total of about 20 blocks of the most modern and substantial buildings in Baltimore, involving a loss which is estimated at $200,000,000.

Many substantial buildings were blown up to check the flames. Subsequently the splendid structure of J. W. Putts & Co., notions, at Charles and Fayette streets, was dynamited, and then the Daily Record building, Ross' drug store and others. But this heroic remedy merely delayed but did not seriously impede the onward march of the conflagration, and for two hours or more the fire department was stopped practically helpless and resourceless. In the face of the roaring furnaces which sent their fierce tongues 200 feet into the air and which filled the heavens with a pall of black funeral smoke, and then with livid sheets of sparks and lurid cinders.

Following the rapid destruction of the palatial commercial buildings in the wholesale district the cyclone of roaring flames burst into Baltimore street, licking within a few minutes the seven-story Mullins hotel like some insatiate monster and rapidly rolling with irresistible force both eastward and westward, cutting down wholesale and retail houses, manufactories, shops, jewelry stores, furniture emporiums and restaurants. At Charles street the remorseless tide swept on down Baltimore street, but also turned into Charles street, where it quickly engulfed the 11-story Union Trust building, starting eastward on Fayette street.

By 8 o'clock the occupants of the Daily Herald building, at Fayette and St. Paul streets, and of the Record building, opposite, were compelled to vacate by the onrushing flames, as were the occupants of the Calvert and Equitable structures, two of the most massive office buildings in Baltimore.

Down Baltimore street a parallel wave of roaring, crackling flames swept, consuming everything in its course, speedily reaching the Evening News building, from which the employes had to hastily flee, though not until valuable records had been removed. Shortly thereafter the Continental Trust Co., a 14-story building, took fire. A block below the American newspaper building was enveloped in clouds of sparks and burning splinters and the employes were ordered out. The Sun has been arranging to print its Monday's issue in its job office, which is situated at a distant point from the path of the fire.

The financial district, including the chief banking and brokerage firms on South and German streets, were doomed and scores of the city's leading financiers and business men are scurrying in and out of their offices bearing packages or placing valuables in conveyances.

During all these hours the pyotechnic display has been magnificent and imposing beyond the power of painter to depict. At this hour vast columns of seething flame are shooting skyward at varying points of the compass, and the firmament is one vast prismic ocean of golden and silver sparks. Great multitudes of people line the streets, awe-struck with the panorama which is being enacted before their eyes.

At 10:40 o'clock the roof of the building occupied by the Associated Press took fire and the employes were compelled to vacate, though they had time to take away with them their telegraph instruments, typewriters and other valuable equipment.

The city hospital, corner of Calvert and Pleasant streets, removed to other hospitals as rapidly as possible the 24 patients in that institution. Seventeen injured were brought to this hospital, most of them firemen. They were suffering from burns, scalds and lacerations. Nearly every person is in the fire district. So far as known at this hour no one has been killed.

Detachments of the Fourth and Fifth regiments have been called out and are patrolling the streets in the vicinity of the fire, guarding property and keeping order.

Fortunately thus far the conflagration has not reached the residence portion of the city, but fires are breaking out in East Baltimore and the indications are that the residence streets are doomed to be invaded.

The indications are that not a single morning newspaper will be able to get out an issue Monday morning, with the possible exception of the Sun, which has an auxiliary plant. There are five morning papers here, three English and two German.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad office building has been destroyed and so has the Maryland institute of art building.

Though every bit of fire fighting apparatus in the city was called into requisition, as the flames continued to spread, the firemen realized that they had a task before them which was too great for them to combat. Telegrams for fire engines were sent to Washington and Philadelphia and about 1 o'clock six engines arrived from Washington and four from Philadelphia and joined in the battle with the flames.

Engines from stations in Baltimore, Howard, Anne Arundel and Harford counties also arrived as soon as possible, some of the apparatus traveling a distance of 30 miles and more.

Water plugs in every section within a radius of half a mile from the fire were in use, and it is roughly estimated that there were 250 hose all playing at one time upon different parts of the conflagration.

Owing to the great congestion of fire apparatus, the crowds of people and the general confusion, many of the engines from out of town were unable to find a place where they would be of any service.

Washington, Feb. 8.—A dispatch received from Baltimore at 2 o'clock Monday morning says the fire was still raging fiercely. The post office building is burning, also the $4,000,000 courthouse. The Holliday street theater has been blown up with dynamite and the United States express offices and central offices of the Baltimore & Ohio railroads are burned. A report was received that both the Sun building and American, directly across the street, had been dynamited.

A telephone message from Baltimore over the Baltimore & Ohio wires at 2:15 o'clock says the fire has reached Jones Falls, the stream that divides Baltimore and East Baltimore, and that a high wind is blowing. The East Baltimore section consists of small residential houses.

The burned area at this time is three-quarters of a mile long and from two to eight blocks wide.

The entire staff of the Baltimore Sun was transferred to Washington at 11 o'clock Sunday night and that paper will be issued by the use of the plant of the Evening Star.

Estimates of the area burned made by the Sun staff place it at between 23 and 24 blocks, all of which is in the business section of the city.

Baltimore, Feb. 8.—At 4 a. m. the fire continued to spread in an easterly direction and continued beyond the control of the multitude of firemen. The news that 11 fire engines and equipment had left New York city to reinforce the local department was hailed with delight by the weary men.

Moving wagons are busily at this hour removing the household goods of the residences being threatened by the rapidly extending flames.

Baltimore, Feb. 8.—At 5 o'clock Monday morning the fire continued to burn furiously, but has not yet extended beyond Jones Falls. A number of engine companies have just arrived and began to throw streams of water upon the burning buildings, several of which have been dynamited to prevent the spread of the flames. The city is practically under martial law, the Fourth and Fifth regiments, Maryland militia, together with a company of regular artillery men from Fort McHenry, reinforcing the local police force to keep the crowds in check.

WAR IS IMMINENT.

Japan Breaks Off Diplomatic Relations With Japan.

Japan Will Unquestionably Seize Upon Corea, and the Whole World Is Eagerly Awaiting Developments in the Far East.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 8.—Count Lamsdorff, the Russian foreign minister, has officially informed all Russian representatives abroad that Japan has decided to break off all negotiations with Russia and to withdraw her minister and her whole Japanese delegation staff from St. Petersburg. The Russian foreign minister thereupon ordered the Russian minister, Baron De Rosen, and his entire Russian staff to leave Tokio immediately.

Tokio, Feb. 8.—The severance of diplomatic relations between Russia and Japan appears to be only a step towards war, although when the ministers of Russia and Japan withdrew from their respective posts quick and decisive action is expected. When Minister of Foreign Affairs Komura on Saturday notified Baron De Rosen, the Russian minister, of Japan's determination to sever diplomatic relations he is reported to have declared to him that Japan is tired of Russia's delays, evasions and insincerity and has decided to take independent action for the conservation of Japan's Oriental interests. During the final negotiations Japan's repeated requests for an answer were treated in a most unsatisfactory manner. Japan waited until convinced that it was useless to wait longer and has now ended the discussion. The indications are that there will be no formal declaration of war. Japan will publicly define its position to the powers. On Monday Japan will unquestionably seize Corea, and although Russia has previously intimated that it would not interfere, in view of that country's present attitude, developments are eagerly awaited.

Paris, Feb. 8.—The official announcement that Japan has broken off diplomatic relations with Russia has caused a profound sensation here, as it was generally accepted as being only one step short of actual war.

The first intimation of this move reached Foreign Minister Delcasse early in the day. While he was at the foreign office the French minister at Tokio telegraphed that he had taken charge of Russia's interests there on the departure of Baron De Rosen, the Russian minister to Japan. Later in the day M. Motono, the Japanese minister to France, delivered to M. Delcasse the official notification of the Japanese government of the severance of diplomatic relations with Russia. The French foreign minister communicated these announcements to President Loubet at the Elevsee palace and throughout the day the ministers individually discussed the situation.

Public interest has been aroused to the highest pitch and all through the afternoon the boulevards were flooded with extras announcing Japan's action.

Sunday night the imminence of war is the universal theme in all public places, and crowds at the hotels, theaters and cafes are eagerly discussing the war news.

The embassies and legation were unusually active Sunday, many of them remaining open to communicate with their governments. United States Ambassador Porter, when seen Sunday night, expressed the deepest regret at the unfavorable turn of events.

About the only tangible indication that a chance still remains of avoiding war is the report that France and Great Britain will at the last moment exercise a strong restraining influence. Unfortunately this report can not be verified, as the officials seem to believe that Japan's decisive action has carried events beyond the point of effective intervention.

Secretary Hay Returns.

Washington, Feb. 8.—Secretary of State Hay returned to Washington from Thomasville, Ga., where he has been recuperating for the past two weeks. He seems almost entirely recovered from his severe indisposition. The secretary spent some time at the white house Sunday night in conference with President Roosevelt on the eastern situation.

A Skirmish Reported.

Monastir, Feb. 8.—A skirmish is reported to have taken place between Turkish troops and revolutionists in the Komitagis-Terin district, in which five Turks and four revolutionists were killed. Boris Sarafoff, the revolutionary leader, is expected in the field soon with a strong Macedonian escort.

Did Not Create Much Excitement.

Vienna, Feb. 8.—The news of the rupture of diplomatic relations between Japan and Russia were published here in special editions of newspapers. It did not create much excitement, and it is considered mostly in the light of possible Balkan complications.

Russian Black Sea Fleet.

Paris, Feb. 8.—A dispatch to the Paris edition of the New York Herald from St. Petersburg says that Adm. Skrydloff, commander of the Russian Black Sea fleet, will be given command of the naval forces in the far east.

Japan Will Accept No Mediation.

Paris, Feb. 8.—The Figaro Monday morning publishes a statement that M. Motono, the Japanese minister, says Japan will not accept an offer of mediation from whatever source it might come.

Fond Parent's Pride.

A reporter was endeavoring to find out the particulars of an accident that had befallen a boy and was asking the questions necessary in such cases of the father of the injured boy.

"Did the little fellow stand the operation well?" asked the reporter.

"Like a major—came through it all right."

"Did he have to take anything?" continued the reporter.

"Not a gol darn thing but chloroform," was the proud reply of the admiring parent.—Utica Observer.

Fibroid Tumors Cured.

A distressing case of Fibroid Tumor, which baffled the skill of Boston doctors. Mrs. Hayes, of Boston, Mass., in the following letter tells how she was cured, after everything else failed, by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Hayes' First Letter Appealing to Mrs. Pinkham for Help:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been under Boston doctors' treatment for a long time without any relief. They tell me I have a fibroid tumor. I cannot sit down without great pain, and the soreness extends up my spine. I have bearing-down pains both back and front. My abdomen is swollen, and I have had flowing spells for three years. My appetite is not good. I cannot walk or be on my feet for any length of time.

"The symptoms of Fibroid Tumor given in your little book accurately describe my case, so I write to you for advice."—(Signed) Mrs. E. F. HAYES, 252 Dudley St., (Roxbury) Boston, Mass.

Note the result of Mrs. Pinkham's advice—although she advised Mrs. Hayes, of Boston, to take her medicine—which she knew would help her—her letter contained a mass of additional instructions as to treatment, all of which helped to bring about the happy result.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Sometime ago I wrote to you describing my symptoms and asked your advice. You replied, and I followed all your directions carefully, and to-day I am a well woman.

"The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound entirely expelled the tumor and strengthened my whole system. I can walk miles now.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth five dollars a drop. I advise all women who are afflicted with tumors or female trouble of any kind to give it a faithful trial."—(Signed) Mrs. E. F. HAYES, 252 Dudley St., (Roxbury) Boston, Mass.

Mountains of gold could not purchase such testimony—or take the place of the health and happiness which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought to Mrs. Hayes.

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stands without a peer as a remedy for all the distressing ills of women; all ovarian troubles; tumors; inflammations; ulceration, falling and displacements of the womb; backache; irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation. Surely the volume and character of the testimonial letters we are daily printing in the newspapers can leave no room for doubt.

Mrs. Hayes at her above address will gladly answer any letters which sick women may write for fuller information about her illness. Her gratitude to Mrs. Pinkham and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so genuine and heartfelt that she thinks no trouble is too great for her to take in return for her health and happiness.

Truly is it said that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing so many women, and no other medicine; don't forget this when some druggist wants to sell you something else.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness.

HAS TYPHOID FEVER.

Senator Hanna's Physicians Make a Statement Officially.

The Doctors Express Confidence in His Recovery But Admit Even If No Complications Arise It Will Be a Matter of Weeks.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Senator Hanna's illness is officially pronounced by his physicians to be irregular typhoid, that is, typhoid fever with the fever symptoms less regular and marked than in the pronounced type of the disease. It is stated that there are no organic complications to add to the seriousness of the case, but the senator at the time of the attack was in a literally worn out condition, so that his extreme physical weakness and nervous depression, coupled with his age, 66 years, and frequent recent rheumatic attacks, makes the case one of much more gravity than an ordinary attack of typhoid. The crisis of the fever is not expected before the middle of next week.

The senator is entirely conscious and Friday insisted on some papers being brought to him for his signature, but was so weak that when he was put off two or three times he dropped off into slumber from exhaustion. He gained considerable rest during the day, but to an extent his sleep was the result of his weakness. His physicians Friday night expressed confidence in the senator's recovery but admitted that even if no complications or unforeseen developments of any kind occur recovery will be a matter of weeks and will require meanwhile the most careful and painstaking nursing. No one save Mrs. Hanna, Miss Phelps, the senator's niece, and Mr. Elmer Dover, his secretary, are permitted to see him aside from the doctors and two trained nurses.

President Roosevelt called at the Arlington hotel during the day to inquire about Senator Hanna's condition. He saw Mr. Dover, with whom he conversed for ten minutes, about the sick man. The physicians gave some consideration to the fact that most of the senator's immediate kin are out of the city and that several of them are as far away as Thomasville, Ga., but decided that for the present at least there was no occasion to send for them. It is hoped to bring about a sufficient improvement in Senator Hanna's condition to permit his removal to Thomasville.

Washington, Feb. 8.—Senator Hanna passed Sunday without any radical change in his condition. His extreme weakness was more marked than heretofore and his temperature was a little higher. Those attending him, however, insist there is nothing significant in the condition and there are no developments on which to change their expressed belief that the outlook is hopeful for the senator's recovery. There was a consultation of Dr. Rixey and two out-of-town physicians during the day but the only important development that transpired as to the consultation was that it had been decided to omit the evening call of the attending physician so as to give the patient more rest.

It was announced that Dr. Edward Perkins Carter, of Cleveland, Senator Hanna's family physician, will reach here Monday at the request of the senator.

PANAMA CANAL TREATY BILL.

By Agreement It Will Come to a Vote at An Early Date.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Senator Cullom, in executive session of the senate Friday, again urged the democrats to permit the Panama canal treaty to come to a vote at an early date. This in effect was agreed to by the democrats, but they would not bind themselves to any date. Senator Cullom asked that a time be set within the next two weeks and argued that there was nothing to be gained by delay, as it was evident there was little more to be said on either side for or against the treaty. Few senators now want to be heard and all thought that within a week or ten days a vote may be reached without the formality of binding the senate to any specific date.

BURNED AT THE STAKE.

Negro and His Wife Put to Death By An Angry Mob.

Doddsville, Miss., Feb. 8.—Luther Holbert and his wife, Negroes, were burned at the stake here Sunday by a mob of over 1,000 persons for the killing of James Eastland, a prominent white planter, and John Carr, a Negro, on Wednesday at the Eastland plantation, two miles from this city. The burning of Holbert and his wife closes a tragedy which cost eight lives has engaged 200 men and two packs of bloodhounds in a four day's chase across four counties and has stirred this section of Mississippi almost to frenzy.

Gen. John C. Black Seriously Ill.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Gen. John C. Black, chairman of the United States civil service commission and commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., is seriously ill here. He has overtaxed his strength and is suffering with partial collapse.

Heavy Falling Off in Contracts.

Cairo, Egypt, Feb. 6.—The collapse in cotton in the United States, coupled with the far eastern news, has caused a heavy falling off in contracts and many speculators have sustained serious losses.

FIFTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS.

Regular Session.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Senate—Mr. Clarke, the new democratic senator from Arkansas, made his first speech in the senate Tuesday. He spoke for two hours and announced his endorsement of every position taken by the president in connection with the Panama revolt and in the negotiation of the treaty with the new state. He even said that in view of the provocation given by Colombia the president might have been expected to go farther than he did in advancing the cause of Panama. He declared that there was more popular support of the course of the president's policy among democrats than among republicans and said that the democratic votes necessary to ratify the treaty were assured. Mr. Fairbanks also spoke in support of the treaty, contending for the irregularity of all the proceedings of the administration on the isthmus of Panama. The proceedings of the day were opened with prayer by Rabbi Philipson, of Cincinnati.

House—By unanimously agreeing to a resolution amending the rules of the house the resident commissioner to congress from Porto Rico was given additional authority equal in all essential respects to that of a delegate from a territory, the action not requiring the concurrence of the senate. A bill which provided for a "delegate from Porto Rico" passed the house during the last congress, but was amended by the senate to such an extent that it failed. A bill duplicating the action of the house at the last session is now pending but meanwhile Porto Rico will receive under the action taken Tuesday practically all of the benefits extended in the measure. Several hours were spent by the house in passing the private claims bills and the beginning of consideration of the omnibus claims bill.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Senate—After almost allowing the amendment to the urgent deficiency appropriation bill providing for a loan of $4,600,000 to the St. Louis exposition to get through without any discussion, whatever the senate Wednesday changed its tactics just as the vote was about to be taken and began a debate on the loan provision, which continued for about four hours, and was still in progress when the senate adjourned for the day.

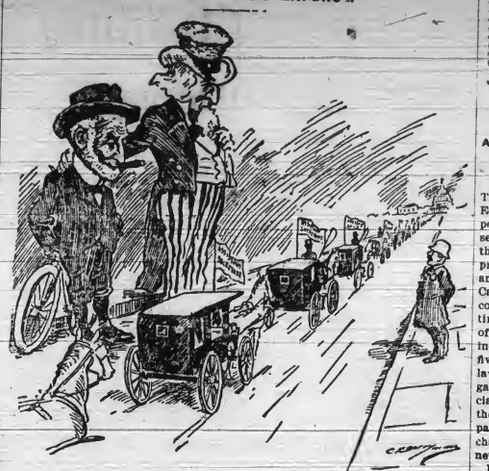
House—Indiana and Kentucky locked horns in the house Wednesday. The debate, which involved nearly every member of both state delegations, was fast and furious from start to finish. Kentucky demanded of Indiana the return of W. S. Taylor that he might be tried for the assassination of William Goebel. The attack was made by Mr. James (Ky.) and the defense was led by Mr. Crumpacker (Ind.). Partisan feeling rose to an extreme tension. The diplomatic legislation bill was under consideration at the time. Mr. James fired both sides of the house to interest and feeling by declaring at the outset that "the rough rider president" was ridiculous in his message to congress favoring international extradition treaties when one state could not get from another fugitives from justice.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Senate—The senate chamber again Thursday was the arena of an interesting political debate with the provision in the urgent deficiency appropriation bill for a loan of $4,600,000 for the St. Louis exposition the basis for the discussion. The exposition amendment had not been disposed of when the senate adjourned.

House—The animation of Wednesday was completely lacking in the proceedings of the house Thursday. The principal feature of the day was the rivalry between republican leaders for the honor of moving an adjournment. The diplomatic bill carrying $1,993,600 was passed without amendment. Everything but the bill was discussed during its consideration. Mr. Morrell (Pa.) led with an argument for some system of building up the American merchants marine. A democratic political speech by Mr. Hamman (Mo.) followed.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Senate—The political debate in the senate on the proposed loan of $4,600,000 to the St. Louis exposition, which has been in progress on a point of order for the past three days, came to a close Friday through a vote which left the provision in the urgent deficiency appropriation bill, which was passed. After the vote on the deficiency bill speeches in support of the Panama canal treaty were made by Mr. Mallory (Fla.) and Mr. Hepburn (Ida.). Several bills were passed. Adjourned until Monday.

House—Mr. Shepard (Tex.), one of the youngest members of the house, made a determined and persistent effort to bring about a reform in the matter of the distribution of seeds by the government. He contended that the present system is bad. Mr. Shepard's first move to have struck from the agricultural appropriation bill certain sections providing the machinery for the distribution of the seeds authorized to be purchased under the bill. In this he was successful, his point of order being sustained by the chair, but by an overwhelming vote the house promptly added the sections to the bill by way of amendment. Only three members voted in opposition to the restoration. Mr. Shepard's further effort was to secure an amendment to the restored sections which would provide for the purchase of rare and untried seeds, but despite his earnest appeal for this amendment it failed, and the bill was left just as the committee brought it into the house so far as free distribution was concerned. This was the only item in the bill that aroused serious discussion and with a few minor amendments it was passed by the house without division. The house adjourned until Monday.



A Naval Training Station.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Senator Hanna Friday sent to the senate a bill providing for a naval training station at Put-in-Bay O., on Lake Erie, and appropriating $200,000 for the purpose. It was introduced by Senator Forraker.

Going to Colombia on a Mission.

Lima, Peru, Feb. 6.—United States Minister Dudley proceeds on Saturday's steamer to Panama on his way to Bogota, Colombia, where, it is asserted, he is proceeding on a special mission in behalf of his government.

"AT GOVERNMENT'S EXPENSE."

"It is a fact that if the horses and carriages, with their coachmen, paid for out of money appropriated by congress, were lined up on Pennsylvania avenue they would extend from the Peace monument to the white house."—Representative C. B. Landis.

TROUBLES ARE MULTIPLYING.

Fresh Causes for Discomfort Are Coming Up Among Roosevelt Republicans.

The Inter Ocean, the most thoroughgoing republican organ of Chicago, and until recently a thick-and-thin supporter of Mr. Roosevelt, has seen the signs of the times and taken to the woods, says the Louisville Courier-Journal. Here is its explanation:

"A southern contemporary charges this newspaper with lukewarmness toward President Roosevelt and friendliness to Senator Hanna. The charge is based solely on the Inter Ocean's statement that President Roosevelt was almost certain to lose the vote of New York next November. The fact is that the Inter Ocean has abstained carefully from interfering in the irreconcilable conflict which has broken out between the Roosevelt republicans and the McKinley-Hanna republicans of the east.

"Any newspaper which believes it best for the country to have four years more of republican administration in Washington must follow the course pursued by the Inter Ocean in this respect, provided it exercises ordinary intelligence in its public policy.

"A feud which almost surely will cost the republicans New York state, and quite possibly New Jersey and Connecticut, is to be viewed with regret and not to be fanned constantly into flame. Therefore, every thoughtful reader of the Inter Ocean must realize, this newspaper has taken no part in the controversy which is raging east of Chicago. It does not have to. It does not want to. The charge of our Arkansas contemporary is without the slightest foundation in fact."

This is another cause of discomfort to the Roosevelt republicans, among their many other discomforts just now—discomforts which were much relieved the past week by the comfort which they found in the speech of Mr. Bryan. Indeed, so great was the comfort they found in this that they closed in comparative cheerfulness a week which opened for them in gloom that verged on panic.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

—Mr. Hanna has sent out 2,000 letters denying that he is a candidate for president. And yet they won't believe the poor man.—N. Y. World.

—All that is needed to rescue the democracy from this "body of death" is the application of the democratic principle of majority rule.—Springfield Republican (Ind.).

—The republican slogan is shaping up something like this: "We'll stand pat, and if we can't stand pat, we'll stand pat anyhow."—St. Louis Republic.

—Now that Knox has netted the salt trust and the candy trust has promised to "be good," the peanut trust is beginning to feel nervous. Unimportant monopolies like Standard oil and the beef trust may be disciplined later.—N. Y. World.

—The "denial department" of Senator Marcus A. Hanna, already one of the most interesting developments of pre-convention political gossip, is assuming proportions that threaten to tax the capacity of the typewriter factories.—Chicago Chronicle.

—Mr. Roosevelt has shown no sign of relaxation in his efforts to be nominated for president. He will not take a hint. Messrs. Hay and Taft, very likely men in the public estimation, are still manacled at the door of the white house.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

—Does not the democracy need for its leader a man who has done things and in doing them has shown capacity for promptly and ably meeting emergencies? The party has such men at its disposal, and it seems to us that this year is the time to make use of that kind of material.—Nashville Post.

—Senator Hanna has not denied those ten railroad presidents.—N. Y. World.

—It will look more serious for the president when some of these senators and representatives who are opposed to him begin refusing to eat pie out of his hands.—Washington Post (Ind.).

—Judge Taft's chances of nomination at the republican convention will be in direct proportion with his success in escaping the admiration and support of Perry S. Heath. When Heath begins to boom him, his stock will begin to fall.—Utica Observer.

THE COAL TARIFF.

Congress Will Do Nothing in Opposition to the Protected Combines.

The republican leaders in congress have decided to keep the tariff tax on bituminous coal and the Boston Transcript calls on Massachusetts congressmen to demand that the duty be abolished. But the protest will be fruitless and congress will "stand pat." It will be remembered that, under the stress of the popular uprising against the coal combines, during the strike, the democrats forced the republicans to repeal the duty on anthracite coal and also to pass an act to refund the duty on bituminous coal for one year. That period has now expired and the Transcript, a good republican authority says:

"The measure proved of practical benefit, although the quantity of foreign coal which was brought into the United States last year was small when compared with our home output. The American manufacturer or consumer prefers our coal when it can be purchased at reasonable rates in an open competitive market, but such a market does not exist in New England. As was amply demonstrated last year, this section of the country particularly suffers in the case of a coal famine, and the fact that prices are still higher than normal, in view of the fact that the quantity of coal mined in this country was greater than ever before, shows that some check is needed on the rapacity of the coal mining and coal carrying roads and the independent operators."

The reason that the anthracite coal trust was willing that its friends in congress should repeal the duty on hard coal was that there is no such thing as true anthracite coal imported. The tariff protection was, therefore, worthless to that trust. The case of bituminous coal is different; a very great quantity of soft coal is imported from Cardiff and Nova Scotia and Vancouver that competes in the markets of the cities of the eastern and western coasts and the soft coal combine wants that competition diminished.

The republican leaders have, therefore, refused to allow a bill to repeal the duty on coal to come before congress. The trusts certainly have extraordinary influence with the party in power.

Hanna's Weak Spots.

Senator Hanna has never yet submitted himself as a candidate for the direct votes of the people. He has won his success as a campaign manager for two friends, one of the widest national popularity and strength, the other of hardly less standing in his state. But if after gaining reputation by the victories of McKinley and Herrick, he should be put up for the suffrages of the people for the highest position in the land, the fierce light that beats upon a presidential candidacy would begin to pry into his personal political achievements. His acquisitions of southern delegates in 1896, over which chiefly has heretofore cast a veil, would be dragged into publicity. The veracity of his platform, "there are no trusts," would be tested. The value of the proposition to "stand pat," when neither trust promoters, stock fluctuations nor the wages of labor will consent to stand pat, would be questioned. His relations to the feast of the spoils hunters carried on under the protection of his influence by his next friends, Heath, Beavers, Rathbone, et. al., would furnish literature that would make the Blaine campaign seem as mild as new milk.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

—The line of demarcation between "sane and conservative democracy," and the republicanism of Roosevelt, Hanna, Platt, Quay and Perry Heath is sufficiently broad and deep to make the issue in the presidential campaign quite sharp and clear.—N. Y. World.

—Senator Hanna has not lost his powers of vocalism. He has just made a speech in which he vigorously urges the passage of the so-called ship-subsidy bill. Mr. Roosevelt may be in favor of ship subsidy, but remarks on that subject are not what he wants to hear from the senator at this juncture.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE KENTUCKY LEGISLTURE.

A Bill to Create Another County Out of Three Big Ones Proposed.

Frankfort, Feb. Feb. 3.—Senate—The resolution to reimburse Senator Edwards and John Feland for expenses of their contest, decided last session, was passed unanimously by the senate Tuesday. The capitol appropriation bill was read as enrolled and signed by President Thorne. The Caron resolution, providing pay for committees for pauper idiots for the time elapsing because of the failure of committee to have the ward examined, was unanimously passed. The five bills amending the present game laws and creating the state fish and game warden system came up as a special order. Senator Richardson fought the bills, because, he said, if the bill passed the rabbits would run the orchards in his district, and he could never be re-elected to the senate.

House—When Representative Heflin, in the house, indicated the hour for the special order, House Bill No. 64, by himself, placing an educational qualification on Negro voters, Mr. Klair, of Lexington, moved to indefinitely postpone action on the bill, and the motion prevailed. By a vote of 51 to 30 the A. J. Thompson bill regulating the charges that may be made by stock yards was defeated. Mr. Heflin's bill No. 65, defining due diligence in the collection of drafts, checks, etc., to be the usual commercial way, was passed. The house passed the Weathers bill, which declares that a town of the sixth class, lying on a county boundary line, shall for town election purposes be deemed to be in that county in which the larger part of the town lies.

Frankfort, Feb. 5.—Senate—The senate Thursday passed the house bill drawn by Representative Bradley extending to fifth and sixth class towns the law requiring registration of voters and also requiring a registration certificate to be issued to every registered voter. The bill will now go to the governor for his approval. The state game and fish warden bill was passed, but with an amendment that the friends of the bill think will, in a measure, cripple its usefulness in protecting game and fish. The joint committee on charitable institutions decided Thursday night to report favorably the bill appropriating $75,000 for additional buildings at the Hopkinsville asylum.

House—Mr. Johnson's bill to regulate the packing and selling of flour and meal, fixing weights for the fractional parts of a barrel of flour and of a bushel of meal, and providing for printing on each package the number of pounds contained therein, was defeated by 41 to 33, but a motion to reconsider was entered. The committee on redistricting secured unanimous consent to report a bill with a substitute. The substitute is the bill of County Judge Jim Hargis, of Breathitt, creating the 31st judicial district, composed of the counties of Breathitt, Knott, Magoffin and Wolfe.

Frankfort, Feb. 6.—Senate—The new county fever broke out in another section of the state, and next week a bill will be introduced to form Thorne county out of parts of Pulaski, Wayne and Whiteley. It is well known that Pulaski is the second largest county in area in the state, and Whiteley is not far behind it, and many citizens in these counties reside 40 miles from the county seat. Senator George's resolution asking the superintendent of the feeble-minded institute for information as to the number and mental condition of the institute, was adopted. Adjourned until Monday.

House—The house accepted an invitation from A. Y. Ford, president of the World's fair commission, to go as the commission's guests to St. Louis and participate in the dedication of the Kentucky building on Saturday, February 13. House bill No. 155 was passed by the house. It appropriates $1,500 annually for additional clerk hire in the office of the insurance commissioner. The committee amendment reducing the amount to $750 was rejected by the house. The house recommitted house bill No. 117, which was reported adversely by the committee Friday morning. It proposes to raise to $100 a month the salaries of the clerks of the appellate judges. Mr. Bourne's bill placing express companies under the state railroad commissioner and raising the commissioners' salaries $500 a year was recommitted.

Convict Assaulted.

Eddyville, Ky., Feb. 5.—While the convicts were marching from the dining hall Robert Parker struck Charley Pool on the head with a stool, fracturing his skull. The injured convict was carried to the hospital, where pieces of the skull bone were lifted from the brain. Pool is thought by the prison physician to be fatally injured.

Coal Stealing Justifiable.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 4.—Judge J. J. Riley, in police court, from the bench declared that the poor people of Lexington who resorted to stealing fuel in many cases were justified. He said there existed here a coal combine which had put the price beyond the reach of poorer classes.

Appointed as Naval Cadet.

Owensboro, Ky., Feb. 6.—Representative Stanley, of the Second congressional district, has appointed Glover Chapman, of this city, as a naval cadet at Annapolis. Mr. Chapman is at Annapolis at present preparing himself for the entrance examination in April.

Enlisting Recruits For the Army.

Elizabethtown, Ky., Feb. 6.—R. C. Baird, a recruiting officer of the United States army, is here enlisting recruits for the army. He reports 6,000 vacancies in the home army and about 1,500 in the foreign forces.

HANGED IN EFFIGY.

Racial Troubles Are Anticipated at Berea—Excitement Runs High.

Berea, Ky., Feb. 4.—The action of Berea citizens in appearing before the house committee on education and advocating the passage of the bill prohibiting co-education of the races has created the greatest excitement here and almost brought on a state of civil war between the citizens and faculty of Berea college.

Tuesday night President Frost, in a public address, severely denounced the members of the committee who went to Frankfort in behalf of the citizens of the town, and so worked up his audience, composed for the most part of Negroes and the college element, that at the conclusion of his address Mr. J. M. Early, the spokesman for the Berea delegation which speared before the house committee, was hanged in effigy on the public square.

The incident at once added fuel to the smoldering fires of indignation in the minds of the citizens, who think they are unjustly abused, and the feeling against President Frost is running high.

Berea, Ky., Feb. 6.—The citizens of Berea and Richmond are in a turmoil of excitement on account of the bill introduced in the legislature by Representative Day prohibiting the attendance of whites and blacks at the same school. The bill is aimed at Berea, the only such school in the state. Berea college has nearly 1,000 students, mostly mountaineer boys and Negroes. The citizens have signed remonstrances against the passage of the bill. President Frost announced that if the bill passes he will resign and organize a colored school. Friday he was offered the presidency of an Ohio college to carry on the work of co-racial education.

GOEBEL MEMORIAL SERVICES.

William Jennings Bryan Spoke By Invitation of the Legislature.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 4.—Wm. Jennings Bryan spoke Wednesday night by invitation of the Kentucky legislature to a crowd that filled the Capitol theater while many were turned away. The memorial services in memory of the late Gov. Wm. Goebel was the occasion of his coming. The legislature was adjourned Wednesday as a mark of respect to Goebel's memory and Mr. Bryan and several members of the legislature made eulogistic addresses in the house hall Wednesday morning. Mr. Bryan, in his address Wednesday night, was introduced by Gov. Beckham, who in presenting him said that twice defeated he was the best loved citizen in public life. Mr. Bryan, he said, was welcome in Kentucky, notwithstanding the gratuitous insults offered him by a Kentucky editor, referring to Henry Watterson.

Mr. Bryan was warmly received. Before Mr. Bryan spoke the lights were turned out for an instant and as they returned a life size picture of William Goebel came into view, which was cheered.

KILLING DOGS BY THE DOZENS.

A Number of Mad Animals in the State Valley Section.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 6.—A pack of six mad dogs were killed by farmers in the state valley section in the past two days. A mad dog was recently killed in that section but not until after it had started a spread of hydrophobia.

The pack of dogs killed Thursday and Friday are believed to have bit nearly every dog and many horses, cattle and hogs in the vicinity. Dogs in this region are being killed by the dozens.

KILLED A THIEF.

He Was Knocked From the Roof of Macauley's Theater, Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 6.—With one blow on the head with a heavy club, Col. John T. Macauley, proprietor of Macauley's theater, at 2:45 Friday morning, knocked a colored thief from the roof of his theater building, after having chased the man from his rooms, on the third floor of the theater building. The man fell to the ground headforemost, and was picked up dead by the police, who were summoned by telephone. He struck on the brick pavement below.

To Limit Whisky Output.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 4.—The existence of a secret compact among the ruling distillers of Kentucky to reduce the output for speculative purposes this year is claimed by those who are in a position to know. The total production is estimated at 12,000,000 gallons.

Depot and Contents Burned.

Jackson, Ky., Feb. 6.—The depot at Wilhurst, on the O. & K. railroad 12 miles from here, was burned Thursday night. All the contents was destroyed. About $1,500 loss. No insurance. It is believed to be of incendiary origin. There is no clew.

Murderer Reported Caught.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 6.—Word was received here shortly after midnight to the effect that the alleged murderer of W. B. Rucker, the night operator at Danville, had been captured and was being brought to this city.

W. R. Rouse, president of the Farmers' Telephone Company, of the north end of the county, was in town last Friday. He is one of the county's best business men.

Mrs. Nancy Adams, who keeps the first gate on the Bellevue pike, is an applicant for the postoffice at Bellevue, with excellent prospects for success. She would make a good official.

Ex-Superintendent of Public schools, John P. Ryle, of Rabbit Hash, was transacting business in Burlington, last Saturday. He reported everything in good condition in R. H. neighborhood.

A. B. Rouse went to Carrollton, last week, to attend the funeral of a friend, a Mr. Butts. He returned by the way of Frankfort, at which place he took a look at Kentucky's aggregation of solons.

Otto Crisler spent several days last week over at Aurora and Milan, Indiana. His journeys to these cities have become so frequent that his associates here are beginning to suspect that something other than mere friendship causes his peregrinations in that direction.

Charles Westbay and Elmer Beall crossed the river at Aurora, last Sunday, and from what they say the trip was very much like those made in the polar regions. They didn't return till Monday. While in Aurora Mr. Beall rented J. W. Kirkpatrick's house here in Burlington, and will occupy it in a few days.

We have before us a copy of the Clay County (Mo.) Democrat of the 4th inst., which carries a good picture of Judge Richard Irving Bruce, a native of this county, and a son of R. S. Bruce, who moved from here to Missouri many years ago. The Democrat says "he is of the best Virginia-North Carolina stock, and comes of a long line of fighting Democrats dating from the adoption of the U. S. constitution." He has taken part in several political campaigns, and is about the most popular young man in this county. He is police judge of his town and assistant prosecuting attorney in his district.

Notice is hereby given that I will on Monday, March 7th, 1904, between the hours of 1 o'clock pm. and 2 o'clock pm., at the court house door, in the town of Burlington, Boone county, Kentucky, offer for sale for cash to the highest bidder, the following real estate or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the common school district tax assessed against it and the cost of collecting the same :

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIX. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1904. NO. 18

County Correspondence.

BELLEVUE.

Feb. 13.—Talk of a carriage factory at McVille.

The ice along the shore here is 25 ft. high.

Robyne has recovered from his illness. He left here Thursday.

Rev. James A. Kirtley has many friends here to mourn his death.

The lumber for the new boat that is to be built here arrived yesterday.

Robt. Rite, of Waterloo, was hauling telephone poles to Bellevue, last week.

Robt. Akin is wearing a broad smile and the boys are calling him papa. It is a boy.

Owen Presser will go to Dakota with Oscie Rice, who will start in about three weeks.

Quite a number of our young people attended the dance at Charles Kelly's, Thursday night.

The Swan made several trips last week, but the heavy ice sent her to the bank again on Friday.

There have been about 50,000 pounds of tobacco delivered to Hubert Brady here the past week. Bud Rector received the highest price, 8½ cents.

Steamboats came down from Cincinnati, Tuesday, but they are laid up again on account of heavy ice from the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers.

Mrs. Thomas Sutton, of Aurora, was with her daughter, Mrs. Sebe Scott below town, several days last week. She says they will move back to the farm this spring.

Telephone boxes were put in on the Bellevue and Rabbit Hash line Thursday and Friday, and on Friday night T. J. Clore says everybody that had a box talked and nobody listened.

While out hunting one day last week Shelby Rice accidentally discharged his gun and the shot tore the end off Harve Smith's boot and part of his great toe, making a very painful wound. The accident happened down on Middle creek.

RYLE.

Feb. 15.—James Rogers will move to his new residence this week.

A great deal of heavy ice is running in the river.

Mrs. Josie Scott, of Commissary, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Sebe Scott, this week.

Rev. W. Douglas Darnell sends his regards to all, in a letter received from him a few days since.

Roland McCarty and family are comfortably located in their new home in town. They were welcomed by the citizens.

The sympathy of this entire community is extended Mrs. Harriet L. Kirtley and family in their sad bereavement. Bro. Kirtley was known by every grown person and nearly every child here. Many of us who are over 50 years old have heard him proclaim the word of God since we were quite small children. This writer saw him unite in marriage the second couple he married, which was about 47 years ago. His labors here have secured for him a home eternal. May all strive to follow his teachings.

James Setters and daughter, Miss Bertha, expect to leave some time this week for Tennessee, not to return for a couple of months or more, and will probably make it their future home. We will be sorry to see them leave, as Miss Bertha was one of the most earnest and successful workers in our Sunday school. Last year she attended 50 Sunday schools, and she has not missed one so far this year. Mr. Setters will be missed very much as he is the life of the neighborhood. ACRA.

PLATTSBURG.

Craig Baldon has measles.

Mrs. Dick Hensley has been quite sick.

Ben Fassons entertained several of his friends, last week.

Wm. Smith bought a horse of Albert Acra a few days since.

Frank Voshell was visiting his father in Aurora, last Wednesday.

A. E. Acra made a business trip to Addyston, one day last week.

Mrs. Rhoda Acra entertained some of her lady friends, last Friday.

Samuel Hensly and Andy Passons exchanged residences last week.

Mrs. Thomas Randall and Miss Pearl Botts visited the city last Tuesday.

Wm. Sebree and wife entertained the young people last Saturday night.

Robert Patterson and a Miss Goodpastor, of Aurora, were married on the 30th ult.

Miss Lou Acra spent last Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Pearl Aylor.

Your writer and wife spent Sunday very pleasantly with Hogan Wingate and wife.

We had the pleasure of helping to entertain the Commissary correspondent, last Friday.

Cage Stephens and wife entertained a large number of their friends last Wednesday night.

Ben Hensly had a woodsawing last Thursday and got a fine lot of wood put up. Lewis Sullivan had a sawing on Friday.

NOTICE.—J. C. Revill, of Burlington, is authorized to receive orders for me in the undertaking business.
H. G. BLANTON, Erlanger.

RICHWOOD.

Mrs. John W. Carpenter is some better.

The dirt roads have been solid, but, O, my! rough.

Louis Clarkson had a woodsawing, Monday. Next.

Mrs. Jane Conner is still in Cincinnati having her eyes treated.

Wm. Glackin and family were guests at Gaines Robinson's, Sunday.

Miss Alice McGlasson, of Covington, was a guest of friends here, last week.

Mr. Collins' condition remains about the same. Miss Odenwald is improving.

A car load of coal arrived here Friday afternoon, the first for nearly two months.

The telephone poles that were blown down have been reset and the wires are in position again.

Nearly every other fellow here needs a haircut, and there is a fine opening here for a first-class barber.

Mrs. B. Yelton often wondered why a wagon is called a jolt wagon, but our experience with one last week demonstrated why.

The many friends of Mrs. Effie Rice will be glad to hear she is able to be about, and her sister Mrs. Maud Norman is improving.

Nadaud spoke to about 35 people here Thursday at Jackson's store. If he had not chosen such an early hour he would have had several more.

Miss Elizabeth Rogers' school at Frogtown will close next Friday. It has been a successful term and the patrons are well pleased.

The work of repairing the Conner homestead has begun, and it will be pushed by Mr. Flemming. The effects of the storm will soon be obliterated, except so far as it pertains to the trees.

One of the peculiar pranks played by the recent wind storm was the destruction of Gaines Robinson's wagon, which it blew literally to pieces, breaking one axle in two pieces and tearing one rim off. This was all done without the wagon striking against anything. The bed was reduced to first-class kindling wood.

GUNPOWDER.

E. H. Surface is on the sick list.

H. F. Utz has a severe case of sore eyes.

The lands of Ely Rouse, deceased, were divided among the heirs last week.

J. W. Rouse and wife entertained all of their children and grand children, last Sunday.

Ollie Rouse, our horse dealer, went to Cincinnati, last week and bought a mule. Price private.

Noah Zimmerman is able to be out again after several days struggle with a severe case of neuralgia.

Mrs. Lizzie Bartell and Cora Blankenbeker, of Florence, are visiting friends in this neighborhood.

After a week's visit to friends in Cincinnati and Hartwell, Ohio, Miss Lelia Floyd returned home last Saturday.

Mrs. Lila Paddock, of Hartwell, O., who has a reputation as a successful poultry raiser, has three hens that have produced 10 dozen eggs since the 19th of December. They are B. P. Rocks.

We are in receipt of an interesting letter from J. L. Rouse, of Spring Place, Ga., in which he says the farmers there are more than half done plowing, and they have had a very mild winter, and but little snow up to this time. He believes in expansion as he now owns 450 acres of the choice land of that country. While he is expanding he will adhere strictly to the Monroe doctrine, we hope.

Rumor says Daddy Rice, the chief officer of Gunpowder, will move to Florence in the near future. He has not tendered his resignation as Mayor of Gunpowder, and when he does it will be accepted with some degree of reluctance. Daddy will be the presiding officer at the Florence bank. T. L. Utz having resigned. J. H. Corbin and Perry Aylor will probably be candidates to fill vacancy at Gunpowder.

LANDING.

Georgia Carroll has measles.

J. T. Marksberry has the gripp.

Elvin Marksberry made a business trip to the city, one day last week.

J. M. Feldhaus, of Big Bone Grange Hall neighborhood, spent Sunday here.

Lue R. Miller, our engineer, has been employed in the saw mill at Waterloo, the past week.

Misses Carrie and Anna Huff, of Hamilton, were guests of Miss Eliza Feldhaus, Sunday afternoon.

Silas Lamkin, of Patriot, Ind., had a force of hands—carpenters and paperhangers, employed remodeling his house last week, Mr. Lamkin will move here in the near future.

Hon. Clifford E. Nadaud gave quite an interesting talk at this place, Thursday, and was cheered by all present. Mr. Nadaud seems to be quite a favorite among the people down in this neighborhood.

Walter Brown, of Hamilton, took carbolic acid, last Saturday night by mistake for Golden Relief. Mr. Brown was in a serious condition for quite a while. He was hurried to Dr. Ryle's office and was soon relieved.

Was there ever a legal hanging in this county, and if so, at what time and who was the Criminal Judge? [Yes, several. Gabe, a colored man was hung in 1849—James Pryor was Judge. Joe, a colored boy was hung just before the war—Elijah Nutall, judge. There have been several others.—ED.]

HATHAWAY.

Feb. 15.—W. G. McElroy is improving.

Mrs. Sarah White was on the sick list last week.

R. O. Ryle spent last Sunday with John McNeely and family.

C. S. Smith delivered his tobacco at Hamilton last Tuesday at 6½c.

Mrs. Florence Smith and daughter spent last Tuesday with Mrs. Cynthia White.

Miss Fannie Smith and her father went to Rising Sun on a shopping tour, last Thursday.

Mr. Editor does the Courier Journal club in with the Recorder again this year?—[Yes.—ED.]

Joe Weaver, our clever bachelor, friend, spent last Monday night as a guest of G. L. Smith.

The Waterloo and Hathaway Telephone line will soon have up all of its poles and will be in operation.

Robert Sullivan has recently moved to his place known as E. R. Smith's old homestead on Gunpowder.

L. O. Hubbard sold his tobacco to O. W. Adams, of Rising Sun, at eight cents all round and will deliver it in the near future.

Willis Aylor, little son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Aylor, of Big Bone church, died last Friday morning of a complication of diseases. The remains were interred at Big Bone last Sunday.

COMMISSARY.

Feb. 15.—Fred Jeffries made a business and pleasure trip over in Hoosier, in the vicinity of Salem church, Thursday.

William Lacy spent Sunday with his brother-in-law, Richard Louden.

Mrs. Josie Grant, Miss Maud Scott, and Stella Ryle went to Aurora, shopping Thursday.

Misses Grace, Nannie and Julia Louden and Josie West were guests of Mrs. Rose Louden, Saturday.

Miss Grace Slayback and Stella Garlaud, who have been visiting Mrs. Slayback, returned to Erlanger, last Sunday.

William Slayback and Ed Burris sold their tobacco to Owen Conner at 7 cents round. This is the highest price paid here so far.

The Rock Spring and Middle Creek roads are almost impassable since the big rain. We advise the abandonment of the Rock Spring road.

The Ingland Bros. came down Saturday, from near Constance, and moved Will Price's household goods to Covington, where he will live for awhile, at least.

George Race entertained with a musical party Thursday night. In point of number, attendance and good good music, it was second to nothing except Kelly's dance.

There was a dance at Charles Kelly's Thursday night. It is said it eclipsed anything of the kind in point of number in attendance, good music and a general good time.

A young lady near Commissary was doing some work a few days ago that was trying for the strength of a lady. She paused for a moments rest, sighed and said, "I wish the Lord had made me a man." Her mother replied, "perhaps he has, only you have not found him."

Eugene Kelly's house caught fire Sunday morning while Mrs. Kelly was preparing breakfast. Mr. Kelly was at the barn milking at the time. Ransom Ryle was the first to discover it. He and Gene extinguished it before any damage was done except the burning of 4 or 5 feet of the roof.

R. P. Parsons returned home from Cincinnati, last Sunday evening, where he had gone, on Friday before. He reported Mrs. Parson not as well as at his visit the week before. She has some stomach trouble. Mr. Parsons went back to the city, Wednesday, leaving no date for his return. He may be gone two or three weeks.

WALTON.

Feb. 15.—Bruce Dudgeon has pneumonia.

Scott Smith came home from the city the other day with a light case of gripp.

The amusement at the Opera House this week will be the German Medicine Show.

George Rice, of Hopeful neighborhood, is moving to the Richard Lampton place near Richwood.

Mrs. Pollitt and Mrs. Rothermell, who have been very ill, are reported some better.

We hear that the Sanders Liverystable has been sold to Ailphin & Hume, who will conduct a sale and liverystable with Bruce Roberts in charge. Mr. Roberts is an experienced man and a good one for the new firm. We predict prosperity for the new firm.

Two of the Houston boys, who was sent to the Odd-Fellows' Home at Lexington, ran away from the institution, and came home, accompanied by another boy from the same place. The latter was made sick by the long trip and exposure. The order here sent them back to the Home this morning.

Feb. 16.—Henry Fullilove, a pioneer citizen of Walton, passed to his reward last night. He was 69 years old, and a devoted member of the Walton Baptist church. Services will be conducted by Dr. Adams at 1 p. m. Wednesday, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Norman. The remains will be interred at Salem cemetery.

Escaped an Awful Fate.

Mr. H. Baggins of Melbourne, Fla., writes, "My doctor told me I had Consumption and nothing could be done for me. I was given up to die. The offer of a free trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption induced me to try it. Results were startling. I am now on the road to recovery and owe all to Dr. King's New Discovery. It surely saved my life." This great cure is guaranteed for all throat and lung diseases by all Druggists. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial Bottles free.

UNION.

F. P. Wolcott, of Covington, was in town, last Saturday.

Quite a number from here attended Dr. Kirtley's funeral, Monday.

Mrs. A. P. Gregory and children are guests of relatives in New York.

Mrs. Will Wolfe spent Tuesday with her mother, Mrs. L. L. Tanner.

Miss Martha Lassing spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. J. A. Huey.

The Farmers Telephone line from Hathaway has just reached Union.

Mesdames Rachal and Conner dined with Miss Lillian Corbin, Thursday.

Miss Stella Taylor, of Richwood, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Jas. Kennedy, Monday.

Mrs. Jennie McDaniel, of Kansas, is the guest of her sisters, Mesdames Senior and Hedges.

The Baptist church of this place held memorial service Sunday morning in honor of Dr. J. A. Kirtley.

The "Flinch" players were charmingly entertained by Miss Hattie Tanner, one evening last week.

Miss May Norman has returned after a pleasant visit with her sister, Mrs. B. S. Houston, at Carthage, O.

Mrs. Babe Stevenson, of Covington, made a short visit, last week to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Gatson.

The Ladies Society of the Presbyterian church will meet with Miss Hattie Tanner, Saturday afternoon, Feb. 20.

Chester Hogan Rice and sister Bessie Lee, were guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hogan, last week.

The entertainment to be given by the Ladies Society of the Baptist church, Feb. 22, has been deferred to a future time.

Mr. and Mrs. Christian Becker wish to thank their friends for the kindness shown them while here, and, also, to say good bye. They will be glad to see their friends at 1445 Walnut st., Cincinnati, Ohio.

IDLEWILD.

Milton Souther is moving to his farm near here.

Mrs. Chester Davis, of Ludlow, is visiting friends here.

W. E. Vest and wife, of Burlington, visited at Rice Bros., Saturday.

Our friends in Denver are all well, and report bright, warm weather.

Miss Lutie Gaines visited her father a few days since. He is quite ill again.

Mrs. R. C. Gaines was calling on Mrs. Legrand Gaines a few days since.

Edwin M. Gaines is visiting his granddaughter, Mrs. V. W. Gaines, of Rising Sun.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Clore will make their home at their daughter's, Mrs. C. S. Baisly.

The welcome whistles of the boats were heard a few days last week. This has been a hard winter on river men.

Mrs. C. E. Stephens and sister were calling on Mrs. C. A. Gaines a few days since. She is improving slowly.

John Acra has moved to the farm of James Duncan, and John Barns has moved to Clay Duncan's farm on Garrison.

Sunday was not only St. Valentine's day but it was the aniversary of the verybighest stage of water known in the Ohio river, 71½ feet at Cincinnati.

The cold, raw day did not prevent the people from attending the sale of the late Dr. Clore. Corn sold for 63 cents and horses brought good prices.

Mrs. Clinton Gaines and daughter, of Bullittsville, visited at Edgar Cropper's a few days since. Mr. Cropper has been quite sick but is some better.

Saturday, the 13th inst, at 5 a. m., the spirit of Rev. James A. Kirtley returned to God who gave it. He has been in failing health for over a year. He had he lived until the 26th of next May he would have been 82 years old. He began preaching before he was of age, and was the beloved pastor of Bullittsburg and Big Bone churches for nearly 50 years, and was Moderator of North Bend Association of Baptists for over 30 years. He baptized, and united in marriage, more people, and preached more funeral sermons, than anyother minister ever did in this county. His death has cast a gloom over the entire communities. His blessed memory is stamped indelibly upon our hearts, and the deepest sympathy is felt for his family. Funeral services were conducted on the 15th at 11 a. m. at Bullittsburg church, by Rev. B. F. Swindler and others. The very large crowd present was a testimonial of the high esteem in which he was held. He will finally be laid to rest by the side of his own loved ones in our little city of the dead, to await that sweet morn, "when Jesus shall come again without sin unto salvation."

WASHINGTON

THE FATHER of HIS COUNTRY

Why We Delight to Celebrate Washington's Birthday.

"BORN upon our soil—of parents also born upon it—never for a moment having had sight of the old world—instructed according to the modes of his time, only in the spare, plain, but wholesome elementary knowledge which our institutions provide for the children of the people—growing up beneath and penetrated by the genuine influences of American society—living from infancy to manhood and age amidst our expanding, but not luxurious civilization—partaking in our great destiny of labor, our long contest with unreclaimed nature and uncivilized man

GEORGE WASHINGTON

—our agony of glory, the war of independence—our great victory of peace, the formation of the union, and the establishment of the constitution—he is all, all our own—Washington is ours."

The foregoing was written by Daniel Webster in regard to the Father of His Country, the anniversary of whose birth occurs February 22, an occasion that is ever freshly remembered by American hearts. "He was the first man of the time in which he grew," wrote Rufus Choate. "His memory is first and most sacred in our love; and ever, hereafter, till the last drop of blood shall freeze in the last American heart, his name shall be a spell of power and might. There is one personal, one vast, felicity which no man can share with him. It was the daily beauty and towering and matchless glory of his life which enabled him to create his country, and at the same time secure an undying love and regard from the whole American people. Undoubtedly there were brave and wise and good men before his day in every colony. But the American nation, as a nation, I do not reckon to have begun before 1774, and the first love of that young America was Washington. The first word she lisped was his name. Her earliest breath spoke it. It is still her proud ejaculation. It will be the last gasp of her expiring life. About and around him we sail up no dissentient, discordant and dissatisfied elements, no sectional prejudice or bias, no party, no creed, no dogma of politics. None of these shall assail him. Yes, when the storm of battle grows darkest and rages highest, the memory of Washington shall nerve every American arm and cheer every American heart. It shall enthuse that Promethean fire, that sublime flame of patriotism, that devoted love of country which his words have commended, which his example has consecrated."

The story of George Washington's life is an old one, but the salient facts will bear repeating. He was born at Wakefield, Westmoreland county, Va., February 22, 1732, lived from 1735 to 1739 at what is now Mount Vernon, and when he was seven years old he was taken to an estate on the Rappahannock, almost opposite Fredericksburg. The father was one of the prosperous planters of Virginia, able to give his children what education the times could afford. The first teacher of George is reputed to have been a convict, whom his father bought for the purpose. All of Washington's schooling ended before he was 16. His long and brilliant career as a soldier and statesman has given to history some of its most interesting pages.

"It was strange," wrote Thackeray, "that in a savage forest of Pennsylvania a young Virginia officer should fire a shot, and waken up a war that was to last for 60 years, which was to cover his own country, and pass into Europe, to cost France her American colonies, to sever ours from us and create the great western republic; to rage over the old world when extinguished in the new; and, of all the myriads engaged in the vast contest, to leave the prize of the greatest fame with him who struck the first blow."

As to the esteem and affection in which the name and character of Washington were held one cannot do better than quote Lafayette, who wrote from France as follows:

"Were you but such a man as Julius Caesar, or the king of Prussia, I should almost be sorry for you at the end of the great tragedy where you are acting such a part. But, with my dear general, I rejoice at the blessings of a peace when our noble ends have been secured. Remember our Valley Forge times; and from a recollection of past dangers and labors, we shall be still more pleased at our present comfortable situation. I cannot but envy the happiness of my grandchildren, when they will be about celebrating and worshiping your name. To have one of their ancestors among your soldiers, to know he had the good fortune to be the friend of your heart, will be the eternal honor in which they shall glory."

The poet Shelley, aboard an American ship, drinking to the health of Washington and the prosperity of the American commonwealth, remarked: "As a warrior and statesman he was righteous in all he did, unlike all who lived before or since; he never used his power but for the benefit of his fellow-creatures."

IN PRAIRIE LAND.

(Editorial Correspondence.)
MOOSE JAW, Assiniboia.

Farmers' Review, Chicago, July 22, 1903.

"Most of the prairies in the United States have ceased to exist. Man has broken them up with orchards, forests and farm buildings. But in Western Canada the prairies still stretch grandly from horizon to horizon as yet unmarred by the hand of man, save where the iron road has been laid. To a city man there is something deliciously restful about the vast grassy solitudes.

"Numerous clumps of trees mark the course of the Assiniboine River, which keeps in sight of the railroad for some distance.

"Grass is one of the notable things about all the landscape of Western Canada. It is a remarkable fact that the entire length of the Canadian Pacific railway from its eastern terminus to the Rocky mountains is over plains where grass grows. The sage brush appears at some points, but never to the exclusion of grass. There is thus not a mile of this country that cannot be used for some agricultural purpose—either for tilling or ranching.

"Moose Jaw is a town of over 2,000 inhabitants and one of the most important places in Assiniboia, being the center of a very good farming country and a great grain and stock shipping point.

"Near Moose Jaw agriculture and ranching go hand in hand; for near the town was seen a herd of beef cattle several hundred in number. On another side was seen a good sized herd of dairy cows, the property of the citizens in the town.

"In riding over the prairies we saw many good fields of alfalfa. The great need of the country is timber, which grows readily where planted, as was demonstrated by the shelter belts on some of the farms, and the trees on the residence lots in the town.

"Stories were told the writer of men who last year cleared from their wheat crop more than the land on which it was grown originally cost them. This is easy to believe in view of the large crop and high price for wheat last year.—Henry F. Thurston."

By sending your address to any agent of the Canadian Government you will have mailed to you a copy of an Atlas, railway rates, etc., giving fullest information regarding Western Canada.

Honeymoon Psychology.

She said something that rubbed him the wrong way.

Seeing the look of pique on his face she cried:

"Oh, my darling, my darling! I have hurt you!"

"No, my dearest," he replied gravely, "the hurt I feel is due to the fact that I know it hurts you to feel that you have hurt me."

"Ah no! Do not let that hurt you for an instant. My hurt is because I know it hurts you to feel that I have hurt myself by hurting you."

"No, my precious. My hurt is because you are hurt over feeling that I am hurt because you feel that you have hurt me, and are therefore hurt yourself—"

To Smoke Without Harm.

Tobacco poisoning has long been made a subject of investigation by Prof. Furst of the University of Leipsig, Germany, who finds that tobacco may be smoked without injury to the smoker by observing the following precautions: (1) Use only mild tobacco; (2) smoke only good tobacco; (3) do not smoke the last half of a cigar or the end of a cigarette; (4) if a cigar or cigarette goes out do not relight it; (5) do not sit in a room filled with the fumes of tobacco; (6) do not chew the end of a cigar; (7) use a cigar holder or a cigarette holder with a bit of cotton to catch the nicotine; (8) at home smoke only pipes with long stems and preferably a nargileh.—Chicago Tribune.

Astronomy in America.

The astronomer royal at the annual dinner of the Society of Engineers said that the American astronomers really seemed to monopolize the whole of the science. They had gone ahead, he was sorry to say, even of English astronomers. The progress they had made was due, as much as to anything else, to the fact that they had been able to get larger funds for the construction of their telescopes. As it advanced the science of engineering involved costly works, and, unfortunately in England, it was very difficult to get sufficient money to provide these costly works that were essential to the advancement of science.

Reflection on the Milkman.

Wayne MacVeagh, the lawyer and diplomat, has on the outskirts of Philadelphia an admirable stock farm. One day last summer some poor children were permitted to go over this farm, and when their inspection was done to each of them was given a glass of milk.

The milk was excellent. It came, in fact, from a $2,000 cow.

"Well, boys, how do you like it?" the farmer asked when they had all drained their glasses.

"Gee! Fine," said one little fellow. Then, after a pause, he added:

"I wisht our milkman kep' a cow."

All in a Minute.

We do a good many things in a minute; for instance, we are whirled on the outside of the earth just 13 miles and have gone around the sun 1,089 miles; a ray of light has traveled 11,100,000 miles; the lowest sound your ear can catch has made 980 vibrations, the loudest tone, 2,228,000 vibrations; 24 barrels of beer have gone down 12,096 throats; 6,673 cigars have been made; 300 tons of coal have been mined and $66 worth of gold has been extracted from Mother Earth.

VARIOUS AND INTERESTING.

Almost 300 men were killed in the anthracite mines of Pennsylvania during 1903, according to the records kept by the state mining inspectors.

So effective is the life-saving service of the United States that from disasters to 246 documented vessels on the coast during the year, having 3,862 persons on board, only 20 lives were lost, and of the $9,600,000 worth of property put in jeopardy, but a little more than $1,000,000 was lost.

Dan Holeland, the last survivor of the Indian tribes that once inhabited New Jersey, is living the life of a hermit on the Morris river, near Berma, in that state. He is said to be the grandson of a former great chief. His sole companion in his solitude is a morgrel dog. He makes a living by fishing and truck gardening.

Navies rank as follows in first-class battleships: Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia and Japan. The United States will soon be second only to Great Britain. When the ships now building are all completed, the United States will have a fleet of 24 first-class battleships, ten armored cruisers of the best type and ten coast defense monitors of excellent fighting strength for harbor protection.

The congressional library has received from Mrs. G. W. Fall, of Nashville, Tenn., a large box containing the papers and letters of President James K. Polk. The letters were bequeathed to the owner by the wife of President Polk and have been in her possession for a number of years. The congressional library has been trying to gain possession of them for some time, as the collection is a very valuable one. Recently Mrs. Fall consented to turn them over to the government. The library officials decline to state the price paid for them, but it is understood the figure was $10,000.

FOR THIRTY YEARS

Congressman Meekison Suffered With Catarrh—Read His Endorsement of Pe-ru-na.

CONGRESSMAN MEEKISON, OF OHIO.

Hon. David Meekison is well known, not only in his own State but throughout America. He began his political career by serving four consecutive terms as Mayor of the town in which he lives, during which time he became widely known as the founder of the Meekison Bank of Napoleon, Ohio. He was elected to the Fifty-fifth Congress by a very large majority, and is the acknowledged leader of his party in his section of the State.

Only one flaw marred the otherwise complete success of this rising statesman. Catarrh with its insidious approach and tenacious grasp, was his only unconquered foe. For thirty years he waged unsuccessful warfare against this personal enemy. At last Peruna came to the rescue, and he dictated the following letter to Dr. Hartman as the result:

"I have used several bottles of Peruna and I feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head. I feel encouraged to believe that if I use it a short time longer I will be fully able to eradicate the disease of thirty years' standing."—David Meekison, ex-Member of Congress.

THE season of catching cold is upon us. The cough and the sneeze and nasal twang are to be heard on every hand. The origin of chronic catarrh, the most common and dreadful of diseases, is a cold.

This is the way the chronic catarrh generally begins. A person catches cold, which hangs on longer than usual. The cold generally starts in the head and throat. Then follows sensitiveness of the air passages which incline one to catch cold very easily. At last the person has a cold all the while seemingly, more or less discharge from the nose, hawking, spitting, frequent clearing of the throat, nostrils stopped up, full feeling in the head and sore, inflamed throat.

The best time to treat catarrh is at the very beginning. A bottle of Peruna properly used never fails to cure a common cold, thus preventing chronic catarrh.

While many people have been cured of chronic catarrh by a single bottle of Peruna, yet, as a rule, when the catarrh becomes thoroughly fixed, more than one bottle is necessary to complete a cure. Peruna has cured cases innumerable of catarrh of twenty years' standing. It is the best, if not the only internal remedy for chronic catarrh in existence.

But prevention is far better than cure. Every person subject to catching cold should take Peruna at once at the slightest symptom of cold or sore throat at this season of the year and thus prevent what is almost certain to end in chronic catarrh.

Mrs. A. Snedeker, Cartersville, Ga., writes:

"I say that your catarrh remedy, Peruna, was doing others so much good, that I thought I would try it and see what it would do for me. My case is an old one and I have none of the acute symptoms now, because I have had the disease so long that I had none of the aches and pains, but a general rundown condition of the whole body—sore nose and throat and stomach. I had a good appetite but my food did not nourish my system. I had come down from 140 to about 75 pounds in weight. I now feel that I am well of all my troubles."—Mrs. A. Snedeker.

Two Kinds of Faith

The One Is of the Head, the Other of the Heart

Sermon by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher.

(Copyright, 1904, by J. M. Edson.)

Chicago, Sunday, Feb. 14, 1904.

Text:—"And they said to the woman, Now we believe, not because of thy speaking: for we have heard for ourselves, and know that this is indeed the Saviour of the world."—John 4:42.

UR text brings before us one of the most beautiful, and tender, and helpful incidents in the life of Jesus. That despised and shunned country of Samaria was to give to the world an illustration of the infinite love and mercy and compassion of Jesus. The land which the Jews avoided "Jesus must needs pass through," that He might emphasize the blessed fact that there is no place so poor and despised and forsaken but that He seeks opportunity to visit it. The people with whom the Jews had no dealings whatever Jesus must come into heart-to-heart touch with, that He might reveal His world-wide mission, and teach that "God is no respecter of persons," but "would have all men to be saved, and come to the knowledge of the truth." Samaria gives to us one of the rare gems of the Gospel, and this story of Jesus' two-days' sojourn there has not ceased to flash forth its lesson. Jesus' tact in dealing with human souls has proved a perpetual textbook on soul-winning to the Christian worker. The woman in her great need (so great that she knew no need) coming in touch with the gentle but strong, tender but heart-searching Christ, and having the heart thirst which He created satisfied with the Living Water which He offered her, has never ceased in her ministry of encouragement and hope to needy, sinful souls like her own. There are many, many lessons to be learned from this two-days' mission to Samaria, there are many, many golden sheafs of thought to be garnered, but it is not of the woman or of Jesus' wonderful discourse with her at the well which we want to consider. Our text tells us of others in that Samaritan village who came to know Jesus and who drank deep at the well of salvation. What may they teach us of the way of salvation?

TWO references are made to their faith. First in the thirty-ninth verse, where it is stated that "many of the Samaritans believed on Him (Jesus) because of the word of the woman," and again in the forty-first and forty-second verses where we are told that "many more believed because of His (Jesus') word; and they said to the woman: Now we believe, not because of thy speaking: for we have heard for ourselves, and know that this is indeed the Saviour of the world." Two kinds of faith, marking two distinct periods in the experience of these Samaritans. Many believed because of the testimony of the woman, that is, they believed in the fact of the Christ. They accepted her testimony as being reasonable and trustworthy, and believed that the promised Messiah had come. It was a faith of the head, rather than that of the heart. The second experience and the deeper and larger faith came with the personal contact with the Christ. The first was a faith which heard of the Christ, the second was a faith which heard the Christ Himself and laid hold of Him as a personal possession. These Samaritans "heard of Jesus," and believed on Him, but when they "heard Jesus," and had come into personal contact with Him, they believed on Him to the salvation of their souls. These two experiences are characteristic, and mark exactly the two kinds of faith there are in the world today. The faith of the head, which is a good beginning, but is not enough, and the faith of the heart, which is the saving faith, for "with the heart man believeth unto righteousness." That we are warranted in making a clear and marked distinction between the faith which came with the woman's testimony and the faith which came when they received and heard Jesus is plain from the declaration of the Samaritans that they knew that He was the Saviour of the world, because they had heard Him for themselves. There is danger in confusing these two kinds of faith, and great peril may come to the soul as a consequence. For this reason we feel it important to study carefully, and prayerfully, this matter.

FIRST, they heard of Jesus, and it is said of them that they "believed on Him." This type of faith is common in the world to-day. Probably nine out of every ten persons to whom you might put the question would declare that they believed in Christ. They might even be indignant and quickly retort: "Of course I do! Do you take me for a heathen!" But in the majority of cases the belief would be one of the head; the acceptance of the historic fact of the Christ, without the heart feeling the new life throb from contact with that Christ. This nation and the great nations of Europe are what are called Christian nations, and the fact of the Christ is generally known and believed in. In fact, Jesus is in much favor in a certain patronizing way with many classes and sects and ismites, who profess to be charmed by His life and ruled by His teachings. The fact of the Christ is well known and much considered, but it is to a large extent a head faith in Him. The fact of the Christ is too cheap and common to-day, and proves a real hindrance oftentimes in the work of bringing people to a saving knowledge of Christ. The world is ready and willing to believe in the Christ, if that belief does not have to go below the head. But the faith which reveals the Christ as the only Saviour, and brings man a guilty sinner to His feet for cleansing and salvation; the faith which leads to yielding of the will to God and accepting His perfect will; the faith which can sing:

"My hope is built on nothing less
Than Jesus' blood and righteousness;
I dare not trust the sweetest frame,
But wholly lean on Jesus name;"

this faith is not sought after, and is not wanted. The world is ready and willing to hear of the Christ and to view Him from afar, but to come into close contact with Him, to hear Him instead of hear of Him, this is a deeper experience than is desired, and so having heard of the Christ, the world is content in this life to go rushing on madly without feeling the transforming power of that Christ, and with only an uncertain and vague hope for the life that is to come. That is one kind of faith.

IT IS the faith which accepts the fact of the Christ, without feeling the quickening, transforming power of the Christ. It is the faith which these Samaritans experienced when the woman came back with her message concerning the Man Who had told her "all things that ever she did." They believed on Him, but if they had been content to let the matter end there we would not have been told of that mighty work of grace wrought there during the two days' sojourn of Jesus in Sychar. If, when they heard of Jesus, they had not come out to find Jesus, if they had not invited Jesus to abide with them, if they had not come into personal heart to heart contact with Jesus and heard Him for themselves, they never could have borne that glad, heartfelt testimony: "Now we believe, not because of thy speaking; for we have heard for ourselves, and know that this is indeed the Saviour of the world." John never would have had the privilege of telling of that two days' revival, but instead he would have had to write that "although many believed on Him because of the word of the woman," still they would not receive Him, and Jesus was obliged to pass by. This is the sad record which is being written every day of many, many precious souls in the world. They hear of the Christ, they believe on Him because of the testimony of others, but they do not come out from the city of their own desires and ambitions and activities and invite the Christ to come in and abide; they do not care to hear of the message of life from His lips, they do not want the personal contact with Him which will change their lives forever. Sad, sad tragedy it is, bringing eternal darkness to the soul, that having heard of Jesus, people are indifferent to the message and let Him pass by, perhaps never to come that way again.

BUT the Samaritans, when they heard of Jesus, came out to Him. Two things command our attention here. Their prompt obedience, and their placing the claims of God before the things of this life. The affairs of the city—business obligations, social activities, and pleasures—were left behind in the one earnest purpose to meet Jesus. There is no reason to suppose that these men who came out to Jesus were a lot of idle, shiftless loafers who had nothing else to do. It was getting on in the afternoon towards the cool of the day when the business of the city would be at its height, and undoubtedly one reason the men were so accessible was because they were gathering in the market place and the shops for trade and work. But notwithstanding the pressure of the cares of this life, when they heard the message of the woman, "they went out of the city." There were no excuses of pressure of business, of important social functions or home cares, or of pleasures planned, but, hearing of Jesus, they left all behind and went out to Jesus. If business plans and the pursuit of pleasure had been of greater weight with those Samaritans than meeting Jesus they would have missed their opportunity; they would not have met Him. And this is the reason so many, many, many precious souls who hear of Jesus and believe on Him, never meet Him. They are too busy. They must keep this social obligation. They must indulge in this pleasure. And as long as they continue to abide in the city of their own desires and activities, just so long are they kept from meeting Jesus and kept from coming to know that deeper, larger faith which brings life to the soul. Out of the city of self, if you would meet Jesus! Give God His rightful place in your thoughts and plans! In no other way may you meet Jesus.

"SO WHEN the Samaritans came unto Him, they besought Him to abide with them." Here was the second step to the saving faith in Christ which they came to know. Having heard of Jesus they came out to Him; and they besought Him to abide with them. He was waiting out there at the well for just such an invitation. He wanted to come in and abide with them. This is what He longs to do for every heart. "Behold," He says, "I stand at the door and knock; if any man hear my voice and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him and he with Me." They invited Him in. If those Samaritans had been like a great many people they would have wished to wait until they had cleaned up their city and covered up all the cess pools of sin, and whitewashed all their dwellings. But they didn't seem to think about getting ready to receive Jesus. They knew they must invite Him to come at once or not at all. So many people hesitate to invite Jesus to come in and abide with them because of what Jesus will find within the heart and life. It is one of the subterfuges of the devil to make the soul believe that it must be a little better; that it must cut off this sin here, and cover up that hideous sore there; that it must whitewash and housecleaning before inviting Jesus in. The soul that attempts that always makes a botch of it, and makes it infinitely harder for Jesus when He does come. If the Samaritans had waited to get ready for Jesus they would have made a woeful job of it, and it would have taken Jesus two months, probably, instead of two days to perform His cleansing, saving grace in that city. The artist, who invited the miserable, ragged beggar to come to his studio to sit as a model for the beggar in the picture he was painting was not more bitterly disappointed when the beggar came the next day all cleaned and clothed in goodly garments, than is Jesus when the soul tries to clean up and fix up before inviting Jesus in. He wants you just as you are. Come out to Jesus. Respond to the invitation at once, and it will be recorded of you even as it was concerning those Samaritans, that Jesus abode with them.

"AND Jesus abode there two days." Those were busy days, you may be sure, and I believe the social and business life of that city was shaken to its foundations. Was shaken until the false and the unclean and the sinful were thrown to the ground and buried out of sight. We can judge something of the moral rottenness of the city from the life of the woman, whose inmost secrets Jesus revealed. And I cannot believe that Jesus went into that city and stayed two days without working a revolution in the lives and conduct of those people. During those two days we know that Jesus taught them, for their saving faith was the result of His direct teaching. And I do not believe it was a lot of platitudes and sweet phrases Jesus spoke. Rather did He deal with the direct needs of the people. And it is reasonably certain that they immediately obeyed the truth, for if they had not it would have stung them and made them angry even as it did the Pharisees. Such joy as the Samaritans expressed in their testimony of the Christ and what He had become to them could only have come from a changed life and heart, the fruit of accepting the truth. God's message comes to my heart and reveals some sin, some wrong doing, but instead of obeying God's Word and turning from the sin I cling to it. Are there to be joy and peace within? No, such a condition is impossible. I am of all men most miserable. As the Psalmist says: "My bones waste away through my groaning all the day long." But when sin is confessed and turned from, then comes joy into the heart. This was the experience of the Samaritans, I am certain. They heard Jesus and they obeyed Him. The immoral blemishes were removed. The festering plague spots of sin were healed by contact with the Christ. New joy and hope came into the life. No wonder they joyfully told the woman who had first told them of the Christ that, "Now we believe, not because of thy speaking; for we have heard for ourselves, and know that this is indeed the Saviour of the world."

TWO kinds of faith, a head faith which accepts the fact of the Christ, and a heart faith, which comes from contact with the Christ. What kind of faith is it you possess? You have heard of Jesus. You have heard others tell of what Jesus has done for them. You believe in Him because of such testimony. This was the first experience of the Samaritans. But have you entered into the second experience which came to them, and can you say with them: "Now we believe, because we have heard for ourselves, and know that this is indeed the Saviour of the world?" If not, dear friend, you do not possess a saving faith. Yours is a head faith instead of a heart faith, and again we want to remind you that it is "with the heart that man believeth unto righteousness." What you need to have is this second experience of these Samaritans. You need to go out to the place where Jesus may be found, and this is the place of the surrendered will. You need then to invite Him, yea, beseech Him, to come in and abide with you. And having made Him your guest, you must receive His message and then obey it. It is then that the heart fills with the blessed consciousness of the presence of the Christ, and it is then that the faith which depended upon the testimony of others gives place to the saving faith which can say we believe because we have heard Him speak ourselves, and we know that He is the Saviour of the world, because He has saved us. It is the privilege of every one to possess this larger, deeper, fuller faith. Do you want it? Will you not learn from the poor, despised Samaritans, to whom salvation came? Will you not, having heard of the Christ, come and hear the Christ speak a personal message to your soul? Just now He is lingering upon the outskirts of your heart. He is waiting for you to come and give Him an invitation to enter and abide with you. He will come. He will speak to your heart words of eternal life. He will make you to rejoice and exclaim: "Now we believe, for we have heard for ourselves, and know that this is indeed the Saviour of the world."

Real Christian.

It is easy to be a nominal Christian, for a profession will accomplish that. It is difficult to be a real one, for that involves a right heart.—Rev. L. A. Crandall.

Ostentations.

An Atchison man tells the Globe about his uncle, an Irishman, who suddenly became rich. The first thing he did was to buy the best pew in the church. When Sunday rolled around the Irishman walked grandly down the aisle, carrying a silk hat and elegant overcoat. He found two strange women occupying his pew. "Come out," he said, imperiously. The women were very much shocked, and walked out, their heads hanging in shame. "Now, then, ladies," the Irishman said, "oblige me by walking back. I just wanted to show you who owned this pew."

Three Doctors' Opinions.

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 15.—Physicians have accepted Dodd's Kidney Pills as the standard remedy for diseases of the Kidneys and kindred complaints. R. H. Dunaway, M. D., of Benton, Ill., says:

"Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me of Diabetes after everything else had failed and I was given up to die. I have since prescribed them in my regular practice for every form of Kidney Trouble and have never as yet known them to fail."

Jesse L. Limes, M. D., St. John, Kansas, says:—

"I prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills for the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McBride of this place who suffered from Epileptic fits following Scarletina; results were miraculous; I have never seen anything like it."

Leland Williamson, M. D., Yorktown, Ark., says:—

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best medicine I know of for all forms of Kidney Disease. I believe in using the remedy that relieves and cures my patients, whether ethical or not, and I always prescribe Dodd's Kidney Pills and can testify that they invariably accomplish a permanent and perfect cure of all Kidney Complaints."

Too many bills appropriating money are finding their way into the General Assembly. A full treasury breeds extravagance very often.

SPEAKER CANNON broke the record in the House, one day last week, for rapid pension legislation, passing 320 private pension bills in 155 minutes.

As a presidential candidate Cleveland and Bryan are both out of the question as neither would permit the other to be elected. A new man will have to be found.

GRAVE menace to the navy is seen in an accident to two eight-inch guns on the battleship Iowa, the muzzles of which are blown off by discharges of smokeless powder.

ADMIRAL DEWEY'S plan for heavy fighting ships was adopted by the House committee on naval affairs. The appropriation bill carries is completed and carries $95,000,000.

THE funeral services for William C. Whitney in New York were simple almost to the point of austerity. The crowds about the church were so great that 200 policemen scarcely could keep the way clear.

SUGGESTIONS have been made President Roosevelt, to form an "escort troop," the duty of which will be to meet ambassadors from foreign countries when they first arrive in Washington and escort them to their embassies.

THE President says that this country is to remain neutral in the war between Japan and Russia, but his proclamation to that effect will not prevent a person from sympathizing with one or the other of combatants, and the Japs have very much the advantage in that respect about here.

WHEN the vote upon the resolution for an early adjournment of the Legislature was takan, it was defeated by a considerable majority. Too many pet measures had not been disposed of, and from now on it will take excellent generalship to prevent the passage of bills that will bring upon the general Assembly public censure.

THE Kentucky Legislature had a great time last week. It was banquetted at Louisville, after which it went over to the city of boodlers, St. Louis, where it was entertained in a royal manner. If the body had adjourned sine die upon its return to Frankfort, everybody would have said at once that the round of pleasure had a most happy effect.

WHEN the Kentucky members of Congress took into their heads to select the Kentucky delegation to select the State's delegation to the next Democratic national convention, they went far beyond the pale of their authority. When it comes to naming delegates Congressman have no more authoity than private citizens. Too often do official conclude that they only are qualified to attend to the political affairs of their party.

LATE Monday afternoon Senator Mark Hanna, of Ohio, died of typhoid fever in Washington, and thus passes another great man of this country. He was the best political organizer this country ever produced, and his brilliant leadership will be missed by his party, while his political opponents will deplore his oss because of their admiration of a man ever ready to meet them in the open on any proposition. The entire country deplores the death of the Senator and weeps at his bier.

Rev. Jas. A. Kirtley is Dead.

Rev. James A Kirtley, after a long period of patient suffering departed this life last Saturday morning at 5 o'clock, at his home in the Petersburg neighborhood. Mr. Kirtley would have been 82 years old next May, and was the most distinguished Baptist divine in Kentucky. He lived the religion he preached and was a christian of the highest earthly type, and was loved and honored by the people among whom he spent his long life. While serving his God he served his fellow-man well, and the impress of his life on the people with whom he lived and mingled will be seen for many years to come. James A. Kirtley was a model man in every walk of life, and the world is better for his having been in it the four-score years. In his death the entire county and the denomination of which he had been a devoted member so long has suffered a loss that is irreparable. His funeral took place at Bullittsburg church Monday at 11 a. m., conducted by Rev. B. F. Swindler, assisted by Revs. C. W. Daniels, O. M. Huey and J. L. Sproles. A large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends were present. The RECORDER will shortly publish a brief biography of this noble man.

Congressman Smith, of Kentucky, was interrupted in a speech by another Congressman who asked what proportion of Kentucky is prohibition. He made fun for the House by replying "Oh, about two thirds. We make whisky down there for the rest of the country—Maine and Kansas."

The man with a large, well ventilated and sunny barn basement which never freezes has a decided advantage over his neighbor who does not have one. His cows will give more milk, he may raise early litters of pigs and January lambs, he will have plenty of eggs all the year round and will take much comfort in caring for his stock.

IN this issue appears the announcement of Joseph L. Rhinock as a candidate for Congress. The democracy of Mr. Rhinock is above question and he has always been a hard worker for his party, and a liberal contributor of his means for party purposes. Four years ago he made a whirl-wind race for the nomination, and the man who defeats Rhinock this time will be the Democratic nominee.

The low prices of tobacco and the prospect that they will never be any better as long as it is raised so largely in this section are beginning to cause the farmers to turn their attention to something else. Already there have been inquiries into other means of making money on their farms, and the chances are that the acreage of tobacco will be very much smaller this year than it has ever been.

A new crop to which the attention of the farmers is being attracted is broom corn. The establishment of a broom factory here has opened a market for broom corn, and a number of farmers have made inquiries regarding it. It is learned that the factory can consume all that can be raised in this section, and that it brings five and six cents a pound delivered, a figure which will pay much better than tobacco.—Owensboro Inquirer.

Elizabethtown is not only the largest mule market in Kentucky but the trade is increasing and growing like a house afire. Mule buyers and mule traders from all parts of the South are flocking to the town like miners to a field where a rich gold deposit has been discovered, and the excitement among buyers to purchase a car load of the long-eared animals is kept well keyed up. One of our leading stockmen who has kept tab on the business reports that up to Monday 65 carloads of mules have been shipped from Elizabethtown, and they represent an average value of $3,000 a car. This would aggregate $195,000. The trade is not over yet by any means, and it is likely that twenty or thirty more carloads will be shipped. This will probably put the mule sales for the season to $300,000. The profits of dealers have been very handsome, and Hardin county is richer by many thousands of dollars on account of the mule business.—Elizabethtown News.

WHEAT one dollar a bushel and the farmer's bins are empty. It is ever thus.

There appears to be some indecent haste in Ohio as to who shall be SenatorHanna's sucessor.

RHINOCK A CANDIDATE.

To the Democratic Voters of the Sixth Congressional District of Kentucky:

It has long been my ambition to represent this District in the National Congress. Four years ago I submitted my claims to the voters of this district as a candidate for this office. I pitched my canvass upon a high plain, and although I was under many difficulties, being almost an entire stranger to the voters of the country portion of the district, I was defeated by a narrow margin. I accepted my defeat as gracefully as could have been asked by the most exacting, and lent all the aid that I could to the nominee in his race at the November election. I am proud of the support that I received in that election, and encouraged by the showing I made then and the many assurances of support which I have received from friends throughout the district, and especially out in the country counties, I have decided to again enter the race. In the outset I desire to thank all who so loyally supported me in my last race, and to assure those who saw fit to oppose me that I bear them no ill feeling on account of their opposition. When the present incumbent had served his first term and the time came to nominate his successor, many of my friends urged me to run against him, but I immediately declined for the reason that it is democratic, and right, and an unwritten law of our party to give a party representative an endorsement by a renomination. I was then and am now heartily in favor of this principle; another cardinal principle of democracy of which I am heartily in favor is rotation in office as opposed to life tenure. The present representative has served two full terms, has had his endorsement, drawn $20,000 from the National Treasury besides many perquisites, and is, therefore, not entitled to further courtesies at the hand of any Democrat who may aspire to succeed him, on account of party custom.

The nomination must shortly be made, it is not for me to say how it shall be done, and whether the Democratic Committee orders a Primary or Convention I am in the race to the finish. In advance of any action on the part of the Committee I pledge myself to bow to the will of the party's constituted authority as I have always done. If nominated, I shall give to my party and my district the best service of which I am capable, and on the other hand should defeat again be my portion, I will accept it as gracefully as I did before, and will be found with my party working unceasingly for its success. I shall appreciate your support.

JOSEPH L. RHINOCK.

Covington, Ky., Feb. 15, 1904.

Our good and honorable and venerated—if not venerable—friend, Henry W. Waterson of Louisville. Ky., now and then, in the absence of anything more pressing, goes after Mr. Bryan and Mr. Cleveland—and occasionally some others. But the two who are named furnish inspiration for some of his longest, if not ablest, efforts. Neither of them is exactly to Mr. Watterson's taste. To tell the truth, the eminent Kentucky editor does not like them and refuses education along the lines that would or might, by some possibility or contingency, lead him into paths of approval of either of them. They are not red rags, for Mr. Watterson is not excited by red rags. It takes a good deal more than that to arouse the Courier-Journal and bring forth the fulminations and explosions and the general fireworks which every once in a while appear in its editorial columns. Mr. Watterson is brilliant and forceful, able, eloquent, picturesque and—what shall the other word be? Let it be captivating. We all like him. No doubt Mr. Bryan and Mr. Cleveland—who make no pretense of being greatly taken with each other—enjoy Mr. Watterson's editorial pyrotechnics, even when they are personal, and to that extent at least stand upon common ground. Sad will be the day and unhappy the time when the country will have to give up this great Kentuckian.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

ONLY fireproof buildings will be allowed in the burned district of Baltimore. Before building begins the crooked and narrow streets will be realigned. Two insurance companies have offered to loan $2,500,000 for rebuilding purposes.

THE Senate has a splendid opportunity to correct an awful mistake made by the House when it passed the Hargis-Redwine Judicial District Bill. If the Senate does not kill the bill it will become a law, in all probability, and create a very dark spot on the record of the Legislature, the praise of which was being sung by all until the Hargis-Redwine combination influenced the House in a direction that is calculated to permit a continuance of the Breathett county lawlessness. The appearance on the scene of the parties who engineered the bill through the House ought to have doomed it. It is very strange that men with the reputations that Judge Hargis and his coharts bear can influence a body of men who compose the General Assembly because of their business qualifications and their supposed ability to discriminate between right and wrong—to determine when tricksters beset them. Kentucky cannot afford to have her General Assembly dominated by the Hargis influence, and the Senate ought to kill his bill at the very earliest opportunity.

Some pretty hard freezes last week.

Have you tapped your your sugar trees?

The kid who has not had measles is not up-to-date.

The weather last week was not such as would melt ice very rapidly.

Measles hit Burlington hard last week. There were about 20 cases on hand.

I keep constantly on hand coal, hay, corn, and all kinds of food for stock. T. L. Utz, Florence, Ky.

Nearly every fellow from out on the East Bend road, who came to town last Friday took a 'phone home with him.

Measles and chickenpox have had their innings in Burlington this winter, and the mumps are said to be headed this way.

One by one the old citizens are passing to their long home. Every week the RECORDER announces the death of one or more.

In putting the honor roll of the Burlington school, last week in type the name of Garnett Tolin was unintentionally omitted.

Mrs. Fannie Kirtley, who has been at Comfort, Texas, for several months, has ordered her RECORDER changed back to Carrollton.

The 'phones were put in on the Burlington and Waterloo line, last week, and now there is much talkee by those on the line.

There is no prospects far any wheat in this part of the county this year. The weather last week was a genuine wheat exterminator.

Everything to be sold at Charles Crigler's sale is in excellent order, and in his farming outfit is to be found nearly everything a good farmer needs.

Have you anything you would like to have exhibited at the St. Louis Fair; if so notify Hon. James W. Kennedy, who will look to the matter for you.

The firm of Riddell & Crisler has been dissolved, M. L. Riddell remaining in the store. Dr. Crisler will now give his entire time to his practice of veterinary.

Hogan & Riley will handle tobacco in Burlington this year. With two good firms receiving the weed here, the local merchants ought to be materially assisted in their business.

G. M. Allen, of Hamilton, was damaged considerably by the recent storm. At one time he thought his residence would be demolished. The storm seemed to have struck in spots in this county—it was a bounder.

Capt. Charles Kotmyer, of Constance, was in town last Saturday. He said he had owned his ferry for forty years, and twice before in that time has his ferryboat been out of commission as long as it has this winter.

Asking the value of two small boxes of eggs in one of the local stores a few days since, the answer came, "nearly forty dollars." Eggs, are like wheat bring the best prices when the farmers only have a very small stock on hand.

Otto Crisler, while trying to teach his watch to talk over the telephone one evening last week, lost control of the timer, which dropped to the floor with a dull thud. He now realizes how convenient it is to have a watch maker in Burlington.

Several parcels of land down on the waters of Middle creek will be sold at Master Commissoner's sale on next County Court day. They belonged to the late Albert C. Kelly. For location and boundaries see advertisement in another column.

If the the rural mail delivery from the Burlington postoffices is to be put in operation on the first of next month, there is not much time left in which to get ready for it if you want to be in at the start. See Mr. Thomas and secure your box at once.

Another realestate agent has made his appearance in Burlington. His first sale was a good one and made him a rep. which he will endeavor to sustain. This is not an advertisement, but it refers to J. M. Eddins all the same, who says he has entered the business for keeps.

Mrs. Mary E. Wingate.

Mrs. Mary E. Wingate, whose maiden name was Mary Elizabeth McIntosh, was born at Garrison, this county, May 18th, 1831. When 13 years of age she went to Cincinnati, O., where she made her home with a sister. About 1851 she united with the Methodist church at Wesley Chapel, Cincinnati. September 9th, 1852, she married Chas. W. Jenkins, of Cincinnati. He died leaving her with three small children. She supported herself and them until Oct. 8th, 1873, when she married Calvin Wingate, a brother of the late Henry C. Wingate, of Petersburg, Ky. He died Jan. 26th 1882. Since about the year 1886, she and her grandson, Earl Whiting, have lived in Petersburg until her death, which occurred Wednesday morning, Jan. 13th, 1904. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Fannie Wedgewood of Cincinnati, a grandson, Earl Whiting, and a host of other relatives and friends to mourn her death.

Our sister and friend had a high ideal of church membership, which she exemplified in her daily life and conversation. She was faithful to the vows of her church, and was one of the most zealous members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, always ready to meet the demands of its work cheerfully, and was energetic and active as long as her physical strength allowed. In works of charity she was happy and useful. Her heart was so filled with sympathy for the sick and needy, that her hands were always busy in loving ministries to such. It was her greatest pleasure to give relief to suffering humanity. It was a deep sorrow to her loved ones and friends that no one was present to administer to her comfort when she was suddenly stricken, but the Divine Healer and Comforter came at that time and ministered to her needs, taking her into that Heavenly habitation where all is comfort, peace and rest. L. W. A.

Whereas, It has been the Divine will of an All-wise God to call from our Woman's Missionary Society, Mrs. Mary E. Wingate, who entered into rest Jan. 13th, 1904, be it resolved, 1st, That in the death of Sister Wingate, our Society loses one of its most faithful and zealous members; the church (M. E. C.), a devoted and useful worker; the daughter, a fond mother; the grandson, a devoted grandmother; and the community, a friend.

2nd, That this Society extends to the bereaved ones of her family our sincere sympathy in the hour of their sorrow and affliction, and pray God's sustaining grace may be all sufficient.

3rd, That these resolutions be spread on the records of this Society and a copy be placed in the hands of the family, and that they be published in the Central Methodist and BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

Committee—Anna E. Snyder, Lou W. Allen.

The large stock and produce barn (32x40) belonging to H. C. McNeal, of Pt. Pleasant neighborhood, was destroyed by fire last Friday night. In the barn were about 15 tons of hay which Mr. McNeal could have sold at $12.50 per ton; 4 milch cows worth on an average of $50; buggy, mowing machine, disc harrow, and other farming implements. A large straw stack that stood close by the barn, and a corn crib containing a ton of malt sprouts were also burnt. It was one o'clock when Mr. McNeal discovered the fire and the barn was falling in. The barn was about 50 yards from the dwelling and on the opposite side of the public road. Mr. McNeal estimates his loss at from $800 to $1,000. He is satisfied the fire was the work of an incendiary and authorizes the RECORDER to say that he will pay a reward of $250 for the arrest and conviction of the guilty party. Early Saturday morning he sent one of his sons to Cincinnati in search of a pair of blood hounds to put on the case. The barn was insured for $300 in the Boone County Company. The loss falls heavy on Mr. McNeal, and he has the sympathy of all.

Since the above was put in type a pair of bloodhounds was brought from Dayton, Ohio, and put on the case, and while it said they did some trailing no arrests have been made.

Mrs. Eve Miller.

Died, near Idlewild, January 30, 1904, Mrs. Eva Miller, aged eighty-eight years, 3 months and 20 days. Mrs. Miller was born in Rhine, Bavaria, Germany, May 10th, 1815. She was a member of the German Lutheran church. Her maiden name was Eva Kline. At the age of 18 she was married to Nicholas Miller. This marriage was blessed with two children, a boy and a girl. The former died when an infant. Mrs. Miller came to this country with her husband and daughter's family in 1865, and on March 8th, 1873, Mr. Miller departed from this life. In 1876 she came to Kentucky with her daughter, Mrs. Helena Utzinger, where she remained until her death. She leaves a daughter, ten grand children, ten great-grandchildren and one great great-grandson, to mourn her death. Rev. J. L. Sproles conducted the funeral at her home at 11 o'clock, Tuesday morning, February 2, after which her remains were laid to rest in the Bullittsburg cemetery to await there the resurrection morning.

No Place Like Home.

Although I am removed from my old home and associates, and have formed new friends and acquaintances, I do not forget a one of my old Boone county friends, for no people will ever take their place in my heart.

I find my college career very pleasant indeed, for we have in the person of Dr. Greene, as president, one of the best men in the universe, and such great men as should accompany him in making a college faculty. The people are very kind and hospitable, and take great interest in the college and its work. Yet, after all, the county papers of Missouri do not compare with the Boone County Recorder, of which two copies, find their way to this town every week—one to me and the other to our old Boone County friend S. J. Bruce. It is like a letter from home, and I look forward to its coming, eagerly, and I find it every Thursday night awaiting me at the office.

At present it is very cold here and with little show for the better. We have had little winter so far, and will now in the last three months make up for it. Wishing all who may read these poorly penned lines a happy lot for the year 1904, I remain,

J. E. MCATEE,

ALL HOPE ABANDONED.

Death of Senator Hanna a Question of Time.

Another Sudden, Unexpected Change in His Condition for the Worse Took Place Sunday Morning—Kept Alive on Stimulants.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Senator Hanna's condition at 6 a. m. Monday was critical in the extreme. He was slowly sinking, but on giving him injections of brandy he revived slightly.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Sunday was regarded as the crucial day in Senator Hanna's heroic battle for life. It began with assurances of quite an optimistic character. The first news of the day from the sick room was announced shortly after 7 o'clock a. m. The senator, the doctors said, had passed a perfectly quiet night. His temperature at 7 o'clock was 103.8, pulse 120 and was strong and regular, and his respiration was declared to be satisfactory, although no figure was given.

At intervals of two hours during the night Senator Hanna had been aroused and given nourishment, after which he immediately would resume his sleep. The doctors supplemented this announcement with the statement that the condition of the senator at this time surpassed all their expectations.

This statement hardly had been issued when an unexpected change for the worse took place. Dr. Osler had gone to Mr. Hanna's room and Dr. Carter and Secretary Elmer Dover had stepped down to the dining room for breakfast. Dr. Rixey had not arrived, and the senator was alone with his nurses. Suddenly he became noticeably weaker. His rapid breathing excited alarm, and other signs of distress caused a hurried summons for both physicians. On their almost instant arrival his pulse was beating at the alarming rate of 137 and his respiration was above 40. The oxygen apparatus was put into use immediately, the breathing cone was placed over the senator's nostrils and relief secured.

The 8 o'clock bulletin Sunday evening showed no improvement in the senator's condition. Some milk and whisky were administered at 6:30 o'clock and shortly thereafter the patient was given another bath, but it caused no reduction in the temperature. For an hour after the bath Senator Hanna dosed and was resting comfortably. More nourishment was given at 8 o'clock. Throughout the evening the doctors gave oxygen for a couple of minutes at intervals of half an hour.

Dr. Osler retired for the night immediately after issuing the 11 o'clock bulletin, saying that he did not anticipate any immediate change.

All hope of Senator Hanna's recovery has gone. Mr. Dover has just stated that there is no chance for life. "It is just a matter of temporary improvement," he said. The doctors, however, are not preparing for immediate dissolution.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Senator Hanna has had another sinking spell early Monday morning. Dr. Osler was called from his bed and Dr. Carter worked laboriously over the patient. As a result there has been a complete reaction although the senator has been left much weaker. Dr. Osler returned to his bed with instructions to be called should another spell be imminent.

TROLLEY CAR ACCIDENT.

Two Persons Lost Their Lives and About 75 Were Injured.

Cumberland, Md., Feb. 15.—Two persons were killed and about 75 injured, 25 of whom were seriously hurt, in a trolley car accident in Frostburg Sunday. The car ran away on a steep grade and upon reaching a sharp curve jumped the track and crashed into a telegraph pole. The car was smashed to splinters and scarcely one of the 80 passengers escaped injury of some sort.

Cure For Hog Cholera.

Columbia, Mo., Feb. 15.—After experimenting for three years Dr. R. E. Graham, recent bacteriologist of Missouri university, has announced that hog cholera can be cured by inoculation, the same as "Texas fever" among cattle. One hundred hogs were recently inoculated with a serum and then exposed to the disease and none was infected. Several hogs that had cholera were cured by inoculation.

Woman Charged With Murder.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The senate will continue to consider the Panama treaty during the week, both in open and in executive session. Senator Morgan has prepared speeches on different phases of the situation.

ACCUSED TALKED IN SLEEP.

Laurence Earhart Arrested in Connection With Bedford Murder.

Bedford, Ind., Feb. 13.—Laurence Earhart, a stranger to Bedford, has been arrested, charged with having guilty knowledge of the murder of Miss Sarah Schafer. The suspect claims he is a native of St. Louis, but acknowledges that he has no reasons for being in Bedford. He had been here since the day of the murder, and Jacob Wallheiser, at whose home he has lived, declares the stranger has been overheard talking in his sleep of the crime. Earhart has approached persons on the street, declaring that he knew the assassin. He is tall, dresses well, and has sandy hair and mustache.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT.

A List of the "Livery" Used Transmitted to the House.

Washington, Feb. 11.—The state department's answer to the house carriage resolution was transmitted to that body Wednesday by President Roosevelt. The answer sums up the "livery" as follows:

"The department maintains for the use of the secretary and assistant secretaries one brougham, one victoria, two depot wagons, one surrey, four horses, three sets of single harness and one set of double harness."

The total cost of this outfit is $2,845. Four assistant messengers at $60 a month are employed as drivers. No footmen or automobiles are employed.

IMPERIAL GUARD BAND.

Owing to the War It Will Not Be Sent to the St. Louis Fair.

St. Louis, Feb. 11.—Dr. George W. Stewart, manager of the bureau of music of the World's fair, received a cablegram Wednesday from Hon. Serge W. Alexandrovsky, Russia's commissioner general to the World's fair, stating that owing to the war between Russia and Japan the band of the imperial guard would not be sent to St. Louis. The band of the imperial guard is the czar's favorite organization, composed of the elite of the Russian army.

NEW RAILROAD LINE.

The Chicago River and Indiana Co. Incorporated.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 12.—Articles of incorporation of the Chicago River & Indiana railroad, capital stock $50,000, were filed in the office of the secretary of state Thursday. The principal offices of the company are to be in Chicago. The line will extend from a point on the boundary line between the states of Illinois and Indiana into the city of Chicago.

Collier Rammed.

San Francisco, Feb. 13.—The mail steamer San Jose, just arrived from South American ports, brought the information that the United States navy collier Nero had been rammed by the gunboat Concord in the harbor at Panama. The injuries sustained by the collier were so serious that she had to be beached. The Concord was not injured.

Abraham Lincoln's Birthday.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 13.—Abraham Lincoln's birthday was celebrated Friday night by a banquet by the Young Men's Republican club of Lincoln at the Lindell hotel. The three set speeches were made by Gov. W. J. Bailey, of Kansas, Congressman G. W. Prince, of Illinois, and Judge W. M. Robertson, of Norfolk, Neb.

Can Not Send Troops to Baltimore.

Washington, Feb. 13.—President Roosevelt sent an answer to Gov. Warwick's request for United States troops to guard the burned district in Baltimore. He has no authority to do so, as they can only be sent in case of rebellion, etc.

The Day Observed in Chicago.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—Lincoln's birthday was observed in Chicago Friday night by the Marquette club with a banquet and public meeting at the Auditorium. Secretary of the Treasury Shaw was the principal speaker.

LABOR TROUBLES.

Efforts Being Made to Settle the Difficulty.

Men Employed on the Indianapolis Southern Railway Are Striking on Account of Wages and Refuse to Accept Checks or Orders.

Bloomington, Ind., Feb. 15.—The situation at Stanford tunnel growing out of the labor troubles on the Indianapolis Southern railway with 150 Greeks and other foreigners remains unchanged. Every effort is being made to settle the difficulty without bloodshed.

After a conference with Gov. Durbin Sunday when the men refused to surrender, definite action was abandoned until Monday. The head boss, Sam Strang, still refuses to submit to arrest by the sheriff or any other officer, and Sunday said that he and his fellow workmen would not be taken alive by the authorities. Sheriff Trasher and a deputy went to the railroad camp Sunday morning and spent the day in trying to compromise the trouble. He asked for Strang, but he absolutely refused to come out. The sheriff told the excited men that he did not come now to make an arrest, but to learn the cause of the trouble.

After this statement all talked freely through an interpreter, and the statement was made that if Contractor Bruce Head would pay the men wages they would vacate the camp at once and give no further trouble. They would not accept checks or orders.

Sheriff Thrasher said Sunday night that he regards life too sacred to make any unnecessary move on the enraged men and he will insist on the men being paid and then if there is any violations of law, the arrests will be made regardless of the result.

Prosecuting Attorney Miller and A. J. Hughes, of the contractors, were in Indianapolis Sunday in conference with the governor. There are about 175 men at work on the tunnel, half of whom are banded together with Strang. A bench warrant of Judge Warren calls for the arrest of about 50 of this number, giving their names.

There is much excitement in the vicinity of Stanford, which is about half way between Bloomington and Bloomfield.

HURRIED ORDERS.

The Prairie at Colon Will Embark a Battalion of Marines.

Colon, Feb. 15.—Hurried orders from Washington were received to embark a battalion of marines on the Prairie. A special train left Colon Sunday morning and returned at noon with the 450 marines who were encamped at Bas Obispo Station on the Panama railroad. The Prairie's boats were kept busy all day embarking the camp fittings, baggage, stores, etc., and this task is not yet finished. Maj. Lucas will command the battalion and the Prairie will sail Monday under sealed orders. It has leaked out here that the marines are destined for Santo Domingo. Only about 100 marines now remain at Bas Obispo.

MINE LEADERS ASSAULTED.

They Were Dragged From Their Buggy and Beaten By Eight Men.

Trinidad, Col., Feb. 15.—Wm. Fairley and James Moony, members of the national board of the United Mine Workers of America from Alabama and Missouri respectively, were waylaid Sunday on the road between Majestic and Bowen, dragged from their buggy and beaten by eight men with stones and revolvers and left lying in the road. Later they were able to get into their buggy and drive to Bowen. Subsequently they were brought to Trinidad. Mooney was seriously injured and had to be taken to a hospital. Fairley was able to go to his hotel.

SCHOONER RAMMED.

It Is Believed Only One of the Crew Is Alive.

New London, Ct., Feb. 15.—George W. Wright, common seaman, who was picked up by the schooner Maggie, of Newport, which arrived at this port Sunday, reports that the schooner Dorchester, from Pigeon Cove, Mass., bound for Philadelphia with a load of Belgian block stone, was rammed Saturday night by an unknown steamer off Montauk Point. Wright believes that he is the only survivor. The others on board were Capt. Evans, F. Lewis, mate; William Finney, cook, and George Moore and Frank Matticks, seamen.

Big Entries For Kansas City Events.

Kansas City, Feb. 15.—Every big stable in the west has made entries for the ten events of the initial meeting of the Kansas City Jockey club, although the stakes will not close until March 1. More than 300 stake entries have already been received.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Feb. 15.—The water in the Susquehanna river has fallen eight feet since last Tuesday and the river is blocked with ice a distance of 25 miles. The water here Sunday night was 17.7 above low water mark.

Savings Bank Embarrassed.

Ashland, Wis., Feb. 15.—The Security savings bank of this city has been closed, the directors having voted to place the bank in charge of Marcus C. Bergh, state commissioner of banking. The bank is solvent, but embarrassed.

FIFTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS.

Regular Session.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Senate—The senate Tuesday passed the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill without debate and then renewed consideration of the isthmian question. Mr. Fulton spoke in support of the course of the administration in connection with the Panama revolt and Mr. Carmack and Mr. Overman in opposition thereto. Mr. Overman had not hitherto made his position on the treaty known and his speech revealed the attitude of probably the last doubtful member of the senate. The speech was Mr. Overman's maiden effort in the senate.

House—The house devoted the entire session to consideration of the resolution reported from elections committee No. 3, unseating Mr. Howell (dem.) and declaring Mr. Connell (rep.), who contested the election, to have been elected from the Tenth Pennsylvania district. By agreement a vote will be taken at 3 p. m. Wednesday afternoon.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Senate—The major portion of the time of the senate in open session Wednesday was devoted to a speech by Mr. McCumber, who suported the Panama canal treaty and justified all the acts of the administration in connection with the recent revolt. A number of private pension bills were passed.

House—The house disposed of the Connell-Howell contested election case from the Tenth Pennsylvania district in favor of Mr. Connell. The republicans, with the exception of Messrs. Lanning (N. J.), Shiras (Pa.) and Parker (N. J.), supported the resolution unseating Mr. Howell and giving the seat to the contestant. The democrats solidly supported Mr. Howell. Mr. Shiras and Mr. Lanning spoke in opposition to the unseating of Mr. Howell. Mr. Connell was promptly sworn in and took his seat. The house then resumed consideration of the senate amendment proposing a loan of $4,600,000 to the Louisiana purchase exposition, on which a vote on the question of concurrence will be taken Thursday. Further opposition to the proposition developed in the debate Wednesday.

Washington, Feb. 12.—Senate—The Panama question was under discussion in the senate Thursday after which the senate went into executive session for four hours.

House—By a vote of 176 to 103 the house concurred in the senate amendment to the urgent deficiency appropriation bill authorizing a loan of $4,600,000 by the government of the Louisiana purchase exposition, after amending it with respect to the manner in which the money shall be paid. The proposition was strongly opposed in the debate, which covered portions of three days. The house also concurred in the senate amendment to the urgent deficiency bill authorizing tests of coals and lignites at the St. Louis fair and non-concurred in all the other amendments proposed by the senate. A number of bills were passed, among them measures ratifying agreements with Indians in Minnesota and Montana.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Senate—The senate Friday listened to the reading by Mr. Carmak of a speech prepared by Mr. Morgan in opposition to the president's policy with reference to an isthmian canal and also considered the bill appropriating $200,000 to ex-Queen Liliuokalani, of Hawaii. Speeches in support of the bill were made by Mr. Blackburn and Mr. Mitchell and in opposition by Mr. Spooner and Mr. Platt (Ct.). Mr. Spooner moved to recommit the measure, but the vote on this motion failed to develop a quorum, so the senate was forced to adjourn until Monday.

House—Speaker Cannon took the bit in his teeth and ran completely away with legislative precedent in the house. Incidentally he broke all previous records in the dispatch of private pension bills. Under his guidance 320 of these measures of relief were passed by the house in 155 minutes. Nearly the whole of this time was consumed in committee of the whole. The house passed the bills "en bloc" under unanimous consent, which the speaker had asked for. About half of the bills were disposed of under this request without amendment. When objection was temporarily made the speaker plainly showed his displeasure by dragging the proceedings. The objection was withdrawn, whereupon the remaining bills were declared passed without even the formality of having the clerk read their numbers. Adjourned until Monday.

Bristow Improving.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow, who has been very ill with grip, is improving, but his stomach is in poor condition. The present expectation is that he will return to the department next week, but will go away for his health.

The Pleiades Was Released.

Boston, Feb. 15.—Word was received here that the Boston Steamship Co.'s steamer Pleiades had got away from Port Arthur. Alfred Winsor, of this city, president of the company, received a cablegram Sunday conveying the information that the Pleiades had been released and had arrived at Chefu, China, on Saturday.

Russia Had Fair Warning.

New Haven, Ct., Feb. 12.—Prof. Theodore S. Woolsey, of the Yale law school, an authority on international law, Thursday gave it as his opinion that in breaking off diplomatic relations the Japanese government gave a perfectly fair warning to Russia that war was at hand.

Torpedo Boat Destroyers.

Brest, France, Feb. 15.—The authorities here have been officially advised that the torpedo boat destroyers Pistolet and Javelin are to be sent to the far east shortly. The cruiser d'Asas has been ordered to be ready for sea in four days.

Judge Brewster Died Suddenly.

Danbury, Ct., Feb. 15.—Judge Lyman Denison Brewster, a jurist of national reputation, was found dead at his home in this city. He suffered a stroke of apoplexy about a year ago while making a speech.

Miss Nellie Holmes, treasurer of the Young Woman's Temperance Association of Buffalo, N.Y., strongly advises all suffering women to rely, as she did, upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Your medicine is indeed an ideal woman's medicine, and by far the best I know to restore lost health and strength. I suffered misery for several years, being troubled with menorrhagia. My back ached, I had bearing-down pains and frequent headaches. I would often wake from restful sleep, and in such pain that I suffered for hours before I could go to sleep again. I dreaded the long nights as much as the weary days. I consulted two different physicians, hoping to get relief but finding that their medicine did not seem to cure me. I tried your Vegetable Compound on the recommendation of a friend from the East, who was visiting me.

"I am glad that I followed her advice, for every ache and pain is gone, and not only this, but my general health is much improved. I have a fine appetite and have gained in flesh. My earnest advice to suffering women is to put aside all other medicines and to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—MISS NELLIE HOLMES, 540 No. Division St., Buffalo, N.Y.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Wasn't Seasick Anyhow.

In crossing the ocean a father and son both became very seasick. The father recovered quickly, but the son was so exhausted with the attack that he sank into a state of apathy from which it seemed impossible to arouse him. The steamer physician, thinking he would try a sudden shock, said: "I have bad news for you. Your father is dead." The son, raising his expressionless eyes to the doctor, replied: "Lucky man!"

Fixing the Limit.

"No," said the editor, "we can't use your story. There's too much originality about it."

"Too much originality!" echoed the contributor. "Why, I thought you wanted original matter."

"So we do," answered he of the blue pencil, "but we draw the line at spelling."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Professional Nurse tells her experience with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Montague, Mass.

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., Buffalo, N.Y.

Gentlemen,—I heartily wish those who are suffering from backache and disturbed action of the kidneys would try Doan's Kidney Pills. As was the case with me, they will be more than surprised with the results. I have been troubled for years with my spine. I could not lie on either side. Spinal cramps would follow, and words could not explain the agony which I would endure. While in these cramps I could not speak or move, but by making a great effort after the cramp had left me I could begin to speak and move a little, but my whole back was so sore and lame that I could not even have my back bathed for some time. My nerves were in a terrible state. I would rather sit up at night than go to bed, dreading the cramps and the terrible backaches. I consulted physicians, but got only a little relief for the time being. Seeing your advertisement, my mother urged me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. After using one box I was better, and have ever since been on the gain. I have no backache and no cramps now, and I feel like a new person. My nerves are better and I know my blood is purer. Words cannot express my thanks to you for what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for me. In my work as professional nurse I have a chance to recommend them; and they did me so much good that I will do so on every possible occasion.

HATTIE BRIGHAM, Nurse.

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold at 50 cents per box. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., for a free trial box.

WAR IN THE FAR EAST.

Japanese Achieved a Naval Victory at Port Arthur.

Several Russian War Vessels Destroyed, Disabled and Captured—Two Hundred Lives Were Lost on One of the Vessels.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 10.—A telegram has been received from Viceroy Alexieff. It is dated February 9, and says:

"A Japanese squadron of 15 battleships and cruisers to-day began to bombard Port Arthur. The fortress replied and the squadron weighed anchor in order to participate in the battle."

Another telegram from the viceroy says that after a bombardment lasting one hour the Japanese squadron ceased its fire and steamed southward.

"Our losses," the viceroy continues, "are two naval officers and 51 men wounded and nine men killed, and on the coast batteries one man killed and three wounded.

"During the engagement the battleship Poltava and the cruisers Diana, Askold and Novik were each damaged on the water line. The damage to the fortress was not important."

The Japanese have captured at least five Russian commercial steamers, including the Ekaterintoslav, Moukden, Russia, Argun and Alexander. They were captured by the Japanese in Corean and adjacent waters at various times since Saturday by small cruisers. Some of the steamers are rich prizes. The small steamer Koeik is detained at Yokohama, its status not being clear.

London, Feb. 11.—Special dispatches from Tokio Thursday morning announce the arrival of Japanese troops at Seoul, but beyond this the dispatches published in the newspapers here Thursday morning add practically nothing to the knowledge of the actual situation.

London, Feb. 12.—In a dispatch from Shanghai dated February 12, 2 a. m., a correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says:

"The bombardment of Port Arthur continues. Three Russian cruisers have been sunk. The Russian bank building has been destroyed."

In a dispatch from Nagasaki dated February 10 a correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says:

"There has been a renewed attack on Port Arthur. The Japanese captured seven Russian ships and chased others.

"There have been disturbances at Port Arthur in which a number of Japanese civilians were killed or imprisoned."

Vienna, Feb. 12.—Disquieting reports have been received here from Peking regarding the attitude of China in the Russo-Japanese conflict.

The Neuese Wiener Tageblatt says it is believed in well informed circles that the reported destruction of a railroad bridge in Manchuria is possibly the work of an advance party of "boxers," who, it is said, China is organizing for the invasion of Manchuria.

It is understood that the reports of several of the powers at Peking have informed their governments of China's intention to send 200,000 "boxers" to Manchuria.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The Japanese legation Friday evening received the following dispatch under date of Tokio, February 11: "Two small Japanese merchant ships, Zensho-Maru and Nakon Oura Maru, while on their way to Otaru (a port on the western coast of Yezo island), from Sakata (a port on the northern coast of the main island of Japan), were fired on February 11 by four Russian men-of-war off the coast of Aomori prefecture and the latter was sunk, while the former had a narrow escape. The Russian men-of-war are still seen off the western coast of Yezo island. They are supposed to be the first-class cruisers which have been shut up at Vladivostock and tried some time ago to join the main squadron at Port Arthur."

Tokio, Feb. 13.—About 200 of the Varlag's crew lost their lives when the vessel was destroyed Monday by the Japanese, off Chemulpo. The crew of the Russian cruiser numbered 570. Many lost their lives under fire, but a large number drowned in attempting to escape. No officer was drowned. Many swam to the foreign men-of-war, which lowered boats and went to their rescue.

London, Feb. 15.—The Daily Mail's New Chwang correspondent, under date of February 11, cables:

"According to official Port Arthur telegrams, the Japanese landed a force yesterday at Pigeon bay, West Port Arthur. They were then attacked by troops and by the batteries and were defeated with heavy loss."

Che Foo, Feb. 12.—(Friday)—It is reported that 12,000 Japanese troops were landed at Dove bay last Wednesday morning and that they were met by the Russians who engaged them in a hand-to-hand fight. The reports say the Japanese were driven back. It is also reported that Japanese troops have been landed 40 miles further west.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 15.—There is no official confirmation of the rumor from Port Arthur of the landing of Japanese troops at Shan Kai Kwan. If the rumor should prove to be correct, it will mean that the Japanese are trying to get in the rear of the Russians from both flanks, with the object of cutting communications.

In military circles confidence is expressed that the forward Japanese movement from Corea will be checked as soon as the Russian advance is encountered.

The retirement of the families of Russian officials across the Yalu river from Yongampho is interpreted as an indication that the news of the first serious land fighting will emanate from this point.

The alarm occasioned by the reported landing of Japanese in Corea extends as far back as Mukden, where the Chinese are said to be in a state of panic.

Some of the newspapers here are protesting vigorously against the censorship of war news. The Novoe Vremya says:

"We are not children; let us hear the worst."

The wife of Capt. Roudnef, of the Varlag, has received a telegram from Viceroy Alexieff, saying that her husband is alive and unhurt.

The admiralty stamps as nonsense the story that the Baltic fleet has been ordered to the far east, pointing out that the ships are laid up at Cronstadt, where they will be icebound for the winter.

Nagasaki, Feb. 15.—According to advices received the engagement at Port Arthur commenced at 4 o'clock on the morning of the 9th. Altogether 12 vessels were destroyed, eight captured and 11 ships damaged.

The captured vessels were expected at Sazebo Sunday. The emperor has congratulated Adm. Togo, commanding the fleet, for his splendid victory. It is considered significant that the rigid censorship regarding the movements of the Japanese fleet has been withdrawn.

The vessels that comprised the Japanese fleet which attacked and destroyed the Russian cruisers Varlag and Koretz at Chemulpo on the 8th inst. were the cruisers Naniva, Takachiho, Akashi, Suma and the Asama. The Japanese did not lose a man.

London, Feb. 15.—The correspondent of the Daily Express at Peking in a cablegram dated February 12 reports that Viceroy Alexieff is practically isolated, direct communication between Port Arthur and Vladivostok being suspended. He adds that the railroad behind Port Arthur has been blown up and that 6,000 Japanese troops have landed near Dalny.

The Daily Mail's correspondent, under date of February 12, says that the Japanese warship Anaki has captured the German steamer Yokohama which had a cargo, including dynamite, for Port Arthur.

The Nagasaki correspondent of the Daily Telegraph expresses the conviction that Russia is quite unable to hold the Liao-Tung peninsula and that Port Arthur is bound to fall by the effluxion of time, even without assault.

Nagasaki, Feb. 15.—Six Norwegian steamers chartered by a Russian naval contractor have been captured. The vessels are the Tenn, Actiy, Senti, Selrstadt, Argo and Hermis. They carried coal cargoes. The Hermis arrived here Sunday under convoy of a cruiser. It is rumored that 1,800 Japanese soldiers have been killed, presumably by the sinking of a transport. Disturbances are reported in Seoul.

Will Nurse Russian Wounded.

London, Feb. 15.—The Japanese legation here has been informed that 34 of the Russians wounded in the fight between the Japanese and Russian fleets at Chemulpo will be placed in the hospital of the Japanese nursing home.

Ordered to Shanghai.

Manila, Feb. 15.—Rr. Adm. Cooper, in command of a squadron composed of the New Orleans, Raleigh, Frolic and Annapolis, is under orders to sail for Shanghai. The ships will probably sail on Monday next.

Japanese Troops Landed at Chemulpo.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 15.—A communication from Viceroy Alexieff just received confirms the report of the landing of 19,000 Japanese troops at Chemulpo. The viceroy adds that reports have been received of attempts to cut the telegraph wires along the Chinese Eastern railway and also to destroy one of the abutments of the Sungari bridge. These attempts, he adds, were immediately detected and decisive measures taken to guard the railway.

Russia Waives Objection to Note.

Paris, Feb. 15.—France has given official notification of her adhesion to Secretary Hay's note on China. The French authorities were advised that Russia waived her objections to the note, thus removing the obstacles in the way of its acceptance by France. The approval of Japan has not been doubted.

Proclamation Cabled to Manila.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The entire text of the president's neutrality proclamation was cabled to the Philippines. This was done at great expense, for the reason that the Philippines probably would be the most likely scene of breaches of neutrality.

Will Appeal to the United States.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Japan will appeal to the United States to prevail on the Russian government to release the 100 Japanese subjects reported detained at Port Arthur. The appeal will be presented Monday.

Heavy Firing Reported.

Che Foo, Feb. 15.—A steamer arriving here from Port Arthur reports that heavy firing was heard in the Straits of Pe Shi Li at midnight.

To Escape War Service.

Hays City, Kan., Feb. 15.—As a result of the war in the Orient the district court here is besieged with Russian applicants for citizenship. There are hundreds who now seek naturalization papers to avoid taking chances of being compelled to return home.

Landed With Disastrous Effect.

London, Feb. 15.—A Port Arthur correspondent under date of February 12 says: "Official advices state that the Japanese landed 600 soldiers near Tallen Wen with disastrous results, 419 being sabred by Cossacks."

MAY HAVE TARIFF REFORM.

Public Opinion Will Force Republican Senators to Vote for Revision.

The outlook for tariff reform was never brighter than at present. The election of a democratic president is more promising than at any time since 1892, and a democratic majority in the next house of representatives is more than probable. A change of only a few votes in a majority of the close states and congressional districts will produce that happy result. Every one, by talking with his neighbors, can find a considerable percentage of republicans who are either denouncing trust extortion, or are disgusted with the policy of their leaders.

The independent voter, the suffering working man whose wages are being reduced; the farmer who is paying protection prices and whose products sell in competition with the world; the citizen of limited income who finds the cost of living beyond his means; all of these, who are not hide bound partisans, are awaiting the opportunity to vote for tariff reform. These and other voters are not made more satisfied with conditions, since the manifest attempt of the republicans to confine the investigation of grafting and looting in the government service to the lesser rascals.

A large element of conservative republicans is dissatisfied with President Roosevelt and many are openly opposing his nomination for another term. A much greater number are secretly working for his defeat. Many of the old soldiers are disgruntled with the aspect of affairs; they fear the departure from the honest and less spectacular government of former years and long for the return to the more conservative administration of Lincoln and the other fathers of the republican party. In some of the most important states, such as New York, Indiana and Illinois, the prospect is that enough of these dissatisfied elements to turn the scale will vote against their party or stay at home on election day.

Those voters whose hearts are set upon reforming the tariff and curbing the exactions of the trusts, but who think the senate will stand as a bulwark against reform, can take courage when they remember there are a number of republican senators who are inoculated with the anti-trust virus and will respond to the public demand for reasonable tariff reform and an honest and economical administration of national affairs. With a democratic president and a majority of the house of representatives of the same political affiliation there will be found enough senators to pass a reform bill that will at least reduce the tariff so that trust productions will be sold as cheaply here as abroad.

THE PHILIPPINE TARIFF.

It Should Be Dispensed With in the Interests of Both Countries.

We are taxing the people of the Philippines 75 per cent. of the Dingley tariff rates on their products that are imported into the United States. They are naturally asking us to abolish, or at least reduce, that exorbitant tax on their business relations with us. The United States bought the Philippines from Spain and we have undertaken to govern them for our own benefit. It has proven to be a costly experiment and will probably always remain a tax upon the American people; but to raise up a tariff wall to prevent their products from coming here and our products from reaching them would seem to be taking an unfair advantage of a poor, defenseless people. The only excuse for taking the Philippines and governing them in the way that imperial governments rule their colonies is that it will eventually be profitable to the American people. But even the financial prospect is not encouraging; for all of our profits so far would not pay for the beer that the United States army in the Philippines consumes. The only way they ever will be a profitable investment is to encourage them to grow tropical products that we need and so give them money enough to buy our products in return. A high tariff tax at both ends of the route will not bring that about; yet the protectionists are opposed to abolishing or even reducing the tariff wall between us.

The representatives in congress of the protected industries, such as sugar and tobacco, are denouncing any attempt to reduce the Philippine tariff and declare they will fight it more bitterly than they fought Cuban reciprocity. The time must come, however, if we continue to hold the Philippines, when there will be free trade between these islands and the United States. There is no more reason for a tariff wall between us and the Philippines than there was for continuing the tariff against Porto Rico. We have reduced the tariff in Cuban products and we do not own that island, how can we refuse to do better than that for our own colony?

A few protected interests should not be allowed to stand in the way of giving the American people all the advantages that are possible in return for their enormous outlay in purchasing and holding the Philippines, and any tax on trade is to our advantage.

——However much republicanism might like to return to the type it lost at Buffalo, to tact and caution and conservatism, as distinguished from the impulsive and headlong, it is denied the opportunity for choice. It must run Roosevelt.—Brooklyn Eagle (Ind.).

——Turn on the power and get control of a majority of the delegates to the next democratic convention. A majority will determine what the platform of 1904 shall say. If Mr. Bryan or any other man in the convention then attempts to tie the party to the silver issue for another four years, quietly roll over him.—Springfield Republican (Ind.).

SOMEWHAT SIGNIFICANT.

Corporation Magnates and Trust Millionaires Enjoy White House Hospitality.

The evidence has at last come out that all the talk of President Roosevelt's opposition to the trusts and Wall street was sheer political buncombe. The list of guests present at the white house at the dinner on January 28th in honor of the supreme court included A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania railroad; James Stillman, president of the First National Bank of New York and head of the Rockefeller banking syndicate; William F. Draper, head of the cotton machinery trust; Representative Littauer, charged with illegal profits from army glove contracts; Norman B. Ream, director of the steel trust; besides other great financial magnates and corporation attorneys. As these great banquets are in the public eye and are exploited in the society columns of the newspapers, the invitations to the trusts and financial millionaires shows plainly that all the talk about their being opposed to the nomination and election of Roosevelt is but an endeavor to captivate the "plain people" with the idea that the republican president of the United States, like other people, does not invite guests with whom he does not wish to associate, or with whom he is not on the most friendly terms. The state banquet to the supreme court is one of the great events of the Washington social season and to be invited to meet the chief justice and his associates is considered a great honor and much sought after. The guests are carefully selected and with premeditation. It is therefore strangely significant that the president should select the head of the great Rockefeller syndicate and one of the leading members of the Morgan steel trust to meet the judges who have an important trust case now under consideration and would, if the administration was really opposed to the trusts, have these very men on trial for conspiracy in restraint of trade. Whatever object President Roosevelt may have had in thus bringing the judiciary in touch with the trusts he has most certainly served notice on the voters that he is on the most friendly terms with the great corporation interests and the most important members of the Wall street crowd and the money power.

Those republican newspapers which have been attempting to fool the people into believing that they had a trust buster in the white house will soon have to be singing a new song, the burden of which will be that the great financial interests of the country are united in support of the party and its nominee, who alone will conserve the great business interests. The exegencies of the campaign may require this open alliance between President Roosevelt and the trusts that the campaign coffers may be filled, without which the wheels of the republican chariot would drag heavily and the voice of their spell-binders be hushed. The trusts are still in the saddle and looking forward to another long lease of prosperity if Mr. Roosevelt is elected president of the United States.

COMMENT AND OPINION.

——The Hanna boom lacks cabinet facilities. Mr. Roosevelt has coaxed in, dragged in, roped in and fenced in as a cabinet appointee, pretty nearly every statesman "mentioned" as a possible rival.—Albany Argus.

——The president is said to be concerned about the condition of things in Ohio, where the Hannaites and the Forakerites are trying to see how much of a strain their relations will stand.—Binghamton (N. Y.) Leader.

——The report is in circulation in Washington that Postmaster General Payne contemplates retiring from office at the end of the current presidential term. And no doubt there is more than "hot air" in the report. A democratic president will have little use for Gen. Payne's services.—Savannah News.

——From a republican source it comes that President Roosevelt has deserted his loyal friend Foraker. He will pin his hope on Hanna and trust to luck. Of course it is known to the president that Hanna will control the Ohio delegation anyway, and he wants that nomination so badly that he can taste it.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

——If President Roosevelt's political future depends upon Matt S. Quay, as is said to be the case, he is likely to make the discovery pretty soon that Mr. Quay is a dealer in futures also. Pennsylvania politicians from Simon Cameron's day to this have never helped out a president without helping themselves to everything in sight.—Chicago Chronicle.

——So far as can be discerned, there is nothing whatever in the issue of silverism but Mr. Bryan's own personality, yet his trumpetings alone concerning "reaffirmation" are enough to create almost a panic. It must be an unusual personality that can thus bestride a political situation that is bounded by a continent. It has been Mr. Bryan's week—but there are weeks and weeks to come. If Mr. Bryan actually expects to force another indorsement of free silver, he is expecting the impossible. The majority will rule.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

——"All democrats," regardless of how they voted in past presidential elections, are invited to join in sending delegates to the next national convention. If "all democrats" could be induced to vote together they might swing things in this country.—Springfield Republican (Ind.).

——Theodore Roosevelt is a hesitating choice of the local republican organization for the nomination for president. Practically all the leaders are for him because they see no avenue of escape, but all would gladly welcome a shift in the programme to Hanna.—Buffalo Times.

STATE NEWS PICK-UPS

PASSED THE HOUSE.

The Measure Which Reshapes the Breathitt Judicial District.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 10.—Senate—Senator Grady moved to make his bill, prohibiting liquor selling within four miles of any country schoolhouse, a special order for next Tuesday. He made a speech, in which he said he was loath to believe that all senators about him could have their bills made special orders. His motion carried unanimously. The bill appropriating $3,500 annually for additional clerical assistance in the State Auditor's office was passed. Yeas, 31; nays, 1. The bill to reimburse certain clerks in the Auditor's office for unpaid salaries, the annual amount appropriated being exhausted by the number of extra clerks necessary to conduct the business, was called up. The amount asked for was $4,600. Amendments increasing the amount to $5,800, so as to include two other clerks, were adopted and the bill passed. Yeas, 31; nays, 5.

House—The house passed a bill after a hard struggle, redistricting the appellate court districts so that six of them will be certainly democratic and one overwhelmingly republican. The Drewry bill to pension superannuated policemen in Louisville was reported by the municipalities committee, and adopted. The committee on agriculture reported favorably on the bill appropriating $15,000 to the state experiment station at Lexington to provide for the examination of foods to detect impurities. The bill appropriating $15,000 annually to revive the state geological and topographical eaurvey was adopted. The appellate court redistricting bill was recommitted to the committee on legislative redistricting. The committee on suffrage and election reported a bill to prohibit organization officers of any political party holding office.

Frankfort, Feb. 11.—Senate—The George bill, providing for a vote of the people on a return to the viva voce system of voting instead of the secret ballot, was passed, yeas 29, nays 7. The republicans all voted no, and Senators Campbell, Cammack and Spence voted with them at first, but changed their votes. The bill providing for the re-sale of 20-year franchises when they expire in cities of the first class was made a special order for next Wednesday. The senate also passed the house bills appropriating money to improve the confederate soldiers' home and increasing the per capita allowance from $125 to $175. The democrats and republicans all united on these bills and there was not a vote against them. Senator Taylor offered a joint resolution to have the names of Capt. Ben C. Mifam and Cyrus Calvert, veterans of the Mexican war, who recently died, carved on the state monument in Frankfort cemetery with others whose names are already there.

House—The house passed bill No. 19, which provides that the director of the state experiment station, upon receipt of fees and a sample, shall issue certificates of companies sufficient number of labels to tag not less than 20 tons of fertilizer, on which label shall be printed the name and address of the manufacturer, the name of the fertilizer, date of analysis and the percentage of its composition, with a certificate authorizing the sale of such package. It is intended to prevent defrauding of farmers in the sale of fertilizer.

Frankfort, Feb. 12.—Senate—The senate passed a bill absolutely prohibiting the sale and transportation of quail, pheasants and wild turkeys in this state, but killed the other game and bird bills. The Louisville "ripper" bill, authorizing the mayor to appoint and remove his executive boards at pleasure, which has passed the house, was postponed till February 25. This does not necessarily mean its defeat, but it shows the bill will have tough sledding to get through.

House—The feature of Thursday's session was the passage of a bill creating a new circuit court district composed of the counties of Breathitt, Magoffin, Wolfe and Knott. It is claimed by some that if the bill becomes a law the Breathitt county troubles will peak out afresh. Judge James Hargis and ex-Judge B. B. Redwine were both present Thursday and by their personal efforts aided in the passage of the bill. The house adopted a resolution providing for a thorough investigation of the accounts of the Agricultural and Mechanical college. The Lochy bill to allow the clerks to the appellate court judges $100 a month was passed.

May Purchase Old Home of Lincoln.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 13.—At the opening of the house session Friday Mr. Black, of Knox county, republican leader, offered a bill appropriating $10,000 to purchase the old home of Abraham Lincoln, in Larue county, and that it be used as a public park. Mr. Tabb, of Hardin, offered a bill ceding to the United States government the site at West Point, in that county, for a military post.

Distillery Burned.

Lawrenceburg, Ky., Feb. 15.—The large Dowling distillery, four miles east of this city, was completely destroyed by fire Sunday afternoon, entailing a loss of $15,000, with $4,000 insurance. It originated from a defective flue in the yeast room.

Killed By a Train.

Georgetown, Ky., Feb. 13.—Harry Herrod, of Versailles, a brakeman on the Southern railway, was killed here by northbound passenger train No. 4 on the Q. & C. road. Near the depot the tracks of the two roads run side by side.

Another Candidate For Senator.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 15.—Another candidate for United States senator from Kentucky is about to enter the lists, it is alleged, in the person of Ollie James, congressman from the First Kentucky district.

STREET CAR ACCIDENT.

Ten or Twelve People Injured in Paducah, Ky.

Paducah, Ky., Feb. 13.—A street car filled with passengers was struck near the Union depot Friday by an outroling Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis passenger train, and ten or twelve persons injured, one, it is feared, fatally. There were about 30 persons in the car. The motorman, it is claimed, tried to beat the train to the crossing, despite the protests and warning shouts of the passengers. The train struck the car in the center and before the engineer could bring it to a standstill, the engine had pushed the car 30 feet along the track.

Following is the list of injured: J. W. Heisley, deputy state organizer of the Woodmen of the World; may not recover. Clarence Knowles, superintendent of water power, Illinois Central; serious. J. H. Ford, postmaster, Benton, Ky.; bruised and cut. Abe Sloan, city news reporter; hands cut and leg bruised. Mrs. Mathew Phelps, Oaan, Ky.; face cut, badly bruised. Terrel E. Fooks, Paducah; head cut and breast smashed. Mrs. T. H. Phelps, Paducah; ankle wrenched and bruised. J. C. Thornhill, Paducah; John O'Brien, Paducah; W. G. Grasby, Henderson, Ky.; G. F. Smith, wife and infant daughter, Gilbertville, Ky.

INFORMAL CEREMONIES.

The Kentucky Fair Building at St. Louis Dedicated.

St. Louis, Feb. 15.—Typical Kentucky hospitality and congeniality were the prevailing features of the dedication of Kentucky's world fair building Saturday. The regulation program for such occasions was ignored and the ceremonies were informal.

At the close of several speeches there were songs which are familiar to every son of the Blue Grass State, such as "My Old Kentucky Home" and "The Suwanee River." Every one present joined enthusiastically in the choruses, and at their close there were cheers which made the walls and great dome of the building ring.

The largest delegation which has attended the exercises at any state building at the exposition was present.

May Enlist With Japan.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 15.—Another sensation emanated from Kentucky state college when it became generally known that a conference had been held between a number of the cadets, which resulted in a formal application being forwarded to the Japanese legation at Washington for information regarding the privilege and right of enlistment in the Japanese army during the existing war with Russia.

Missing Cashier Left Note.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 12.—W. F. Ogden, cashier of the Kentucky and Indiana bank, of West Point, Ky., who has been missing since Sunday, left a letter in the vault, saying he was going to a near-by town and would return when the bank's directors assured him he would receive justice. His accounts so far seem all right.

Fatal Dispute Over Land.

Constance, Ky., Feb. 13.—A Crab Orchard (Ky.) message says Frank Brannon, a barber of this place, is held there, charged with shooting and killing a relative of his wife named Dodge. Brannon went there to sell property, said to belong to his wife, and the trouble arose because Dodge refused to vacate the premises.

Commando Is the Giant.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 15.—The stallions at Castle stud have been measured. Commando is the giant of the bunch. He is 16 hands, 2⅜ inches high, has a 74-inch girth and weighs right at 1,350 pounds. The measurements were made by Manager Dangerfield.

T. C. Bope Dead.

Lancaster, Ky., Feb. 13.—T. C. Bope, father of Rev. C. W. Bope, of Zanesville, and formerly of Cincinnati, died here early Friday. He was a charter member of Charity lodge, I. O. O. F., here, and had been its secretary for 50 years.

Oldest Odd Fellow Dead.

Covington, Ky., Feb. 13.—Jacob W. Lehman, one of the oldest odd fellows in the state of Kentucky, died Friday at his home here. He was 75 years old and had been in feeble health for months. Mr. Lehman for many years was a steward on river steamboats.

Birkenruth Signed.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 15.—Capt. Jack McDonald, the Boston turfman, who is in this city with William Lakeland, stated Sunday night that Jockey Birkenruth had been signed to ride in France during the next racing season for M Eduard Blanc.

Hon. A. C. Tompkins Paralyzed.

Owensboro, Ky., Feb. 15.—Hon. A. C. Tompkins, capitalist, ex-representative of the legislature from the Owensboro district, suffered a paralytic stroke Sunday. He lies at his home in a dangerous condition. He is 65 years of age.

John E. Madden Entertained.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 15.—John E. Madden, proprietor of Hamburg place, entertained a number of local horsemen at his breeding establishment, and which included in the party Jack McDonald and William Lakeland.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. S. W. Tollu has measles.

Mrs. Zada Clore, of Bullittsville, is a guest at Dr. J. H. Crisler's.

Attorney G. G. Hughes is attending to business in Walton today.

A. B. Rouse and N. E. Riddell have been laid up a few days for repairs.

Kenneth Baisly, of Bullittsville, was a guest at Dr. L. H. Crisler, last Saturday.

Miss Daisey Harding, of Hebron, was among the RECORDER callers, last Friday.

Mr. Hughes has dismissed his school for a few days on account of his wife having measles.

G. M. Allen and a Mr. Huff, of Hamilton, were guests of County Clerk Adams and wife, last Sunday night.

Misses Olga Kirkpatrick, Lottie Hall and Essie Parish attended the leap year party at Erlanger last Friday night.

Mrs. A. J. Barker, of Nashville, Tenn., who had been visiting her relatives here, left for her home, Monday.

There will be an oyster supper and musical entertainment at Hebron Grange Hall next Saturday night. Admission, 25 cents.

Enoch Manning, of Hebron, made the RECORDER a call yesterday. He says the mercury was below zero at his house that morning.

Jesse C. Kelly, of Aurora, was visiting his brothers in this county, last week. He made the RECORDER a very pleasant call on Friday afternoon.

Rev. O. M. Huey, of Stanford, Lincoln county, was in town a short while yesterday, and met quite a number of his old friends, who were glad to see him looking so well.

NOTICE—As several of my customers have been told that I was going to move from Burlington, I wish to state for the benfit of my friends that I am not nor have I thought of such a move. I intend to make this my future home. R. W. CLARK.

Several degrees below zero again yesterday morning.

February is furnishing its usual supply of very cold weather.

It looks this morning like another change in the weather is at hand.

I am still in the ticket business and have a lot of chinaware and lamps. M. RIDDELL.

Senators, kill that Hargis-Redwine judicial district bill, and you will win the plaudits of the entire State.

Bart and Huey Aylor, of Hebron, will have a public sale on the 24th of this month. See advertisement in another column.

A telephone message was received here Monday night announcing the death of Mat Carpenter, of Gallatin county. No particulars.

Don't torget the Grange oyster supper and musicale at Hebron, next Saturday night. Admission, 25 cents. Everybody invited.

Big Bone Baptist church will hold memorial services today in honor of Rev. James A. Kirtley, who served it as pastor so long.

T. B. Castleman has moved his office in Burlington to J. L. Clore's residence, where those wanting dental work done, will find him every Monday.

It is hard to tell anything about how the war between Japan and Russia is progressing by reading the dispatches as published. Nothing official yet.

Some say the race for the Democratic nomination in this district is now made up-Gooch, Nadaud, Rhinock and Smith are the entries. May the best man win.

We desire to thank our many friends for the kindness shown us during the fatal illness of our mother and grandmother, Mrs. Eva Miller. THE FAMILY.

Livestock looks well notwithstanding the long continued cold weather. The animals appear to have become use to the cold and pay very little attention to it. It is damp cold weather that is hard on stock.

The Boone County Telephone Company announced the death of Senator Hanna in Burlington on Monday night in 20 minutes after it occurred in Washington. It is very convenient to have such connections with the outside world.

Johnnie Hogan bought of Sidney Gaines his stock scales that have been in use on the street at the jail for some time. They will be moved to the barn on the lot he purchased from W. C. Brown, and will be used in his tobacco business. He will arrange to weigh livestock and farm produce.

In this issue appears the announcement of E. C. Smith, of Carrollton, as a candidate for Congress, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Mr. Smith will probably be the only candidate in the country part of the district, which, with three candidates in the city of Covington, ought to be very much to his advantage. Mr. Smith is a lawyer and a successful newspaper man, and very popular with his people.

Notice is hereby given that I will on Monday, March 7th, 1904, between the hours of 1 o'clock pm. and 2 o'clock pm., at the court house door, in the town of Burlington, Boone county, Kentucky, offer for sale for cash to the highest bidder, the following real estate or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the common school district tax assessed against it and the cost of collecting the same:

School District No. 14.
Nancy Smith's estate, 43 acres $4 10
School District No. 16.
Matilda Barlow, 45 acres 2 55
Arthur Reynolds, 71 acres 7 41

J. M. EDDINS, Collector.

Public Sale.

I will sell at public sale at my residence near Limaburg, Boone county, Ky., on

Try for Health

222 South Peoria St.,
CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 7, 1902.

Eight months ago I was so ill that I was compelled to lie or sit down nearly all the time. My stomach was so weak and upset that I could keep nothing on it and I vomited frequently. I could not urinate without great pain and I coughed so much that my throat and lungs were raw and sore. The doctors pronounced it Bright's disease and others said it was consumption. It mattered little to me what they called it and I had no desire to live. A sister visited me from St. Louis and asked me if I had ever tried Wine of Cardui. I told her I had not and she bought a bottle. I believe that it saved my life. I believe many women could save much suffering if they but knew of its value.

Georgia Dunbar

Don't you want freedom from pain? Take Wine of Cardui and make one supreme effort to be well. You do not need to be a weak, helpless sufferer. You can have a woman's health and do a woman's work in life. Why not secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today?

COVINGTON, KY.
Stockholders' Liabilities, $100.000.

We pay 3 per cent. Interest on Time Saving Deposits, compounded twice a year. Also a Liberal Rate of Interest on Deposits Subject to Check.

Every man, woman and child in Boone county should have an account with this Company. You will never be worth any money until you save some. It will grow while you sleep, every dollar deposited being your silent partner in assisting you to win a competence.

Persistent saving brings about wonderful results. Five cents a day for 21 years, compounded at 3 per cent. will amount to about $500.

Twenty-five cents a day will make about $2,500 or enough to start your son in business. One dollar a day will make about $10,000, or more than 95 out of 100 persons ever have at once.

Deposits can be made by registeres mail, post-office money order, draft or by check on your local bank.

$1.00 will open an account, and the small depositor will receive the same consideration as the large one.

This company, in its Trust Department, acts as Executor, Administrator, Gurdian, Trustee in and all fiduciary capacities, and will contract to settle estates for a fixed sum.

This is a "HOME" Company, owned, controlled and managed by "HOME" people.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIX. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1904. NO. 19.

County Correspondence.

WALTON.

Feb 22.—Born to S. W Heverly and wife, Monday the 22d, a fine (George Washington) boy.

John T Johnson and George Laws, two of our old gentlemen, are very ill of pneumonia.

Mr. N. Fauling, who has been poorly for some time, has gone to a city hospital for treatment.

John Richards came up from Napoleon last week and shook hands with his many friends here.

W. Dickson has sold his property on Verona avenue to James Hedges, and is now a resident of Cincinnati.

After the show, last Friday evening, the young people moved the chairs to one side and enjoyed themselves with a delightful party.

A railroad fire burnt two hay stacks and a lot of fence for Edward Taylor, and a lot of grass and fence for A. W. Smith, a few days since.

Miss Maud Hume and Mr. George Arnold won the prizes at the close of the show, offered for the most popular lady and gentleman—a watch and a set of spoons.

Moses Kahn, who has been in the South since last fall, returned a day or two ago in time for a few more of our wintry blasts. He is one of the energetic members of the firm of Kahn Bros.

George Nicholson, one of Walton's hustling builders, has secured the contract to erect the great pants plant for Levi, Price & Co., at this place. As soon as the weather will permit the work will be pushed rapidly.

The beautiful home of J. W. Cleek just north of town has been sold to Mrs. Enoch West for $3,000. It is one of the most desirable properties near here. There are about 1,000 young plum trees of a fine variety, just coming into bearing, on it. It has many conveniences and is desirably located. Mr. West, who made the sale, says he has another large deal on near Verona.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ransom, announce the marriage of their daughter to

Scott Smith

Wednesday, February twent-fourth, nineteen hundred and four, at Verona, Ky.

At home

After March 1st, 1904,

"Clover Leaf Farm,

Verona,

Last week three or four young men went from here to Lima, Ohio, to work on a railroad bridge. Harry Adams, one of the party, while passing around the engine house on the bridge slipped and fell about 25 feet, and is badly hurt. At first it was thought he would die. One leg was broken in two places, and the bone jabbed through the flesh. He was also hurt about the head. He was taken to a hospital, where he will receive good treatment.

The wedding of Mr. C. V. Johnson and Miss Clara Percivall was quite a surprise for their many friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. Johnson at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Percivall, of Verona, at 3:30 p. m., last Wednesday. The bride is a charming young lady. The groom is a son of J. R. Johnson, the popular superintendent of the Snyder Canning Co., and has a host of friends. After the ceremony the happy pair left for Cincinnati, amid a shower of rice and good wishes. Bro. Johnson performed the marriage ceremony of each of these young people's parents and all the brothers and sisters in both families.

Escaped an Awful Fate.

Mr. H. Huggins of Melbourne, Fla., writes, "My doctor told me I had Consumption and nothing could be done for me. I was given up to die. The offer of a free trial bottle of Dr, King's New Discovery for Consumption induced me to try it. Results were startling. I am now on the road to recovery and owe all to Dr. King's New Discovery. It surely saved my life." This great cure is guaranteed for all throat and lung diseases by all Druggists. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial Bottles free.

NOTICE—I have sold my interest in the store at Burlington, and will now devote all my time to the practice of the veterinary profession.

L. H. CRISLER, V. S.

PETERSBURG.

Feb. 22.—David Alcorn is threatened with pneumonia.

Mote Christe is laid up with rheumatism.

Robins, harbingers of spring, have come again.

Rev. Selby is holding a protracted meeting at Constance.

One mail a day is all we get since the ice got so bad in the river.

The Odd-Fellows initiated S. S. McWethy, jr., last Wednesday night.

Perry Kirtley, of Kansas City, was calling on friends here one day last week.

Ed Stott has recovered from his recent illness and returned to his work at Mill creek.

The weather was so bad last Sunday that Rev. Sproles did not fill his appointments here.

Rev. P. H. Duncan will preach at the Christian church next Sunday morning and evening.

Vauden Canfield, a prominent young merchant of Aurora, was visiting Col. T. B. Mathews, last Monday.

Earl Walton sat down on a carpet tack, a few days since, and as a consequence he is threatened with blood-poison.

The flour mill has shut down because of its supply of coal being exhausted, and the price of flour has gone up to 75 cents a sack.

The Christian Endeavor has 30 members and meets every Tuesday evening. On the 29th it will give a social at Miss Maud Belden's.

There has been a shakeup of the revenue men here, and several new men are on duty. Grant Mathews was given a new location.

While skating along the river bank, the other day, Charles Roth started over the declivity and fell, cutting an ugly gash in the palm of one of his hands.

Hugh Arnold has been appointed and commissioned police judge, Mr. W. T. Evans, who was elected concluding he did not want the office and did not qualify.

Miss Lizzie Alden, aged 64, died on the 17th inst. She was a sister of Capt. Elihu Alden, and Miss Lou Alden, our postmistress. Mrs. Fannie King, of Carrollton attended the funeral.

Will Hitzfield, who has been in California, for almost a year, is visiting his parents here. He says Henry Howard, who went from this county a number of years ago, is worth $400,000. He raised 400 tons of raisins last year.

COMMISSARY.

Feb. 20.—Mrs. Lou Kelly spent last Monday with her mother, Mrs. Richard Louden.

Elbert Kelly has 100 or more nice telephone poles for sale.

Mrs. Eliza Walton and her little girl, Alice, have been quite poorly this week.

Ernest Ryle, one of Bellevue's correspondents spent the week visiting on Wooiper.

Mr. T. J. Walton and wife were guests of Dr. Williamson and wife, of Bellevue, last Sunday.

Carl Kelly will move into the Joe Acra house in McVille and engage in the huckster business.

Will Sebree rented the John Henderson farm Wednesday, and will move there in the near future.

Mrs. Ot Scott, from near Philpot, Ky., came up Thursday to visit among relatives and friends here.

Woody Sullivan has bought Eugene Kelly's farm. We are sorry to loose Mr. Kelly as he was a good kind neighbor.

Louis Merrick's father, who was quite sick two or three weeks ago, has so far recovered as to be up most of the time.

H. P. Parsons returned home from Cincinnati, Wednesday. Mrs. Parsons is no better, and gradually growing weaker.

John M. Hodge and Wm. Williamson passed through Commissary last Thursday morning enroute to the city, or Erlanger, with a load of poultry and furs.

Some of those from the Commissary who attended the dance at Albert Conner's, Tuesday night, says it was a nice dance, but not so many present as at Kelly's dance.

John Ryle, of McVille, has moved to James Acra's farm. We recommend Mr. Ryle and wife to their new neighbors as good, kind people, for they are well spoken of by their neighbors in McVille.

Miss Grace Louden received the nicest valentine of any that we have seen. It is a beauty, and what every one should send if they send any. We hope the time will soon come when comic valentines will be a thing of the past.

February is a memorable month, memorable as the birth month of some of our famous Americans; also as the shortest month of the year, and last but not least, it brings to us St. Valentine's day. On Feb. 12, 1809, was born one among the greatest and kindest of our statesmen, Abraham Lincoln. Feb. 14th, is St. Valentine's day —a day when millions of fancy cards and sentimental love letters are sent off over this big world of ours. Feb. 22 gave us the father of our country, in the year 1732. On the same date, in 1819, James Russell Lowell was born. When Feb. 27 comes around all the school boys and girls know that in 1807 the children's poet, the one who wrote "Under the Spreading Chesnut Tree," and "Evangeline" and "Hiawatha," their loved Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, was born. For these reasons we are or at least should be very fond of the month of February, and no doubt all Americans are proud to think of their great ones as their anniversaries pass.

BUFFALO.

Mrs. A. J. Utz has been very sick the past week.

Robert Clements and little son are both very sick.

S. H. Marshall was in the city on business last Monday.

David Marshall and Jimmie Huey attended the ball at Erlanger, last Friday night.

Mrs. C. M. Allen is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Annie Bradford, of Constance.

Mr. J. Q. Elston was called to New Richmond, Ohio, last Saturday to the bedside of his sister.

Miss Eliza Feldhaus, of Landing, has been visiting in this neighborhood several days the past week.

Miss Ida Feldhaus entertained several of her lady friends in honor of her birthday on the 18th inst.

David Marshall entertained Charles Craig, jr., of East Bend, and Paul Aylor, of Gunpowder, last Sunday.

The school house at Grange Hall caught fire the other day and burned so badly there could be no school for several days—until it was repaired.

The church at Big Bone was draped in mourning for the memorial sermon, in honor of its pastor, Rev. James A. Kirtley. Bro. O. M. Huey conducted the service.

The death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Aylor, last Friday, the 12th, between 8 and 9 o'clock, and took from them their little son, Robert Willis, who was but 9 years of age. He had been very low with pneumonia, but it was thought the little fellow was on the road to recovery, when a new disease set up and took him from his earthly home to a better one in heaven. His bright little face will be greatly missed, not only by the family

THE HANNA OBSEQUIES

Nation, State and Home City Paid Last Tribute.

Body Was Placed in the Crypt in Wade Memorial Chapel to Await the Final Disposition By the Will of the Family.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Senator Marcus Alonzo Hanna died at 6:40 o'clock Monday evening at the family apartments in the Arlington hotel, after an illness extending over nearly two months, filled with apparent recoveries, followed by relapses and finally drifting into typhoid fever, which in his weakened condition he was unable to withstand.

Washington, Feb. 18. — Without pomp or ceremony the remains of Senator Hanna at 11:15 Wednesday were conveyed from the Arlington hotel to the senate chamber, where the official exercises were conducted. The ceremony was dignified and simple, in consonance with the late senator's character.

The train bearing the remains of Senator Hanna left Washington for Cleveland at 6 o'clock Wednesday night. On the train were all the members of the late senator's family and a number of personal friends. The casket was taken from the United States capitol building at 4:45 p. m. and was escorted to the railway station by the committee of senators and representatives which had charge of the funeral in the senate chamber.

MARCUS A. HANNA.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 19.—This city has truly been one of mourning Thursday. The mortal remains of Senator Marcus A. Hanna now lie in state upon a shrouded catafalque in the auditorium of the chamber of commerce, where they were taken immediately upon their arrival here from Washington Thursday.

Surrounded by a veritable garden of flowers and guarded by a detail of soldiers from the state militia, the city of Cleveland now claims its own distinguished dead. During Thursday afternoon, from 1:30 to 9:50 o'clock Thursday night, fully 50,000 people passed the flower covered casket and took a last look upon the features of the dead statesman.

The floral tributes were the most elaborate since the funeral of the late President McKinley. A whole carload of offerings from Washington officials and friends accompanied the funeral train. They include a beautiful wreath from President Roosevelt. Two great tables in the eastern extremity of the hall are piled high with costly tributes and both the platform and the stage are bowers of floral beauty.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 20.—The nation, state and home city of Senator Marcus A. Hanna bestowed upon him Friday afternoon their last honors. Funeral services over the remains of the dead statesman were held in St. Paul's Episcopal church, commencing at 1 o'clock. Shortly after the noon hour the casket was taken from the chamber of commerce auditorium and the funeral procession took up its slow march to the church, two miles away. At the head of the column rode a platoon of 12 mounted police, followed by three platoons of Troop A, all mounted on black horses and with swords at carry. The hearse came next and was followed by 100 carriages carrying the pallbearers and official guests.

When the body and its escort reached the church the edifice was closed to all but those who were admitted by card and members of the funeral party. The eight pallbearers, Gov. Myron T. Herrick, Samuel Mather, J. B. Zerbe, W. J. McKinnie, A. B. Hough, Andrew Squire, Judge W. B. Sanders and C. A. Grasselli, all personal friends of the dead senator in his home city, removed the flower covered casket from the hearse and with bared heads bore it into the church and placed it upon the catafalque in front of the altar. The casket was closely followed by members of the Hanna family. Mrs. Hanna was supported by her son, Daniel.

J. Pierpont Morgan, the New York financier, was of the family party, and escorted Miss Phelps, a member of the Hanna household. The body was met at the church door by the officiating clergymen, Rt. Rev. W. A. Leonard, bishop of Ohio; Dr. G. H. McGrew, rector of St. Paul's church; President W. F. Pierce, of Gambier, O., college, and Rev. W. H. Jones, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, of which the dead man was a member, who spoke the usual sentences as the body was borne down the aisle. The members of the family took seats near the casket and other friends who had accompanied the remains from Washington were among the mourners.

Immediately following the family and friends came Gov. Herick's staff. Directly behind these came the Washington delegation.

Next came Secretary Taft, Secretary Wilson and Secretary Cortelyou, representing President Roosevelt. The Ohio legislature and representatives of the National Civic Federation, Loyal Legion of Honor, Sons of the American Revolution and other organizations followed.

When all had been seated the service Psalms, beginning "Lord, let me ices began. St. Paul's choir chanted know the number of my days, that I may be certified how long I live," and "Lord, Thou hast been our refuge from one generation to another." President Pierce, of Kenyon college, read the lesson from First Corinthians, 15th chapter, from the 20th verse to the end of the chapter. "Lead, Kindly Light," a favorite hymn of the senator, was sung by the choir, and then followed an eloquent eulogy by Bishop Leonard.

The eulogy was followed by a hymn by the choir, "Forever With the Lord." Dr. McGrew read the creed and prayers, and Bishop Leonard, assisted by Rev. W. H. Jones, followed with the committal services. The anthem, "Lord, Let Me Know Thy Name," by the choir, and benediction by Bishop Leonard concluded the service. The pallbearers again took up the casket. As they proceeded down the aisle, followed by the family, the choir sang the recessional, "Now the Laborers' Work Is O'er." As the assemblage passed out the organist played the dead march from Saul.

Long before the church was emptied the body of Senator Hanna, accompanied only by members of the family and Bishop Leonard, was on its way to Lakeview cemetery, where a tender farewell was taken in Wade Memorial chapel. The only service there was a simple prayer by Bishop Leonard.

The body was deposited in a crypt in the chapel to await final disposition at the will of the family.

As a mark of respect for the dead, business was abandoned from 12 to 2 o'clock throughout the city. For five minutes from 1 o'clock to 1:05 o'clock, traffic on all the steam and electric roads was suspended. During a portion of that time people stood with bowed heads. During the funeral ceremony there was no street car service past St. Paul's church.

Paid Tribute to Hanna's Memory.

Altoona, Pa., Feb. 20.—Every coal mine in the Central Pennsylvania district (bituminous) was closed Friday afternoon. The miners, 60,000 of them, paid this tribute to Senator Hanna's memory by ceasing work.

Will Plant Memorial Trees.

Washington, Feb. 20.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt will observe Washington's birthday by planting two memorial trees. The trees selected are fern leaf beaches taken from Garfield park, in this city.

Miners Suspended Work.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 20.—Work was suspended in the coal mines at Leavenworth, Pittsburg and other mining districts in Kansas at noon Friday as an expression of respect to the memory of the late Senator Hanna.

Observed as a Day of Mourning.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Feb. 20.—Friday was generally observed throughout the anthracite coal fields as a day of mourning and all the mines and collieries were closed out of respect to the memory of Senator Hanna.

DYNAMITE EXPLODED.

Twenty-Four People Were Killed and as Many Hurt.

Five Locomotives Were Reduced to Scrap Iron and a Big Steam Shovel Completely Destroyed—Some of the Injured Will Die.

Salt Lake City, Feb. 20.—A special from Ogden says: Two cars of dynamite attached to a work train on the Ogden Lucin cut-off of the Southern Pacific railroad exploded with terrific force late Friday afternoon at Jackson Sstation, 88 miles west of Ogden, killing at least 24 persons, injuring as many more and destroying a large amount of property.

The list of dead and injured had not been received up to midnight, but it is thought a large proportion of the victims were Greek laborers. Among the known dead are Conductor George Dermody, of Ogden, and his train crew. It is also reported a fireman named Burt, with his wife and three children, were killed. The explosion wrecked everything within a radius of half a mile.

Jackson Station was used principally as a telegraph station, but a number of outfit cars were sidetracked at the place for the accommodation of the workmen and their families. Some of these cars, it is stated, were close to where the explosion occurred. The occupants, it is believed, were blown to pieces. The telegraph operator's house was badly damaged and Operator Taylor and his wife were injured. The nearest telegraph office from which messages can be filed is at Lusin, 15 miles from the scene of the explosion.

The accident was caused by a water train running into the two cars loaded with powder. Five locomotives were reduced to scrap iron and the big steam shovel at Jackson Station was completely demolished. As soon as news of the explosion reached Ogden a special with physicians nurses and stretchers was hurried to the scene.

Late Friday night a train arrived from Jackson bringing 12 of the injured. Some of them are apparently lifeless.

BANK EMPLOYES.

Those Receiving Less Than $1,000 a Year Should Not Marry.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—There was posted Friday in the Corn Exchange national bank a notice which reads in substance as follows: "Employes of this bank receiving a salary of less than $1,000 a year must not marry without first consulting the bank officials and obtaining their approval." Officers of the bank stated that their official action was not taken to discourage matrimony under proper circumstances, but that it was foolish for a man to attempt in Chicago to support a wife, to say nothing of a family of several children, on less than the income named.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS.

Number of Persons Killed and Injured in July, August and September.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The interstate commerce commission in a report issued Friday shows that in railroad accidents in the United States during July, August and September, 1903, 60 passengers and 220 employes were killed and 1,668 passengers and 1,914 employes injured. Other accidents not the result of train accidents bring the aggregate casualties up to 15,187, being 109 passengers and 916 employes killed and 2,688 passengers and 11,474 employes injured. The total number of collisions and derailments was 3,063.

ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION.

A New Deep Sea Discovered Southeast of South Orkney Islands.

Washington, Feb. 20.—United States Minister John Barrett reports to the state department from Buenos Ayres January 12 the arrival at that port of the Scottish Antarctic expedition on the Scotia and gives a brief statement of the results of the expedition. The Scotia covered 4,000 miles of previously unexplored sea and found a new deep sea of 2,500 fathoms about 500 miles southeast of South Orkney islands abounding with fish and crustaceans.

Russian Shot-Torn Flags.

Tokio, Feb. 20.—Capt. Kurakami, commander of the Japanese armored ship Chijoda, Friday presented the emperor with the shot-torn flags of the Russian cruisers Variag and Korietz, which were sunk at Chemuipo on February 9.

Won't Allow Him to Assume Duties.

Washington, Feb. 20.—Secretary Hay has been informed that Edwin V. Morgan will not be granted an exequatur by the Russian government authorizing him to act as United States consul at Dalny. Mr. Morgan is now on his way from Washington to his post.

The Case Was Dismissed.

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 20.—The case against Prosecuting Attorney R. P. Stone, charged with riding on free railroad passes, was dismissed by the state when the circuit court met. This leaves Stone in full possession of his office.

A Descendant of Jonathan Edwards.

New York, Feb. 20.—Jonathan Tryonbrugh Edwards, sixth in line of direct descendants of Jonathan Edwards, is dead, at his home here. More than 5,000 desbendants of the famous educator knew him as "Cousin Tryon."

FIFTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS.

Regular Session.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Senate—The Panama canal question again Thursday was the uppermost topic in the senate, and Mr. Spooner spoke on that subject during the greater portion of the day's session. Early in the day Mr. Tillman moved to reconsider the de vote of last Monday by which the bill to grant $150,000 to former Queen Lilliiokalani was defeated, but further consideration of the matter was not pressed at the time. The senate adjourned until Saturday on account of Mr. Hanna's funeral.

House—The house passed the fortifications appropriation bill. The Philippine question was the subject of a brief but spirited discussion while the bill was under consideration. An item in the bill provided for fortifications in the insular possessions; Mr. Smith (dem., Ky.) proposed an amendment to preclude the use of any part of the appropriations for fortifications in the Philippines, holding that an expenditure of the sum necessary properly to fortify the islands was not warranted until the future of the archipelago shall have been determined. By a strict party vote of 80 to 82 the Smith amendment was lost. Mr. Robinson (dem., Ind.) made an unsuccessful effort to secure an amendment to prevent the use of any portion of the money appropriated for experimental purposes for Langley airships experiments.

Washington, Feb. 20.—House—The house Friday began consideration of the naval appropriation bill, ten hours being allowed for general debate. During the general discussion, Mr. Fitzgerald (dem., N. Y.) declared that our naval program was to procure a naval force greater than that of Germany. Mr. Foss made an urgent appeal for the upbuilding of the navy, emphasizing the necessity of ship construction in times of peace, with the query: "What would Russia give to-day if she could call back some of her sunken ships?"

EXPLOSION IN A STEEL PLANT.

Two Men Asphyxiated, One Burned to Death and Others Injured.

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 22.—Two men were asphyxiated, one was burned to death and several were seriously injured in an explosion of blast furnace gas at the plant of the Lackawanna Steel Co. Sunday. The explosion occurred near power house No. 2, where a large reservoir is situated. The reservoir is a tube 100 feet long and about ten feet in diameter and was stored with gas to be used as motive power for a large blower engine.

Smith and Reynolds, two of the dead, were working in the reservoir behind a b[illegible]head Sunday. A piece of the bulkhead was removed in the course of the operations. A valve which the men thought had been closed allowed gas to flow into the tank. They tried to escape, but were overcome before they could reach the exit. A torch used by the men was left behind, and when the gas reached it a terrific explosion occurred. Frank Prenatt and the men were trying to remove one of the unconscious men when the explosion occurred. All of them were hurled into the air. Prenatt died in a few minutes. Alexander Sanders was terribly burned and he may die.

RUSSIA'S REPLY.

The Text of the Note is Withheld at Present.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The state department has received Russia's reply to Secretary Hay's note. It is the present intention to merely acknowledge the Russian note.

While the text of the note is withheld at present, it is understood that Russia attaches a condition to the effect that acceptance of the proposition is not to be regarded as excluding Manchuria from the seat of war.

It is stated that Japan has consented to allow several United States army officers to accompany the Japanese forces in the field as military observers. Not quite so explicitly Russia has indicated that she may be able to accommodate some American military observers after March 15.

THE RUMORS DENIED.

No Warlike Preparations Are Being Made in Italy.

Rome, Feb. 22.—Rumors of warlike preparations by italy having been circulated, a semi-official communication has emanated from the government which is in substance as follows:

Stories of alleged armaments and of the movements of warships and troops for service abroad are entirely false.

Indications exist that this false news is connected with stock exchange speculation and those responsible have been brought before the law courts to be punished according to the law with imprisonment for from three to thirty months.

Secretary Heath Resigns.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 22.—Perry S. Heath, former first assistant postmaster general, and secretary of the republican national committee, wired his resignation of the latter position from here to Acting Chairman Payne, at Washington.

Will Inquire Into His Sanity.

New York, Feb. 22.—Charles Moyer, a clerk formerly employed by Fleischmann & Co., arrested on the charge of writing threatening letters to Mayor Fleischmann, of Cincinnati, was committed to Bellevue hospital for inquiry into his sanity.

Deserter to Be Hanged.

Manila, Feb. 22.—Corp. Ayala, ringleader of the members of the constabulary force which recently revolted at Vigan, Luzon, was captured, tried, convicted and sentenced by the court to be hanged.

INTERESTING TO AMERICANS.

Western Canada Will Soon Become the Supply Depot for Wheat for Great Britain.

During the past year about 50,000 Americans went from the United States to Canada. Most of these settled upon farm lands, and the writer is informed by agents of the Canadian Government that the greatest success has followed the efforts of nearly all. To their friends on this side of the boundary line the fullest assurance is given of the prosperity that is in store for them. There will always be a splendid market for all the grain, cattle and other produce that can be raised in Western Canada, and with the advantages offered of a free homestead of 160 acres of land, and other lands which may be bought cheaply, an excellent climate, splendid school system, educational advantages of the best, what more is required. The husbandman gets more return for his money than in any other country in the world.

On the occasion of Sir Wilfred Laurier's visit to the Corn Exchange, London, Eng., Colonel Montgomery, V. D., made several important statements. "The function (he said) which you have just been assisting in connection with a kindred association has doubtless shown you the importance of the provision trade of Liverpool in its relationship with the Dominion, and the enormous possibilities of the future development of that trade. Well, the grain trade of Liverpool has interests with Canada no less important than those of the provision trade. When it is borne in mind that 80 per cent. of the breadstuffs of this great country has to be brought from abroad, you will readily appreciate with what great satisfaction we view the large and steadily increasing supplies of grain which are annually available for export from Canada, and I challenge contradiction when I say that of the wheats we import from Russia, India, the Pacific, and the length and breadth of the United States, none gives more general satisfaction, none is more generally appreciated, than that raised in the Province of Manitoba. We cannot get enough of it, and it is no exaggeration to say that there are before us dozens of millers who hunger for it. This is not the time to enter into statistical questions, but we look forward with confidence to the time at which, with the present rate of progress, the Dominion of Canada will have a sufficient surplus of wheat to render this country independent of other sources of supply. I think I may, with justifiable pride, remind you that this is the chief grain market of the British Empire, and through [illegible] geographical position, as well as through the enterprise of its millers it is now the second milling center in the world."

Send to any authorized Canadian Government Agent for copy of Atlas and information as to railway rate, etc.

Billion Dollar Grass.

When the John A. Salzer Seed Co., of La Crosse, Wis., introduced this remarkable grass three years ago, little did they dream it would be the most talked of grass in America, the biggest, quick, hay producer on earth, but this has come to pass.

Agr. Editors wrote about it, Agr. College Professors lectured about it, Agr. Institute Orators talked about it, while in the farm home by the quiet fireside, in the corner grocery, in the village post-office, at the creamery, at the depot, in fact wherever farmers gathered, Salzer's Billion Dollar Grass, that wonderful grass, good for 5 to 14 tons per acre and lots of pasture besides, is always a theme worthy of the farmer's voice.

Then comes Brumus Inermis, than which there is no better grass or better permanent hay producer on earth. Grows wherever sod is found. Then the farmer talks about Salzer's Teosinte, which will produce 100 stocks from one kernel of seed, 11 ft. high, in 100 days, rich in nutrition and greedily eaten by cattle, hogs, etc., and is good for 80 tons of green food per acre.

Victoria Rape, which can be grown at 25c a ton, and Speltz at 20c a bu., both great food for cattle, also come in for their share in the discussion. [K. L.]

FIGHTING ON LAND.

Rumored Russians Were Repulsed With Heavy Loss.

Sounds of Desultory Firing at Sea Are Heard Almost Nightly at Port Arthur—Sunday Morning Firing Was Again Heard.

London, Feb. 22.—The cables are still absolutely silent with regard to the progress of the war, but there are vague rumors of land fighting. As an instance, the Paris edition of the New York Herald's correspondent at St. Petersburg talks of a Russian repulse in the Yalu river with a loss of 2,500 lives. These rumors are unconfirmed and from a reliable quarter the Morning Post's Che Foo correspondent says he learns tens of thousands of Japanese are advancing by forced marches from various parts of Corea on the Yalu and that severe fighting is expected shortly. These are the only references to actual operations that have reached London.

The announcement that Gen. Kodama has been replaced in the Japanese cabinet by Mr. Kospikawa is regarded as meaning that Gen. Kodama is about to take command of the Japanese land forces. Kodama, who is Japan's leading general, did splendid work during the Chino-Japanese war.

Viceroy Alexieff has issued proclamations to the Chinese throughout Manchuria seeking to enlist their sympathy in behalf of Russia and their assistance in maintaining the railway intact by representing to them Japan's alleged treacherous methods in beginning the war.

The correspondent at Tien-Tsin of the Standard reports an attack by 500 Chinese brigands on the Russian post at Foo Chow as probably an attempt to wreck the railway.

Port Arthur, Feb. 22.—Sounds of desultory firing at sea are heard almost nightly, and Sunday morning firing was again heard. This is doubtless due to the attempted approach of Japanese torpedo boats, but nothing serious has developed.

The garrison is in excellent spirits and is firmly convinced of the ultimate success of the Russian arms.

The Novi Krai prints a long article invoking historical precedents to prove the illegality of the Japanese declaration that fuel and victuals will in all cases be treated as contraband of war. The paper describes Japan's attitude as presumption and urges the neutral powers to disregard it.

Shanghai, Feb. 22.—Urged by the Japanese consul here the Tao Tai ordered the Russian gunboat Mandjur to leave the harbor before 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, but the order was ignored. It is said that a Japanese squadron has been ordered to enforce the Tao Tai's demand and to enable Japanese steamship companies to resume service between Japan and Shanghai.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 22.—The appointment of Gen. Kuropatkin, who was Saturday relieved of his functions as minister of war, to the chief command of the Russian army in the far east, was gazetted Sunday morning.

A POOL ROOM RIOT.

An Attempt to Make An Arrest Followed By a Fusillade of Bullets.

St. Louis, Feb. 20.—In an effort to close up a pool room that has for a long time operated in the outskirts of Madison, Ill., across the river from St. Louis, three constables, augmented by a posse of citizens and bearing warrants for the arrest of six men connected with the pool room, precipitated a riot late Friday which resulted in the shooting of six men. One may die.

Wounded: Lee Harlan, druggist, probably mortal; William Schooley, posse-man; Edward Harris, spectator, not seriously; Edward Downs, seriously; two unknown, not seriously.

Warrants had been sworn out before Justice of the Peace Isenmeyer, of Granite City, adjoining Madison, and placed in the hands of Constable John Glass and two other constables for the arrest of Whitfield Brooks and Eugene Wall, of Granite City, and Thomas Riley, Charles Greenfield, Thomas Manley and Martin Johns, of St. Louis, charging them with being connected with the pool room. After the failure of the Madison county grand jury, which recently investigated the pool room, to return indictments, citizens took the matter in hand with the intention of having the pool room closed. Several days ago warrants were issued for State Senator David Nelson, of Missouri, charging him with being a pool seller and Victor Schuler, charging him with conducting the pool room and being custodian of the funds. Schuler was arrested Thursday and gave bond of $500 pending a hearing. The additional warrants were sworn out Friday and the three constables appeared at the pool room to serve them. Two policemen were within and declared they had arrested the operators of the pool room and were guarding them. Betting was going on as usual at the time. The constables were ordered to leave the premises, which they did after argument. Proceeding through the neighborhood for the next half hour the constables organized a posse of armed citizens numbering about 50 persons.

The constables and posse then returned to the pool room and entered. They were at once ordered out and the doors were ordered locked. The posse demurred and bands followed. One posse-man, it is stated, pointed a shotgun at Policeman McCambridge, who fired a revolver pointed at the ceiling. Firing then became general. The crowd in the pool room scattered hurriedly, many fleeing into a waiting Illinois Central train until it became packed. When the fusillade was over the constables and posse had possession. The bookmakers, however, Friday night asserted that the pool room will be open as usual Saturday. Although the pool room men are now constructively under arrest, the police say they will not permit the citizens to interfere.

FELL THOUSANDS OF FEET.

Two Unknown Travelers Met a Horrible Death in Wyoming.

Meetetse, Wyo., Feb. 20.—Two unknown travelers who were journeying along the trail between Meetetse and Gold Reef with several packhorses met an awful death. The trail is a treacherous short cut to Gold Reef and is dangerous even in summer, winding along the edge of a ravine nearly 3,000 feet deep.

The men are known to have left Meetetse Sunday and have not been heard of since. S. Rydell made the journey this week and found unmistakable evidence that the horses had lost their footing on the icy path and had fallen upon the rocks thousands of feet below.

BURNED AT THE STAKE.

Cressett, Ark., Feb. 20.—Glencoe Bays, a Negro who was charged with shooting and killing J. D. Stephens, a prominent white farmer on last Wednesday, was burned at the stake by a mob, half a mile from the Stephens plantation in this county.

Bays made a full confession just after he was captured, admitting that he had premeditated killing Stephens. He laughed when asked how he wanted to die, saying it made no difference as he knew full well his hour had arrived.

FOUGHT WITH REBELS.

Cruiser Columbia Bombarded San Domingo Insurgents.

A Decisive Battle Was Fought Between Revolutionists and Government Forces, Resulting In a Victory For the Latter.

Paris, Feb. 22.—A dispatch from San Domingo says that the United States cruiser Columbia and the training ship Hartford have bombarded Puarte, which is occupied by the insurgents.

San Domingo, Thursday, Feb 11.—The Clyde line steamer New York arrived here this morning convoyed by the United States cruiser Newark, and Minister Powell instructed the captain of the vessel to discharge his cargo at the wharf. An agreement had been made by Minister Powell and Commander Miller with the insurgents and the government that neither party should fire while the New York was at the wharf discharging. The government kept this agreement, but the insurgents fired on the steamer and on a launch from the cruiser Columbia, which was entering the river. Eight rifle shots damaged the New York's woodwork, endangering the lives of passengers and crew.

The commander of the United States warships then decided to shell Pajarito, near this city, the place occupied by the insurgents, and to land 300 marines with the object of punishing the insurgents for insulting the United States flag and damaging an American steamer.

At 2:30 p. m. the Newark approached and opened fire, discharging ten shells. The insurgents fired upon the marines while they were landing, wounding some of them. The marines returned the fire and the insurgents ran away.

The marines landed were divided into two columns and searched the houses, woods and bushes. They then followed the insurgents, who fired while the marines were reloading.

Washington, Feb. 22.—A belated dispatch dated February 12 from Capt. J. M. Miller, of the United States cruiser Columbia, which, with the Newark, is in San Domingo waters, brings official confirmation of the press dispatch regarding the bombardment of the insurgents by the war vessels of a position near the capital city, the landing of marines and bluejackets to punish the revolutionists and their subsequent re-embarkation. According to Capt. Miller's dispatch, the affair occurred on a river about two miles from Santo Domingo, presumably at Pajarito, where the bombardment occurred. The insurgents who were stationed on the mainland fired on a United States merchant vessel, the New York, which was lying under the convoy of a launch of the Newark. The shots fell so dangerously near the war vessels that the acts of the insurgents were construed by Capt. Miller as an attack on the vessels, and a battery fire was opened on the revolutionists. This was followed up by the debarkation of 400 marines and bluejackets from the Columbia and Newark, who made a successful landing ashore. They dislodged the insurgents from their positions and chased them into the country. After accomplishing this, the marines and bluejackets took again to their boats and returned to their ships. One man, a bugler named Painter, was seriously wounded by the accidental explosion of his firing piece. There were no other casualties.

Close attention is being given by administration officials to affairs in San Domingo. A number of warships are being kept in the waters of that country so that American interests may be zealously protected in cases of trouble between the regular government and the insurgents. Forcible interference in the affairs of the country have been avoided up to this time so far as news received by the department is concerned.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Late Sunday night, the state department received a cablegram from Minister Powell dated at San Domingo February 16, saying:

"A decisive battle has been fought between the government forces and the insurgents. It extended over two days and resulted in a victory for the government. The siege has been raised and the insurgents are in retreat."

Washington, Feb. 22.—It is authoritatively stated that the question of the annexation of San Domingo to the United States never has received the slightest consideration on the part of the administration, and moreover, the administration is unable to take a position or adopt a policy, other than the protection of American interests in San Domingo because of the absence of satisfactory information as to conditions there.

Mormon Elder Shoots Himself.

Kansas City, Feb. 22.—Lorenzo Crossby, said to be an elder in the Mormon church, while en route from Atlanta, Ga., where he had been stationed until recently, to Holbrook, Ariz., shot and fatally wounded himself in a berth in a Pullman car on the southbound train near Higbee, Mo.

EXCURSION TRAIN WRECKED.

One Person Killed and Five Others Injured Near Wauponsa.

Kankakee, Ill., Feb. 22.—One person was killed and five others were injured in a wreck of a Knights of Columbus special train Sunday on the Kankakee & Seneca railroad, near Wauponsa, due to the spreading of a frog. One passenger coach containing 25 people turned completely over, James Martin, who was killed, being hurled through a window. The special was en route to Morris, where the knights were to participate in an installation.

Killed: James Martin, Kankakee.

Injured: Fred Carter, Mrs. Andrew Firman and John Martin, all of Kankakee, and Charles Wright and wife, of Bradley, Ill. A special train was sent from Kankakee to the wreck and the excursionists were brought back to their homes.

MICHIGAN COAL MINERS.

They Will Not Be Represented In the Indianapolis Conference.

Bay City, Mich., Feb. 22.—President Stephen Corvern, of the Michigan District United Mine Workers of America, has announced that while Michigan will not be represented at the Indianapolis conference Febraury 29, the action taken there will govern this state. If the miners and operators in conference at that time fail to agree every mine in Michigan will be shut down April 1. President Corvern explained that this would be in the nature of a sympathetic strike to prevent Michigan coal from going into markets usually supplied by the "Competitive district," including Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

SCHAFER MURDER MYSTERY.

Bedford People Base Their Hope For a Solution on Another Arrest.

Bedford, Ind., Feb. 22.—People here are basing their hopes for a solution of the Schafer murder mystery upon the probable capture of the suspect from Terre Haute, who was known to have been in Bedford on the night of the murder for the purpose of visiting his sweetheart, whom he declared was a teacher in the city schools. His description tallies exactly with the unknown man mentioned as the murderer during the early state of the investigation. It is known that several private detectives are trying to apprehend him.

PASSED AWAY.

Commander Wm. P. Randall, U. S. N., Retired, Died in New Bedford.

New Bedford, Mass., Feb. 22.—Commander Wm. P. Randall, U. S. N., retired, died at his home in this city Sunday, aged 71 years. Assigned as acting master on the frigate Cumberland during the civil war, he participated in the battle with the Merrimac and was credited with having fired the last shot from the frigate before she was sent to the bottom. After the war he entered the navy as ensign and served in various capacities until 1882, when he was retired. During the Spanish war he served as executive officer of the receiving ship Wabash.

A SKATING ACCIDENT.

Cornell Senior Lost His Life in Trying to Save a Friend.

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 22.—In an attempt to save the life of Ames G. Allen, of Chicago, with whom he was skating on Cayuga Lake, Louis T. Dickinson, of New York city, a senior at Cornell university, lost his life Sunday. The two young men had skated as far as Atwater, 18 miles north of Ithaca, when Allen broke through the ice. While attempting to pull him out Dickinson fell in and sank after struggling for some minutes to regain the ice. Allen was dragged ashore after having been in the water for more than half an hour.

United States Carries Off the Honors.

New York, Feb. 22.—The official report of the French government relating to the "Paris exposition of 1900" shows that this country carried off the honors at that exposition. The awards accorded to exhibitors of the United States were 2,379; Germany, 1,983; Great Britain, 1,865; Russia, 1,754; Hungary, 1,351; Japan, 1,307; Austria, 875, and a number of smaller nations of lesser importance. This country's sward comprised 221 grand prizes, 563 gold medals, 725 silver, 529 bronze and 341 honorable mentions.

A Much Needed Rest.

Baltimore, Feb. 22.—For the first time since the great fire there was no dynamiting in the burned district Sunday, Mayor McLane having decided that it should be a day of much needed rest for the workers.

STATE ODDS AND ENDS

HONORED HANNA.

Kentucky Senate Adjourned Out of Respect to His Memory.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 17.—The lower house of the assembly Tuesday adopted a resolution by Mr. Black, of Knox, providing adjournment Tuesday as a mark of respect to the late Senator Marcus A. Hanna, and for the appointment of a committee to draft resolutions. The committee report will be received on Friday.

The state senate Tuesday by a vote of 25 to 5 passed a bill placing national banks upon the same footing for purposes of taxation as are state banks, taking assessment of them from the local assessors and placing it in the state board of valuation and assessment.

Frankfort, Feb. 18.—Senate—As an evidence that sweet flowers do sometimes grow over the garden wall of partisan politics the Kentucky senate, which is overwhelmingly democratic, adopted resolutions Wednesday eulogistic of the life and services of Marcus Hanna, and there was not a dissenting vote. When the senate adjourn it did so out of respect to the memory of the late senator from Ohio.

House—The house passed the senate bill extending the state librarian's term of office to four years, like all other state offices, and made the salary $1,200 per year. The house also passed the Bourne bill changing the manner of selecting the county boards of health and health officer. The Alverson bill to repeal the barbers' law, which has been in operation only two years, was before the committee on municipalities, and after much discussion the committee authorized Dr. Averdick to draft a bill to repeal the present barber inspector law and enact a statute covering the same ground, but in a different way, and so drawn that it can be better enforced than the present law. Dr. Averdick expects to report the bill to the house Friday. The house passed the bill which appropriates $75,000 for an addition to the Western asylum at Hopkinsville, in order to relieve the crowded condition of the other asylums.

Frankfort, Feb. 19.—Senate—The senate and house each passed an important bill Thursday. It is a measure to enable an expired public utility franchise to be sold again in such manner as to give the owners of the first 25-year franchise a chance to buy it, passed the senate after a lively debate of two hours. The bill only applies to cities of the first class. Senator Carroll offered a bill to cure a defect in the World's fair appropriation bill so that the commissioners may have some of the money available to pay for work before the work is entirely completed. Senator Carroll's resolution providing for afternoon sessions of the senate beginning next Wednesday to consider bills in the order of the day was adopted. The bill to create the new county of Thorne was referred to the committee on rules. The bill assigning Beckham county to the various districts which it belongs passed.

House—The house passed what is known as the Berea college bill, which prohibits the education of whites and blacks in the same school. The vote was practically unanimous, which indicates that the bill will doubtless pass the senate, and that means the extinction of Berea college, which is the only school where the two races are educated together. The bill to prohibit office holders from serving as committeemen for any political party was discussed by the house, and a test vote indicated it will pass, though final action was cut off Thursday by adjournment.

Frankfort, Feb. 20.—Both branches of the legislature adjourned Friday till Tuesday out of respect to the memory of Representative Harry P. McDonald, who died Thursday night in Louisville, though the senate remained in session two hours and passed several important bills. The senate passed a bill authorizing the state to appeal in misdemeanor cases in order to have the law governing the case certified by the court of appeals. It also passed a bill increasing by $3,000 the annual allowance for the carrying out of the pure food law. A test vote on the anti-Berea college bill was had on the resolution of Senator Burnam providing for a committee of senators to visit the college and investigate its work. The resolution was overwhelmingly defeated. Bills passed: To require co-partnerships and joint stock companies to designate an agent in this state upon whom process may be served; to authorize any county to issue bonds to build turnpike and gravel roads when such bond issue is indorsed by a vote of the people; to increase the annual appropriation to save food products inspected and analyzed from $7,500 to $10,000; to repeal Section 1701 Kentucky statutes, relating to exemption of wages of a laborer from attachment.

Practical Joke May Prove Fatal.

Petersburg, Ky., Feb. 18.—Earl Walton, a wealthy breeder of race horses, was made the victim of a joke that may prove fatal. He weighs nearly 200 pounds. Just before he entered Gordon's store some young men put large carpet tacks on a chair seat. Walton sat down upon one of the tacks, which penetrated his flesh. Blood poisoning developed and his condition is said to be serious.

Willis Granted a New Trial.

Cadiz, Ky., Feb. 19.—Lawrence Willis, under a verdict of life sentence, accused of the assassination of his uncle, W. B. Johnston, last March, was granted a new trial by Judge Cook here. He will likely be tried again at the May term of court.

Bank For Centertown.

Hartford, Ky., Feb. 19.—The new Bank of Centertown, this county, will open for business Saturday. The officers are, W. A. Rone, president; Alvin Rowe, vice president; H. H. Lewis, cashier. Capital stock, $15,000.

CHARGED WITH RIFLING MAILS.

W. R. Henson, Letter Carrier of Louisville, Placed Under Arrest.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 20.—The acrobatic abilities of Post Office Inspector S. A. Susong were employed Friday in the arrest of W. R. Henson, a letter carrier, charged with rifling the mails. Susong concealed himself in the garret of the substation where Henson was sorting his mail and through holes bored in the ceiling watched the carrier abstract money from a decoy letter. In order to catch Henson with the letter still on his person Susong slid 40 feet down a rope, alighting on Henson's shoulders. Henson confessed that he opened letters containing money in order that he might pay off a mortgage on his mother's home.

OLD RESIDENT COLONY.

A Number of Persons Over 80 Live Within a Radius of 10 Miles.

Middlesboro, Ky., Feb. 20.—The following persons over 80 years of age live within a radius of 10 miles of Pound Gap: John C. Branham, 90; Mrs. John C. Branham, 83; Mrs. Mahala Bundy, 82; Mrs. Margaret Elam, 81; Mrs. Susan Haynes, 90; Marshall Mullens, 83; William Kelley, 81; Wm. Vanover, 80; Henry Vanover, 83; Audley Maxwell, 80. Mr. Maxwell served under Gen. Joe Wheeler.

Another New County Scheme.

Hartford, Ky., Feb. 19.—The people of Fordsville, this county, are making an effort to form a new county, with their town as the county seat. They want to get enough territory from the adjoining counties of Hancock, Daviess, Grayson, Breckinridge and Ohio to do this.

Fireman Hurt in a Collision.

Newport, Ky., Feb. 20.—While the big ladder truck of the Newport fire department was in full career on the way to a fire Friday night it struck a Fort Thomas trolley car and was wrecked. Three firemen were hurt. One will die.

Child Burned to Death.

Representative Clark Is Better.

Paducah, Ky., Feb. 20.—Capt. W. C. Clark, the oldest member of the legislature, was brought home Friday morning, and is now thought to be out of danger. He is suffering from erysipelas, and Thursday was thought to be dying at Frankfort.

Dying of Tuberculosis.

Harrodsburg, Ky., Feb. 20.—A telegram was received here from Wickinburg, Ariz., stating that William Magoffin was in a dying condition of tuberculosis. Mr. Magoffin was foreman of a chair factory at the state penitentiary for six years.

Committee's Dates.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 20.—The call for the meeting of the republican state central committee will be issued between March 8 and 10, and the meeting of the committee to name the time and place of the state convention will take place ten days later.

Representative Clark Fatally Ill.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 19.—Representative W. C. Clark, of Paducah, the oldest member of the house, started home on the train in a dying condition from pneumonia. He was accompanied by his son, and every precaution was taken to make him comfortable.

Judge Coyle's Residence Burns.

McKee, Ky., Feb. 20.—County Judge T. J. Coyle's residence was destroyed by fire, with all the contents except his library and piano. The house caught fire from a defective flue. The loss is about $3,500, with no insurance.

BOONE CO., RECORDER

Wednesday, - - Feb., 24 1904.

W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

FOR CONGRESS,

HON. CLIFFORD E. NADAUD, of Kenton county, is a candidate for Congress from the Sixth Kentucky District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

HON. D. LINN GOOCH, of Covington, is a candidate for Congress in this the Sixth Congressional District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

HON. E. C. SMITH, of Carrollton, is a candidate for Congress from the 6th Congressional District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

HON. JOSEPH L. RHINOCK, of Kenton county, is a candidate for Congress, from the 6th Congressional District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

THE last advices are to the effect that the Japs have been whipping the Russians some more.

THE only thing the Republicans will have to do now is to select a man for second place on their national ticket.

A MAN with but a single idea is not the man for President of the United States. Too many interests are involved.

THE Senate put the Hargis-Redwine Judicial District Bill to sleep in short order. It listened to the low, sweet voice of the people.

IT is high time for the Democrats to quit discussing Cleveland and Bryan in connection with the next Democratic nomination for the Presidency.

IN Grant county forty-four men and one lady are candidates for Democratic nominations for office. Grant's biggest 1904 crop will be that of candidates.

A report from Lexington to the daily papers is to the effect that Hon. Chas. J. Bronston wants to be the next United States Senator from Kentucky.

KENTUCKY is now in good standing with the management of the St. Louis fair. That $75,000 appropriation made by the Legislature gave her a front seat.

ALL this talk about reorganizing the Democratic party is the worse kind of tommy-rot. Nominate the right man and the organization will be found in tact.

It is said that the total cost of the St. Louis show will exceed $50,000,000 and the management expects that the gate receipts for the six months will realize that amount.

SOME one suggested Senator J. C. S. Blackburn as a proper person for the Democratic nominee for President. Suggestions, like a motion to adjourn, are always in order.

SOME of the rural mail carriers are protesting against a proposed increase of pay if they are deprived of the privilege of handling papers and other articles for which they are now receiving pay.

GOV. BECKHAM denies having formed a combination with Bryan, or expecting to head a Bryan delegation to the St. Louis convention. He says the silver issue is an issue of the past, or words to that effect.

THE public school term has been extended to six months, but this does not signify that the classes of people for whom the public schools are intended, principally, will attend them any better in the future than they have in the past.

Although the consumption of cotton in this country is greater than that of any other country in the world, yet, in addition to supplying the home market, the South exported last year over 3½ billion pounds of cotton, worth 317 million dollars.

THE flooding of the Kansas River last May resulted in some very curious changes in the river bed. At one of the curves in the river cut-offs were formed, which caused the water to flow for a distance of two miles through the old bed, but in an opposite direction to the old current.

ELSEWHERE in this issue will be found the call of Hon. John M. Lassing, Chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee in this district, for a meeting of that committee at Sparta, Gallatin county, on the 27th inst., for the purpose of deciding upon the time and manner of nominating a Democratic candidate for Congress.

IT is said that little political item that appeared in the Petersburg news not long since has stirred up the bees in quite a number of hats heretofore not understood to harbor anything of the kind, and that in due time their buzzing will begin in earnest.

RUSSIA thinks Japan acted very badly in not waiting until she got ready for the war. The fact of the matter is Japan has been getting the best of the preliminary fighting, and Russia has to give some excuse for her poor showing even if it does make her ridiculous.

THE advocates of a primary election for the nomination of a Democratic candidate for Congress in this district are beginning to get in their work. They claim that the last two nominations were made that way, and that there is no valid reason why the nominee should not be chosen in the same way again.

RUSSIA has notified the Commissioners of the St. Louis fair, that she will not attempt to make an exhibit there. The trouble with Russia is the Japs are keeping her too busy pumping out and raising sunken men-of-war to permit of time in which to prepare an exhibit for the fair. She might send over the remains of one of her men-of-war as a reminder to visitors at the fair of what her principal business is.

TWO Newport men claim that they have discovered a process by which they can manufacture gold. Several years have been spent in the effort to produce a formula by which gold in a paying quantity can be produced from other metals. If they succeed in discovering how to make gold out of old wagon tires, stoves, and the like their fortune is as good as made, and in a few years they will be in a position to run a gift library enterprise as extensively as that in which Carnegie is interested.

THAT Mr. Bryan is no ordinary man is evidenced by the ferocious manner in which his enemies attack his public utterances. Had the press that is opposed to him not persisted in keeping him before the public by combatting every view he has expressed on public matters since his last defeat for the Presidency, he would long since have gone away back and set down like many other great men who have traveled the road he is on, but his political antagonists would not permit him.

In anticipation of the ratification of the canal treaty with Panama, Secretary Shaw is preparing for the payment of the large sum of money thus made necessary, by withdrawing from the national banks designated as depositories for public moneys, an aggregate of $30,000,000, and probably $40,000,000. The 800 national bank depositories in the country hold $100,000,000 of the people's money in their vaults, secured, of course, by bonds held by the Treasury. Several weeks ago Secretary Shaw notified these banks that they should get ready to return 20 per cent of their fund, to the Treasury.

THE death of Senator Hanna gives President Roosevelt the Republican nomination for the Presidency beyond a peradventure, and that a very strong per cent of the McKinley and Hanna element of the Republican party is apprehensive of defeat with him as their standard bearer there is no longer any doubt. That element recognizes his numerous departures from many of the well known polices of President McKinley even after he voluntarily pledged himself, immediately upon McKinley's death, to carry them out, and it does not know where to place him—in short it does not consider him a safe man to be at the head of affairs in this great country. There is nothing conservative in his make-up, a characteristic of McKinley that won for him the confidence of the country, an attribute necessary to a successful administration of the Presidency. Of course a refusal to nominate Mr. Roosevelt will be a repudiation of his administration by his party which fact alone has made him a strong factor at all times. Rather than do that many of the leaders of his party who think their organization is invincible prefer taking their chances with him at the poles, notwithstanding the warning sounded by cooler heads. If the Democrats can defeat anybody it is Teddy, but they cannot do it with either Cleveland or Bryan. They are both back numbers and some conservative man in whom the country has confidence must be selected.

JAMES A. KIRTLEY, D. D.

Rev. James A. Kirtley was born in Boone County, Kentucky, near the town of Petersburg on the 26th day of April, 1822.

He was educated in the common schools of the neighborhood and at Georgetown College.

He united with Bullittsburg Baptist church at the age of 17, and was baptized on the first Sunday in November, 1839.

He was licensed to preach in April, 1842, and was ordained April 2d, 1844.

He was associated for a time with his father in the pastoral care of Bullittsburg church.

On the 6th day of August, 1844 he was married to Miss Margarite Jane Scott, who departed this life on February 19th, 1873. From this union resulted the birth of six children: Eusebius, (deceased) Robert (deceased), Mary Harriet, Mrs. W. O. Kirtley, George P. and Mrs. W. L. Cropper.

On April 28th, 1874, he was united in marriage to Mrs. H. L. Huey, who, with her son, Rev. J. A. Kirtley, jr., survive him.

His services as pastor was acceptable at Louisville, Aurora, and elsewhere, but his home churches, Bullittsburg, Big Bone and Burlington, clung to him until within a few years of his death. He, his father or his brother Robert E., occupied the pulpit at Bullittsburg for more than a century.

He was a good neighbor, was kind, generous, brilliant and brave. He contended earnestly for truth as he saw it, and all who heard and saw him recognized in him a great and a good man. In person he is gone, but his good influence remains.

N. S. W.

THE Republican members of the Ohio Legislature are to have very little to do with the selection of Senator Hanna's successor. The machine has chosen Congressman Dick, and all the Legislature is expected to do is to confirm its choice by voting for him. It is a case of machine politics pure and simple.

KANSAS farmers rejoice because Congress has appropriated $8,000 to reimburse them for chickens and eggs taken by soldiers in maneuvers.

In a test of 135 varieties of corn grown for fodder or silage at the Ontario experiment farm, New Delaware Dent and Pedrick Perfected Golden Beauty gave the greatest total yields, being twenty-four and 23.8 tons per acre, respectively. The greatest yields of husked ears were produced by Golden Leneway Dent, Snow White Dent and Black Mexican sweet corn, the yields being 4.3, 4.3 and 4.2 tons per acre, respectively. Salzar North Dakota Compton Early and King Phillip, Flint varieties; and North Star Yellow Dent, a Dent variety, are recommended for central and southern Ontario. An average of four years tests from planting at different depths gave the following total yields: Two inches 13.2 tons; 1½ and three inches each, 11.8 tons; no inch, 11.7 tons; one-half inch, 10.6 tons, and four inches, 9.8 tons.—American Cultivator.

There is a great deal of talk from time to time about reducing the acreage of wheat. Official statistics show that in 1902 and 1903 the number of acres planted in Kentucky differed only 12,000 acres, or one percent. The entire acreage of the United States varied only nine per cent. Two-thirds of this variation was in Kansas. In that State the acreage planted increased thirty per cent.

Were the corn of seven corn States loaded on wagons, forty bushels to the load, and placed so the heads of the horses would come just to the rear end board of the preceding wagon, and it were possible for this line of march to cover the land and sea, an average year's crop from these seven corn growing States would make a complete belt of corn wagons six times around the world. Place the crop of 1902 in cars holding 500 bushels each, and allow forty feet for car and coupling, and we would have a continuous freight train 38,378 miles long. After considering these figures, one readily believes that, in the list of cereals, corn stands first in point of acreage, yield and value.—Four Track News.

It is necessary to keep constantly accessible to all hogs, both pigs and hogs, some material that supplies lime, salt, etc., to aid in bone-building, as an appetizer to remove intestinal parasites, etc. This mixture should be kept in a strong box, protected from rain, and the quantity and frequency with which pigs will visit and eat of the mixture is surprising. The following is a mixture recommended: Charcoal 1½ bushels; common salt, 4 pounds; hard-wood ashes, ten pounds; slacked lime, 4 pounds. Fresh water, shade in summer, and grain food when on grass, and dry bed free from dust, shelter in winter, and above all when confined, have the area sufficiently large so that it will not become foul with droppings and mudbogs. These are essential for successful hog-raising.

Speaking of the scarcity of girls who know how to keep house, perhaps it is due to the fact that there is a lack of young men capable of providing the house.

Some farms carry a lot of worthless dogs. Why not get rid of them and keep a few sheep?

Local News.

The Sixth District Democratic Congressional Committee is called to meet at Sparta, Gallatin county, Kentucky, at 1 o'clock p. m., Saturday, February, 27th, 1904, for the purpose of fixing the time and manner of nominating a candidate for Congress to be voted for at the regular November election 1904.

JOHN M. LASSING,
Chrm'n. 6th Cong. District Ky.

The sick are all on the improve.

Coal in some bins is quite scarce.

Sunday's rain passed off without wetting the ground.

Plenty of snow to sweep again last Friday morning.

You can get an alarm clock guaranteed to run for one year for $1 at Clark's.

The sowing of tobacco plant beds will begin as soon as the ground will admit.

The Hebron Telephone Co. has been hauling poles from Waterloo neighborhood.

Monday was a very bright day, the morning of which was slick to a dangerous degree.

Tobacco began coming in pretty lively last Friday. Several loads were brought on sleds.

For Sale.—Two sows and 17 pigs, cow and calf for sale. Apply to J. F. Blyth, Burlington.

The condition of Mr. Smith Crisler does not improve. His extreme age makes against him.

There are only 11 beneficiaries at the County Infirmary, the smallest number in quite a while.

I keep constantly on hand coal, hay, corn, and all kinds of food for stock. T. L. Utz, Florence, Ky.

From a little more sleet to a little more snow is the way the weather changes have gone this winter.

People moved about with great care, Monday morning, it being about as slick under foot as ice could make it.

Several new cases of measles have made their appearance in town ehe last week, but there are sevtral subjects here yet.

A telephone line it is said will be built from Waterloo to Burlington as soon as the weather will permit the work to be done.

February is the shortest month in the year, but none of the long months can get in more Sunday's than February has this month.

If one snow is worth two plowings for the farmer, what's the use of the honest agriculturists bothering about anything any time the next eleven months.

The ladies of the Union Presbyterian church are now selling and delivering the second edition of their cook book, "Helps for Twentieth Century Housewives.

WANTED.—Man with family to keep toll-gate near Hebron—wants man to work on farm and turnpike and his wife to keep gate, etc. Must apply to Harrison Clore at Hebron, immediately.

Robert N. Utz, of Valley Falls, Kansas, in renewing his subscription writes: "We like to hear from our old home place." He has been gone from Kentucky for nearly 40 years, yet it feels like home to him.

The line-up of Democratic candidates in this district is being discussed around the store fires and at all the blacksmith shops in the district. And divers and numerous opinions as to the result are being expressed.

James E. Smith, Assessor for the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company of this county visited Verona neighborhood, last Saturday to assess the damages occasioned by the burning of the Dwyre house a few days before.

John D. Rockefeller came very near putting the RECORDER's job department out of business last week by not sending his gasoline supply wagon over its weekly route. If John desires to retain the RECORDER's patronage he must keep a supply of his product available.

Fishing poles are displayed on the sidewalks in front of business houses.—Georgetown Times.

The appearance of fishing poles use to be considered a sure sign of the approach of spring in this part of the country, but we do not know what they indicate in the blue-grass zone.

Tony Bentler went down to Gallatin county and auctioneered his brother Joe's sale, and the Warsaw Independent says he is the best auctioneer that has been down there in a long time.

William Kirkpatrick, of Limaburg neighborhood, sowed several tobacco plant beds last week. He prepared them last fall while the ground was in condition. Mr. Kirkpatrick is a hustling young farmer and keeps all his work up to time.

The family of Dr. J. A. Kirtley, deceased, desire through the RECORDER to express their sincere thanks to the neighbors and friends who have so kindly assisted them in sickness and bereavement.

THE FAMILY.

Allphin & Hume will make business lively at their livery and sale stable in Walton, having a public sale of horses and mules there at regular intervals. The first sale will be held on Saturday, March 12, and those who have horses for sale should take advantage of that opportunity.

W. E. Vest sold to Mrs. Enoch West, of Walton, one day last week, James Cleck's house and 20 acres of land just outside of that town's limits. Price, $5,000. It is one of the nicest and best arranged homes in that part of the county. Mr. Cleek has not decided where he will locate.

Mysterious Circumstance.

One was pale and sallow and the other fresh and rosy. Whence the difference? She who is blushing with health uses Dr. King's New Life Pills to maintain it. By gently arousing the lazy organs they compel good digestion and head off constipation. Try them. Only 25c, at all Druggists.

Mr. John Stephens, of Bullittsville neighborhood, slipped and fell on the ice, last Friday, and broke his right hip bone. He was alone out on his farm some distance from his house, and it was half an hour or more before there was any response to his calls for help. Owing to his age it is feared that he will have a serious time.

The RECORDER is in receipt from R. C. Rice, of Ottawa, Kansas, a catalogue of a big [illegible] hog sale and a Shorthorn cattle sale. The livestock men have a large pavilion there, nicely and comfortably arranged for the sales. About the next thing we hear of Mr. Rice he will be operating a nice farm stocked with some of the above named fine hogs and cattle. So be it.

R. O. Beemon, and his son-in-law, Lonnie Acra, were in town a few days since, and in speaking of the high price of eggs Mr. Acra remarked that his hens had been kept in a dry warm place all winter and had been laying nicely all the time, and that each week he had taken a large lot of eggs to market. It pays to keep your fowls comfortable.

The ground hog is a grand prevaricator and the truth is not in him.—Georgetown Times.

You would have a hard time trying to make people in this part of the country believe that charge. The great trouble here is the ground hog's winter has been of a much more substantial quality than it was thought possible for him to furnish, considering the severe weather that had preceded it.

William Stephens, of Walton, passed through Burlington, last Saturday, driving the undertakers wagon of Edward Bros., of Walton, conveying to Petersburg the body of Dr. Paris Parker, who died of yellow fever on Ship Island, several months ago. The remains of his brother, John, who died in California a few weeks since, were taken from the vault and both buried in the same grave, Saturday afternoon, in Petersburg cemetery.

The weather bureau at Cincinnati reported last Thursday morning the coldest of the season at that point, the mercury registering zero for the first time this winter. If the weather boss at Cincinnati will send to Burlington or vicinity and get a thermometer that is up-to-date and discard the old instrument with which he began business a quarter of a century ago, he will discover that the mercury in this thermometer has lost its get-there property, and is liable to let the inhabitants of the Queen City perish of cold before it gives the alarm.

Nathaniel Carpenter Dead.

Nathaniel Carpenter, one of our old and dearly beloved citizens, died very suddenly at his home near Sparta about noon Monday, from apoplexy. He was in his ordinary health that morning and shortly after dinner was seized with apoplexy and died before any medical relief could reach him. 'Squire Carpenter was a native of Boone County, Ky., and was one of the best citizens in the State. He was an honorable trustworthy man in every respect and there never was the slighest imputation against his character. He served Sparta district as magistrate for many years and was a true and faithful official. He was married three times and by his first wife four children survive him, viz: Herman and Carey Carpenter, of near Sparta, Mrs. Boone Rogers, of Boone County, and Mrs. Allen Breck, of Sparta. His last wife also survives him. Mr. Carpenter was a faithful member of the Christian church at Sparta. The funeral took place Wednesday from his late home, Rev. Wm. Clark, pastor of the Christian church, of Owenton, preaching an appropriate discourse over the remains in the presence of a large circle of sorrowing friends and relatives, after which the cortege formed and proceeded to Warsaw, the members of the Masonic order, of which he was a valued member, escorting the remains to the Odd Fellows cemetery where the Masonic burial service was performed and the body tenderly laid to rest. His son Herman was lying at the point of death and was unable to attend the funeral.—Warsaw Independent.

Nathaniel Carpenter was held in the highest esteem among the people of Boone county where he was born and raised, and the news of his death created a sadness in the hearts of all his acquaintances.

Cyrus Riddell Passes Away.

Ex-County Judge Cyrus Riddell died at his home in Burlington at 11 o'clock yesterday, after being confined to his room for seventeen months. He was born near Burlington, November the 1819, and was a son of James and Sallie Page (Craig) Riddell. His parents died when he was yet young. Upon reaching manhood he at once became prominent in the political affairs of the county, and was always an uncompromising Democrat. After engaging in business in Peterburg, for many years, he sold out there in 1848. In '50 he was appointed postmaster in Burlington, in connection with the office he conducted a store until 1859, when he returned to his farm. He served many years as justice of the peace in the old Taylorsport precinct. In 1878 he was elected county judge, in which office he served one term of four years. He was married three times: The first time in 1843 to Miss Elvira Brown, who died in 1844, leaving one child, Jas. A. Riddell. In 1847 he married Christina Love, who died in 1855. To them were born two children, Elizabeth and Sallie. His third marriage was to Miss Laura Foster in 1857. She survives him, and was his loving and faithful nurse during his long illness. To them were born two children, a son who died in infancy, and a daughter, Kittie, who was drowned in 1891. The burial will take place tomorrow at 1:30 p. m.

Mrs. J. J. Lillard Dead.

This community was shocked yesterday morning by a telephone message from T. J. Walton, of the Commissary, announcing the death of Mrs. J. J. Lillard of pneumonia about 4 o'clock. Very few here knew of her illness. She was a daughter of the late S. P. Brady and a sister of ex-Assessor R. A. Brady. She was most excellent lady and consistent member of Bellevue Baptist church, of which she had belonged since she was quite young. She was born September 14, 1837, and was married March 1, 1855, to Mr. J. J. Lillard, who survives her. To them no children were born. The funeral will be conducted by Rev. B. F. Swindler at the residence tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

Not much head way has been made by the farmers in preparing for their approaching crops.

Charlie Youell, of Limaburg, neighborhood, was in Monday, and planted an advertisement for a big sale on March 10. Among other things to be sold are a large number of very extra milch cows, and those wanting good cows should be sure to attend Mr. Youell's sale.

Oklahoma claims to have the largest farm in the Southwest. It is the 101 ranch in the Ponca reservation, and is so big that it is necessary to plant several varieties of wheat in it—one of which ripens several days later than the other—in order that all of them may be harvested at their prime. On this farm the wheat fields are of one thousand acres each, the cattle pastures are of one thousand to 1,500 acres each, and pasture six thousand head annually, the corn rows are one and a half miles long, requiring five hundred mules and three hundred men to handle the crop, and it takes thirty self-binders three weeks to cut the wheat crop and a dozen or more steam threshers forty days to thresh it. There are fifty thousand acres in the ranch.

The Heart and Its Door

What It Means to Open the Door and Let Jesus Come In.

Sermon by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher.

(Copyright, 1904, by J. M. Edson.)

Chicago, Sunday, Feb. 21, 1904.

Text:—"Behold, I stand at the door and knock; if any man hear My voice and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with Me."—Rev. 3:20.

JESUS a stranger without, or Jesus a guest within—this is the two-fold picture our text gives us. Jesus standing patiently, longingly, lovingly at the heart's door and knocking, knocking, knocking; or Jesus sitting an honored guest within the heart, partaking of the hospitality there offered, and then becoming in turn the gracious host and setting before the soul a delectable feast of good things fresh from His Father's storehouse above. Jesus standing without the shadow of a possible soul tragedy, for irresistibly the question springs forth for answer: Will the door he opened ere the waiting one departs? or will it remain closed and shut and barred forever? Jesus within sharing in the feast brings the vision of that larger, more glorious feast around which the great company of the redeemed are to gather some day in the Father's House. "Behold!" saith the Lord, and well may man contemplate all that these two pictures mean. Doors shut against the Son of God and the Saviour of men, and doors opened to give Him entrance. Before the shut door Jesus stands patiently, knocks persistently and pleads lovingly. Through the opened door Jesus enters quickly and blesses richly. Shut doors and opened doors. The shut doors hold imprisoned within the sin-darkened chambers of the heart the precious immortal soul, the opened doors admit the Light of the world, and the thrill of new life and hope is felt with the Divine presence.

OUR text is part of the appeal to the back-slidden church of Laodicea, which has become worldly and rich in perishable gold, but which is "poor and blind and naked" in the eyes of God. It was lukewarm in its love and devotion to its Lord, and because it was "neither cold nor hot," the Lord declares: "I will spew thee out of my mouth." But following this declaration of rejection, Jesus goes on to plead with the individual members of the church to repent, for "Behold, I stand at the door and knock; if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him and will sup with him, and he with Me." Jesus is dealing with the individual. Primarily our text is addressed to the back-slidden Christian. Jesus has been crowded out of the heart and the life by the "cares of this world and the deceitfulness of riches," but He longs to come back again, and so he stands at the door and knocks for admission. But it is equally true that He seeks out the unsaved sinner and as persistently and lovingly knocks at the door of his heart. To the one who has never accepted Christ as Saviour, He comes and pleads: "Behold, I stand at the door and knock; if any man hear My voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him and he with Me." And it is to such we want to bring a message. We shall have a word to say to the Christian who is keeping His Lord without the chamber of his heart where some pleasure, some ambition, some sin is being harbored, and indulged, but first of all we desire to present God's claim to the unsaved, to try to bring them to see who is standing without their heart knocking for admittance, to endeavor to show them what the shut door means and what the open door.

FIRST of all what is the door which when shut proves an impassable barrier to Jesus? What is it that keeps Jesus on the outside? What is it that prevents His bringing the hope of salvation, and the joy of His presence into the heart and life? It is that tremendous something which we call the "will." It has pleased God to endow man with such a faculty as the will. And this will of man has the power to lift him up to Heaven or cast him down to hell. If the will shuts out the Christ and declares that it does not need Him and can get along without Him, the soul is rejecting God's claims and losing its only hope of salvation and eternal life. If the will is yielded to the Christ, and He is permitted to enter the heart and rule in the life, then does the soul begin to know what Jesus meant when He said: "He that believeth on the Son HATH eternal life." The will is the door. Jesus knocks, not that the will may be destroyed, but that it may swing open, may yield to Him and give Him entrance. So many, many dear souls are hindered by the thought that to yield the will to Christ means to lose the will entirely. But never was there greater mistake made, never did a soul misunderstand God more, than when it believed that a man loses his will and his personality when he surrenders to God. When I knock on the door to my home, it is not with the intention of destroying that door. I do not want it to open to me that I may wrench it from its hinges and throw it aside as useless and undesirable. That door has a very useful function to perform. It is absolutely necessary to the completeness of the house. Without it the house would be unsafe and uninhabitable. And it is so with the will, the door to the human heart. God realizes more perfectly than do you that that will is necessary, that it has a function to perform which cannot be dispensed with. Without the will the heart is unsafe. Jesus knocks not to condemn, but that He may come in and dignify and strengthen that door, that He may increase its usefulness. The will with God behind it is a mighty factor for good in the world. The will with God shut out is dangerous and destructive.

JESUS has a right to knock for admittance. First of all because as the created work of God we belong to Him. I have a right to knock upon the door of my home because it belongs to me. It is my home, and, therefore, I have indisputable right to knock, and when I knock I expect to be admitted. Jesus has a right to knock at the door of your heart, because you belong to Him by right of creation, and when He knocks He has a right to expect to be admitted. And in the second place Jesus has a right to knock for admittance because of the need within that heart. The heart may not be really conscious of that need, but the need is there, nevertheless. There is a degree of hunger which becomes indifferent to food and fails longer to feel the gnawing pangs. And the heart is often unconscious of and indifferent to its need, but the need is there. And Jesus has a right to knock because of that need. But the fact of the need within is not all the warrant that is needed for knocking for admittance. If curiosity brings me to the door, if I knock because I wish with prying eyes to witness the suffering, then may my right to knock be questioned. But if I come bringing supplies which shall satisfy the needs then is my claim of right to knock fully established. And when Jesus comes to the heart and knocks, it is not only because of the need within, but because He is fully able to supply that need. Jesus does come to the human heart and knock for admission. He is knocking at your heart even now while these words are being spoken, and He has a right to knock because you are God's creation, because your soul has an undying need, and because He is abundantly able to supply that need.

THE door of the heart, then, is the will, and Jesus has a three-fold right to knock for admittance. This right you cannot deny. Why then does the door remain shut and barred against Him? Perhaps you do not hear the knock? Perhaps you do not know who stands at the door? Perhaps you are not willing to take down the bars that keep the door from swinging open? Jesus says: "Behold, I stand at the door and knock; if any man hear My voice, and open the door, I will come in to him." Do you not hear that knock, dear heart? Two things may keep me from hearing the knock upon my door. I may be away from home, or other noises, and other things may so occupy my attention that I am not sensible of the knocking on the door. When Jesus knocks, do you fail to hear because you are away from home? There was a time when you used to hear His gentle knock, and His tender voice of pleading, but now you do not hear it any longer. You have hardened your heart and your conscience has long since ceased to be sensitive, because you have so often refused its message. Your heart's door does not feel the touch of Jesus as He continues to knock, the telegraph line of your conscience no longer carries uninterrupted the message to your mind. In a certain and awful sense you are not at home. You remember how you used to be at home when Jesus knocked. You refused to hear and respond, not once, but many, many times, yea, even scores of times, and gradually the tender heart has become the hard heart and the sensitive conscience has become the seared conscience. You are no longer at home. You do not hear the knock or the voice. But Jesus is standing there still, He is still waiting to come in.

PERHAPS you do not hear the knocking of Jesus, and fail to recognize His voice because the noise and bustle of this life deadens your ear to the Heavenly message? I remember once going to the house of a friend and knocking for admittance. The noise of merry-making reached my ear, but my knock was not heard. The children were having a party and were romping and laughing and talking so that, rap as loudly as I could, I was unable to make my presence known. And there I stood knocking, and within were the friends I wished to see entirely unconscious that I was at the door. They did not hear my knock because of the noise within. And I should have been standing there yet, perhaps, or at least I would have stood there until the party was over, if some one had not opened the door to admit some fresh air and discovered I was there. And does this not illustrate strikingly one reason why the knock of Jesus is not heard? The noise of the worldly pleasures and activities, the rush to gratify the personal desires and ambitions, drown all other sounds. Jesus' knock and Jesus' voice are not heard. But Jesus is there. He is waiting to come in. Sometimes some sorrow, some misfortune, some catastrophe brings a hush, and then the knock is heard. The recent awful theater tragedy in Chicago brought a solemn, death-like hush over the city. The most careless and frivolous and indifferent were made to pause and think of the more serious side of life; they were made to realize that it was not all of life to live or death to die. And as people were checked in the rapid rush of modern life and the headlong race after pleasure, the knock of Jesus was heard. He wanted to come and change the current of life so that it would flow Godward, and many, thank God, when they heard the knock opened the door and let Jesus come in. But others would not, and Jesus stands without, still knocking, knocking, knocking. Why is the door not opened? It may be because you do not realize Who is there, or because you have not withdrawn the bars which are holding the door shut.

DO you realize that Jesus, the King, stands at your heart's door knocking? The story is told of Peter the Great, of Russia, who was fond of dressing in peasant garb and going among his people, that one day he knocked at the door of a house and was refused admittance and turned away. What was the distress and alarm of the people in that house when they realized that they had turned away the king. If they had only realized that it was their king, they would have received him with open arms. And oh, soul! if you would only realize it, the Saviour Who is knocking at your heart is the King of kings and the Lord of lords. Those two men who walked from Jerusalem to Emmaus did not realize that the stranger who met them was Jesus, but when they invited Him in to abide with them their eyes were opened and they knew Him. And it will be so with you. You do not realize that it is Jesus knocking at your heart. You know there is an unsatisfied longing, the sense of a lack which this world cannot supply. You have a consciousness within your inmost heart of a need which only God can fill. It is Jesus knocking. You do not realize Who it is that is there. You do not understand what it means. But just open the door and invite the stranger in, and you will soon learn as He sups with you and you with Him that it is your Saviour and your King Who has been seeking admission.

BUT the bars may be up and you do not want to take them down to let the door open for Jesus. There is the bar of pride. Ah! how pride sometimes keeps the heart door shut and at last closes the very gate of Heaven against the soul. Pride keeps the knee from bending; pride keeps the head erect; pride keeps the lips shut tight. The proud heart cannot come into God's presence, or, as James puts it, "God resisteth the proud." If it is pride that is keeping the door shut, take the bar down. Or it may be the bar of personal desire. You have your own purposes and plans, your own feelings and wishes to gratify; your own appetites to indulge. This bar of personal desire includes worldliness, sin in its various phases, ambition, selfishness, and this bar of personal desire must be withdrawn before Jesus can come in. And then there is the bar of procrastination. It is an innocent looking bar, but there is no other bar which has proved more destructive to souls. It is Satan's last and effective plea. The soul realizes readily its need of Jesus, it knows it must break down the bars to let the door swing open, but not now is the plea. To-morrow, next week, next year. After the soul has been its master a little longer. After the desires of the heart and life have been indulged a little more fully. But there is peril in delay, as many, many a precious soul has realized when it was too late. Jesus does not say He will stand at the heart's door to-morrow. He stands there now, but to-morrow He may have withdrawn. This bar of procrastination is a hard one to get rid of. But be rid of it right now, dear friend. Do what you know you ought to do at once. While Jesus knocks, do not tell Him to call to-morrow, but bid him enter right now, this very moment.

AND then the open door! Jesus a guest within! A feast of good things! A new purpose ruling the life, and a new hope filling the heart with joy! Yes, but with Jesus in the heart we discover that there are lots of shut doors which must be opened to admit Him to full possession of the heart. The work is not all done when the heart's door is opened. It is only begun. We have admitted Jesus to the vestibule, and all about are rooms and closets and dark recesses which Jesus wants to visit one by one and cleanse and purify and fill with His presence. And here is the message to the Christians. Jesus knocks at the chamber and closet doors within your heart and pleads for admittance. Every room and recess and closet in your heart should become a banqueting hall for you and your guest, Jesus. Have you wondered many, many times why you get so little joy and satisfaction out of your Christian life? It is because you have left Jesus standing out in the vestibule of your heart and you have withdrawn to a far part of the heart and are trying to feast yourself alone upon some pet sin or desire. Of course you will be unhappy. Of course you will have doubts and fears. The unhappiest creature in all the world is the one who has admitted Jesus to the vestibule of the heart and who then tries to keep Him there, while he lives in the rooms apart from Him. Jesus is knocking. He wants to come in and sup with you. Open the door. Let His cleansing power be felt in that dark corner. Let Him make it a dwelling place for Himself. Then will you know joy and peace again, because Jesus is admitted to all parts of your heart.

WHEN GOING AWAY.

A Few Words of Advice Concerning the Precautions Necessary to Household Preservation.

A veteran housekeeper writes thus for the benefit of young wives who may imagine that the only thing to do when one is going away for a vacation is to pack trunks and go, says the New York Tribune.

"We begin our operations about the first week in May. An experienced man is engaged to make the necessary repairs to the furnace, range, grates and chimneys. The furnace pipes are removed and cleaned, and left standing on end till fall.

"The cellar is whitewashed and sprinkled with a solution of chloride of lime—one pound to two gallons of water.

"Winter coal is ordered, but not stored until October. We like our cellar well aired and empty while we are away.

"Stair carpets are removed and sent with rugs to the naphtha cleaning works for storage. Once in two years large carpets are treated similarly. But carpets may be stored in an unused room, which must he first well cleaned and sprinkled with cedar shavings or camphor.

"Portieres, blankets, winter clothing, furs and unused bedding are stored in this room, having first been beaten and aired.

"The furs are placed in paper bags into which are dropped muslin bags filled with camphor or cedar shavings.

"Light shades are removed from windows, wiped and rolled away.

"When carpets are left on floors they should be swept with equal parts of corn meal and salt, after which all spots may be removed by the use of ox gall or ammonia and water.

"Within a day or two of departure spray turpentine around the edges of the carpets. This is a precaution against moths, and is the best thing in the world to keep ants and bugs from closets and storerooms.

"All beds should be taken apart and well cleaned. Turpentine will effectually drive away vermin, but we use spirits of naphtha, applied with a painter's brush. Beat well the mattresses and pillows, and before placing them in their cotton covers use naphtha about the edges. It leaves no stain.

THE RIGHT AND THE WRONG.

In Whatever We Do There Is a Way Which Affords Us the Better Results.

It is right to work for our daily bread, and for use to others in whatever form may present itself. The wrong way of doing it makes unnessary strain, over fatigue and idleness. The right way of working gives, as we have said before, new power and joy in the world, writes Annie Payson Call, in Leslie's Monthly.

It is right for most people to sleep eight hours every night. The wrong way of doing it is to go to sleep all doubled up, and to continue to work all night in our sleep, instead of giving up and resting entirely. The right way gives us the fullest possible amount of rest and refreshment.

It is right to take our three meals a day, and all the nourishing food we need. The wrong way of doing it is to eat very fast, without chewing our food carefully, and to give our stomachs no restful opportunity of preparation to receive its food, or to take good care of it after it is received. The right way gives us the opportunity to assimilate the food entirely, so that every bit of fuel we put into our bodies is burnt to some good purpose, and makes us more truly ready to receive more.

It is right to play and amuse ourselves for rest and recreation. We play in the wrong way when we use ourselves up in the strain of playing, in the anxiety lest we should not win in a game, or, when we play in bad air.

When Digestion Is Perfect.

We have arrived at the conclusion that moderation in diet has more to do with prolonging human life than any other one thing, and we have endeavored to enforce this teaching by showing in the clearest manner of which we are capable the reasons for it. A proper dietetic regimen, once attained, brings all the rest in its train. Sleep, exercise, cleanliness, equanimity of spirit, all hing upon it. Life is not only prolonged, but is constantly enjoyed, most of its minor annoyances vanishing when digestion is perfect. Pay no attention to fads. They give rise to too much introspection, and that is bad for every one.—Roger S. Tracy, in the Century.

Walnut Cookies.

Cream one cupful of butter and one and a half cupfuls of sugar, add three eggs, then a cupful of flour mixed with two cupfuls of chopped walnut meats. Sift a teaspoonful of baking powder and one and a half cupfuls of flour together and add the last thing. Drop by spoonfuls on buttered tins, allowing ample room for spreading. Before baking decorate the top of each cake with half a nut meat and dust with granulated sugar. Bake in a moderate oven.—Good Housekeeping.

Frosted Afternoon Teas.

Make a stiff meringue, allowing two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar to each white of egg and beating until very stiff. Add half a cupful of chopped nuts and spread lightly on afternoon tea biscuits or any fine crackers, then place in a moderate oven to set and brown very lightly. A change may be made by coloring some of the frosting pink or red with cranberry or current juice. In this case leave in the oven only long enough to "set," not to brown.—Utica Observer.

Whipped Cream Soup.

Whipping a cream soup with the egg beater a few minutes before serving will give lightness. Cocoa and chocolate are improved by a few minutes of brisk beating with the egg beater.—Country Gentleman.

Got the Right Kind.

Gainesville, Texas, Feb. 22nd.—Mrs. L. E. Burton of 507 Glad street, this city, writes the following letter:—

"I have been awfully troubled with my Kidneys. I was in a bad fix and had been doctoring with the Doctors, but was getting no better. I tried a remedy called Dodd's Kidney Pills and I found they did me lots of good. I had a slight return of my trouble and I went to the Drug Store and called for Dodd's Kidney Pills. They said there was no such pills. I told them there was. They said they had the best pills that were made and persuaded me to try a box of another kind, not Dodd's. As I needed some medicine, I bought a box, but they did me no good, so I went elsewhere and got the real Dodd's Kidney Pills, and very soon was completely cured. I took a box up to the Drug Store and showed them that there was such pills and asked them to order some, but as I haven't needed any more I haven't called to see whether or not they got them."

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Thompson, of Lillydale, N. Y., Grand Worthy Wise Templar, and Member of W. C. T. U., tells how she recovered from a serious illness by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am one of the many of your grateful friends who have been cured through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and who can to-day thank you for the fine health I enjoy. When I was thirty-five years old, I suffered severe backache and frequent bearing-down pains; in fact, I had womb trouble. I was very anxious to get well, and reading of the cures your Compound had made, I decided to try it. I took only six bottles, but it built me up and cured me entirely of all my troubles.

"My family and relatives were naturally as gratified as I was. My niece had heart trouble and nervous prostration, and was considered incurable. She took your Vegetable Compound and it cured her in a short time, and she became well and strong, and her home to her great joy and her husband's delight was blessed with a baby. I know of a number of others who have been cured of different kinds of female trouble, and am satisfied that your Compound is the best medicine for sick women."—MRS. ELIZABETH H. THOMPSON, Box 105, Lillydale, N. Y.

Thousands upon thousands of women throughout this country are not only expressing such sentiments as the above to their friends, but are continually writing letters of gratitude to Mrs. Pinkham, until she has hundreds of thousands of letters from women in all classes of society who have been restored to health by her advice and medicine after all other means had failed.

Here is another letter which proves conclusively that there is no other medicine to equal Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered with poor health for over seven years, not sick enough to stay in bed, and not well enough to enjoy life and attend to my daily duties properly. I was growing thin, my complexion was sallow, and I was easily upset and irritable.

"One of my neighbors advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I procured a bottle. A great change for the better took place within a week, and I decided to keep up the treatment.

"Within two months I was like a changed woman, my health good, my step light, my eyes bright, my complexion vastly improved, and I felt once more like a young girl. I wonder now how I ever endured the misery. I would not spend another year like it for a fortune.

"I appreciate my good health, and give all the praise to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—MRS. M. TILLA, 407 Habersteen St., Savannah, Ga.

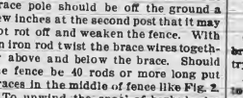
DURABLE WIRE FENCE.

Plan of Building That Has Been Tried for Years and Always Given Good Satisfaction.

Take a line with rings on each end; have line just so long that from center to center of rings is one rod. Stake off; this is all right for a horse and cattle fence, for sheep and hogs set the posts half a rod apart. By having the posts a rod or half rod apart it makes it nice about calculating the amount of land in field.



The end posts should be hedge or mulberry with roots or large knot or pieces spiked on lower end of post so that when set and the dirt well tamped in four feet deep it will be perefectly solid. Where the fence crosses a low place posts should be used that have roots, large knots or pieces spiked on them that they may not pull up. Have the end posts well braced with a strong red elm pole and a No. 12 wire like this. The brace pole should be off the ground a few inches at the second post that it may not rot off and weaken the fence. With an iron rod twist the brace wires together above and below the brace. Should the fence be 40 rods or more long put braces in the middle of fence like Fig. 2.

To unwind the spool of barbed wire or roll of woven wire take an iron shaft—an old buggy axle will do—and run it through the spool and let axle rest on wagon bed just in front of the hind standards of wagon. Run a small wire around each standard and the buggy axle and that will keep spool of wire from bouncing about too much. Take the end gate out of wagon and run out a little of the wire (wire should be placed on axle so that it will unwind from under side) and fasten securely to one of your end posts. Now drive along your line of posts and the wire will unwind. When you reach the farther end get one wheel, I prefer a hind wheel, in line with where you want to stretch the wire, brace and chunk your wheels all but the one you intend to stretch the wire with. Take a strong chain with a ring on one end and a hook on the other (a stay chain will do), run the chain around wagon spoke and through the ring and hook in the bolt hole of a sickle guard of binder or mower; hook the guard (which fits just right over the barbed wire) and now you are ready to stretch the wire. Turn the wagon wheel by hand and as you turn the chain winds up on the hub of the wheel.

When you have stretched your wire as tight as you want it brace your wheel well and then staple wire to posts. If you want to stretch woven wire after having unwound it staple securely a strong stick as long as the woven wire is high, leave the guard off and fasten chain to middle of stick and then stretch as you would barbed wire. I have tried this plan of building fence for a number of years and it has given good satisfaction.—Frank G. Hughes, in Prairie Farmer.

New Potato Bug Destroyer.

If the inventors keep on turning out machinery to do the farmer's work for him the problem of hired help will be solved for the large farmer at least, as he can afford to buy the machinery and pay the good wages necessary to command the men to run it. The latest idea is the machine for destroying potato bugs in a wholesale way, going over acres of ground in a day and adapted for use on single or double rows of plants. It also embodies features of adjustment which accommodate it to variations in height of the plants by simply gripping levers pivoted beneath the handles by which the machine is guided. The movment of these levers raises or lowers the blade supporters, and as the blades rotate rapidly they strike the plants and knock the bugs into the troughs on either side of the machine.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Money in Horse Breeding.

Horse breeding, when judiciously carried on, has always been and is likely to be a reasonably profitable business for the American farmer. The great danger in the business is that at the present time, owing to the fact that horses are scarce, the horse of no particular breed or class is commanding a fair price, and many farmers are led to regard a horse of this kind as a profitable animal to produce. Such horses should not be bred, because, even when the greatest care and precaution possible are taken in breeding for definite types, there will always be a large number of the so-called misfits, which are the first class of horses to be affected by overproduction or any other thing that is likely to cause a depression in the market.—Rural World.

WHERE TO STORE HONEY.

The Ideal Place Is One Where It Is Dry All the Time and Where It Never Freezes.

There seems to be a good deal of misinformation regarding the proper place to keep honey after it has been taken from the hives. Bee-keepers generally know how to preserve it in order to maintain its fine quality, but a great many people who buy it for home use, and even grocerymen who handle it in considerable quantities, fail to keep it at its best. Some people think because a cellar is recommended for wintering bees it must be an ideal place to keep honey. I have found others, supposing a cool place to be desirable, keeping it in an ice-box, says a writer in Northwestern Agriculturist. Neither of these is suitable, unless one has a furnace in the cellar and therefore it is both warm and dry; an ice-box, never.

Honey absorbs moisture, and if kept long in a cool, damp place it will become thin and watery and lose its original flavor. It may not spoil it to freeze if the air surrounding is perfectly dry, but damp cold is injurious. If the honey gathers dampness and then freezes, the combs will crack and the honey run down the outside, and it never looks or tastes quite so nice as it did before.

An ideal place to keep honey is where it is dry all the time and never freezes. The kitchen, a warm room over the kitchen, or the attic is the best place I know of without preparing a special place warmed artificially. Perhaps it is not necessary to hint that mice must be excluded. Extracted honey, too, needs to be kept in a warm, dry place, unless it is in sealed cans completely excluding the air. One reason why more honey is not used is because so few persons know how to keep it in all its original excellence.

POULTRY YARD POINTERS.

Gather up the charcoal from that old brush pile and throw it into the poultry yard or into the scratching shed.

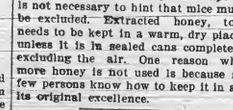
A padlock costs little and may help to save much. Poultry meat is worth money now. Lock the doors or unchain the dog.

Happy is the poultry keeper who has dry earth, sifted coal ashes and litter with which to keep his hennery sweet and dry for the next six weeks.

A smooth millstone grinds no grist and smooth gravel will not grind grain in the gizzard of a fowl. Furnish your birds gritty grit and plenty of it.

Either eggs are being used more largely or the American hen is not doing her duty. At any rate eggs are wanted and they bring spot cash.

Contagion frequently comes through drinking vessels. Clean out and scald them often and do not allow diseased birds to drink with the rest of the flock.



Better have the whole side of the house open than a crack or a knothole in the wall, through which the wind can blow on the head of a fowl on a perch.

One can learn much by carefully observing brooder chicks. Use ears and eyes; their motions and their cries are significant of pain or pleasure. The person who has not the gumption to learn their language cannot succeed, no matter how much he may read on the subject.—Farm Journal.

His Unique Diet.

Henry B. Lobb, a jeweler, of Fond du Lac, for several months has been dieting himself on an original plan. His daily ration is one gallon of milk, and as much raw oats or corn as he seems to need. In order to aid digestion, he puts the corn or oats through a coffee grinder, and sometimes he steeps the ration in water. He drinks all the water he wants, and eats but two meals per day. It was for the benefit of his heart that Mr. Lobb began this strange diet. Stomach trouble, from which he used to suffer, has disappeared, and he has gained over 30 pounds in weight. Mrs. Lobb has taken her husband's bill-of-fare, and has been benefited greatly, too.

A Condiment for Swine.

Theodore Louis, of Wisconsin, recommends the following for swine confined and heavily fed: "Take six bushels of corn-cob charcoal, or three bushels of common charcoal; eight pounds of salt, two quarts of air-slaked lime, one bushel of wood ashes; break the charcoal well down with shovel or other implement, and thoroughly mix. Then take one and a quarter pounds of copperas and dissolve in hot water, and with an ordinary watering pot sprinkle over the whole mass, and then again mix thoroughly. Put this mixture into the self-feeding boxes, and place where hogs of all ages can eat of their contents at pleasure."

It is a prudent farmer who is not a prodigal after a rich harvest.

NEED NOT CARRY LUNATICS

Supreme Court of Georgia Makes Interesting Decision in Favor of a Railway Company.

A decision involving the right of a railway company to haul certain passengers was made by the supreme court of Georgia recently when it was held that the Macon & Birmingham railroad was right in refusing to carry a crazy passenger from Macon to Lagrange, even though he was in charge of officers of the law.

A man had been adjudged a lunatic by the ordinary of Troup county, and officers were endeavoring to carry him to the insane asylum at Milledgville. When the officers attempted to put him aboard the train he raised a disturbance. General Manager Lane, of the Macon & Birmingham, was present and ordered the conductor not to take the man on board. Suit was instituted against the railroad in the superior court, and the jury found in favor of the railroad. The case was appealed to the supreme court, and the railroad won again.

The court decided as follows: (1) The right of other travelers to a safe and comfortable passage warrants a carrier in refusing to receive one who has been adjudged a lunatic, and who, though in charge of attendants, is loudly cursing and using obscene language at the time of boarding the car. (2) Common carriers cannot absolutely refuse to transport persons who are insane, but may in all cases insist that they be properly attended, safely guarded and securely restrained. (3) Where it becomes necessary to transport a lunatic who by reason of his violence may endanger the safety or interfere with the comfort of other travelers, the carrier is entitled to seasonable notice in order that it may make proper arrangements for his transportation.

WILD MAN FOUND IN SPAIN.

Cave Dweller Discovered Who Lived on Raw Meat and Nuts for Two Years.

The discovery of a cave dweller in the Basque provinces, near Fuenterrabia, on the Franco-Spanish frontier, has aroused considerable curiosity at Madrid.

As a customs guard with his dogs was searching in a wood an extraordinary being in the image of a man was seen to rush before him with wonderful rapidity and disappear into a hole in a mountain. The guard followed on, and found the wild man had blocked up the entrance to his cave with pieces of timber and stones, which, however, were easily removed, and the man was captured.

He was absolutely prehistoric in appearance. His only garment was a skin tied round his hips. His long and matted beard fell over his chest like a cloak, while his hair trailed down his back in a thick mass.

In his cave were found numerous bones of sheep, deer and other animals which he had eaten, a sling, a club and a stone ax. A bed of moss was his only furniture.

The guard brought him to Fuenterrabia, where his appearance created a sensation. Before the magistrate he explained that his name was Prudencio, he was 28 years old, and had been, when an infant, an inmate of a foundling hospital in San Sebastian.

He had formerly acted as farm hand, but two years ago, being unable to find work and being in great distress, he took to the forest. There he lived on acorns, hazel nuts and birds' eggs. Little by little he learned to use a sling and the ax, and was able to kill deer and sheep which had strayed. As he had no fire he ate the flesh of these animals raw.

SISTERS OF ST. JOSEPH

RELY ON PE-RU-NA TO FIGHT

CATARRH, COUGHS, COLDS, GRIP

SISTERS OF ST. JOSEPH

Use Pe-ru-na for La Grippe and Winter Catarrh.

IN EVERY country of the civilized world the Sisters of Charity are known. Not only do they minister to the spiritual and intellectual needs of the charges committed to their care, but they also minister to their bodily needs.

Whenever coughs or colds, la grippe or pneumonia make their appearance among the children these Sisters are not disconcerted, but know exactly the remedies to apply.

With so many children to take care of and to protect from climate and disease these wise and prudent Sisters have found Peruna a never-failing safeguard.

Dr. Hartman receives many letters from Catholic Sisters from all over the United States. A recommend recently received from a Catholic institution in Detroit, Mich., reads as follows:

Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio:

Dear Sir—"The younggirl who used the Peruna was suffering from laryngitis, and loss of voice. The result of the treatment was most satisfactory. She found great relief, and after farther use of the medicine we hope to be able to say she is entirely cured."

Sisters of Charity.

This young girl was under the care of the Sisters of Charity and used Peruna for catarrh of the throat, with good results as the above letter testifies.

From a Catholic Institution in Central Ohio comes the following recommend from the Sister Superior:

"Some years ago a friend of our institution recommended to us Dr. Hartman's Peruna as an excellent remedy for the influenza of which we then had several cases which threatened to be of a serious character.

"We began to use it and experienced such wonderful results that since then Peruna has become our favorite medicine for influenza, catarrh, cold, cough and bronchitis."

Another recommend from a Catholic Institution of one of the Central States written by the Sister Superior reads as follows:

"A number of years ago our attention was called to Dr. Hartman's Peruna, and since then we have used it with wonderful results for grip, coughs, colds and catarrhal diseases of the head and stomach.

"For grip and winter catarrh especially it has been of great service to the inmates of this institution."

SISTERS OF CHARITY

All Over the United States Use Pe-ru-na for Catarrh.

A recommend recently received from a Catholic institution in the Southwest reads as follows:

A Prominent Mother Superior Says:

"I can testify from experience to the efficiency of Peruna as one of the very best medicines and it gives me pleasure to add my praise to that of thousands who have used it. For years I suffered with catarrh of the stomach; all remedies proving valueless for relief. Last spring I went to Colorado, hoping to be benefited by a change of climate and while there a friend advised me to try Peruna. After using two bottles I found myself very much improved. The remains of my old disease being now so slight, I consider myself cured, yet for a while I intend to continue the use of Pernna. I am now treating another patient with your medicine. She has been sick with malaria and troubled with leucorrhœa. I have no doubt that a cure will be speedily effected."

Sisters of St. Joseph, of the Deaf Mute Institute, 1849 Cass Ave., St. Louis, Mo., writes:

"We appreciate Peruna very much. It certainly does good work with catarrh and also with colds and la grippe. We have faith in Peruna and have inspired many others with same. We do not like to be without it. It has certainly kept us from being very sick. It did a world of good last winter for our little ones. Thanking you for your kindness to us and our afflicted ones, we remain, yours gratefully,

SISTERS OF ST. JOSEPH."

These are samples of letters received by Dr. Hartman from the various orders of Catholic Sisters throughout the United States.

The names and addresses to these letters have been withheld from respect to the Sisters but will be furnished on request.

One-half of the diseases which afflict mankind are due to some catarrhal derangement of the mucous membrance lining some organ or passage of the body.

A remedy that would act immediately upon the congested mucous membrane restoring it to its normal state, would consequently cure all these diseases. Catarrh is catarrh wherever located, whether it be in the head, throat, lungs, stomach, kidneys or pelvic organs. A remedy that will cure it in one location will cure it in all locations. Peruna cures catarrh wherever located

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS please state that you saw the advertisement in this paper.

The management of the Globe Tobacco Warehouse of Cincinnati, has issued the following circular which will prove of interest to all growers:

"The weather has been unfavorable thus far for handling the crop of Burley Tobacco grown in 1903. For this reason the new tobacco has been coming forward in small and scattering lots. That having been offered for sale shows good color, fair sized, is ripe and of ordinary good spread, and has been pronounced by good judges as surely representing a good, serviceable crop of tobacco. Thus far the condition is excellent, very much better and safer than the 1902 crop showed at this time a year ago. The crop of White Burley is by the market end this year is conceded to be smaller than the preceding one. The amount of old tobacco left over is in our opinion too small to merit the name of surplus. We therefore conclude it is not unreasonable to predict a strong active market for the new crop the entire season, and if not literally forced upon the manufacturer in winter order during the first four or five months of the year, both grower and dealer will surely profit. This we think is clear enough to you without further comment on our part.

"By way of emphasis to the above permits us to say, there has not been a large crop of White Burley tobacco grown during the past ten years. There are two opportunities for the grower and he can profit by either the one or the other, or both if he can so elect. If he has no tobacco that was grown in 1903 he should make preparation for and plant as many acres of tobacco this year as he can properly cultivate and handle carefully. It is only fair to state here for the benefit of the uninformed that Cincinnati is the original White Burley market and to-day stands pre-eminently as the only tobacco market in the world devoting all its energy and care to this one sort of tobacco. This alone should recommend our market above all others. The physical conditions connected with White Burley tobacco present reasons equally potent to the careful students among the growers of this peculiarly sweet and bright variety of tobacco, which was first discovered in Brown county, Ohio, thirty or forty miles east of Cincinnati, Ohio, where it is still grown in its original purity and beauty. It also attains to the same perfection in kindred soils of Kentucky, Indiana and West Virginia."

A certain farmer commenced digging about three weeks ago. He noticed the vines were not quite dead, but supposed the tubers had had their growth, and, as it was the season for digging and the weather most favorable, he put on a crew of five men besides himself and finished his twenty acres in good time, putting all but the factory potatoes in his potato cellar. Last Saturday he noticed that the foundation of the building was sprung a little, but laid it to the wind. On going out Monday morning the farmer was surprised to see his building raised up fully two feet. Tuesday it went up another foot, and by Wednesday morning it was fully four feet in the air and his 2,200 barrels were exposed to the light. He was obliged to get a lot of lumber and build an addition on to the bottom of the storehouse. It appears that his potatoes had not reached their full size when dug and had kept right on growing after being housed. His 2,200 barrels had increased to probably 3,500 and he was correspondingly happy.—Ex.

Now that the plant season is not so far off as it was, the following taken from the columns of a leading agricultural journal, should be of interest. "The appearance of the seed catalogues recall that most of us determined last year, when some seeds failed to come up, that we would test the germinative qualities, next year, of every lot of seed purchased. Seed testing is a simple matter, and it affords great satisfaction to the planter. Seedsmen claim, and with some truth, that they get much blame not due through seeds failing to germinate from cultural reasons. If the indoors test is made, the farmer knows if 90 per cent. of his best seeds sprout all right in the kitchen test, and when he plants his best rows he only gets half a stand he knows the trouble was not with the seed. All that is needed is a flat dish or pan and some cotton, moist, in a warm room. Some seeds will sprout in 25 hours; some take a week, the time also depending somewhat upon the condition of the room. The virility of some seeds, such as radish, cabbage and clover, can be tested by dropping them on a hot stove. If they are alive, the heat will form steam from their inside moisture and they will explode and pop. If we are going to make these seed tests, we don't want to put off too long ordering these seed."

The foolish man fears death, but the wise man spends his life preparing to live.

Hogs are dying of cholera at a fearful rate in the country between Glasgow Junction and Cave City. Several farmers have lost as many as twenty-five head, and a gentleman from that section here yesterday said $10,000 worth of hogs had died from that disease in the territory mentioned since last fall. A number of farmers in the country mentioned are preparing a petition to present to the Legislature asking that body to pass a law requiring owners of hogs that die of cholera to burn them, in order to prevent the further spread of this disease. The law would be a good one, and we see no reason why it should not pass.—Glasgow Times.

Live stock are, or may be made, the great conservators in the economy of nature. Man is the most wasteful of nature's resources. Until the time comes, and it is probably far in the future, that all of the soil will be needed to support directly the human family, very much that is not profitable to cultivate at all may be employed in the support of the lower animals and thus be made to contribute something to man's comfort and support. Astoundingly vast resources in the particular mentioned are now going to waste, that live stock would enabled farmers to utilize. This is especially true throughout the South where the attention of farmers has been largely given to cotton and tobacco. The great need of the South is more diversified cropping and the keeping of live stock.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIX. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 2, 1904. NO. 20

County Correspondence.

PLATTSBURG.

Mrs. Richard Hensley is some better.

Those who had measles are about well.

John W. Gaines has been very sick for several days.

Elmo Gaines has been with his sick father for several days.

Claborn Campbell and wife visited her father several days last week.

Hogan Wingate is the most successful trapper in this neighborhood.

Mrs Essie Voshell spent last Wednesday with her mother, who has been very sick.

The moving season is here, and those who have to change their residences are on the go.

We were very sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. J. J. Lillard, who was loved by all who knew her.

The printer made us say Wm. Smith bought a horse of Albert Acra, when Acra bought the horse of Smith.

COMMISSARY.

March 27.—Born, Feb. 22, to Gilly Weisickle and wife, a daughter.

Eugene Kelly and wife spent the day and night Monday with his brother, James, near Hebron.

If as has been proposed, women are by law to be made to remove their hats in church, what will they have to go to church for, especially at Easter?

Ransom Ryle and wife spent Saturday night and until Monday with Will Sebree and wife. Mrs. Ryle stayed until Wednesday, while her husband hunted for a farm to rent.

Columbus Popham, Joseph West, and Richard Loudeu have sold their tobacco. Popham sold to Hubert Brady at 8 cents around; West and Loudeu, to James Thompson, of Petersburg, West at 7½ and Louden at 7½ around.

We were sorry to hear of Bro, C. H. Acra's mishap, slipping and falling. We once had three ribs fractured, all at one time, and think this equal to one broken one. We know what we suffered, and can truly sympathize with Bro. Acra.

We never saw as many people down on slippery pavements as within the past ten weeks. If some member of the Commissary Council would introduce an Ordinance prohibiting them it would pass unanimously, and be hailed with delight by country people, as they dislike making a spectacle of themselves when they come to town.

This community was shocked Tuesday morning by the news of the sudden death of Mrs. Mary Lillard, one amoug its most esteemed ladies. The news cast gloom and sorrow throughout the entire community. Mrs. Lillard was a christian lady, a loving wife, kind and sympathetic, ever ready to lend a helping hand in time of need. We extend to the bereaved and sorrowing husband and relatives our sincerest sympathy.

In the issue of the RECORDER of Feb. 4th, 1903, the watch contest was announced. We hope that every one who subscribed through the Commissary is so well pleased that they will renew their subscription when their time expires. We thank you all for your aid in the past. We are ready to receive and receipt for new subscribers and reuewals at auy time. All business of the kind entrusted to us will be promptly and faithfully attended to in the future as it has been in the past. Occasionally we are hailed with "hello or how are you, Commissary," and are given a hearty handshake. "The Commissary is the first read when I get the RECORDER," they say. Such praise does us good, and gives us new strength. We shall, in the future, put forth all the strength of our mind to make our items more amusing and instructive.

IDLEWILD.

Miss Lutie Gaines is in business in the city.

John Cropper and daughter visited Edgar Cropper, Sunday.

Mrs. Alice Jones, of the Bullittsville neighborhood, is very ill.

Miss Hattie Kirtley is very sick at present with appendicitis.

Mrs. T. Whiker has united with the Old Baptist at Mt. Pleasaut.

Misses Erma and Virginia Gaines were visiting in Idlewild, Saturday.

Mrs. Leslie Harrison, of North Bend, was visiting Mrs. Hedges, last week.

Mrs J. J. Duncan had a turkey dinner, Sunday, and entertained many of her friends.

Mrs. G. Walton and Wm. Hedges' family were guests of C. E. Stephens and wife, Sunday.

Clinton Gaines, Sr., has returned from Martinsburg, Ind., very much improved in health.

All the tobacco crops in this vicinity brought good prices, and had both the weight and quality.

We have heard for the last two weeks reports of blasting rock to build a new railroad over in Indiana.

We are having warmer weather, which both people and stock enjoy, but the mud is simply awful.

We are glad to report Mr. John Stephens doing as nicely as could be expected for one of his age.

Hon. C. E. Nadaud entertained our men for an hour, last Wednesday, with a speech in his political interest.

The relatives and friends of Mrs. Logan Gaines, of Carroll county, would loved to have seen her while in Boone.

The many friends of Geo. Kreylich, were treated to a graphophone entertainment by telephone Friday evening.

Mrs. Elizabeth Graves, so well known and beloved in this county, is now suffering from a paralytic stroke at her nephew's, Mr. Willis, in Trimble Co.

FLICKERTOWN.

Mrs. Dick Hensley's health does not improve.

Woodswings have been the order here for a couple of weeks.

Jim Aylor sold his tobacco to Clay Hensley, last week. Price 8c around.

Craig and Kennith Baldon, who have had the measles, are able to be out. No more new cases.

Hogan Wingate and wife entertained the young folks with a play party, last Saturday night.

James Thompson, of Petersburg, sold Woodie Sullivan a good work horse, last week. Price not known.

Henry Passons is at home from Huron, S. D., where he has a good position with the Great Western R. R.

Mr. Ryle's school is progressing nicely with an average attendance of 20 pupils. He is well liked as a teacher.

Cliff Hedges, of Idlewild, came down last week, and pulled off a trade with Jim Aylor, trading him a cow and calf for a horse.

Ben Passons says he got three valentines that were so much like him that he will frame them and hang them in his window.

We are glad to hear that the Bellevue correspondent is recovering from the injuries received by a fall on the ice a few days ago.

It seems like Nadaud intends to be our next Congressman, if talking will do any good. He is a hustler and we hope he will win.

Harry Acra, from down on Middle creek, was in this neighborhood, last Wednesday, looking for hay. He got a ton from John Smith.

We are sorry to hear that Cropper & Gaines, of Idlewild, will sell their store. They are nice, clever gentlemen and underaell anyother store in this end of the county.

We hear that Gene Kelly will buy the Idlewild store and embark in the mercantile business. Mr. Kelly is a clever gentleman and the store could not go into better hands.

GUNPOWDER.

BLAZE IN ROCHESTER.

Property to the Value of About $4,000,000 Was Destroyed.

Rochester, N. Y., Feb. 27.—The sunset Friday night with ten engines pouring streams of water on the ruins of what was practically the retail dry goods district of this city. For three out of the five department stores were consumed in Friday's disastrous fire, one of which, the Sibley, Lindsay & Curr Co., was by far the largest establishment of this kind in the city, and the oldest.

Insurance men place the loss at $4,000,000. Of this amount $750,000 represents the loss on buildings and the remainder the loss on stocks of goods and to occupants of offices. It is estimated that 2,500 people are thrown out of work, temporarily at least, because of the fire.

The burned district lies on the north side of Main street between St. Paul street and Clinton avenue, north, running from St. Paul street almost the entire length of the block. The fire started in the store of the Rochester Dry Goods Co. and worked west, taking but one store east of this establishment, that of the Walkover Shoe Co., before its progress was checked in that direction. The next west, was the store of the Beadle, Sherburne Co., which was destroyed, then the Marble block, occupied by the Sibley, Lindsay & Curr Co., also destroyed, and finally the 13-story Granite building, the lower part of which was also occupied by the Sibley, Lindsay & Curr Co., and the upper part by offices. Only the front wall of the Marble building is standing. The shell of the Granite building is intact and the floors are in place but the building was gutted.

SCAFFOLD COLLAPSED.

One Man Killed, One Fatally Hurt and a Score Narrowly Escaped.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—One man was killed, another was probably fatally injured and over a score of other workmen had narrow escapes from being crushed beneath a monster scaffold which collapsed Friday afternoon in the center of the new post office building. The scaffold was built from the main floor of the building directly beneath its dome to the tenth floor, a distance of 161 feet. Thirty-five men were working about the dome at the time of the accident and for a time it was thought nearly half this number had been killed by the falling timbers, but all escaped except two plasterers, James Byron and Barney McBride, who were standing on the portion of the scaffolding which collapsed.

PRESSFEEDERS FINED.

They Violated An Injunction of the Chicago Court.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—Friday for the second time Judge Jesse Holdom fined Franklin Union of Pressfeeders $1,000 for a violation of an injunction of the court. Kiel, Feb. 27.—Prince Henry, son of Prince Henry of Prussia, died Friday. The little prince had been unconscious for some days, as the result of injuries received in a fall while playing in the nursery several weeks ago. Thursday a high fever developed, and the prince had several attacks of convulsions.

Won the Annual Debate.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 27.—Minnesota won the annual debate with the University of Iowa here by a unanimous decision of the judges. Minnesota upheld the affirmative of the question: "Resolved, That the United States should now abandon the protective tariff policy."

New Counterfeit Discovered.

Washington, Feb. 27.—The discovery is announced of a new counterfeit $5 national bank note on the National City bank of New York, series of 1882; check letter U; Rosecranz, register; Jordan, treasurer.

Charged With Bribery.

Green Bay, Wis., Feb. 27.—William C. Seggsman, a salesman for a New York belting and packing company, was arraigned on an indictment charging him with paying $75 to Alderman J. E. Shaughnessy as a bribe to secure a sale of hose to this city.

Subscribed to the War Fund.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 27.—At the first session of the committee appointed to consider measures for strengthening the fleet, the chairman, Grand Duke Michael, the heir apparent, subscribed 100,000 roubles ($50,000).

STILL INVESTIGATING.

New Clew Discovered in Schafer Murder Case.

Said the Murderer Went to Linton the Morning After the Murder and His Guilt Is Known to Two Men.

Linton, Ind., Feb. 26.—After being closeted with John A. Riddle and Chas. E. Jones for several hours, Detective Reed, at work on the Schafer murder case, left for Bedford Thursday. Detective Reed told the Linton men that the officers regretted the scant courtesy snown the effort to run down the murderer and said that the clew furnished by Jones and Riddle is the strongest one that has been offered. When the detective left here he said he could make the arrest as soon as he reached Bedford, if he desired.

It is said that the murderer of Miss Schafer came to Linton the morning following the tragedy and that his guilt was learned that day by John A. Riddle, who, with Charles E. Jones, a newspaper man, offered the information to the board of inquiry, which promptly rejected it.

The Linton men intimate they have information that the suspect returned to Bedford Thursday. Both Riddle and Jones assert that the man does not have a suspicion that he is being shadowed.

Bedford, Ind., Feb. 26.—Immediately after the arrival of Detective Reed from Linton the members of the board of inquiry were called together for a conference. The officials acknowledged after the conference had closed that it was significant and had to do with the Linton clew, but refused to discuss the details.

It is intimated that the cuff and cuff button which were found in the cab shed several days after the murder was committed will play a prominent part in the future investigation. It is said that the jeweler who has been trying to find a mate for the cuff buttons has been successful and it is intimated that he will be taken to Linton to assist the detectives in their investigation.

CHARGED WITH LARCENY.

Wallace H. Ham Held on a $50,000 Bond in Boston.

Boston, Feb. 26.—Wallace H. Ham, manager of the Boston branch of the American Surety Co., of New York, treasurer of St. Luke's home for convalescents, Roxbury, and until recently treasurer of St. Paul's, Episcopal church in this city, was arrested Thursday charged with larceny of $104,000 from the American Surety Co. He was arraigned and held by Judge Ely in $50,000 for hearing March 3. In court, George N. Berry, counsel for the surety company, stated that although the warrant alleged the appropriation of $104,000, he was ready to prove that as much as $175,000 had been taken by him as manager of the surety company. Mr. Berry said that Ham also was responsible for a loss of from $40,000 to $50,000 in the hands of St. Luke's home.

A CENSUS REPORT.

Production of Crude Petroleum in This Country in the Year 1902.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The census bureau Thursday issued a preliminary report on the production of crude petroleum in the United States during the calendar year 1902. It shows a total product of 89,275,302 barrels of 42 gallons each, valued at $71,397,739, against 35,163,513 barrels, valued at $26,963,340, as reported by the 11th census, which covered the year 1889. The report shows that in 1902 there were 113,671 wells, 29,522 operators, 3,033 salaried employes drawing an aggregate of $2,986,768, and 17,552 wage earners, drawing $13,942,361. The cost of supplies and materials was $17,751,512, miscellaneous expenses $15,811,726 and cost of contract work $12,936,631.

GLASS WORKERS' CONVENTION.

Both the Denny and Burns Organizations Met at Muncie.

Muncie, Ind., Feb. 26.—The first session of the convention of glass workers from both the Denny and Burns organizations was begun here Thursday and continued Thursday night. One hundred delegates were present, representing 26 factories in Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania. The only action taken was the appointment of a committee of eight to adopt resolutions favoring amalgamation. Action on the resolutions was deferred until Friday.

A MAP OF THE WORLD.

It Was Installed in the Office of Secretary Cortelyou.

Washington, Feb. 29.—A commercial map of the world 16 feet long and 7½ feet wide, prepared in the coast and geodetic survey under the immediate supervision of E. H. Fowler, chief draftsman, has been installed in the office of Secretary Cortelyou, of the department of commerce and labor. The location of the continents is different from that shown on any other map or atlas heretofore published. The American continents occupy the center, thereby permitting the entire Pacific ocean and the trans-Pacific steamship and cable routes to the Philippines and Hong-Kong to be shown without a break in the center of the Pacific, as always has been the case heretofore. The eastern route via the Suez canal to the Philippines also is continuously shown. Cities having a population of between 100,000 and 400,000 are indicated in a distinctive manner. Throughout the whole map all places of international interest or importance are shown, submarine cables are given, colonial possessions are indicated by the same coloring as that of mother countries, political boundaries are defined as accurately and much other valuable information given with clearness and brevity.

VICTIM OF A JOINT HOAX.

Alleged Gift of Carnegie to the Town of Kilmarnock.

London, Feb. 29.—Andrew Carnegie, the town of Kilmarnock and the memory of Robert Burns have been made the joint victims of a hoax. Recently the town council of Kilmarnock, which was Robbie's birthplace, received a letter purporting to come from Hew Morrison, the Edinburg librarian, who is Mr. Carnegie's adviser in his library donations. On reading the letter the worthy aldermen and councillors could hardly believe in their luck, and congratulated themselves on the future glory which was to be Kilmarnock's.

In florid language the letter set forth the intention of the great benefactor to commemorate the town's connection with Scotland's great poet by erecting a stately temple to his everlasting glory. On this magnificent scheme Mr. Carnegie was alleged to be prepared to spend $2,500,000.

EXHIBIT SHIPMENTS.

They Are In Excess of Those at the Chicago Fair at a Similar Period.

St. Louis, Feb. 29.—That the exhibit shipments at the World's fair are in excess of those at the Chicago exposition at a similar period before the opening is conclusively shown by a statement prepared by Chief Clerk J. E. Reagan, of the traffic bureau. According to a table he has prepared, the shipments of exhibits at the Chicago fair up to March 1 preceding the opening reached a total of 364 cars. The total shipments of exhibits at the St. Louis fair to and including February 27 aggregate 490 cars, or an excess of 126 cars.

CANCELLED HER ENGAGEMENT.

Mme. Adelina Patti Will Not Sing in Chicago.

Chicago, Feb. 29.—Mme. Adelina Patti will not sing here Monday night, having suddenly cancelled her Chicago engagement. A telegram was received from Indianapolis Sunday saying that Mme. Patti was unable to come because of a cold.

While this is the formal reason advanced, it is generally understood that the real cause of the singer's sudden change of plan is the result of an unsatisfactory advance sale of seats.

Fire in a Hotel.

Washington, Feb. 29.—The Elsmere hotel was damaged to the extent of $10,000 by fire Sunday. The whole interior was ruined or damaged by water and smoke. Several congressmen, including Messrs. Klutz, Pou, Steenerson and Small, were among the guests at the house, and these, with the other occupants, were obliged to find shelter elsewhere until repairs are made.

State Capitol Building Burned.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 29.—The Wisconsin state capitol building was practically destroyed by fire, with a loss estimated at $800,000. The state carries only partial insurance, being in the process of changing from insurance companies to a system of state insurance.

Secretary Long's Book.

Washington, Feb. 29.—The navy department has at last decided to furnish the libraries of naval ships and stations with copies of ex-Secretary of the Navy John D. Long's work, entitled "The New American Navy."

Boy's Remains Found.

Hash As An Army Food.

Washington, Feb. 29.—The commissary general of the army is in receipt of reports from subsistence officers who had to do with the recent experiments with hash. The reports nearly all were in approval of hash as an army food.

Death of Edwin Franklin Abell.

Baltimore, Feb. 29.—Edwin Franklin Abell, president of the A. S. Abell Co., publishers of the Sun newspaper of this city, died at his residence, aged 62. Mr. Abell was born in Baltimore and was the oldest of 12 children.

THE CONSPIRACY TRIAL.

Machen, Lorenz and the Groffs Found Guilty.

Bail Was Furnished For the Convicted Men, the Sureties Being the Same as On the Bonds Prior to Conviction.

Washington, Feb. 27.—"Guilty as indicted" was the verdict announced by Carl Peterson, the foreman of the jury in the now famous post office conspiracy trial, shortly after 8 o'clock Friday night, stating at the same time that this was the verdict as to all four defendants, August W. Machen, late general superintendent of the rural free delivery division; George E. Lorenz, of Toledo, O., and Samuel A. and Diller B. Groff, of this city. The jury had been out nine hours, although the verdict was reached in eight hours and twenty-five minutes. Justice Pritchard had gone to his home, there to await any summons from the jury, and when at 7:25 o'clock the jury announced to the deputy marshal outside the jury room that a verdict had been reached the justice was sent for and arrived at the courthouse before 8 o'clock.

In the dimly lighted room sat the four defendants, who, after the case was given to the jury, had been placed in the custody of the United States marshal and confined to the limits of the city hall. Each wore an anxious look and a death-like silence fell upon the small crowd which had been permitted to enter the room as the clerk inquired of the foreman if a verdict had been reached. With impressive dignity the jury to a man rose and as the words "Guilty as indicted," fell from his lips, the defendants and their counsel seemed appalled. During the time the jury were out the four defendants had paced up and down the hallway outside the courtroom and had given expression to the belief that each hour the jury spent in discussing the case brought them nearer to an acquittal. There was very general astonishment that the jury had included Samuel A. Groff, the Washington policeman and inventor of the Groff fastener as to whom Holmes Conrad, special counsel for the government, Thursday informed the jury he did not expect a conviction, and that he personally did not believe in his guilt.

LIMIT OF THE LAW.

Two Years in Prison and $10,000 Fine Given the Conspirators.

Washington, Feb. 29.—Two years in the Moundsville penitentiary in West Virginia, and each to pay a fine of $10,000, was handed out to A. W. Machen, Diller B. Groff and George E. Lorenz, the postal conspirators, by Judge Pritchard. The judge being, as he openly avowed, in sympathy with the justice of the verdict, refused a new trial and refused a suspension of sentence. In the case of Samuel A. Groff, whom the government officers asked the jury to acquit, but who was nevertheless convicted, a suspension of sentence for four days was granted to pave the way for an argument for a new trial.

If the verdict was unexpected by the men adjudged guilty, the rapidity of the judge in accelerating their way to the penitentiary was astounding. It simply crushed all of them. It is needless to add the officials of the government feel elated over their victory and they will now push the other cases rapidly.

CONSPIRACY TO DEFRAUD.

Columbus E. Upton Sentenced to Imprisonment and a Fine.

Baltimore, Feb. 27.—In the United States district court Friday Columbus Ellsworth Upton, who, with Thomas W. McGregor, was convicted of conspiracy to defraud the United States government on a post office contract some months ago, dismissed the appeal he had taken from the verdict of the jury, and was sentenced to jail for a year by Judge Morris, who also imposed a fine of $1,000.

The original sentence imposed on both men was a fine of $1,000 each and two years in the penitentiary, but Judge Morris Friday reduced this to one year in jail.

A Suit For $15,000.

St. Louis, Feb. 27.—Suit for $15,000 was instituted in the circuit court by Frank Carter, a non-union steamfitter, against members of the Hot Water and Steamfitters' union, on the ground that he was assaulted and discharged from employment for not being a member of the union.

Washington's Headquarters.

New York, Feb. 27.—The board of estimate and apportionment decided to acquire Frances Tavern on Broad street, noted as having been Washington's headquarters in the revolution, for preservation as a historical landmark.

Imports of American Apples.

Washington, Feb. 27.—United States Consul General Guenther, in a report to the department of commerce and labor, says that the imports of American apples at Hamburg from September 15 to December 27, 1902, amounted to 97,647 barrels.

Aged Minister Dead.

Baltimore, Feb. 27.—James Warden, aged 102 years, supposed to be the oldest expounder of Methodism in the world, is dead in the Baltimore county alms house. He was born in England and was licensed to preach in 1824.

The Most Common Disease.

Yorktown, Ark., Feb. 29th.—Leland Williamson, M. D., a successful and clever local physician, says:

"There is scarcely another form of disease a physician is called upon so often to treat as Kidney Disease. I invariably prescribe Dodd's Kidney Pills and am not disappointed in their effect for they are always reliable. I could mention many cases in which I have used this medicine with splendid success, for example, I might refer to the case of Mr. A. H. Cole.

"Age 31, greatly emaciated, some fever, great pain and pressure over region of Kidneys, urine filled with pus or corruption and very foul smelling and passed some blood. Directed to drink a great deal of water, gave brisk purgative and Dodd's Kidney Pills. The pills were continued regularly for three weeks and then a few doses every week, especially if patient felt any pain in region of Kidneys. Cured completely and patient performed his duties as farm laborer in four weeks."

Dr. Williamson has been a regular practitioner for over twenty years, and his unqualified endorsement of Dodd's Kidney Pills is certainly a wonderful tribute to this remedy.

TORTURING, DISFIGURING

Humors, Eczemas, Itchings, Inflammations, Burnings, Scalings and Chafings Cured by Cuticura.

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of the scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurement, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum—all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills are such stands proven beyond all doubt by the testimony of the civilized world.

THE RUSSIAN CAVALRY.

It Has Crossed the Yalu River and Heavy Fighting Expected.

Chinese Are Hurrying Large Bodies of Troops to the Northeastern Frontier of Pe-Chi-Li, to the Rear of Russian Position.

Tokio, Feb. 27.—Vice Adm. Togo's attempt to bottle up the Russian fleet at Port Arthur by sinking a fleet of stone-laden merchant steamers in the mouth of the harbor evidently failed, though the venture caused no loss of life and the vessels lost were not of great value.

Five ships were prepared by Vice Adm. Togo for the attempted blockade. Four are reported to have been sunk, but the fate of the fifth is unknown here. It is presumed that it withdrew with other Japanese vessels.

Accompanied by four battleships, nine cruisers and numerous vessels of the torpedo flotilla, the stone-laden steamers reached Port Arthur on Wednesday. While the fleet engaged the shore batteries, the steamers made a dash for the mouth of the harbor directly under the Russian guns.

Details of the attack have not been received, but it is evident that the Russian's fire sank the steamers before they reached the points planned for their foundering by the Japanese. It is said that all of the crews of the four vessels escaped in boats and were picked up by the Japanese boat destroyers. The report that two of the torpedo boat destroyers were sunk by the Russians is denied.

Seoul, Feb. 27.—The Corean government has decided to order the Corean troops to join the Japanese in the field.

The limitations to be placed on trade and other incidental matters will be passed later. This action necessitates a harbor, so Yongampho has been decided upon.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 29.—The official announcement by Maj. Gen. Pflug, chief of staff to Viceroy Alexieff, that Russian cavalry had crossed the Yalu river, is expected to be followed shortly by news of rather heavy land fighting, as according to seemingly trustworthy reports Gen. Jenevitch has sent a whole corps of infantry to support the Cossacks, who have penetrated to a point below Anju, and who are reported to have beaten the Japanese in several skirmishes. Nevertheless, if this movement in force is progressing, it must not be assumed that the Russians have taken the offensive, but rather that they are taking up a strong position in Northern Corea in order to check the advance of the formidable army of Japanese landing on both shores of Corea while the concentration of Russian troops behind the Yalu is being completed. This concentration is making better progress than is generally believed abroad.

The movement of troops eastward over the Trans-Siberian railroad will be greatly accelerated henceforth, as telegraphic reports say that the ice railroad over Baikel has been completed Sunday. Up to this time the tracks have been used as far as laid, the soldiers marching from the terminus of the line to the other shore.

Maj. Gen. Pflug's report that Gen. Ma's army is west of the Liao river agrees with the statement of the special correspondent of the Russ at Tien-Tsin that the Chinese war minister is hurrying large bodies of troops to the northeastern frontier of Pe-Chi-Li. This report says the troops are not going by rail but are marching by night.

The military situation will be greatly complicated if Gen. Ma's army is really moving to the rear of the Russian position with the intention of making common cause with the Japanese, as it will expose both Russian flanks to attack.

The blockade of Port Arthur continues. The Russians seem resigned for the present not to expect to accomplish much by sea, realizing that the Port Arthur fleet is overmatched in both ships and guns; but they hint that things may be different in the spring if the Balkan sea fleet gets out and effects a junction with that at Port Arthur.

Serious consideration also is being given as to the feasibility of spending about $5,000,000 on torpedo boat destroyers to be sent in sections to Vladivostok and Port Arthur.

Tokio, Feb. 29.—Corean soldiers on the Ham Gygien frontier have been attacked and dispersed by Russian troops.

JAPANESE SUPPRESS NEWS.

Endeavors Made to Keep Definite Information From the Public.

Che Foo, Feb. 29.—While the Japanese report that their fleet is still concentrated in the neighborhood of Port Arthur, yet endeavors are being made to prevent definite information from becoming public. The survivors of the sunken transports who were landed Saturday were not allowed to see anybody and they will be sent home. The Japanese fleet originally consisted of 16 warships, but two battleships and a dispatch boat are now missing from that number and from two sources it has been learned that two Japanese warships returned to Sasebo in a disabled condition. It is being circulated among Chinese that Port Arthur has fallen.

THE JAPANESE RETREATED.

Russian Cavalry Advance Guard Had An Encounter With Japs.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 29.—A dispatch received here from Liao Yang and dated February 28, says that Chinese on the Yalu river report that an advance guard of Russian cavalry which has penetrated Corea for a distance of about 200 versts across the river had an encounter with a detachment of Japanese and that the Japanese were compelled to retreat, and fled, leaving their horses, which were seized by Cossacks. Gen. Linevitch dispatched cavalry and a body of infantry in pursuit and with an order to occupy Northern Corea.

Vladivostok Blockaded.

London, Feb. 29.—Vladivostok has been blockaded by a Japanese fleet since Thursday, according to a Daily Mail dispatch from Hakodate, which adds that in-coming steamers report Russian cruisers on the east coast of Kinkwasan.

The Russians Retired.

Seoul, Feb. 29.—Details of a skirmish at Ping Yang show that 50 Russian cavalrymen approached the north gate of the Japanese camp and fired at 1,000 metres. A sharp fusilade took place and the Russians retired. All foreigners are safe.

BLAZE ON A STEAMER.

Fourteen Passengers and Seamen Lost Their Lives.

To Add to the Horror the Heavy Seas Running Meant Death to Any Person Sent Away in the Life Boats.

Port Townsend, Wash., Feb. 29.—After suffering the most harrowing experience from fire and storm that has ever befallen a craft on the North Pacific coast, the steamer Queen Sunday put in here to report the loss of 14 lives.

About 3:15 o'clock Saturday morning while off the mouth of the Columbia river, the Queen caught fire in her after saloon in some unexplained way. With indescribable swiftness the fire gained headway and threatened soon to envelop the whole ship.

To add to the horror the heavy seas running meant death to any sent away in the life boats. The flames became more and more threatening until, when it seemed a choice of deaths, Capt. Cousins ordered the lifeboats launched. They were manned by the crew and ordered to remain close to the ship. Into the sea the women and children were placed. Hardly, however, had the boats been cast loose than, unable to weather the fierce waves, two of them capsized.

The passengers and those of the crew who remained on board continued their fight against the flames with increasing success until, at 7:40 a. m., the fire was brought under control. When it was thought the danger from fire was past, Capt. Cousins recalled the lifeboats and the occupants were taken aboard.

The Queen was headed for the mouth of the Columbia river and about 9 o'clock the steamer Santa Monica was sighted. The Queen signalled and asked her to stand by until temporary repairs could be made. When everything had been made safe the Queen continued on to the mouth of the Columbia, only to find the bar was too rough to cross in. The distressed craft was pointed toward Puget Sound, but had fortune still pursued and when she rounded Cape Flattery she encountered a terrific electrical storm. With difficulty she weathered the gale and arrived about nightfall.

A JURY OF WOMEN.

They Refused to Separate a Mother and Her Child.

Chicago, Feb. 29.—The verdict of the only jury of women ever impaneled in Cook county has been reversed.

Mrs. Anna McGann and her eight-year-old daughter Mary have been separated after being found in squalor at 322 Aberdeen street.

When the case was brought to the attention of Judge Lockwood Honore, the pathos of the circumstances led him to call Miss Minnie Jacobs, Mrs. E. Maher, Mrs. Emma Quintan, Mrs. Elizabeth Perry and two other women to sit as a jury in the litigation. Despite the contention of the state that the aged woman was without means or support, the feminine jury refused to send her to a public institution, declaring in the formal verdict that a separation from her child would break the aged mother's heart. Now the case has been reversed by Judge Tuthill.

JOHN ALEXANDER DOWIE.

His Meeting in Melbourne Broken Up By a Crowd.

Melbourne, Feb. 29.—John Alexander Dowie's meeting Sunday afternoon in the Exhibition building was broken up by the crowd shouting and singing comic songs. He was obliged to abandon the evening meeting and was himself chased around the city by the rougher element, the mob yelling challenges to him to justify himself as a prophet. Public antagonism is so strong that Dowie has been refused rooms at a fashionable hotel.

Predicted His Death.

St. Louis, Feb. 29.—Arousing himself from a feverish slumber before dawn Sunday, Rev. Clareuce M. Folsom, assistant pastor of the Church of Spiritual Unity, predicted to his wife that he would be dead before 4 o'clock in the afternoon. At 3:45 he peacefully passed away. He had suffered three weeks from erysipelas.

New Stables For the White House.

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 29.—Word has been received here that Alabama Great Southern passenger train No. 2 was held up by train robbers at 1:30 Monday morning and two railway mail clerks killed.

FIFTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS.

Regular Session.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Senate—The senate spent the greater part of Wednesday discussing an amendment to the agricultural appropriation bill striking out the house provision giving authority to the secretary of agriculture to inspect imported food products when misbranded or suspected of impurity. The discussion was closed by substituting the provision of the act of 1900 bearing on the same point. This solution of the problem was suggested by Mr. Proctor and was accepted by all. Consideration of the bill practically was concluded but final action on it was postponed until Thursday in order to allow an inspection of it as amended.

House—Two storm centers were encountered in consideration of the naval appropriation bill in the house. First, the great lakes training station went out of the bill on a point of order after a wordy battle. The building program proposed in the bill then met criticism and blocked further progress of the measure for the day. Mr. Burton (O.), the echoes of whose sensational speech for peace on Monday had hardly died out, moved to strike out the provision for the single battleship authorized. This motion is now pending.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Senate—The senate Thursday passed both the agricultural and legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bills. An amendment to the agricultural bill suggested by Mr. Hepburn (Ia.) caused an animated discussion. It contemplated supervision of interstate commerce so as to prevent the transfer of plants or seeds fraudulently marked from one state to another. The amendment started a debate on paternalism. It was ruled out on a point of order.

House—The building program of the navy contained in the pending naval bill occupied the attention of the house throughout the day, and the fight is by no means over. The minority members of the naval committee, under the leadership of Mr. Meyer (La.), first gave their endorsement to the measure, are campaigning for a reduction in the number of ships to be authorized. The amendment to strike out the one battleship made Wednesday by Mr. Burton (O.) was donated. The cruisers then were put to the test, and enough friends for them were found for their retention. Construction of the ships in government yards proved to be a fruitful topic for discussion and an amendment by Mr. Bell (Cal.) requiring one collier to be built in a government yard was adopted. A proposition for a preferential of 4 per cent in favor of bids from the Pacific coast was defeated after Mr. McDermott (N. J.) had delivered a humorous speech in which the shipbuilding trust and the state of New Jersey were put forward for the charitable consideration of the house.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Senate—The senate Friday considered at some length the bill requiring the use of American ships in carrying government supplies, but without action adjourned for want of a quorum. The bill was criticized by democratic senators as being in the nature of a subsidy, but Mr. Hale, who was in charge of the measure, defended it against this attack and championed it in the interest of American shipping. Early in the day an agreement was reached to take up on Monday next the bill authorizing the erection of a joint building for the departments of state, justice and commerce, and to devote Thursday to legislation in the interest of Alaska.

House—The house passed the naval appropriation bill after having it under consideration for a week. There was a party contest on a number of propositions during the day, especially on an effort of different minority members to secure an amendment to fix the price of armor plate at the figure bid by the Midvale Steel Co. Several amendments were ruled out on points of order, and the republican leaders, by skilful parliamentary tactics, left the matter of armor plate in the discretion of the secretary of the navy. An ineffectual attempt was made to have the eight-hour law applied to all ship construction. The contest over submarine boats was quite exciting and an amendment finally was adopted which leaves the question of the type of boat open but increases the amount of the appropriation for such boats.

THE CANAL TREATY.

Exchange of Ratifications of the Convention Were Made Friday.

Washington, Feb. 27.—President Roosevelt Friday afternoon signed the proclamation announcing the exchange of ratifications of the Panama treaty.

The formal exchange of ratifications of the Panama treaty took place at the state department shortly before 11 o'clock Friday morning between Secretary of State Hay and M. Philippe Bunau-Varilla, minister from Panama.

Senator Reed Smoot's Case.

Salt Lake, Utah, Feb. 25.—Subpoenaes for Utah witnesses in the investigation to be conducted by the subcommittee of the privileges and elections committee of the United States senate into the status of Senator Reed Smoot, arrived Wednesday and a number of them were served by United States Marshal Heywood. It is understood that 19 subpoenaes in all will be served here. Apostle John Henry Smith was among those summoned. It is stated that President Joseph F. Smith will also be served with a subpoena to appear before the committee in Washington.

Resigns as Committeeman.

Natchez, Miss., Feb. 27.—Judge H. C. Turley, postmaster of Natchez under the McKinley administration and a warm personal friend of the late Senator Hanna, Friday tendered his resignation as republican national committeeman.

First Installment Received.

St. Louis, Feb. 27.—The first installment amounting to $1,000,000 of the $4,600,000 government loan to the World's fair was Friday deposited in the sub-treasury by World's Fair Treasurer W. E. Thompson.

HOPKINSVILLE ASYLUM.

Bill For An Additional Building Passes In the Senate.

Frankfort, Feb. 25.—Senate—At the afternoon session of the senate the Prewitt bill, making it a felony to steal poultry to the value of $2, was passed by 20 yeas to 6 nays. The Farris bill, to amend the local option law so that if a whole county votes dry it shall remain dry, but if the whole county votes wet the precincts or districts that were dry before the election shall remain dry, created much discussion, as it was reported adversely by the committee. The Edwards resolution, asking congress to empower growers of leaf tobacco to sell it to consumers free of tax, was passed. The bill to more clearly authorize husband and wife to testify for or against each other as to their property rights, but to prohibit their testifying in divorce cases, was passed unanimously. The house resolution to furnish each legislator with 150 copies of the governor's message, was adopted. The Behaven bill, to prohibit the selling of toy pistols, guns, torpedoes or other explosives used by children in celebrating holidays, was defeated by 15 to 11, requiring 16 votes to pass a bill.

House—The house passed the bill prohibiting the shooting of rabbits and squirrels from September 15 to November 15, with an amendment permitting the snaring of rabbits. The Bradley bill repealing that part of the revenue law imposing a graded license tax on tobacco manufactured in Kentucky was taken up, and was under discussion when the house adjourned. The senate bill allowing the attorney general two assistants was favorably reported.

Frankfort, Feb. 26.—Senate—The investigation of public printing by the special senate committee seems to be assuming proportions. The committee notified a number of witnesses to appear, but none have been examined yet. The senate passed what is known as the Louisville "ripper bill," but only after a hard fight. The senate also passed the bill creating the new county of Thorne out of parts of Pulaski, Whitley and Wayne. The territory in the county is but sparsely settled and property values are extremely low. The bill to create a new circuit court district out of the counties of Magoffin, Knott and Floyd was passed by the senate as a substitute for the house bill which included Breathitt county in a new district.

House—The house passed the bill repealing the graded tax on manufactured tobacco. Mr. Rennaker offered a resolution requesting that Kentucky congressmen secure adequate compensation for rural free delivery carriers. It was laid over. The bill prohibiting the charging of rent for natural or artificial gas meters was reported adversely and killed. The Mueller bill allowing sparring exhibitions with five-ounce gloves was reported favorably and advanced.

Frankfort, Feb. 27.—Senate—Bills passed: house bill appropriating $75,000 for additional buildings at the Hopkinsville asylum; house bill regulating the collection of checks and drafts by banks by providing that it shall be construed to be due diligence if the check or draft is collected through a bank's regular correspondent, instead of sending it to the bank direct, upon which it is drawn; allowing the treasuries of the state charitable institutions to select the depository for the money in their hands; regulating the services of summons by providing that a summons may be left at the residence of the persons to be summoned with any person over 14 years of age; to authorize the organization of trust companies with $25,000 capital stock in counties of 25,000 population, in towns of fourth, fifth or sixth class. Adjourned until Monday.

House—Bills passed: To increase the maximum fine of road overseers for failure to perform his duties, from $15 to $25; appropriating $22,000 for the deaf mute school at Danville; changing the time of holding court in the 25th circuit court district. The Miller bill making an appropriation for a monument at Booneshoro was made a special order for Monday. Mr. Wells offered a resolution to appoint a committee of six, with the speaker as chairman, to investigate the charges of "grafting and blackmailing" alleged against the legislature in a Louisville republican newspaper Friday morning. The resolution was unanimously adopted. Adjourned until Monday.

Bitten By a Mad Dog.

Ashland, Ky., Feb. 27.—Thursday afternoon Dr. J. B. Watson's little boy was bitten by a mad dog on the left arm. Dr. Watson left Friday morning for St. Louis to place the boy in the Pasteur institute.

Free From Smallpox.

Distillery to Resume.

Petersburg, Ky., Feb. 26.—It is said the Boone county distillery will resume operations the middle of March, converted into a spirits house, and will turn out 250 barrels a day and give employment to 100 hands

Held on a Serious Charge.

Elizabethtown, Ky., Feb. 27.—Luther Stith, colored, was given an examining trial before Judge Rider upon the charge of poisoning his wife, Melissa, and two stepsons, Leslie and William Carpenter. Stith was held over to the March term of the circuit court.

Took Paris Green.

Versailles, Ky., Feb. 27.—Almont Yowell, about 65 years of age, a well-known resident of Cicero, this county, committed suicide by taking a liquid solution of paris green. He left no explanation for his deed.

OFFICIALS INDICTED.

The Men Are Charged With Subornation of Perjury.

Cynthiana, Ky., Feb. 26.—At the morning session of the circuit court the grand jury returned a true bill of indictment against Judge B. F. French, of Winchester, Ky., and Ed Callahan, sheriff of Breathitt county, charging them with subornation of perjury in allegedly compelling and requesting A. C. Adams to perjure himself in the Jett trial last summer in behalf of Jett. French is a prominent lawyer of Winchester, Ky., and represented Jett in the trial last summer. A. C. Adams was convicted Tuesday of perjury. He pleaded not guilty to the indictment. No evidence was given and the jury found him guilty. He made a most sensational speech for himself in the case Tuesday, implicating French and Callahan. Jasper King is now on trial for alleged perjury in court. He was a juror in the case of Jett and White last summer who refused to vote for the death penalty as the other 11 had agreed and the trial resulted in a life sentence.

INCENDIARIES AT WORK.

The Home of Amp Miller Visited Three Times in 24 Hours.

Somerset, Ky., Feb. 27.—Incendiaries have visited the home of Amp Miller, in Wayne county, three times in the past 24 hours, burning his house and two large barns. Miller is one of the wealthiest farmers in Wayne county and lives near the Tennessee border. Thursday night about 8 o'clock his residence and the entire contents were burned. A few hours later a barn was found to be on fire and was destroyed. At 8 o'clock Friday night his other barn was destroyed apparently by arson. The loss will reach about $12,000. Insurance not known. Blood hounds have been sent for, but can not reach the house until Saturday afternoon, as it is over 40 miles from a railroad.

A Bad Fire at Ashland.

Ashland, Ky., Feb. 25.—A bad fire in the Ventura drug store occurred Wednesday morning. This store occupies one room in the Ventura hotel building, and a panic among the hundred or more guests was narrowly averted, many of them fleeing to the street half dressed. Loss to Druggist Meinhart was about $7,000, with $3,500 insurance. Loss to hotel company nothing.

May Appeal His Case.

Cynthiana, Ky., Feb. 26.—The motion for a new trial, made by Attorney J. I. Blanton on behalf of A. C. Adams, given a year's sentence for perjury in the Jett-White feud trial, was overruled. Blanton claimed the commonwealth neglected to introduce any testimony after his client's confession. It is yet uncertain whether Adams will appeal the case or not.

Coal Mines on Fire.

Madisonville, Ky., Feb. 27.—The Monarch coal mines are on fire within the limits of this city. It is not known how the fire started as there was no one known to be inside. The extent of the damage is not known, as the shaft can not be entered owing to smoke and heat. No loss of life is reported.

Big Ground Hog Catch.

Versailles, Ky., Feb. 27.—William Combs, living near Mortonsville, this county, has captured 53 of the famous weatherwise animals, the ground hog, with the aid of only a dog, a shovel and a long piece of wire. This is the largest ground hog catch ever made in this section.

Wants to Dissolve Partnership.

Jackson, Ky., Feb. 25.—Senator A. H. Hargis filed a suit in the Breathitt circuit court against his partner and brother, Judge James Hargis, for dissolution of the partnership of Hargis Bros., which has existed for nearly 20 years.

Law Against Loitering.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 26.—In the house the Alverson vagrancy bill, for which he has made such a strong fight, was taken up and passed, after striking out the emergency clause. The vote was 55 to 5. It makes more stringent the laws against loitering.

Sold the Stock.

Henderson, Ky., Feb. 26.—The Henderson Grocery Co., composed of F. H. Frayser, F. N. Frayser and others, Thursday sold its wholesale grocery stock to Charles W. White, of Louisville, and B. Mann, of this city.

The Doctors' Bill Passed.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 27.—The house of representatives concurred in the senate agreed doctors' bill. It recognizes the allopath, homeopath, eclectic and osteopath schools on the state board of health examiners.

Crushed Under a Piano.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 27.—Nathan Whallen was fatally wounded. He is a representative of the Montegro Rheim Music Co., of Lexington, and was moving a piano. The wagon tilted and threw Whallen out and the instrument fell upon him.

Fine Farm Sold.

Sharpsburg, Ky., Feb. 27.—The Van Thompson farm, near Judy, has been purchased by Abner Hall, of Powell county, for $125 per acre cash. The farm, which is one of the best in Montgomery county, contains 180 acres.

BOONE CO., RECORDER

Wednesday, - - March 2, 1904.

W. L. RIDDELL, - - Publisher.

FOR CONGRESS,

HON. CLIFFORD E. NADAUD, of Kerton county, is a candidate for Congress from the Sixth Kentucky District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

HON. D. LINN GOOCH, of Covington, is a candidate for Congress in this the Sixth Congressional District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

HON. E. C. SMITH, of Carrollton, is a candidate for Congress from the 6th Congressional District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

THE Congressional campaign is on in this district in full force.

THE estate of the late Senator Hanna is said to be worth $3,000,000, all of which goes to his family.

IF some person will bottle Bryan and Cleveland he will confer a great favor on the Democratic party.

SOME of the members of the Legislature have been charged with "grafting," and a committee has been appointed to investigate.

IT is estimated that the Panama canal will cost three hundred million dollars and that it will require fifteen years time in which to build it.

GEN. BASIL DUKE'S $3,000 a year position as a Chilo Park Commissioner is pretty good pay for the service he has rendered the Republican party.

BY reading the dispatches from the east it is learned that the Russians and the Japanese have each got very much the worst of the fighting up to this time.

THE action of the District Congressional Committee at Sparta, last Saturday, put the Gooch men in the air, while the Rhinock people are feeling pretty good, and Nadaud and Smith are sawing wood.

IF Japan whips Russia she must make short work of it. Russia has too many men to bear arms, but as the Japs have the right and intelligence on their side, it is hard to tell what is going to happen.

IT begins to look now like real trouble for Judge Hargis, of Breathitt county has begun, and it may have been in anticipation of the recent developments, mainly, that he wanted that new Judicial District.

Had the Legislature adjourned ten days or two weeks ago, its record would have been safe against attack, but in the last few days it has departed from that thorough business like course it pursued early in the session.

THE Grant county Democrats will hold their primary election one month hence to nominate a local ticket to be voted for in November, 1905. Those who are nominated and elected cannot take their offices before January 1, 1906. A mighty long time to wait, boys.

THERE is no doubt that if it had not been for the Kentucky papers the Legislature would have passed the infamous Hargis-Redwine Judicial bill. By the time the bill reached the Senate nearly every paper in the State was pouring hot shot into it, and down went McGinty.

As soon as the Hargis-Redwine Judicial District bill was killed by the Senate another seemingly harmless proposition was sprung by the Hargis crowd, and it, too, ought to be slaughtered. Hargis and Redwine should be denied a voice in the arrangement of any Judicial District in Kentucky.

FOLLOWING the death of Senator Hanna came the resignation of Perry Heath as secretary of the Republican National Committee, and many Republicans gladly welcome his resignation, as he is under a considerable cloud in connection with questionable postal transactions.

George B. Cox and other Ohio Republican leaders got together Saturday and recommended Chas. Dick for the United States Senate to succeed the late M. A. Hanna.—Carrollton News.

The word "recommended" may be good in the above paragraph, but "nominated" would have stated the facts exactly.

The sentiment of the Democratic voters in Pendleton is overwhelmingly in favor of a primary election and the same feeling prevails throughout all the country counties of the district. This committee, as servants of the people, should carry out the wishes of the people.—Pendletonian.

It is evident that the Pendletonian, like the RECORDER, is a rank back number when it comes to politics. Don't make any more such suggestions, brother.

THE Supreme Court of the United States has recently decided that Kentucky's claim of exclusive jurisdiction on the Ohio river to low water mark on the Indiana side is not tenable, but that the two States have concurrent jurisdiction. Under this decision a criminal can be pursued from Indiana to the Kentucky shore, and vice versa. This upsets a claim to which Kentucky has adhered ever since she was admitted to statehood. The court made a proper disposition of the matter.

THE witness Adams, who testified at Cynthiana on the Jett-White trial that he saw Jett in Judge Hargis' store in Jackson at the time Marcum was assassinated, was put on trial for perjury at Cynthiana, last week, when he confessed to the jury that he swore falsly on that trial as charged in the indictment, and that Howard French, Jett's attorney, and Judge Hargis and sheriff Callahan are the men who induced him to commit perjury. He was given one year in the penitentiary.

THE Legislature makes a mistake every time it increases an official salary. Offices with fat salaries are injurious to the country. Besides there is not an office in Kentucky with a salary so small that some competent person is not ready to accept its responsibilities for the pay it affords. There is no necessity for increasing official salaries so long as politicians are crawling over each other to secure the salaries. It is the general opinion that a reduction in the salaries of offices from that of Governor on down would be a proper thing in this State.

IT looks very much like the Democrat who represents this district in Congress next time will have to depend on the members of the party in the rural districts to elect him. Campbell and Kenton counties cannot be relied on other than to give Republican majorities, the sizes of which may be too large for the other counties to overcome, unless the national ticket brings out the usually large country vote. Nothing has been done that is calculated to reconcile the Kenton county Democrats (?) who hit the party nominees so hard last fall, and it is very evident they are ready to do the same thing again this fall under the same circumstances.

AT one time after the Republican machine in Ohio had named Dick as Senator Hanna's successor, it began to look like a protest was going to be entered against the summary manner in which the candidate had been selected, and there was a great hurrying to and fro to head off the insurgents, which was accomplished. It is evident that Senator Foraker thinks he ought to be the Republican mogul in Ohio, and it is doubtful if the element that was so thoroughly dominated by Senator Hanna will be able to find a leader who can put him down and out as often as Hanna did, although he appears to be perfectly submissive at present, as he did not succeed in making any serious trouble for Mr. Dick.

A writer in the Warsaw Independent, who signs his name Democrat, nominates Judge Lassing for Congress in the following complimentary manner: "Why not Judge Lassing for Congress? Since the congressional bee has begun to buzz in this neck of the woods, we have heard scores of the best Democrats in the county mention the name of our distinguished Judge in connection with this race for congress. His ardent admirers, and he has many of them, think that of all the possibilities in the country counties, the Judge would be the most formidable candidate as against any one from either Kenton or Campbell counties. He has great strength in the country, and would receive much support in both of the city counties. He is a Democrat of the right stripe, and his ability is not to be questioned." As Circuit Judge he has dispatched more business in the same time, and with greater satisfaction than any Circuit Judge in our recollection. So I nominate Judge Lassing."

THE Elizabethtown News very correctly says: "No Democrat who was for bimetalism in 1896 has anything to apologize for or regret. Under the same conditions they would do again exactly the same thing. That conditions have changed by the wonderful increase of gold so as to make the coinage of silver unnecessary, every intelligent man should admit. Here is where Mr. Bryan makes his mistake; he refuses to take in consideration the conditions, the increase of the volume of money of thirty-five per cent. and the increase in the price of commodities of twenty-six per cent. since in 1896. It was the scarcity of money and the low prices in consequence that made the silver question the popular issue in 1896. There being now no scarcity of money and good prices it seems foolishness to talk about reaffirming free silver planks. Had Mr. Bryan taken the position of other silver men that the quantative theory of money was fully proven and that the great influx of gold and the rich discoveries of the yellow metal had made the opening of the mints to silver unnecessary at this time, his influence in the party, to prevent the Eastern crowd from controlling the St. Louis convention and nominating a candidate that the trust interests and the financial interests want, would be much greater."

FOR some time things political in this district have appeared to be going Rhinockward for Congress, and the almost unanimous action of the committee at Sparta, last Saturday, calling a delegate convention to make the nomination, is regarded as a victory for him and another straw showing which way the wind is blowing. Some predict that the handwriting on the wall is so plain that Rhinock's name will be the only one presented to the convention. The Committee has determined how the nomination is to be made and the incident is closed that far. The party authority having acted the party will follow out its plans, and the counties known as the country part of the district will do their part towards electing the nominee.

SENATOR DICK will occupy Senator Hanna's chair in the Senate Chamber, but he will never occupy his place in the Republican party. The man who can do that is yet unknown.

While in Versailles Tuesday we were informed that a certain individual, of more or less doubtful character, had threatened to bring suit for damages against a judge at one of the precincts because that officer refused to let him vote Saturday, alleging as the ground for his claim for damages the fact that he could have gotten twenty-five dollars for his vote, if he had been allowed to cast it. CONVENTION CALLED

Newport the Place, April 27th the date. County Mass Conventions, April 23d.

At a meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee for the Sixth Congressional District of Kentucky held persuant to the call of the Chairman, at Sparta, on Saturday the 27 day of Feb., 1904, for the purpose of determining the time and manner of selecting a Democratic nominee for Congress for the Sixth District of Kentucky, to be voted for at the regular November election, 1904, all the members of the committee were present. The meeting was called to order by Chairman John M. Lassing, who stated the object of the meeting and on motion W. G. O'Hara was selected Secretary.

The following resolutions offered by W. G. O'Hara were adopted:

Resolved, That a delegate convention be held in the city of Newport, Kentucky, on the 27th day of April, 1904, for the purpose of nominating a Democratic candidate for Congress for this, the Sixth District of Kentucky to be voted for at the regular November election, 1904.

Resolved, That in said delegate convention the various counties comprising the Sixth District of Kentucky shall be entitled to one delegate vote for each 200 votes or fractional part thereof over 100 votes cast for William Jennings Bryan in 1900.

Resolved, That a mass meeting be held in the county seat in each county in the district, outside of Kenton and Campbell, and at each legislative district in Kenton and Campbell counties, at a place to be designated by the chairman of said legislative districts, at 1 o'clock, p. m., standard time, on the 23 day of April, 1904, for the purpose of selecting the delegates to said delegate convention. The mass meetings shall be called to order by the chairman of the respective county and legislative districts and shall be presided over by them until the meeting is organized by electing a permanent chairman and a secretary. It shall be the duty of the Democrats assembled at each of said mass meetings to select the number of delegates to which their county or legislative district is entitled, and to certify their names to said delegate convention as the accredited delegates of their respective county or legislative district. And it shall be the duty of the respective chairmen of the various counties and legislative districts to certify to the said delegate convention the names of the persons selected at each of said mass meetings as chairman and secretary.

At the mass meetings herein provided for all known Democrats and all Democratic youths who will be of lawful age at the regular November election, 1904, shall be entitled to participate.

The said delegate convention shall be presided over by the Chairman, John M. Lassing, until the convention is organized by selecting a permanent chairman and a secretary.

Resolved, That the candidate who receives the highest number of nelegate votes at said convention De declared the Democratic nomidee for Congress in this, the Sixth district of Kentuckey, to be voted for at the regular November election, 1904, and that his name shall be certified as such to the proper officers as required by law by the chairman and secretary of said convention.

Resolved, That the delegates from any county or legislative district, who attend the district convention, shall cast the entire vote of his county or legislative district, and no proxy shall be voted.

It has pleased God in His Almighty power and unerring wisdom to take from our midst on Feb. 23, Mrs. J. J. Lillard, nee Miss Mary Brady, daughter of the late S. P. Brady. She was a friend to all who knew her and it is sad indeed to think that the light of her countenance, the warm fervor of her helping hand and the general impulses of her heart will never again approach us. We all knew her only to love her and she never came among us that she did not exhibit the truest type of a christian woman, always interested in the comfort of those around her while her sympathy to those in sorrow or trouble was unbounded. All that she once was to us and to the world has passed away, but the sweetness of her memory still lives and will live forever with us. She was in her sixty-seventh year, and had been a devoted member of the Baptist church for many years. Her funeral was conducted at her home on Feb. 25, in the presence of a large number of sorrowing relatives and friends, by Rev. B. F. Swindler, after which the remains were interred in the Belleview cemetery. Besides a devoted husband, who was seven years her senior, she leaves three sisters, Mrs. Laura Carver, Mrs. Logan Gaines, and Mrs. Lourenia Scott, and one brother, Mr. R. A. Brady, with a host of other relatives and friends to mourn their loss. We extend to the family our heartfelt sympathy in their sad hour of affliction. A. M. R.

'Twould Spoil This Story to Tell It in the Headlines.

To use an eighteenth century phrase, this is an "o'er true tale. Having happened in a small Virginia town in the winter of 1902, it is a story very much of the present. Up to a short time ago Mrs. John E. Harmon, of Melfa, Station, Va., had no personal knowledge of the rare curative properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. "Last January," she says, "my baby took a dreadful cold and at one time I feared she would have pneumonia, but one of my neighbors told me how this remedy had cured her little boy and I began giving it to my baby at once and it soon cured her. I heartily thank the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for placing so great a cure within my reach. I cannot recommend it too highly or say too much in its favor. I hope all who read this will try it and be convinced as I was." For Sale by All Druggists.

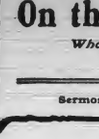
On the Cross with Christ



What Paul Means When He Speaks of Being Crucified with Christ.

Sermon by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher.

(Copyright, 1904, by J. M. Edson.)

Chicago, Sunday, Feb. 28, 1904.

Text: "I have been crucified with Christ; and it is no longer I that live, but Christ liveth in me; and that life which I now live in the flesh I live in faith, the faith which is in the Son of God, Who loved me and gave Himself up for me." Gal. 2:20, Am. Rev.

CRUCIFIED with Christ! The old self dead! Risen with Christ (as Paul expresses it in Col. 3:1)! A new life begun! What is Paul talking about? What extravagant language is this which he is using? Is he telling of an experience which is peculiarly his own, which was meant for him and him alone, or is he talking about something which should characterize the life of every Christian? Is he referring to an extreme and unreal and rare expression of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, or is he revealing the very heart of that Gospel, and making clear and plain the full and deep meaning of Christ's saving and quickening and keeping power? If the former then our text, while giving an intensely interesting glimpse of Paul's Christian experience, has no direct hearing upon the lives of the disciples of Jesus, but if the latter, the revelation of the Gospel to Paul, and through Paul's experiences, is of vital importance to every Christian. That Paul did have experiences which were peculiarly his own, and for him alone, is certain, for he tells in the twelfth chapter of II Corinthians of being "caught up into Paradise, and hearing unspeakable words, which it is not lawful for a man to utter," but that this experience of which he tells in our text was not one of them is clear, as we compare Scripture with Scripture. In this same letter to the Galatians, in the fifth chapter, Paul declares that "they that are of Christ Jesus have crucified the flesh." And in the sixth chapter of Romans he dwells with great fullness upon the fact that the believer is "united with Jesus in the likeness of His death," "that our old man was crucified with Him, that the body of sin might be done away," and that "if we died with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with Him." "For the death that Christ died, He died unto sin once; but the life that He liveth, He liveth unto God. Even so," Paul goes on to emphasize, "reckon ye yourselves to be dead unto sin, but alive unto God in Christ Jesus."

WHAT Paul declares then in our text, every Christian may say and should be able to say. Not Paul alone crucified with Christ, but every believer crucified with Him. Not Paul alone risen with Christ, but every disciple of Jesus feeling the power of the resurrection life. That is, theoretically every believer is crucified with Christ, and is risen with Him, but experimentally, that fact has been realized by but comparatively few. Similarly, it is a fact that that Jesus has made atonement for the sin of the whole world. Theoretically every bit of sin in the world was put upon Christ when He hung upon the cross, but experimentally the world has not come into a realization of that fact. During the war many a death warrant was canceled by President Lincoln, and the messenger started off post haste to carry the news of the deliverance, and although it was hours or perhaps even days before the bearer of the pardon could reach the place where the soldier awaited execution, and make known to him his deliverance, from the moment the stroke of Mr. Lincoln's pen made the pardon effective he was a free man. The pardon did not date from the moment of its reaching the condemned prisoner, but from the time that it came fresh and effective from the hand of the president. Long before he realized it, the prisoner was a free man. And the world, though it realizes it not, has had its pardon signed in the blood of Jesus Christ long, long ago back there on Calvary. It is a fact that the sin of all the world has been atoned for, but it is sadly true that the news of that deliverance has not been received or believed by the world. And of the Christian, it is true that he has been crucified with Christ and has risen with Him, but very, very many dear souls, who know Jesus is their Saviour, have not realized the relationship which they sustain to Him in His death and His resurrection.

PAUL had received the full message and meaning of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. He could say: "I have been crucified with Christ; and it is no longer I that live, but Christ liveth in me." And in his letter to the Galatian Christians, he tries to open this truth to them and make them realize that they, too, have been crucified with Jesus and have risen with Him, and that it is their privilege to enjoy a larger and more glorious liberty than they had ever known before. False teachers were busy among them teaching them that they must be circumcised and become Jews before they could be saved. They must do something to merit salvation. Instead of Christ being a sufficient Saviour, the believer must observe and keep the law to be saved. But Paul unfolds to them the dangerous fallacy of such a doctrine. The law which convicts of sin, and brings into judgment, surely cannot become the medium of salvation. Nay, to the contrary, for through the death of Jesus was wrought deliverance from the law and its consequences. The believer was dead to the law. It no longer had dominion over him. And he was alive unto God and hence in Christ was to become the fulfillment of the law. That is, he was absolutely through with the law as a means of salvation, but as a redeemed soul in Christ Jesus he was to become an expression of the righteous law of God. And Paul by speaking of being crucified with Christ and of rising with Him from the dead, is revealing the way in which that condition may be realized. Crucified with Christ. Dying with Him. What does it mean? Christ living in the believer. That life a life of faith. Surely here is a Christian experience which is not common, and yet an experience which every disciple of Jesus should desire and seek after. Jesus wants and expects His followers to "reckon themselves dead unto sin, and alive unto God in Christ Jesus."

IT IS a second experience generally of the Christian to realize that he is dead to sin and alive to God in Christ Jesus. The first experience comes at conversion, when, like Bunyan's Christian, we come to the cross and the awful burden of sin which we have been carrying about rolls from our shoulders and disappears in the open grave before the cross, and we realize that Jesus' blood has cleansed us from all sin. But then comes the battle with sin. As with Christian, we go out on our way rejoicing, lighthearted and free, and forgetful almost that we have ever sinned or can ever sin again. And Satan lets us alone for a time, and we begin to think that we have rid ourselves of him forever, but the wily enemy of men's souls is only waiting until the first joys of the Christian experience have worn away, and the desires and appetites of the old man, the flesh, have begun to cry again for recognition and indulgence. Then he comes with his allurements and temptations, and draws the Christian away into sin. Then come doubts and fears and distress of soul. We have gotten into the hilly country of the Christian life. It is up and down. In sin to-day. Repentance, and confession and forgiveness to-morrow. And so it goes. Satan having dominion over us. Sin having conscious claim upon us. The flesh constantly having victory over us. But this is not what Jesus intended should be the experience of the Christian. He came to give complete deliverance from sin, but that can be realized only as the soul comes to understand that he is dead to sin, and risen with Christ into newness of life. When he begins to understand this marvelous and glorious truth, and, understanding it, gives it practical expression in his life, then he begins to know what it is to crucify the flesh, with the appetites and lusts, and to feel that sin and Satan no longer have dominion over him.

THIS second Christian experience, this realizing not only that Jesus has died for our sin but that we have died with Him and have risen with Him, marks the life of victory and blessing. Crucified with Christ. On the cross with Christ. Ah, Christian! do you realize what it was that put your Lord on that cross? Somehow you have gotten beyond the cross. You realize that Jesus died on the cross to save you, but now that you are saved, you think of the cross and Jesus dying on the cross in connection with the unsaved and sinful world. But let us go back and look, with tear-dimmed eye and humble heart, upon that cross and as we contemplate it let us try to understand its deeper meaning. Let us forget all about the sinful world. Let us stand alone before that cross. It was my sin that put the Christ upon that cross. It was my sin which He bore upon that cross. My guilty soul was on that cross with Christ. If it were not so how can I hope or expect that my sin has been atoned for? If there was any particle of sin not on the cross with Christ, then was it not atoned for. But it was all there. Christ became sin for us. Our sin was with Him on the cross. Crucified with Christ. Then my guilty, sinful, lost self was on the cross with Christ. It must be there, if I am to have hope in the sacrifice which He there made for sin. And if I was there, if I see MY sin there on the cross, what does it mean? It means that death has come to me on the sin side. Am I going to claim salvation because of the sacrifice which Jesus made on the cross and then take my sinful flesh back again and fulfill the lusts thereof? No, in Christ I died to sin on the cross, and if dead, how dare I live as though I were still alive to sin? "They that are of Christ, have crucified the passions and the lusts thereof." The fact that we belong to Christ declares that as sinners we have been on the cross with Christ; that we are dead on the sinward side. That is the fact in theory, and then comes the practical working out of that theory in the life. A realizing in actual experience, that which we know to be the theoretical fact.

IT IS as though Paul were holding up before our eyes an ideal, a pattern. He says: "Here you are, Christian. On the cross with Christ. Dead to sin. Risen with Him. Alive to God. Look at yourself. Sin no longer to have any claim upon you. You are dead as far as sin goes. You are only alive toward God." And having seen the pattern, having realized that we are crucified with Christ and risen with Him, we are to work out in the body of the flesh that ideal condition, that perfect pattern which we see in Christ. But as you turn from the ideal condition to the real self with its capacity for sin—the flesh with its unholy appetites and lusts, you exclaim that it is far from dead. It is very much alive, and constantly leading me into the world and the ways of the world, and you cry, with Paul: "Oh, wretched man that I am, who shall deliver me out of this body of death?" Ah, dear child of God, Jesus knows this. He knows that in actual experience your flesh with its unholy desires is not yet dead. But His cross has given you deliverance, and you are to claim yourself dead to sin and alive to God. You are to hold that one condition before your soul's vision and as you do so, to mortify one after another "your members which are upon the earth, fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry." It is declared that we in time become like the ideal which we hold before the vision. The picture, viewed day after day, in time finds its expression in the life; its message reads itself into the character. So it is with this truth of our being on the cross with Christ in sin, and being alive with Him to righteousness. Hold that picture constantly before the heart, and we find the desire stronger to really and truly crucify the flesh with its passions and lusts.

AND we must be on the cross with Christ before we can be alive with Him. Paul says: "It is no longer I that live, but Christ liveth in me." But he could not say that until he had told how he had been crucified with Christ. The worm cannot become the butterfly until it has passed through the death of the chrysalis state. The worm life must die in order that the butterfly life may be known. So it is with the Christian. He cannot know the life in Christ until there has been death in the old man. And on the cross with Christ is a progressive condition. Each day has its battles to be fought. Each day brings some new element of the old man, the flesh, to be placed upon the cross and die in order that the fuller life of Jesus may be felt. Here is some sin we are indulging, some weakness which we are allowing to mar our life, some selfish, or wrong desire we are gratifying, something which we know is contrary to God's will and purpose for us. What are we to do with it? Place it upon the cross with Christ. Reckon it to be dead, with Him, as it really is. And because it is dead, have absolutely nothing more to do with it. Turn from it as you would from a dead and putrifying body. Tell yourself over and over again that you are done with it because it is dead. See it not as the flesh would view it, an attractive and desirable thing, but view it as God does, as a vile and unwholesome plague spot. Then on the cross with Christ will mean that on the other side of that cross will be felt the fuller life of His blessed presence. No wonder so little of the life and power of Jesus is felt in the life! How can it be when the whole life is a sad contradiction of what the Christian life means! It is not some new and strange doctrine which we are presenting here. It is the simple but full Gospel. It is what Jesus intended should be realized in the lives of His disciples. On the cross with Jesus as a sinner, that you may know life through Him. On the cross day by day as this member and that member, this sin and that desire, is placed there to die, so that more of the life of Jesus may be known. Then shall we be able to say with Paul: "I have been crucified with Christ; and it is no longer I that live, but Christ liveth in me; and that life which I now live in the flesh I live in faith, the faith which is in the Son of God, Who loved me and gave Himself up for me."

THESE terms are harsh and cruel: Crucify, mortify, cut off, put away; that is, they seem so. They refer to a painful process, but the rejoicing comes after the operation is over, even as it does after the skillful surgeon has removed the diseased member of the body, which has threatened with death the whole body. It is not easy or pleasant to put self, and its appetites and lusts upon the cross, but when the process issues in the Christ life becoming our life, a new and unspeakable joy fills the soul. Christ our life—think of it. Here is a mystery of grace. We see types of it in the garden. The gardener takes the graft and cuts and trims away all that is hurtful and unnecessary. He sees that there is clear, clean, close contact between the graft and the tree. The weak, bleeding graft was fastened on the strong stem. It stuck. It grew there. In time it grew and flourished. And one can almost hear it say: "I live; nevertheless not I, but the tree liveth in me; and the life I now live in the foliage I live by faith in the shaft of the tree. I trust to the tree only; without it I can do nothing." Christ our life. Risen with Him after the painful death of self and self's desires. The only way we can know this life is by going on the cross with Christ, by going down into the grave where the old self is buried out of sight. Then we may joyfully sing: "It is no longer I that live, but Christ liveth in me." Dear Christian, will you not begin to go on the cross with Christ that you may begin to know His life and presence as you never have before? If you will you will know what Paul means when he speaks of "beholding as in a mirror the glory of the Lord, and being transformed into the same image from glory to glory," until at last we "shall see Him face to face and be like Him." The Lord help us to be what God wants us to be, and what Jesus died to have us become!

Playing with the children is a splendid way to start your blood to moving briskly and to bring out the smiles that had been hiding away from your face. The little folks are pleased with such simple amusements, they laugh so easily that their good spirits will be contagious and you will be laughing heartily and unaffectedly before you know it. —Washington Star.

WESTERN CANADA'S RESOURCES.

Farming Very Successful.

By Western or Northwest Canada is usually meant the great agricultural country west of Ontario, and north of Minnesota, North Dakota, and Montana. Part of it is agricultural prairie, treeless in places, park like in others, part is genuine plains, well adapted to cattle ranches; part requires irrigation for successful tillage, most of it does not. The political divisions of this region are the Province of Manitoba and the territorial district of Assiniboia, Saskatchewan, Alberta and Athabask. At present, however, the latter is too remote for immediate practical purposes.

The general character of the soil of Western Canada is a rich, black, clay loam with a clay subsoil. Such a soil is particularly rich in food for the wheat plant. The subsoil is a clay, which retains the winter frost until it is thawed out by the warm rays of the sun and drawn upward to stimulate the growth of the young wheat, so that even in dry seasons wheat is a good crop. The clay soil also retains the heat of the sun later in the summer, and assists in the early ripening of the grain. It is claimed that cultivation has the effect of increasing the temperature of the soil several degrees, as well as the air above it.

Western Canada climate is good—cold in winter; hot in summer, but with cool nights. Violent storms of any kind are rare. The rainfall is not heavy. It varies with places, but averages about 17 inches. It falls usually at the time the growing crops need it.

The department of the interior, Ottawa, Canada, has agents established at different points throughout the United States who will be pleased to forward an Atlas of Western Canada, and give such other information as to railway rate, etc., as may be required.

That agriculture in Western Canada pays is shown by the number of testimonials given by farmers. The following is an extract made from a letter from a farmer near Moose Jaw:

"At the present time I own sixteen hundred acres of land, fifty horses, and a large pasture fenced containing a thousand acres. These horses run out all winter and come in in the spring quite fat. A man with money judiciously expended will make a competence very shortly. I consider in the last six years the increase in the value of my land has netted me forty thousand dollars."

Millions of Vegetables.

When the Editor read 10,000 Plants for 16c, he could hardly believe it, but upon second reading finds that the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., from whom there are no more reliable and extensive seed growers in the world, makes this offer. This great offer is made to get you to test Salzer's Warranted Vegetable Seeds.

They will send you their big plant and seed catalog, together with enough seed to grow

DOCTORS FALL IN LINE.

Practicing Physicians recognize the unfailing reliability of Doan's Kidney Pills by Prescribing them for Backache, Kidney, Bladder and Urinary Disorders—a tribute won by no other Proprietary Medicine. Four cases cited from "Notes of His Practice," by Dr. Leland Williamson, of Yorktown, Ark.

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., Buffalo, N. Y. YORKTOWN, ARK., Mar. 1, 1904.

Gentlemen.—I have been engaged in the practice of medicine in this section for ten years. This is a very sickly climate, on the Bayou Bartholomew, near the Arkansas River. It is particularly malarious and miasmatic; we meet with many and various abnormal conditions of the human family, prominent among the cases in which I have been called upon to prescribe is kidney disease. Many of these disorders manifest themselves by pains in the back, often extending to other parts of the body; sometimes headache is present, caused by uræmic or chronic uric acid poisoning, soreness in region of kidneys, cloudy, thickened and foul-smelling urine, discharges of pus or corruption; inflammation of the kidneys, extending to the bladder, is caused by excess of uric acid and decomposition of urine. Hemorrhage is sometimes met with, caused by high state of inflammation or congestion.

There is no class of diseases a doctor is called oftener to treat than the variety of kidney diseases, in many of which the patient will have chills or rigors, followed by fever, a result of the kidneys failing to eliminate the uric acid poison from the system. Such cases require the kidneys restored to their natural functions, then the poison and foreign substances are removed—shock to the nervous system averted, and natural health restored.

I have, for some time, been using Doan's Kidney Pills in these many manifestations and with uniform success, curing most cases. I can further say that even in hopeless cases where they have waited too long, Doan's Kidney Pills afford much relief and prolong life. I can recommend the pills in conditions of excessive or deficient secretion of urine, as also in convalescence from swamp-fever and malarial attacks, as verified by the following cases in my practice.

CASE 1.

THOS. ORELL, Bear, Ark., age 60. Pain in back for several weeks, then chills, irregular sometimes, severe rigors, followed by fever. Gave good purgative of calomel and padoph, and Doan's Kidney Pills. After taking four boxes of the pills, patient up and enjoying good health for one of his age.

CASE 2.

MRS. SMITH, Tarry, Ark., age 29, mother of four children. Had female complaints and kidney trouble, manifest by pain in back and urine irregular; sometimes very clear, changing to cloudy, and with much sediment on standing in chamber. Gave local treatment for female complaint and prescribed Doan's Pills; after using six boxes she regards herself as cured.

CASE 3.

BROWN EAKS, Wynne, Ark., age 21, had severe case of malarial hematuria, or swamp fever. Gave necessary liver medicine, calomel and padoph, and morph.-sulph., to relieve pain, and ordered Doan's Pills for the high state of congestion and inflammation of the kidneys. Recovery resulted in two weeks. Prescribed Doan's Kidney Pills, to be continued until the kidneys were thoroughly strengthened and all pain in back subsided.

CASE 4.

ELIJAH ELLIOTT, Tarry, Ark., age 34. Pain in back and legs and headache. Uric-acid poisoning. Prescribed Doan's Kidney Pills. After taking several boxes pain subsided—urine became normal, or natural, and patient able to resume his work.

These are a few of the typical cases in which I have used Doan's Kidney Pills. In a great many instances I use them alone with curative results, while with some others indicated remedies are associated.

I believe that by the judicious use of Doan's Pills many serious complications are arrested and many hopeless and incurable cases of Bright's disease prevented.

I have often found that one box of the pills is all that is required to effect a cure, but in some cases I continue their use until all symptoms are entirely absent and the cure effectual and permanent. Yours truly,

Dr. Leland Williamson.

ALABASTINE
the Durable Wall Coating, Won't Rub Off;

WHY?

Because it cements to, and is not stuck on the wall with decaying, animal glue, as are the various so-called "wall finishes," which are kalsomines sold under fanciful names.

You can apply Alabastine.

ALABASTINE

The Only Sanitary and Permanent Wall Coating

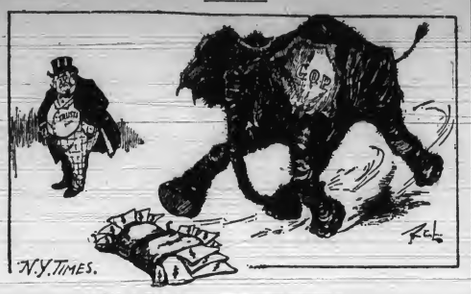
ALABASTINE is not a disease-breeding, hot water glue wall finish, furnishing a lodgment and harbor-ground for disease germs; it is a natural, rock-base composition, in white and many exquisitely beautiful tints; in powder form, ready for use by simply mixing with cold water. Anyone can brush it on.

ALABASTINE cements to walls, distroys disease germs and vermin, and never rubs off or scales. Other wall coatings, under fanciful names, and usually mixed with hot water, are unhealthful kalsomines, stuck on the wall with glue, which soon rots, nourishes germs of deadly disease, rubs and scales, spoiling walls, clothing and furniture. When it is necessary to refinish, the old coats must be washed off—an expensive, nasty, disagreeable job, making the rooms damp and unfit to live in.

When walls are once coated with Alabastine, succeeding coats may be applied, year after year, without washing the walls, thus saving great expense and annoyance.

Hot and Cold Water Kalsomines Have No Merit

Some dealers try to sell them, buying them cheap, and trying to sell on Alabastine's demand until such time as their customers learn of the imposition.



THEY ARE WORTHLESS PREPARATIONS

If you cannot buy Alabastine of your hardware, paint or drug dealer, refuse all imitations, and write us. We will tell you where you can get Alabastine without delay, or sell it to you direct. $500.00 GIVEN AWAY. Write for particulars.

THE TRUSTS--HERE'S WHERE THE ELEPHANT STEPS ON MY POCKET BOOK AGAIN.

WOOL AND PROTECTION.

System by Which the Farmer Is Fleeced to Help the Trusts Along.

It is rather singular that about all the products of the farm that have no real tariff protection are advancing in price very materially, but wool, the one product that is protected to the verge of prohibition, is standing still, and in some classes even declining in price. Cotton has been bringing more than the average price the farmer and sheep ranch men are getting for wool. There is no tariff on cotton, no protection fosters its growth, while the tariff on wool is 11 cents a pound. How can our protection enthusiasts explain this anomaly which, according to their theory, shows that the duty on wool is still too low? Why don't they amend the tariff and give the farmer more protection instead of standing pat? The imports of foreign wool are increasing. The last report of commerce and finance, issued by the department of commerce and labor, gives the imports of wool for the 11 months ending November for 1901 in pounds as 111,748,490; 1902, 161,631,318; 1903, 163,278,392. Thus for the same period foreign wool has been coming in the past year at the rate of over 50,000,000 pounds more than in 1901.

What is the reason for this increased competition of the foreign wool growers with our home product? In spite of nearly 100 per cent. protection the sheep industry is not so prosperous as it was when we had free wool under the tariff of 1894. The price of woolen goods is declining from the inability of the great majority of our people to buy wool clothing. Cotton and shoddy have largely taken the place of wool from the sheer necessity of the family with limited incomes to meet the increased cost of living. The importation of foreign wool is principally of the coarse grades, used in the manufacture of carpets. That class of wool our wool growers cannot supply in sufficient quantity to supply the demand, and the high tariff only adds to the cost of the articles made from it. The farmer, when he buys a carpet, or other product made of coarse wool, pays a big tax on it, with not even the compensating advantage of an increased profit on the wool he himself raises. Those farmers who do not raise sheep are practically unprotected by the tariff, although all agricultural products are included in schedule G, of the tariff law; yet the surplus of agricultural products raised above what this country can consume, when sold abroad, must compete in the world's markets, and the price is fixed by the foreign buyers. The price paid in the home market is controlled by the price the surplus brings, so in that case protection does not protect the farmer. There are a few exceptions to this rule, including those who raise sugar cane, rice and wrapper tobacco, but the trusts that control the market for those products get the largest slice of the profits. Some farmers who live near the Canadian border may be slightly protected by the lack of competition on eggs and vegetables from their Canadian neighbors, but this advantage, if any, is more than overcome by the increased price of what they purchase.

The farmer that votes to continue the protection tariff votes to protect and foster the trusts, and not only pays the tariff tax to the government but a much greater tax on about all he buys to the favored corporations.

No More Dead Issues.

The convention of 1904 should express the broad principles of the democracy since the beginning of the party, but must frame its platform as related to the policies of to-day rather than those of four, eight or thirty-six years ago. A party to be vital must not be living in the past, but should present to the country its views on the questions of interest to-day. True, the democratic party should not take a position that would be construed into a repudiation of its acts in past years. —Knoxville (Tenn.) Sentinel.

——There is reason to suspect that Senator Foraker isn't such an ardent Roosevelt man at heart now.—Atlanta Constitution.

——The farmers and the people generally must always pay the cost when Uncle Sam gets generous to the corporations and trusts. Government favoritism is good for the favorites, but it is hard on the people who foot the bills

——Senator Fairbanks indorses the Panama policy of Mr. Roosevelt. As a citizen and as a senator he has a right to his opinions. But there are those who think that Mr. Fairbanks is merely making a bid for the vice presidential nomination. If he is content to play second fiddle to the present occupant of the white house, that is his affair.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

THE TRUSTS ESCAPE.

Cortelyou's Bureau of Industries Has Failed to Find One That Is "Bad."

Secretary Cortelyou is at the head of the new department of commerce, whose bureau of industries has been trying so hard for a whole year to find a bad trust. If such a trust is found the life is to be frightened out of it by publishing the facts in regard to its crookedness.

Although we have frequently taken the trouble to tell Mr. Cortelyou where to fish if he wants to catch a big string of trusts, yet there is no evidence that he has as yet got a nibble. His patience must be nearly exhausted. Once more we will tell him that the trade and commercial papers and journals are filled with information about old and new trusts, many of which are of the most obnoxious type.

The Iron Age of Feb. 4 is filled with such information. Thus, the manufacturers of axes have just formed a new trust, which, at one jump, advanced the price of axes $1 a dozen. The hatchet manufacturers have behaved in a similar way. "Their organization," says the Iron Age, "is a strong one, regulating prices and production, and in its general features resembles the shovel association."

The axe, hatchet and shovel trusts, when they put up prices from 25 to 100 per cent, are most obnoxious to farmers, carpenters and others. They should be ferreted out and held up to public scorn. Then, if publicity don't make them ashamed of themselves and cause them to mend their wicked ways, perhaps it will occur to some bright member of President Roosevelt's official household to take away the tariff that protects these pestiferous trusts.

Mr. Cortelyou may remember the story of the bad boys up in the tree stealing the apples, who laughed at the farmer while he tried to drive them out by throwing tufts of grass at them, but who changed their tunes and ran away when he began to throw stones. That farmer was not such an everlasting chump, after all.

PARAGRAPHIC POINTERS.

——Gov. Taft's report says the Philippines are tranquil except the Moros. A few more prescriptions by Dr. Wood will probably make at least a few more of the Moros permanently tranquil.—N. Y. World.

——Another record has gone. It was broken by the republican house of representatives when 320 private pension bills were put through in 155 minutes. Clearly it is not "too soon before a presidential election" to pass one kind of legislation. — Louisville Courier-Journal.

——It has been apparent for a long time that Mr. Roosevelt's violent vociferation that he was being pursued by the trusts was merely a part of the game of politics. There has been no tangible evidence of opposition from that quarter, and, goodness knows, there has been no occasion for it. But opposition from really conservative republicans in Indiana is a very different matter.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

——Apropos of the Nebraska statesman who shudders at the thought of divorce for democracy and defeat, the Cortland Democrat says: "One thing which our esteemed republican contemporaries fail to note is that Mr. Bryan is saying it all. Nobody seconds the motion. So far for unanimous dissent. Men who have stood by him through thick and thin are expressing their regret that he should exhibit such narrow Bourbonism, and destroy his chance for future usefulness." —Binghamton (N. Y.) Leader.

——Senators, congressmen, editors, state chairmen, political bosses and political whips, cabinet ministers and government gaugers, labor leaders and Wall street sharks, men of all classes, conditions, races and colors, have been invited, dined, consulted and organized by a civil service president to nominate himself for the highest office in the gift of the American people. We regret, for the honor of the republic, that the most vicious form of machine politics has been and is now being exercised by the occupant of the white house.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune (Rep.).

——A horse can be led to the water, but cannot be made to drink. Likewise, President Roosevelt can call a special session of congress, but he cannot make the republican majority of that body pass legislation that he recommends as urgent and important. The late extraordinary session of congress in November enacted one important measure; that is, it was of the greatest importance to the law-givers, but, as far as the public was concerned, they could very well have awaited the regular session for its passage. This sole law was a joint resolution providing for the payment of mileage to the members.

SCREW DRIVER A WONDER.

Largest and Most Powerful Tool of This Kind Ever Devised Will Be Used in Big Tunnel.

The largest and most powerful screw drivers ever devised have just been delivered in the vicinity of New York. The Pennsylvania railroad in planning for its double tube under the North river has decided that it needed them, and the engineering department, working with the construction department, has provided them.

The carpenter in using the ordinary screw drivers exerts a power of about 30 pounds. The new screw driver will have a power of 200,000 pounds, equal to that exerted by 6,666 carpenters. They will drive great piles which must be sunk under the tunnel—they will, in fact, be the piles themselves. Inasmuch as about 1,000,000,000 pounds of metal will be used in the tubes, a faint idea of what the piles will have over them can be formed.

The screw driver piles are cylinders 2¼ feet in diameter, made of cast iron 1¼ inches thick. They will be located every 15 feet centrally, so that both tubes will be reenforced. They will be made in length short enough to be handled in the tunnel, the successive lengths being belted on as the pile sinks. The screw driver, or screw point, so-called, is at the end of the pile and is so constructed that it will have one turn of 21 inches and a diameter of 4¾ feet.

Examples of the power of the screw were given recently, when it was said that its force would be equaled only by a weight of 200,000 pounds placed on the pile, or it could be equaled by the power of a lever one-half mile long, at the end of which would be a man weighing 150 pounds.

MOST RAIN IN HALF CENTURY.

Almost Unprecedented Precipitation for 1903 in Great Britain Helps Public Health.

The official record of the rainfall in Great Britain for 1903 shows that the year was by far the wettest in more than half a century. Nearly two out of every three days were rainy. Rain fell for 205 days in London, against an average of 166 days the previous year.

Nevertheless, conditions have been unprecedentedly favorable in regard to the public health, there having never before been so low a death rate in either the urban or rural districts.

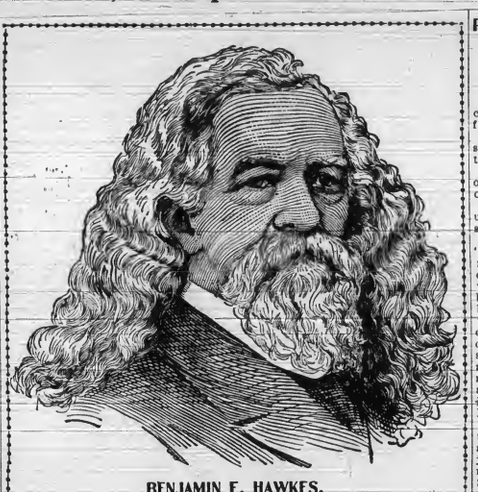
It seems evident that the heavy rainfall has washed the country clean. The flooding of streams and water courses has removed and destroyed injurious matter, which would otherwise have accumulated, and the drains and sewers have been flushed with unprecedented frequency.

The close of the year has not been marked with any particular form of illness. There has been no epidemic during the 12 months of influenza or other pulmonary affections which are usually associated with the prevalence of wet, cold weather.

New Fad in French Society.

The latest thing in "lettres de faire part" in France is nothing less than a divorce notification. A friend of mine received a neatly engraved card recently, writes a correspondent: "Monsieur Paul D. has the honor to inform you that his divorce was pronounced in his favor December 12, 1903, against Mme. Louis R. J." Sincere felicitations were sent immediately.

Could Probably Find Her.



An Alabama girl who is heiress to a fortune of $5,000,000 is mysteriously missing. It might be a good plan, says the Chicago Record-Herald, to call off the detectives and get some titled foreigner to come over and find her.

A COMRADE OF GENERAL GRANT

Says: "I Do Not Believe Pe-ru-na Has a Superior for Catarrh."

BENJAMIN F. HAWKES.

Benjamin F. Hawkes, of Washington, D. C., Is One of the Three Living Comrades of General Grant in His Cadet Days at West Point.

In a recent letter from 611 G street, S. W., Washington, D. C., this venerable gentleman says of Peruna:

"I have tried Peruna after having tried in vain other remedies for catarrh, and I can say without reservation that I never felt a symptom of relief until I had given Peruna the simple trial that its advocates advise. I do not believe it has a superior, either as a remedy for catarrh or as a tonic for the depressed and exhausted condition which is one of the effects of the disease." —Benjamin F. Hawkes.

Pe-ru-na is a Catarrhal Tonic Especially Adapted to the Declining Powers of Old Age.

In old age the mucous membranes become thickened and partly lose their function.

This leads to partial loss of hearing, smell and taste, as well as digestive disturbances.

Peruna corrects all this by its specific operation on all the mucous membranes of the body.

One bottle will convince anyone. Once used and Peruna becomes a life-long stand-by with old and young.

Mrs. F. E. Little, Tolona, Ill., writes: "I can recommend Peruna as a good medicine for chronic catarrh of the stomach and bowels. I have been troubled severely with it for over a year, and also a cough. Now my cough is all gone, and all the distressing symptoms of catarrh of the stomach and bowels have disappeared. I will recommend it to all as a rare remedy. I am so well I am contemplating a trip to Yellow Stone Park this coming season. How is that for one 71 years old?"

A TRAVELER AT SEVENTY-ONE YEARS OF AGE.

In a later letter she says: "I am only too thankful to you for your kind advice and for the good health that I am enjoying wholly from the use of your Peruna. Have been out to the Yellow Stone National Park and many other places of the west, and shall always thank you for your generosity."—Mrs. F. E. Little.

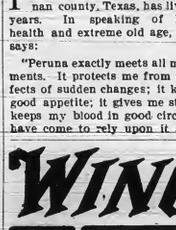
Strong and Vigorous at the Age of Eighty-eight.

Rev. J. N. Parker, Utica, N. Y., writes: "In June, 1901, I lost my sense of hearing entirely. My hearing had become somewhat impaired for several years, but not so much affected but that I could hold converse with my friends; but in June, 1901, my sense of hearing left me so that I could hear no sound whatever. I was also troubled with severe rheumatic pains in my limbs. I commenced taking Peruna and now my hearing is restored as good as it was prior to June, 1901. My rheumatic pains are all gone. I cannot speak too highly of Peruna, and now when eighty-eight years old can say it has invigorated my whole system." —Rev. J. N. Parker.

Mr. W. B. Schnader, of Terre Hill, Pa., writes:

"I got sick every winter, and had a spell of cold in February, 1899, I could not do anything for almost two months. In December, 1899, I saw one of your books about your remedies. Then I wrote to Dr. Hartman for advice, and he wrote that I should commence the use of Peruna, and now to take care of myself.

"I did not lose one day last winter that I could not tend to my stock. I am sixty-three years old, and I cannot thank you too much for what you have done for me."



If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

Pe-ru-na Used in the Family for Years.

Mrs. E. West, 137 Main street, Menasha, Wis., writes: "We have used Peruna in our family for a number of years and when I say that it is a fine medicine for catarrh and colds, I know what I am talking about. I have taken it every spring and fall for four years and I find that it keeps me robust, strong, with splendid appetite, and free from any illness. A few years ago it cured me of catarrh of the stomach, which the doctors had pronounced incurable. I am very much pleased with Peruna. I am 87 years old."—Mrs. E. West.

Personal Mention.

N. E. Riddell was transacting business in the city Friday.

Hugh Arnold and wife, of Petersburg, were in Burlington, Saturday.

Hubert Ryle, of East Bend, was transacting business in Burlington, Monday.

Chas. Delph, of Union neighborhood, was in town Monday, and made this office a pleasant call.

John L. Vest, the Kenton county telephone magnate, was in Burlington, one day last week.

O. O. Dixon and D. B. Dobbins, of Richwood, were looking after business in Burlington, Monday.

Mrs Maree Riddell was called to Walton, last Friday, on account of the illness of her sister and brother.

Miss Annie Cowen was called to Rising Sun, last week, on account of the illness of her brother, Dr. L. C. Cowen.

O. P. Tanner has put a telephone in his residence. Those having business with him should bear in mind that he retires early.

E. H. Snyder, of Gunpowder neighborhood, delivered 5,220 pounds of tobacco to Riley & Hogan, Monday. He got $4,36 and $7.

John Rice, of Richwood, called one day last week, and enrolled as one of the RECORDER'S numerous and continually growing family.

Sorry to hear that C. H. Acra, one of our Belleview correspondents, had the misfortune to fall on the ice a few days since and break a rib.

F. F. Bauer, of Florence, made this office a plessant call yesterday. He said that at the Knapp sale at Crescent Springs, Monday, 38 cows brought an average of $39.

Geo. L. Aydelott, of Richwood, called last Saturday and subscribed for the RECORDER to be sent to him at Newman, Illinois, to which place he will go this week. Hope prosperity will strike him good and hard in his new home.

Col. James T. Grant, of Bullittsville, started to Burlington on horseback, last Monday, and when he reached John Robert's about half a mile from town, his horse was so nearly exhausted, that he dismounted and hitched it to the fence and walked into town.

Prof. H. W. Northcutt and Henry Groger, of Crescent, were in Burlington one day last week. The Professor's school at Ft. Pleasant had closed and he wanted the Superintendent's check for the remainder of the money due him on account of his professional services.

Tragedy Averted.

"Just in the nick of time our little boy was saved" writes Mrs. W. Watkins, of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him, but he grew worse every day. At length we tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was saved. He's now sound and well." Everybody ought to know, it's the only sure cure for coughs, colds and all lung diseases. Guaranteed by all Druggists. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

We extend our many thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy shown us during our sickness and sad bereavement of our loving daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Utz.

CARD OF THANKS.—To all friends, for their kindness and sympathy shown us in our bereavement caused by the loss of our sister, Lizzie Alden, who passed to her eternal home, Feb. 16, 1904, we in this manner, express heartfelt thanks. THE FAMILY.

RABBIT HASH.

T. F. Campbell and wife have moved to East Bend.

Joe VanNess, of Hamilton, Ohio, is visiting his parents here.

Dr. Hopkins is again a citizen of Rabbit Hash, having moved back to the house he formerly occupied.

Mr. Andy Walton's little 5 year old daughter was severely burned one day last week, by her clothes igniting from an open fire.

Cad Wilson, who has been visiting his grandparents here since Christmas returned to his home near Bloomington, Ill., last week.

A letter from Missouri friends brings us the news that Rev. John McAtee, formerly of this neighborhood is entertaining a wee daughter at his house.

The death angel has again visited our neighborhood, and has left a family of small children fatherless and motherless. On Sunday, Feb. 21, John Ryle, known as Scott's John, died of pneumonia, and on the following Friday, at the same hour, his wife followed him, dying of same disease. The smallest child now has it. Kind hearted neighbors are careing for the orphaned children.

LANDING.

Feb. 28.—George Marksberry is quite sick.

Measles is all the style here.

J. E. Marksberry has bought several crops of tobacco the past week.

T. R. Huey has begun prizing tobacco in J. C Miller's warehouse.

We have seen many pretty valentines, but the loviest one of the season is one that our Buffalo friend received.

Your correspondent has returned to Landing after a ten days visit with relatives and friends in Big Bone Grange Hall neighborhood.

M. M. Black sold his crop of Tobacco for $125. His wife beat him $1 50 as she sold $126½ of marketing during the year. Mr. Black is a hustler but his wife is the greater in money making.

More Riots.

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the Liver or Kideys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, and effective nervine and the greatest all around medicine for run down systems. It dispels Nervousness, Rheumatism and Neuralgia and expels Malaria germs. Only 50c, and satisfaction guaranteed by all Druggists.

For Sale.—Good, fresh cow with second calf by her side. O. P. Conner.

FEMALE WEAKNESS

543 1-2 Congress St.
PORTLAND, MAINE, Oct. 17, 1903.

I consider Wine of Cardui superior to any doctor's medicine I ever used and I know whereof I speak. I suffered for nine months with suppressed menstruation which completely prostrated me. Pains would shoot through my back and sides and I would have blinding headaches. My limbs would swell up and I would feel so weak I could not stand up. I naturally felt discouraged for I seemed to be beyond the help of physicians, but Wine of Cardui came as a God-send to me. I felt a change for the better within a week. After nineteen days treatment I menstruated without suffering the agonies I usually did and soon became regular and without pain. Wine of Cardui is simply wonderful and I wish that all suffering women knew of its good qualities.

Willa Mae Snow
Treasurer, Portland Economic League

Periodical headaches tell of female weakness. Wine of Cardui cures permanently nineteen out of every twenty cases of irregular menses, bearing down pains or any female weakness. If you are discouraged and doctors have failed, that is the best reason in the world you should try Wine of Cardui now. Remember that headaches mean female weakness. Secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui today.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

VOL. XXIX. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 9, 1904. NO. 21

County Correspondence.

IDLEWILD.

March 7.—W. H. Grant is quite feeble at present.

Mrs. Ed Rice was visiting friends here, Friday.

Joe Feely moved from North Bend to J. J. Lillard's.

We hate to lose Mr. Hedges, but welcome Mr. Souther as a citizen.

Mrs. Fletcher Clore visited her children at Rushville, Ind., last week.

We tender Mr. J. J. Lillard our deepest sympathy in his sad bereavement.

This week has proven how transient life is. Six families here were moving this week.

A heavy rain fell here at 4 p. m. last Thursday, since which we have had several days nice weather.

Our faithful pastor was on hand, Sunday, although it was a rainy day. Congregation small—sermon excellent.

Carrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Meantor Graves, of Ludlow, is very sick of measles followed by pneumonia.

Mrs. O. E. Stephens, and Miss Pauline Winston and mother were guests of Mrs. R. C. Gaines, one day last week.

Thos. Whitaker celebrated his 81st birthday, last Wednesday, with a big dinner, which was enjoyed by several of his friends.

Here's our ... for the congratulation of Mr. and Mrs. Will Berkshire, who were married, last week. Friends here were not posted, but were not surprised at their marriage.

RABBIT HASH.

Mch. 7.—Born, March 5th, to H. D. Brady and wife, a boy—Wm. Duncan.

Master Robert Brady is enjoying a case of measles.

J. P. Ryle made a business trip to Louisville, last week.

Mrs. Alta Wilson is very sick and it is feared she can not recover.

Phil Cayton, Grant Williamson and Squire Scott are now on the sick list.

Lewis Clore went to Lawrenceburg, Ind., Saturday, to visit Lewis Stephens and wife.

Jake Hughes, of Beaver, was in our burg putting in a telephone switch board, last Thursday.

A two-year old child of Asa Delph fell from a chair and broke his arm, near the elbow, last Thursday.

Mrs. Alice Hunt, of Indiana, and daughter, Fleta Brazier, of Newport, were visiting at Mrs. Ward's, Thursday.

Walton Ward has returned from Lakeland. His friends and relatives are rejoiced that he is so much improved.

Frank Scott is again a citizen of this county. He moved from Indiana, last week, to the Marshall place in East Bend.

Miss Lolla Ward left, last week, for a visit of several weeks' with relatives in Huntington, W. V., and Newport, Ky.

Walton Bros., have supplied 24 men with hay this winter, and still have a quantity on hand. Choice baled hay at $11 50 per ton.

PETERSBURG.

Mch. 7.—Big river—lots of coal passing down.

W. T. Stott has a bad case of pneumonia.

At least two-thirds of our citizens have grippe or pink-eye.

Mrs. Geo. Brendell, of Muncie, Ind., is visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Ed Mathews, of Lawrenceburg, is a guest at Dr. Weindell's.

Orvill Buchanan, our popular news boy has a bad case of grippe.

A. S. Chambers is on duty in the revenue service here again.

The Methodist Sunday School is preparing an interesting Easter program.

Mrs. Henry Hoffman, of Huntington, W. V., is visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Perry McNealy has gone to Memphis, Tennessee, to visit her sons.

Misses Bessie and Fannie Stevens were guests of Miss Maud Wingate, last Saturday.

W. F. Gordon and Thos. Howard made a business trip to Patriot and Warsaw, last week.

READ IT THROUGH.

'Twould Spoil This Story to Tell It in the Headlines,

To use an eighteenth century phrase, this is an "o'er true tale. Having happened in a small Virginia town in the winter of 1902, it is a story very much of the present. Up to a short time ago Mrs. John E. Harmon, of Meifa Station, Va., had no personal knowledge of the rare curative properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. "Last January," she says, "my baby took a dreadful cold and at one time I feared she would have pneumonia, but one of my neighbors told me how this remedy had cured her little boy and I began giving it to my baby at once and it soon cured her. I heartily thank the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for placing so great a cure within my reach. I cannot recommend it too highly or say too much in its favor. I hope all who read this will try it and be convinced as I was." For Sale by All Druggists.

Health journals assert that to maintain a sound constitution we should lie only on the right side. The health journals may mean well enough; but what is the man to do who is editing a Democratic paper?—[Lie on the right side.—ED.]

If everybody was as ready and willing to lend a helping hand in time of sickness as our Napoleon Snelling, the sick would suffer for attention. Pode, as he is called, is not only ready and willing, but is an adept at waiting on the sick as woman can testify.

One of our newly married young men says "the sweetest thing in life is the unclouded welcome of a wife." This may be true young man, but when her welcome is clouded with an atmosphere of rolling-pins, rolling-pins, fire shovels and coal scuttles, there is something about it that will make you want to go out in the wood shed and sleep on the ice-chest.

Friday was gala day for the Commissary. Nine loads of tobacco enroute to Petersburg, passed through; four loads of Will Sebree's household goods passed through to the Henderson farm, and a book and sewing machine agent, and a huckster and beef wagon canvassed the burg. All this with the more than usual every day travel, comers and goers, made it a great day for us.

W. I. Rouse handed us the following: "We think the ball spoken of in the RECORDER at Florence in the year 1850, was in the house built by a Mr. Pitts for his son-in-law, Mr. William Hendon, on the corner of Pike and Banklick streets, afterwards it was turned into a store house, and kept by the late Thomas Sweetman. We have a recollection of being at the ball there about that time, and was acquainted with all of the parties that were there."

It is strange how easily our hearts are influenced by the change of seasons. The transition from one to the other is ever new and pleasing and our heart is gladdened with the cheering assurance that spring, the most joyful of the seasons, will soon be with us. The little brooklets will soon be released from their icy fetters, and go laughing, rippling and frolicing along their winding way, and the birds begin to sing their sweet songs in the budding branches, while the soft south wind calls forth the green grass. The wife of the farmer goes forth to gather greens to cook with hog-jole for their frugal meal; the farmer jabs his fingers into the rosebud mouth of the wild eyed calf to wean him from the gentle cow; the cowboy goes forth humming a jocund lay. So does the old hen. Of all the seasons give us spring, because it brings us hog jole and greens.

Faith in the stability and prudent management of fire insurance companies has been much strengthened by the sequels of the great fire in Baltimore. Nearly all of these corporations have acquitted themselves in such a way as to earn hearty approval on both sides of the Atlantic.

THE JAPANESE FLEET.

Seven Vessels Opened Fire on Vladivostok.

Four Russian Sailors and an Engineer's Wife Killed—Japanese Troops Threaten the Russian Flank in Northern Korea.

St. Peteraburg, March 7.—A communication from Viceroy Alexieff to the czar from Mukden, bearing Sunday's date, says:

"I most humbly inform your majesty that the commandant at the fortress at Vladivostok reports that at 8:30 this morning seven vessels were sighted south of Askold island. At 9:45 they were seen to be warships making for Askold island. About noon the enemy's squadron was midway between the coast and Askold island, making for Ussuri bay. They were out of reach of the shore batteries. At 1:30 the enemy opened fire. Two vessels in the squadron were probably the first class cruisers Idzum and Yakumo, but the names of the other vessels are unknown."

Official dispatches received here concerning the bombardment of Vladivostok by a Japanese fleet Sunday afternoon do not mention any Russian losses, but previous advices say that five were killed, four sailors and the wife of an engineer. It is apparent the Japanese were afraid to risk exposing their ships to the plunging fire of the land batteries and it is considered probable here that the attack was really for the purpose of drawing the fire of the Russian forts, compelling the Russians to disclose the position and caliber of their guns and also for the purpose of ascertaining whether the Russian squadron is in port. If this was the object of the Japanese it is believed to have failed signally, as the batteries did not fire a shot and if the squadron is in port it could not be seen from the Japanese position in the Bay of Ussuri on account of the high land which rises from the coast on that side, obstructing the view of the harbor.

Advices from Vladivostok say that the 2,500 Japanese troops who landed at Plaksin bay (on the east coast of Northern Korea), are advancing toward Musan (218 miles from Gensan), with the intention of ultimately reaching Hun Chun (on the left bank of the Tumen river, about 100 miles west of Vladivostok), and threatening the Russian flank. In order to checkmate this move the Russian outposts, 1,500 strong, which recently crossed the Tumen, is advancing to occupy Koryong, on the Tumen river, a walled city commanding the trails along which the Japanese must pass.

The wife of a naval officer gives a graphic account of the bombardment of Port Arthur, February 9, and the flight of women and children the next day. She was awakened in the middle of the night by the heavy reports of the guns and her first thought was that they were due to blasting operations at the dock yard, but when the guns of the fortress began to boom, she awoke the servants, who were terror-stricken. She then went out on the balcony and saw the searchlights wildly swirling.

The officer's wife, with an infant, took a train from Port Arthur in the morning and she describes the awful crush at the station and also at Dalny, where she learned of the fate of the Variag at Chemulpo. Great hardships were suffered by the travelers until they reached Irkutsk, 18 days later. The trains and stations were crowded and the woman found it impossible even to lay her baby down on the floor of the car, which was covered with baggage. She says that mothers fought to get food for their children.

Direct through telegraph communication is now established between Viceroy Alexieff's headquarters at Mukden and St. Petersburg. This is believed to be the longest circuit in the world, being over 5,000 miles, whereas the direct communication between London and Teheran, a distance of only 5,000 miles, has hitherto been the longest.

Yingste, Manchuria, March 4.—The Russo-Chinese bank is closing, preparatory to removing to Mukden. Women and children are preparing to leave Yingste in anticipation of the arrival of a Japanese fleet which is expected when the Liao river opens, probably a fortnight hence.

As far as known the only plans decided on are: Gen. Kuropatkin's headquarters are to be at Mukden; Viceroy Alexieff purposes to remain at Mukden indefinitely, as Mukden is the center of the Chinese administration and has a viceroyal bureau; the plain west of Tashahichiao, which is almost impossible for defense, will be held if possible on account of the railroad connecting with Port Arthur; Hai Cheng and Liaoyang are the extreme limits to which troops will be withdrawn on account of the exposure of the railroad at those points.

Vladivostok, March 4.—Eye witnesses of the naval fight at Port Arthur have just arrived here. They declare that the losses of the Japanese up to February 25 were greater than has been admitted in foreign newspapers. In addition to five steamers sunk they say that five torpedo boat destroyers, one gunboat and two torpedo boats were put out of action and several others so damaged that they will require extensive repairs.

Vladivostok, Wednesday, March 2, via St. Petersburg.—According to information received here 40 Japanese transports, escorted by the entire naval fleet, have been energetically landing troops in Korea at Fusan and Chemuipo. It is estimated that fully 100,000 men have disembarked, and it is supposed that an immediate advance into Northern Korea is contemplated.

From the fact that the Japanese fleet is thus employed it is felt that no immediate attack upon Vladivostok or Port Arthur will be made.

The reported landing of 2,500 Japanese at Song Chin, Plaksin bay, on the east coast of Korea, has been confirmed.

There is a remarkable rumor abroad that a quantity of transport material, together with 90 tons of salt fish, have been discovered laid away in secret places in the neighborhood of Nikolaievsk. They were apparently intended for the use of Japanese forces toward the end of the summer.

St. Petersburg, March 5.—The following dispatch, dated March 3, has been received from Maj. Gen. Pflug, commanding the Russian forces at Port Arthur: "All is quiet at Port Arthur and Yin Kow. According to information given by eye witnesses a Japanese cruiser having three funnels lies near Chemuipo, between islands, having recently sunk there."

Tokio, March 5.—It is evident that several vessels laden with coal, provisions and other contraband articles have recently affected the passage of Tsugaru strait and succeeded in reaching Vladivostok. Their exact number and names are unknown, but it is said that they included British, Norwegian and German vessels. Two of them are said to have carried cargoes of Australian coal. Japan evidently refrained from making a special effort to prevent their passage, and it is not impossible that she calmly permitted the delivery of the contraband goods, calculating that they would prove useful to herself at a later stage of the campaign. The Vladivostok squadron continues inactive, though it has an ample supply of coal and the ships are in good condition. It has evidently been instructed by the Russian government to remain in close to Vladivostok batteries in preference to risking a fight in the open seas.

It is declared to be only a question of time before this squadron will receive the attention of the Japanese navy.

A Rush Order Placed.

New York, March 7.—A rush order has been placed with an American firm for apparatus used in coaling warships at sea. It is expected that the 45 Russian vessels in home waters will be in position by June to proceed, if necessary, to far eastern stations.

Upholds Russia in the War.

St. Louis, March 7.—The Irish Nationalists, of St. Louis at their celebration of the birth of Robert Emmet, adopted resolutions upholding Russia in her war with Japan and expressing sympathy with Christian Russia against this "pagan horde."

Russian Soldiers Captured and Shot.

London, March 7.—The correspondent of the Standard at Tien-Tsin gives a rumor that 30 Russian soldiers were caught in an attempt to escape from Port Arthur and that they were shot the same day.

Arrived From the Orient.

St. Louis, March 7.—Francis A. Cari, commissioner of the imperial maritime customs service of China, and assistant commissioner with Wong Kai Hai, in charge of the Chinese World's fair exhibit, arrived from the Orient Sunday.

Ex-Gov. Russell's Condition.

Baltimore, March 7.—The resident physicians at Johns Hopkins hospital report that ex-Gov. Russell, of North Carolina, who is a patient at that institution, is much better, and that his condition is steadily improving.

MINER'S WAGE SCALE.

Operators and Workers Again Fail to Agree.

Special Committee Was Appointed by the Miner's Organization to Consider the Situation—Negotiations May Be Reopened.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 7.—The joint conference between the coal miners and operators of the central competitive district adjourned without reaching an agreement as to the scale of wages for the year commencing April 1. This is the second time there has been a failure to agree.

President Mitchell said Sunday night the situation between the miners and operators of the central competitive district had not changed since the adjournment of the joint conference Saturday night.

"The special committee," said he, "which was appointed Saturday by the miners' organization to consider the situation met this morning and appointed a sub-committee to frame a formal statement of the position which the United Mine Workers will now take. This sub-committee is at work and will Monday morning report to the full committee, which will submit its report to the miners in national convention at 9 o'clock. It will then be for the convention to ratify or reject the report of the committee."

"Will it be possible to submit the final settlement of the question as to the acceptance of the operators' compromise proposition to a referendum vote of the locals in the district?" Mr. Mitchell was asked.

"I don't know," replied Mr. Mitchell. "That will be determined later."

There was a conference Sunday between F. L. Robbins, leader of the operators, and President Mitchell. Neither would say what if anything was accomplished toward a reopening of negotiations. Later in the day President Mitchell and many other leaders of the miners were in secret consultation.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 7.—The Post Monday morning says: Tawe was by no means a hopeless spirit shown among the returning coal operators from the Indianapolis convention with the miners which closed Saturday with a disagreement.

From the best of authorities the Post was informed Saturday that the break in the negotiations between the two interests is not a permanent one and that by March 21 another meeting of the joint sub-committee will be held quietly. The whole matter will again be discussed among them and a solution to the present difficulty sought. It was further said that there was every reason for believing that the ultimate end of the whole matter would be the acceptance of the lower rate by the miners, or the 85-cent ton base for pick mining for the next two years. This agreement may not be reached by the end of the present month, but it would be soon after and in the meantime the suspension would be for a short time only, if at all.

Altoona, Pa., March 7.—Sub-District No. 1, of District No. 2, United Mine Workers of the Central Pennsylvania bituminous field, has unanimously adopted a resolution insisting on the continuance of 66 cents a ton for pick mining, 59 cents a ton for machine mining, an increase of 40 per cent. over the old rate, and an increase for drivers and day laborers. The annual district convention will be held here next week. The delegates have been instructed to resist any reduction even to the point of striking. The Central Pennsylvania delegates led the fight for no reduction at the Indianapolis convention.

Remarkable Operation.

Philadelphia, March 7.—Thomas Emerson, who was stabbed in the heart by his sweetheart, has been the subject of an unusual operation. His heart was lifted out of the body and six stitches were taken to close the big gash made by the woman's knife. The organ was replaced and Emerson is recovering.

First Degree Murder.

St. Louis, March 7.—After deliberating for almost three hours a jury in the case of "Lord" Frederick Seymour Barrington, tried for the murder of James P. McCann, a Lexington (Ky.) horseman, returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. The penalty is death.

Said He Had Been Married 47 Times.

Elizabeth, N. J., March 7.—When James H. Shippe, 32, a street car conductor, was arraigned on the charge of bigamy, he astonished the judge by admitting that he had been married many times, "about 47 times," he thought. Two of his wives were in court.

Secretary to Taft.

Washington, March 7.—Frederick S. Carpenter has been appointed private secretary to Secretary Taft, succeeding Merrill O. Chance, who has been appointed chief of the supply division of the post office department.

A Sir Thomas Lipton Cup.

New York, March 7.—Sir Thomas Lipton has notified Thomas Fleming Day, editor of the Rudder, that he will present, through the Marblehead Bay Yacht club, a cup to be sailed for by small yachts over a 300-mile course, which Mr. Day is getting up.

Cement Workers to Strike.

Chicago, March 7.—The Cement Finishers and Helpers' union will go on strike Monday to enforce its demands for higher wages. The walkout will tie up extensive sidewalks improvements that have been planned.

EMMET ANNIVERSARY.

Sympathy For the People of Ireland the Keynote of Addresses.

Washington, March 7.—Sympathy for the people of Ireland and a declaration of hope that she soon will be free were the keynote of addresses made by the speakers at the celebration Monday night of the 126th anniversary of the birth of Robert Emmet by the United Irish societies of the District of Columbia. Among those who made speeches were Representatives Kehoe, Kentucky; Dovener, West Virginia, and Wiley, Alabama, and Delegate Rodey, of New Mexico. Resolutions were adopted appealing to the liberty-loving people of the United States to take steps to aid in restoring to the Irish people, "allied to them by so many glorious associations in the revolutionary and civil wars the God-given right of nationhood," and for the erection of statues to Gen. John S. Sullivan and Commodore John Barry, of revolutionary war fame.

KNOCKOUT DROPS.

New York Theatrical Agent Died From Its Effects.

New York, March 7.—Leon Melles, a theatrical agent, died Sunday at his home from the supposed effects of "knockout drops." Just before he died he gave the name of a young woman with whom he had been on friendly terms for about a year, who, he said, was responsible for his condition. The attending physician said that in his opinion Melles was the victim of chloral poisoning. The police are looking for the woman. Melles, who at one time was known on the stage as Lance de Melles, returned home early Saturday morning in a dazed condition and was later seized with convulsions. An autopsy will be performed.

BRIGHAM H. ROBERTS.

He Rejoices in the Testimony Given By President Smith.

Salt Lake City, March 7.—Brigham H. Roberts, who was expelled from congress because of his polygamous practices a few years ago, declared in an address here Sunday that he rejoiced in the testimony given by President Smith before the senate committee because in this way a larger audience was reached than could be by any other means. "I see the finger of God in taking this means of putting the truth of Mormonism before the world," said Mr. Roberts. The subject of Mr. Roberts' address was "Witnesses to the Book of Mormonism."

SEVEN-DAY ADVENTISTS.

The Southwestern Division Begins a Week's Session at Omaha.

Omaha, Neb., March 7.—Seven-Day Adventists of the southwest division of the general conference of that denomination began a week's session Sunday night.

Elder A. G. Daniels, of Washington, D. C., president of the general conference, preached the opening sermon. He declared that the present war would involve all the great powers of the world and that it was the beginning of a strife that would disrupt the world.

COUNT VON WALDERSEE.

Funeral of the Late Field Marshal Will Take Place Wednesday.

Berlin, March 7.—The funeral of the late Field Marshal Count Von Waldersee, who died Saturday, will be held at noon on Wednesday. Emperor William and Empress Augusta Victoria, all the members of the house of Hohenzollern and the sovereigns of all the German states, and also many eminent persons abroad, have telegraphed condolences to Countess Von Waldersee.

DIED ON A TRAIN.

Charles Washington Foltz, of Michigan, Expires Near Somerset, Ky.

Cincinnati, March 7.—Charles Washington Foltz, of St. Joseph, Mich., died in his Pullman berth near Somerset, Ky., on the Queen & Crescent limited, Sunday. When the train arrived here Sunday night the coroner met Mrs. Foltz at the depot and arranged for her to proceed with the remains to Michigan. Foltz had gone south for his health and on being advised that he could not recover, wanted to get home before he died.

Samuel A. Groff Sentenced.

Washington, March 7. — Justice Pritchard overruled the motion of Samuel A. Groff, one of the recently convicted defendants in the post office trial, and sentenced him to two years in the Moundsville penitentiary and to pay a fine of $10,000.

Soldiers and Indians Fighting Fire.

Lawton, Okla., March 7.—The fire which broke out in the military reservation north of Fort Sill Saturday night was still burning Sunday night. The soldiers and Indians have been busy all day fighting it.

Prominent Presbyterian Divine Dead.

Philadelphia, March 7.—Rev. Willard M. Rice, D.D., a well-known Presbyterian divine, died Sunday at the home of his son-in-law, J. Marshall Buddy, at Haverford, a suburb. He was 87 years of age. He was the author of many works.

Three Sons Burned to Death.

Buctouche, N. B., March 7.—Three sons of Mrs. Louis Savole, a widow, were burned to death, and a fourth probably fatally injured in a fire that destroyed their home at Black river during the night.

AGRICULTURE IN WESTERN CANADA.

Its Grain Fields, Ranching Lands, Dairying Resources.

The Editor of the Wisconsin Agriculturist, who was one of a party of editors of agricultural papers, took a trip through Canada during the past spring, writes to his paper in the following strain:—

The reason of his visiting Canada was to satisfy himself that the reports coming to his paper regarding the wonderful resources of that country were accurate. In view of the wonderful settlement that was going on there, many from this country crossing the line in search of permanent homes, and in view of what he had heard in regard to conditions of soil, water, climate, topography, fuel, grasses, rainfall, markets, etc., and also the influence which these have had on the present and future agriculture, he deemed it necessary to make an extended trip through all of the above territory.

In speaking of the Province of Manitoba, he says:—

"The Province of Manitoba comprises within its limits the far-famed "grain-growing valleys of the Assiniboine and Red Rivers. Although "called the Prairie Province of Canada, Manitoba has large areas of forests, numerous rivers and vast water "expansions.

"The soil is a rich, deep, mould, or "loam, resting on a deep clay sub-soil. "It is well adapted to wheat growing, "giving a bountiful yield of the finest "quality, known the world over as "No. 1 hard wheat. During the past "ten years the growth of wheat and "other grains has steadily increased, "until now the production, by 35,000 "farmers, reaches 100,000,000 bushels. "Of the 23,000,000 arable acres in Manitoba, probably not one-half of it is "occupied. Cultivated grasses yield "about two tons per acre, and native "grasses a ton and a half.

"There can be no question but that "dairying will become a great industry throughout the north-west, and "especially cheese making, as the cli"mate is favorable and similar to that "of Ontario.

"Crops grown are wheat, barley, "oats, flax, rye, peas, corn, for fodder, "brome, potatoes, roots, etc. The soil "is very fertile, and moisture ample. "The climate is good, and the growing "season, while not quite so long as in "Wisconsin, matures crops as the sun "shines much longer, rising about four "o'clock and shines until about nine "at night. One can easily read a newspaper at 10 p. m. The long days make "growth fast, and push crops to maturity ahead of frost.

"The ranching, the wheat growing, "and the mixed farming belts all cross "over Assiniboia. The yield and the "quality of wheat raised along the main "line of the Canada Pacific Railway, at "such places as Indian Head and its "allied districts, have become famous. "Its possibilities are shown by the "averse of tests made at the experimental farm in 1902, when eleven varieties of the most suitable wheat, "sown on April the 19th, were cut in "130 days; and yielded 4,314 pounds "of straw, and 42 bushels and 2 pounds "of grain per acre. Its mixed farming "area is excellent, its range cattle, "horses and sheep are the equals of any "seen in the north-west, and its treeless portion is underlaid with coal. "The town of Medicine Hat is heated "and illuminated with natural gas. "There are abundant deposits of brick, "pottery and fire clays."

Agents of the Canadian Government will be pleased to mail an Atlas to any one interested, and also all other information regarding railway rates, etc.

AND THEN HE RANG OFF.

Thought He Had a Sure Case on the Young Lady, But She Switched Him Finally.

The manager of the big store stood stock-still outside the little boxlike chamber which held the telephone of the establishment, for he was a very startled manager indeed. Within the chamber he could hear Miss Jones, the typist, speaking; and this, says the Chicago Journal, is a scrap of the conversation the scandalized man overheard:

"I love you dear, and only you! I'm weeping my heart away! Yes, my darling, speak to me once more! I love you, dear—I love you so!"

The young woman rang off and stepped out of the cabinet to confront the angry manager.

"Miss Jones," he said, "that telephone has been fixed where it is for the purpose of convenience in conducting business, and not for lovemaking in office hours. I am surprised at you. Don't let it occur again!"

The young woman froze him with a glance.

"I was ordering some new music from the publishers for No. 3 department," she explained, icily.

And then the manager felt that this was a cold world, indeed.

Not Quite a Kick.

A few years ago a man living near Wichita had an only daughter. She married and went to live at Emporia. After her marriage her parents sold their farm and moved to Wichita, where they bought a small hotel and made good returns. One day the daughter and her husband came for a visit. They remained two days, then another, and made no movement toward home. Finally the father-landlord called his son-in-law to his side and said: "What a pity, John, that you and Mary didn't come to visit us at the farm. We were not keeping hotel then and it wouldn't have cost you a cent to have staid as long as you wanted to."—Wichita Eagle.

Teosinte and Billion Dollar Grass.

State News Happenings

KILLED IN THE HOUSE.

The Bill Seeking to Regulate the Affairs of Parties Tabled.

Frankfort, March 3.—Senate—The senate Wednesday passed the bill to amend the code so as to preserve evidence of title to land. House bill 205, known as the McInerney bill, to require circuit clerks instead of sheriffs to serve as county election commissioners in counties containing second-class cities or where the sheriff can not act, was called up by Senator Carroll and passed. The Prewitt bill requiring an affidavit to accompany all claims presented to the county fiscal courts, was passed. The Byron bill to render more humane the execution of condemned criminals, by having them electrocuted inside the state penitentiaries instead of being hanged in the county of conviction, was passed by 25 to 6.

House—The house called from the clerk's desk house bill No. 337, which the senate amended so as to leave Breathitt county in Judge Riddell's district, and made a new district out of Magoffin, Floyd and Knott counties. The senate substitute, or amendment, was adopted by a vote of 52 to 22. Mr. Miller, of Madison, desired to offer an amendment, claiming that as an independent body the house had the right to amend the bill, which was entirely different from the one sent to the senate by the house. Mr. Wells moved to reconsider the vote by which the house concurred in the senate amendment, and Mr. Klair moved to table that motion to reconsider. The motion to table was adopted, and the bill finally passed, but not until after much filibustering for delay on the part of Messrs. Newcomb and Miller.

Frankfort, March 4.—Senate—Senator Cox introduced a new bill into the senate Thursday providing a penalty for the selling, purchasing or forging of registration certificates. The bill to reimburse cemetery companies for over-payment of taxes was passed. The Shadoan bill, amending and revising the present law as to roads and pass-ways, was passed. The house bill authorizing the city of Owensboro to cede an acre of ground for a government building was passed. The Gilkerson water bill creating a state forestry commission, which was defeated several days ago for lack of a constitutional majority, was reconsidered, and the bill was passed by 25 to 2.

House—The house killed the bill providing that no party committeeman should at the same time serve as a state, county or city officer. It was a long, drawn-out fight, and a number of the house leaders have changed about on the bill since it first come up for discussion two weeks ago. Mr. Alverson offered a joint resolution in the house, which was laid over, providing for paying $169 for the funeral expenses of the late Representative H. P. McDonald and also the rest of his per diem. The house adopted the Renaker resolution requesting Kentucky's delegation in congress to urge the passage of a law providing more compensation for rural route mail carriers.

Frankfort, March 5.—Senate—In the senate Friday Senator Burnam called up the house bill appropriating $2,500 for a monument at Boonesboro to commemorate the first settlement in Kentucky, and it passed by a vote of 30 to 2, Senators Cammack and J. F. Porter voting against it. Bills passed: Providing that in town elections in towns which are divided by the county line, all the voters in the town shall have the right to vote; to place the preferred stock of railroad companies on the same footing as stock of other companies, as far as the right of redemption is concerned; to punish the suppression of evidence by fixing a penalty for any one leaving the state to avoid testifying before a legislative committee or grand jury; requiring that the school fund shall be distributed to each county according to its pro-rata share.

House—Bill passed: Providing for the appointment by the fiscal court of a truant officer in each first, second, third and fourth class city, to see that the compulsory education law is enforced. At the afternoon session of the house Mr. Williams' bill proposing to allow fourth class cities to levy a tax of 65 cents instead of 50 cents for school purposes, came up for passage, but was recommitted. Mr. Bournes' bill to change the constitution so as to disfranchise persons who have not paid their taxes, was defeated. The senate bill prohibiting the selling of liquor at wholesale in local option districts failed of passage because it did not receive 40 votes. There were 38 for it and 19 against.

The Boxing Bill Beaten.

Louisville, Ky., March 4.—Chris. Mueller, of this city, made his maiden speech in the house of representatives in Frankfort Thursday for his five-ounce-glove contest bill. The bill was beaten 34 to 25. This knocks out the proposed glove contests in Louisville.

Gorman Can't Come.

Frankfort, Ky., March 4.—Senator Arthur P. Gorman will not address the Kentucky legislature. Chairman Alverson, of the committee which sent the invitation, Thursday received a letter from the senator conveying his regrets.

KILLED FIVE INDIANS.

Charles C. Williamson Avenged the Death of His Companions.

Hodgenville, Ky., March 5.—Standing beside the dead bodies of four of his fellow-Kentuckians, victims of Indians, with a volley of bullets whizzing past his ears, Charles C. Williamson, it is declared, returned the fire of a band of red men who had attacked his party near El Reno, Okla., and sent five of them to the "Happy Hunting Ground" before he fell mortally wounded himself from a bullet through the head.

Williamson formerly lived in Hodgenville, but later resided in Cincinnati. A brief message to his brother-in-law, Judge C. R. Hagan, of this place, Friday, gives an account of the attack made upon the party of white men by a band of Indians, and describes the battle that followed as a desperate one in which 13 Indians were arrayed against eight white men.

The hostilities, it is said, were begun by the Indians, who fired into the camp of whites, taking them unawares. The motive of the attack was presumably robbery.

Shoots Himself in a Lady's Presence.

Jackson, Ky., March 5.—Will Joseph, the 18-year-old son of a prosperous farmer living on Hunting creek, 15 miles north of here, committed suicide at the home of a neighbor. He had stopped in to call on a young lady. While engaged in conversation with her, without apparent cause, he deliberately drew his revolver and fired through his own brain.

Quadruplets in a Kentucky Home.

Louisville, Ky., March 4.—Mrs. Laura Wyman, wife of one of the largest landowners in Central Kentucky, has given birth to quadruplets. Mr. Wyman immediately named them Grover Cleveland Wyman, Marcus Hanna Wyman, Theodore Roosevelt Wyman and Willie Bryan Wyman. The last is a girl.

Child Swallowed a Breastpin.

Carter, Ky., March 3.—The 4-year-old daughter of Orville Chinn, a well to do merchant of Cooperville, four miles from here, swallowed an oval brass breastpin. She has not been able to eat since. She has been taken to Cincinnati to have the obstruction removed.

Another Indian Jockey.

Lexington, Ky., March 5.—Walter Grater has sold for $1,000 to Bob May one year's contract on the lightweight rider Albert Robinson. Grater has a three-year contract on the boy dating from May 1, 1904. The lad is a half breed Indian, and came to Grater when he was 10 years old.

Suit For Libel.

Jackson, Ky., March 4.—A sensation was developed here Thursday when Beach Hargis, by his father, James Hargis, filed suit in the Breathitt circuit clerk's office for $5,000 against a newspaper published in Lexington for libel.

Prof. Fairchilds Passes Away.

Salyersville, Ky., March 4.—Prof. J. M. E. Fairchilds, aged 53, one of the most prominent educators of this section of the state, died at his home near this place. He was a teacher in the public schools and colleges of this section for the past 35 years.

Shewmaker Not Guilty.

Springfield, Ky., March 3.—The case of the commonwealth against Leslie Shewmaker, charged with the murder of George Shewmaker, which has been on trial in the circuit court here for several days, has been concluded, the jury returning a verdict of not guilty.

Kentucky State College Won.

Lexington, Ky., March 5.—The basket ball game given in this city between Kentucky state college and a team representing the University of Cincinnati resulted in a victory for the local team by a score of 25 to 21.

Death of Mrs. Mattie Bisaett.

Harrodsburg, Ky., March 5.—Mrs. Mattie Bissett, one of the best known and most popular ladies in the county, died at her home, near Braxton, of tuberculosis. She had three sons, all graduates of Annapolis.

Robert Wooda Acquitted.

Manchester, Ky., March 5.—The jury in the case against Robert Woods for killing his sten-father-in-law last June returned a verdict of not guilty in 30 minutes after the case was submitted to them.

The English Stallion Arrives.

Lexington, Ky., March 5.—Mimie, the English stallion recently purchased by James B. Haggin, arrived at Elmendorf stud Friday. He is in excellent condition. He is by Galopein, the English Derby winner, dam Mimi.

Mill Closed Down.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., March 5.—The Southern Milling Co. closed down their mill at Valley View Friday on account of no tide in the river. One hundred men are thrown out of employment. Several other mills will shut down this week.

Jockey Lyne Denies It.

Lexington, Ky., March 5.—Jockey Lucien Lyne says that the report printed in the eastern papers that he would cross the Atlantic to ride Richard Croker's colt Clonmell in the Epsom Derby was without foundation.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

Senator Fairbanks Will Accept If He Receives the Nomination.

Washington, March 5.—It was learned Friday night that Senator Fairbanks will not resist a movement to make him the vice presidential nominee of the republican party. If the convention nominates him he will accept. More than that, he will not attempt to discourage efforts looking to his nomination.

It is only fair to say that no explicit declaration by Senator Fairbanks to that effect has been made. The Indiana delegation in congress was convinced Friday that Senator Fairbanks had yielded to the solicitation of men high in the councils outside of Indiana to take second place on the national ticket.

Almost without exception his closest political friends in Indiana have advised him, in his own interest, against accepting the vice presidency. Influential republicans in the senate, such men as Spooner, Allison and Platt, have urged him to take it, on the ground that he would strengthen the republican ticket, especially in financial circles, and that his first duty is to his party rather than to his own political future.

THE CRUISER DENVER.

Her Preliminary Trip Was Very Satisfactory.

Philadelphia, March 5.—After a preliminary trial trip off the Delaware breakwater, in which she attained an average speed greater than that required by her contract, the cruiser Denver returned to anchor off the yard of her builders, Neafie & Levys, late Friday. Satisfaction with the vessel's performance was expressed by the company's officers and the government's experts who were on the trip.

One of the officials of the company said the Denver attained a speed of 18.8 knots and an average of somewhat more than the 17 knots called for in the contract with the government.

The cruiser is now complete with the exception of painting, and when her official trial trip takes place the vessel will be ready to be turned over to the government.

THEY DEMAND DAMAGES.

Suits Aggregating $300,000 Entered Against the Vindicator Mine Co.

Cripple Creek, Col., March 5.—Damage suits aggregating $300,000 growing out of the recent conspiracy cases against Sherman Parker, Thomas Foster and W. F. Davis, union leaders, were filed against F. J. Campbell, principal owner of the Vindicator mine, Friday. Campbell swore to the complaints against the men. After a trial lasting nearly two weeks the defendants in the conspiracy cases were acquitted. They now demand damages from Campbell.

RURAL MAIL CARRIERS.

Measure Introduced to Permit Them to Engage In Other Business.

Washington, March 5.—Senator Alger introduced an amendment to the post office appropriation bill amending the provision inserted by the house prohibiting rural carriers from engaging in other business, so that carriers may carry articles authorized by law not authorized to be accepted for mailing; also to make contracts with publishers to distribute newspapers and periodicals upon which one rate of postage has been paid.

THE ASIATIC FLEET.

Annual Record Target Practice Has Been Completed.

Washington, March 5.—Adjt. Evans telegraphs the navy department that the annual record target practice of the battleships and cruisers of the Asiatic fleet has been completed. The best single scores made were as follows: In 11 minutes and 20 seconds the best 13-inch gun of the Wisconsin made nine hits, the Oregon six hits and the Kentucky five hits. The best 5-inch gun of the Kentucky made 11 hits in two minutes.

Charles C. Whitney's Sudden Death.

New York, March 5.—Charles Carroll Whitney, for 25 years secretary of the New York Life Insurance Co., died suddenly Friday of heart disease while on his way from his office to his home in Brooklyn. Mr. Whitney was 71 years old.

When the civil war broke out Mr. Whitney was in charge of the only telegraph office in Indianapolis. Later he worked under Secretary of the Treasury New, of President Lincoln's cabinet.

Portable Churches on Wheels.

St. Petersburg, March 5.—The Grand Duchess Elizabeth Feodorovna, wife of Grand Duke Serge Alexandrovitch, the czar's uncle, has persuaded the government to send a number of portable churches on wheels to the far east to attend to the spiritual needs of the troops.

The Week's Business Failures.

New York, March 5.—Business failures in the United States for the week ending with March 3 number 195, as against 200 last week and 171 in the like week in 1903, 178 in 1902. In Canada failures for the week number 19, as against 15 last week.

Will Operate the Push Chairs.

St. Louis, March 5.—It is announced that the guides who will operate the push chairs at the St. Louis exposition will be selected from the students of universities in the United States. Hundreds of applications have been made.

THE SMOOT HEARING.

President Smith, of the Mormon Church, on the Stand.

He Said He Adhered Absolutely to All the Teachings of the Church Regarding Divine Revelations and Still Believes in Polygamy.

Washington, March 3.—An effort to air the innermost secrets of the Mormon faith was manifested in the first day's proceedings before the senate committee on privileges and elections, which is investigating the protests against Reed Smoot retaining his seat as a senator from Utah. President Joseph D. Smith, the highest official of the church, was on the stand all day. He was questioned closely in regard to the principles of divine revelations. He said he adhered absolutely to all the teachings of the church in that regard and that he himself had been visited with divine inspirations from God directing him as to doings in matters pertaining to the welfare of the church, though no angels had to come to him as in the case of revelation to his uncle, Joseph Smith, jr., the founder of the church. He subscribed to the standard of authority for the church in relation to the revelation commanding polygamy as made known to the first president from an "angel in black."

He also said he still believed in polygamy.

Washington, March 4.—Attorneys for the protestants in the Smoot investigation said they intended to prove that the defendant is associated with a hierarchy which practices polygamy and connives at violations of the law and that his very vote as a senator of the United States is subject to the wish and command of the Mormon church. President Joseph F. Smith confessed that he himself had continued to cohabit with his plural family since the manifesto of 1890 and that he realized fully that he was violating state laws. President Smith also testified that Reed Smoot had to get the consent of his associated apostles in the church before he could become a candidate for senator.

Mr. Smith, in answer to questions by Chairman Burrows, declared he had performed no polygamous marriages since 1890 anywhere on earth. Mr. Dubois asked if any of the apostles had performed such service and Mr. Smith said if they had they would have been fined and imprisoned if found guilty and if the charge could be proved the offender would be excommunicated.

The celestial marriage, or the marriage for eternity, Mr. Smith said, was one of the things the Mormon church believed in, but the practice had been in disuse for 20 years or more. This marriage was described as one to carry two persons through Heaven in happiness and that often was performed when one party was dead and some times when both parties were dead. In that event the relatives of the contracting parties represented them. When questioned closely Mr. Smith admitted that a man and woman, both living, were sometimes married for "eternity."

Washington, March 5.—Interest in the investigation before the senate committee on privileges and elections of the protests against Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, was unabated Friday. President Joseph M. Smith, who again was on the stand, testified that if the principle of plural marriage should be attacked it would be defended by the church. Considerable feeling was evidenced by President Smith against individuals, who, he said, had spied on the domestic and marital relations of the high officials of the Mormon church, and for that reason he had favored the passage of the Evans bill to prevent prosecutions for polygamous cohabitation, unless complaints were entered by husband or wife against the other. This bill was passed, but vetoed by the governor of Utah.

It was brought out that all of Mr. Smith's predecessors, as president of the Mormon church, had been polygamists and that the man chosen to succeed him has more than one wife.

Mr. Smith was asked which he would obey, the law of the land or revelations from God, if the two were in conflict. He said he might obey the revelation, though it was not compulsory. He added: "I should not like to be put in a position where I would have to desert my children—I could not do that."

Mr. Smith testified that the law making polygamous cohabitation a crime was passed by the Utah territorial legislature, which was overwhelmingly composed of Mormons, and that the constitutional convention was composed of a large majority of Mormons.

Gov. Vardaman Commended.

Jackson, Miss., March 3.—The legislature adopted a resolution condemning burnings at the stake and commending Gov. Vardaman for his prompt action in preventing a lynching last Saturday.

World Championship Match.

Paris, March 5.—M. Vignaux, French billiardist, defeated George Sutton, American player, in the world championship match, 18-inch balk line, one shot in 500 points. Sutton had obtained only 377 when Vignaux went out.

Horses and Mules For the Philippines.

San Francisco, March 5.—The transport Dix arrived here Friday from Portland. As soon as the hold can be fitted with stalls the vessel will take a consignment of horses and mules to the Philippines.

FIFTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS.

Regular Session.

Washington, March 3.—Senate—The bill for the regulation of Philippine shipping was again the principal subject of discussion by the senate Wednesday. It was made the subject of a somewhat general discussion of the Philippine question and was amended so as to defer for a year the time when the bill shall take effect. A large number of private pension bills were passed.

House—The house devoted the entire day to consideration of the District of Columbia appropriation bill, but did not conclude action on the measure. The house, in committee of the whole, amended the bill by unanimous vote so as to fix the maximum rates which may be charged the District of Columbia for telephone service or for telephones in private residences at from $25 to $50 per annum.

Washington, March 4.—Senate—For almost four hours Thursday the senate, while technically engaged on the naval appropriation bill, discussed a wide range of subjects, including the policy of the United States in the Philippines, and the Russo-Japanese war. Mr. Hale, in charge of the naval bill, criticised the plans of the naval board as tending to an establishment beyond the needs of the country. Mr. Lodge Mr. Depew and Mr. Perkins defended the naval officers. Mr. Lodge declared a large navy essential to the maintenance of peace. Mr. Money said he did not consider the total appropriation, $97,000,000, carried by the bill, as excessive under our present policy in the Orient. He, however, criticised that policy, as did other democratic speakers.

House—In the house a letter from Grover Cleveland to Representative Webb (N. C.), denying that C. H. J. Taylor, a Negro, has dined with him at the white house while he was president, as charged by Representative Scott (Kan.), a few days ago. Mr. Scott promptly offered his apology to the former president, saying he never before had heard the statement which he made denied. A discussion of the race question followed during which Mr. Williams, the minority leader, criticised President Roosevelt for having invited Booker T. Washington to a seat at his table. Representative Webb said Mr. Cleveland had been a friend of the Negro, but never had held him the hope of social equality. Mr. Williams said that objection to the appointment of a Negro to a position was met with the statement that there could be no discrimination, but asserted that a Chinaman would not be appointed a postmaster on the Pacific coast. The house passed the District of Columbia appropriation bill and took up the Indian appropriation bill.

Washington, March 5.—Senate—Practically the entire time of the senate Friday was given to consideration of the question of the selection of a site for a naval training station on the great lakes. Most of the senators from states bordering on the lakes participated in the discussion. The controversy arose over an effort to secure as an amendment to the committee amendment a provision authorizing the appointment of a new commission to select a site. This amendment was offered by Mr. Quarles, and its origin was due to the fact that a former commission had given preference to Lake Bluff, in Illinois. The principal speakers were Messrs. Quarles and Spooner, who presented the advantages of Racine, Wis.; Mr. Hopkins, who spoke for Lake Bluff, and Mr. Foraker, whose contentions were in the interest of Put-in Bay, O. The committee amendment was so modified as to make it apply to all the great lakes and not alone to Lake Michigan, but Mr. Quarles' amendment was not acted upon.

House—The house had under consideration the Indian appropriation bill. During the general debate on the bill Mr. Martin (rep., S. D.), addressed the house on his resolution directing the secretary of commerce and labor to investigate the causes of the differences which exist between the cost of live and dressed beef. Mr. Stanley (dem., Ky.) made an urgent appeal for relief at the hands of congress for the tobacco growers and the toilers in the tobacco fields and complained that competition had been destroyed by combinations of capital. Mr. Robinson (dem., Ind.), in closing the general debate on the Indian bill, declared that a monopoly exists in the coal business in the Indian territory. The house confirmed the right of Mr. Sims (dem., Tenn.), to his seat. A republican had contested it.

TO INCREASE SALARIES.

President, Cabinet and Others Affected By a Bill Introduced.

Washington, March 2.—Senator Gallinger Tuesday introduced a bill increasing the salaries of the executive officers of the government and also of senators and members of the house of representatives. The bill, which provides the new salaries, shall take effect March 4, 1905. The bill fixes the following scale: President, $75,000; vice president, $15,000; speaker of the house of representatives, $12,000; members of the cabinet, $15,000 each; senators and members of the house, $8,000 each.

Count Von Waldersee Ill.

Berlin, March 5.—There is no improvement according to dispatches from Hanover in the condition of Count Von Waldersee. Prof. Orth, of Berlin, and Prof. Epstein, of Goettingen, have diagnosed the disease as intestinal inflammation. The count is very weak and the worst is feared.

Want River Improvements.

Kansas City, March 5.—A delegation of prominent citizens left here for Washington where they expect to appear before the house committee on rivers and harbors and make a plea for an appropriation of $1,500,000 for river improvements.

A Government Cement Plant.

Washington, March 5.—The interior department has decided to proceed with the erection of a government cement plant in the vicinity of the Tonto Basin, Ariz., for furnishing material for the big irrigation project there.

HON. E. C. SMITH, OF CARROLLTON, CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS.

To the Voters of Boone County:—

I trust, before the date set for the meeting of the convention to express your choice of a representative from the 6th District of Kentucky, that I shall have the pleasure of meeting you personally. If possibly I am not permitted that privilege, I desire through the columns of the RECORDER to assign some of the reasons why I am a a candidate, and why I especially solicit your support.

Carroll county, of which I am a native, has not had a representative in Congress since Wm. O. Butler represented the District in 1830. In fact, I am not able to call to mind, within anything like a late period, any representative hailing from the country, with the exception of Hon. Worth Dickerson, who filled an unexpired and one full term. Yet the Democratic majorities of the Sixth District have ever been given by the country counties. At the last Governor's election the Democratic majorities in the country counties amounted to 4,504; in Kenton and Campbell, to 646. In the Presidential election, 1900, the country counties gave a majority of 5,072; Kenton and Campbell, 1,187. This ratio will virtually hold good for a great many years past. Is it, therefore, unbecoming for the country to ask for the representative? Rather, would it not be the just and proper thing for the cities to now and then concede the nomination to the country, without a fight? I know no better time for them to do this than at the present.

Fortunately, at this time, owing to the goodness and kindness of those who, though better Congressional timber than myself, have sacrificed their own ambition to give me the one opportunity of my life, I am the only country candidate. I have no personal fight to wage against my competitors. Each of them are honorable gentlemen, and would, no doubt, if selected, do their utmost to serve you wisely and well. In loyalty to the Democratic party, and zeal in furthering its interests, I do not believe they have me at a disadvantage, and so far as our ability to represent the best interests of the District extends, is a matter wholly for you to determine. I rely implicitly on the judgment of the great common people, and feel that I shall receive proper consideration at their hands.

Respectfully, ERNEST C. SMITH.

MRS. SARAH MULLINS, who was arrested by United States Marshal Coleman at South Fork, Lincoln county, last week, was tried before United States Commissioner Lawwill, on a charge of distilling whisky unlawfully, and was held to answer to the Federal Court in the sum of $300. Mrs. Mullins is a very respectable white woman, about fifty years of age.

LAST Sunday a Springfield, O., policeman arrested a negro who shot him, from effects of which he died a few hours after. Sunday night at 11:45 a mob took the negro from the jail, shot him and then hung him to a telephone pole on the public square. It was a lynching of the very worst kind and that too in Ohio, where the people call the people of the South barbarians and such pet names because similar offenses have been committed among them.

THE Legislature will adjourn next Tuesday.

IT is against the rules of this office to allow a neighborhood communication that arrives by noon on Tuesday, crowded out. The columns are understood to be closed at that time, but a notice of a death, or other short notice of importance received by 6 a. m., Wednesday may be used. The forms are on the press at 6:30 a. m., every Wednesday.

THE Carrollton News says it was surprised at the action of Gallatin county in voting against the wishes of Carroll county in the Committee meeting at Sparta. It is strange that Gallatin would be guilty of such a breach of political etiquette when only last October Carroll stood so like a stone wall (?) for her in the judicial district convention at Walton.

THE Scientific American estimates that the damage to the Russian fleet, resulting from the attack of the Japanese to date, is over $35,000,000.

WHAT do Senators Blackburn and McCreary and other prominent men in the Democratic party mean when they assert that before the beginning of the campaign this fall the party in Kentucky must be reorganized from the ground up? Are they entering a protest against the way the parties in control of the machinery are managing affairs? No other conclusion can be drawn from what they have been saying recently.

UNDER the new law the next term of the public school will be six months in this State. This will be considerable benefit to those who attend the schools throughout the term, but there is a class of people who will not accept any opportunity offered them to send their children to school. They are perfectly indifferent as to whether their children can ever read and write; but, be it said to the credit of Boone county, that class in her boundary is small and growing smaller every year.

THE United States Supreme Court has upheld the provision in the new Alabama constitution with respect to the qualifications of voters. The result of that provision will no doubt be to greatly reduce the number of negro votes, but as it operates upon whites and blacks alike it does not infringe the federal constitution. Of course, fewer whites than blacks will be affected, but that in itself furnishes no legal cause for complaint.

IT is given out from Covington that J. M. Kennedy, the Republican Election Commissioner, for Kenton county, will be the Republican nominee for Congress in this district. He has not been mixed up in any of the party scraps in Kenton county, and it is claimed that he can poll the party's entire strength in the district. His wife is a sister of Col. G. C. Graddy, deputy revenue collector at Petersburg, and the leading Republican in this county.

O. P. Conner was on the tobacco market last Thursday. He said the breaks that day were large, and that he did fairly well with all he offered.

James Bailey from across Gunpowder, delivered his tobacco here last Friday. He had a terrible pull through the mud from the top of Gunpowder hill.

Tony Bentler struck a bad horse and mule market in the city, last week, and of the four he took down he brought two back. He sold the plugs at fairly good prices.

The Owen county grand jury returned only 12 indictments after a week's work and the examination of 75 witnesses. That speaks well for the great county of Owen.

The weather prophets are now saying that a severe winter is always followed by a hot summer. Have the coal men and the ice men formed a trust for the oppression of the public?

R. B. Huey, of Locust Grove, delivered his tobacco to O. P. Conner, last Friday. He had a small crop, but the number of horses and wagons it required to move it resembled a Japanese army train on the move.

Owen Conner left at this office a sample of the crop of tobacco raised last year by Ben Crisler, of Gunpowder neighborhood. It is a very fine specimen, and Mr. Crisler says, "I be confound if there is any finer tobacco in Boone county."

Although the ground is heavy and very wet it was not made so by the rains, as we have had comparatively little rain this winter, the average rainfall being much below that of previous years. Some places report great scarcity of water in wells and cisterns and remark on the extraordinary condition which causes dry wells and cisterns in midwinter.

Well Again.

The many friends of John Blount will be pleased to learn that he has entirely recovered from his attack of rheumatism. Chamberlain's Pain Balm cured him after the best doctors in the town (Monon, Ind.) had failed to give relief. The prompt relief from pain which this liniment affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by all druggists.

William Berkshire, son of J. W. Berkshire, a prominent and prosperous business man of Petersburg, and Miss Mary Gaines, the handsome and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. They expect to have these sales at regular intervals, and if they can be made a success at that point Allphin & Hume are the men to accomplish it.

Several Democrats were in the county clerk's office a few days since when their conversation turned to national politics, each one saying what he wanted in the event a Democratic president is elected this fall. County Clerk Adams had not signified his desire in such an event, when one of the party turned to him and asked, "Blufe, what do you want?" "To be let alone," came the laconic answer.

Colds Are Dangerous.

How often you hear it remarked: "It's only a cold," and a few days later learn that the man is on his back with pneumonia. This is of such common occurrence that a cold, however slight, should not be disregarded. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. It always cures and is pleasant to take. For sale by all druggists.

Now that the common school term has been lengthened from five to six months, the State will be flooded with teachers, and it behooves those in authority to exercise caution and care in the selection of the future teachers of the public schools, that the children may obtain the full benefits due them under the new law. Our legislators have done their duty. It now remains for the people to do theirs, and all will be well.—Bracken Chronicle.

The following nautical figure itis said will be fashionable:

"Heave ahead and pass your adversary yard-arm and yard-arm—regain your berth on the other tack in the same order—take your station with your partner in line—back and fill—fall on your heel and bring up with your partner. She then maneuvers ahead—heaves all aback—shoots ahead again and pays off alongside you. Then make sail in company with her till nearly astern of the other line—make a stern board—cast her off to shift for herself—regain your place by the best means in your power, and let go your anchor."

About ten days ago all the clocks in the Webster, Iowa, high school building stopped at exactly eight o'clock in the morning. It was the day of the eruption on the Island of Java, and the time clocks stopped was within a few seconds of the time of the earthquake. Scientists all over the country have written column upon column of articles all agreeing that the phenomenon was due to some sympathetic electrical disturbance in the zone in which the high school building stands. It has since developed that a group of irrepressible boys stopped the clocks in order to prolong the play hour, and once more have the scientists received a black eye.

The directors of the North Kentucky Agricultural Association held their first meeting at Florence, last Saturday, and made the first move towards the 1904 fair. The members of the board have lost none of their enthusiasm of the past, and reported the outlook for another big fair as entirely satisfactory. The meeting of last Saturday was only preliminary, but several plans for increasing public interest were unfolded, and most heartily endorsed, so a large and more interesting fair than any of the past is almost a certainty. The directors have kept in touch with the owners of the fine horses and cattle, who have given fame to the exhibitions of the past few years, and their presence with others who have equally as good stock is already assured. The Boone Fair of 1904 will have few if any equals among the county fairs in this and adjoining States.

The Walton local option fight claimed the attention of the county court most of the day Monday. When the matter was called up in court that day, several of those who had signed the petition asking that the vote be taken requested that their names be stricken from the petition. The opposition then attacked the signatures of several others of the petitioners on the grounds that they were not citizens of the town of Walton when they signed the paper. It was late when the testimony on that point was all in and the court adjourned until today to hear arguments pro and con.

One day last week O. P. Conner bought two or three crops of tobacco, and when he came home that night, the question as to how much he had made arose in a store audience, when Tony Bentler offered him $5 for his days purchase and Owen accepted the offer before Tony could bat an eye. Tony then succeeded in getting Riley & Hogan and Owen to bidding on the tobacco, and Riley & Hogan finally got it to be delivered at Long's barn near Hopeful. It took several days to close the deal, the successful purchaser paying $1 the most.

God's Message For To-Day

IT IS THE SAME SIMPLE, BUT POWERFUL GOSPEL STORY

Sermon by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher.

(Copyright, 1904, by J. M. Edson.)

Chicago, Sunday, March 6, 1904.

Text:—"Therefore shall the word of Jehovah be unto them precept upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, there a little; that they may go, and fall backward, and be broken, and snared, and taken."—Isaiah 28:13.—AM. E. Rev.

GOD'S supreme purpose for man is that he should become reconciled to Himself; that the breach made by sin between man and God might be healed; that where discord prevails, harmony might be restored; that where estrangement and separation exist, there might be fellowship and blessed union. With man shut out of the paradise which God had planted and given to man, how could God be content or satisfied until the way back to paradise was opened? With Israel in Egypt in bondage, God could not be quiescent and forgetful. He says: "I have surely seen the affliction of my people which are in Egypt, and I have heard their cry by reason of their taskmasters; for I know their sorrows; and I am come down to deliver them out of the hand of the Egyptians, and to bring them up out of that land unto a good land and a large, unto a land flowing with milk and honey." And neither can God be indifferent to or negiectful of man while he is in the Egypt of the world's bondage. The father's house had an empty room, and a vacant chair at the table; and his heart had its unsatisfied longing, while the prodigal was away in the far country. He watched and he waited until at last the wandering, wayward boy came back. The sorrowing father could know no peace or rest until the wanderer had returned, until the lost had been found, until he who had been as good as dead had sought the safety and protection of the father's house, and had come to life again. And so is it in infinitely greater degree with the Heavenly Father. He yearns for the return of His sinful, wayward children. If we may so reverently speak of God, He is unhappy, and unsatisfied while the world continues to wander far from Him. Jesus' cry of anguish: "O Jerusalem, Jerusalem! . . . How often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not," is but the cry of God to a lost world, is but the cry of the loving, merciful Creator to the poor, deluded, wayward creature. God's supreme purpose for man is that he should become reconciled to God.

OUR text gives to us God's message to His people. It was to be "precept upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, there a little," forcibly reminding us that God's message is ever a simple message a pertinent message, a persistent message, and an unchanging message. And the latter clause of our text is suggestive of the effect of God's message. First of all, then, let us consider the simplicity of God's message. It is "precept upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, there a little." When God is dealing with the souls of men He does not indulge in platitudes, and high-sounding phrases; He does not use the terms and phraseology of the wise and learned. Nay, rather, in the quickest and most direct way possible He seeks to administer to the real needs of the soul. And for this reason His message is one of simplicity. Simple because of its universal mission. God's message is to all the world. To the most enlightened and to the most benighted; to the cultured and refined and to the most vile and degraded; to the man of gray hairs and tottering steps and to the little child with all of life before it. In its simplicity, God's message is most strikingly differentiated from the message of every other religion in the world. It is its one most marked characteristic which stamps it as the message of God and proves its authenticity.

ISAIAH in another part of his book declares that God's message is so simple that "the wayfaring men, yea fools, shall not err therein." Even fools, those mentally deficient, may be able to receive and understand God's simple message. And how often this has proven true. You may go to whatever nation you choose, to whatever quarter of the globe you wish, and you will find beautiful and striking examples of the truth that God's message is so simple that it can reach to the lowest depths, as well as to those in the most exalted places of learning and authority. It was even so when Jesus was on earth, for the learned and cultured Nicodemus, member of the Sanhedrin, was numbered among His disciples, even though secretly, as was also the poor, despised thief upon the cross. Jesus sets a little child in our midst and tells us that except we become as that little child we cannot understand God's message and enter into the Kingdom of Heaven. Jesus in one of His prayers says: "I thank Thee, oh Father, Lord of Heaven and earth, that Thou didst hide these things from the wise and understanding, and didst reveal them unto babes." And Paul, in the first chapter of his first letter to the Corinthians, says: "Not many wise after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble are called; but God chose the foolish things of the world, that He might put to shame them that are wise." And this all means, not that God does not want the wise and cultured and mighty to be saved, but that the very simplicity of His message which is able to reach the world proves a stumbling block to them. God's message is simple but profound, easily understood by all, and mighty to save those who receive it.

GOD'S message is also a pertinent message. It is "precept upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, there a little." It is to the point. It is prepared with the certain, definite purpose of meeting a certain, definite need. Man has one supreme and desperate need, and that is deliverance from sin and its consequences. There is universal consciousness in the heart of man that he is a sinner. Even the most untutored savage is oppressed by the thought of violating the will and pleasure of his gods, and seeks in some way to appease and secure their favor. And man is a sinner and lost, as God's simple message declares, and God's message goes on to apply the remedy, the only remedy which can meet the need. That is, God's message not only diagnoses the case—tells what is the matter with man—but it goes on to prescribe just the remedy that is needed to cleanse and heal. When Naamsn came to the prophet of God, with his desperate and distressing disease of leprosy, and the servant of God delivered God's message to him, he was minded to turn away in anger and disgust because the remedy which he had expected would be applied was not administered. And yet notwithstanding the fact that he thought the waters of Damascus were far better than those of the Jordan, it was bathing in the Jordan and the Jordan alone which removed his leprosy and made his skin to return upon him like that of a little child. God's message to Naaman was just such as would meet his need, and God's message to the world to-day is just such as the world needs to be saved. Pass before the great Physician, oh, man! oh, woman! Let Him diagnose your case. He says: "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God." He goes on to say that that condition of sin will bring forth death—soul death. For the "soul that sinneth, it shall die." And then having told you the nature of your disease in a simple word of three letters, SIN, having told you the consequences of that disease in a word of five letters—DEATH—He goes on to point to the remedy; He says: "Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." It is the one remedy for sin. And God's message is a pertinent message, because it speaks of the remedy—the only remedy—for the supreme need of man.

GOD'S message is also persistent. "Precept upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, there a little." Over and over, and over and over again, God repeats His message to a lost and dying world. See Him as He patiently, lovingly, longingly deals with His chosen people. How persistent He is! Prophet after prophet sent to them to deliver His message. Punishment after punishment inflicted upon them that they might receive and understand His message. In the chapter from which our text is taken we have the prophetic story of Israel's captivity, of Samaria's destruction, an example and warning to Judah to hear and obey God's message. It was "precept upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, there a little." And yet they would not hear, they would not heed, but plunged down to their ruin. And for nearly 2,000 years since Christ came as God's message to the world, He has been persistently trying to bring the world to its acceptance. Ah, Christian, have you grown weary in bearing this message to the world? Have you about concluded that the world needs something else? Have you begun to feel that the simple Gospel message is getting monotonous and is worn threadbare? Look away to God! Learn from Him! Behold how persistent He has been in delivering His message! And dare you be any less persistent? Dare you falter, and grow faithless, when God says: "Be not weary in well doing, for in due season ye shall reap if ye faint not"? It is "precept upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, there a little." It is God's way. He keeps prescribing the only remedy which will effect a cure. What would you think of a physician who would change his medicine at the whim and notion of the patient, and instead of giving the remedy which alone could cure, would provide something which would not stay the disease or cure? No, the successful physician must be persistent in his treatment, not governed by the caprice of the patient, but prescribing over and over again that which will effect a cure. What if the patient will not take the medicine? If the diagnosis has been correct and the remedy prescribed the needed one, then must the physician be persistent and insistent. And so with the patient, loving Heavenly Father. He goes over His message, "precept upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, there a little;" because it is the only thing which will meet man's need. God's message is a persistent, a repeated message.

AND above all, it is an unchanging message. To Judah God said: My message has been precept upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, there a little. I have warned you in the calamities which have overwhelmed Israel. I have given you a respite from your enemies, that you might consider these things, "yet they would not hear. Therefore shall the word of Jehovah be unto them precept upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, there a little." It was to be an unchanged message. It was the same precept upon precept and line upon line which He had been speaking to them throughout the years and generations. His message was the same, it was unchanging. And God's message for to-day is an unchanging and unchanged message. The world, as in Paul's time, is ever seeking some new thing. The simple, old Gospel message is considered out of date for this age and generation. And men who claim to be the servants of God, who profess to having been called to deliver God's message, dare to take of the Gospel truth and warp and twist and reshape it into something new and modern. The simple old Gospel which declares man a lost and helpless sinner, and the crucified Jesus an only Saviour, is deemed inadequate for these times, and the so-called popular preacher is trying to accommodate God's message to the taste and vanity and self-esteem of the world. Oh, what travesty! Oh, what a hideous violation of God's mercy and love! God pity the world when it gets too wise and too cultured and too self-centered and egotistical for God's simple and unchanging Gospel message! There are indications that point to the fact that the world is rapidly approaching that attitude before God; that condition of heart which remains unmoved and unyielding before the oft-repeated Gospel message. God did not change His message to Pharoah. It was over and over again: "Let my people go." And when Pharaoh hardened his heart and grew so weary of the message that he threatened Moses with death if he came with that same message again, did God change His message, or compromise upon the issue? Nay, verily, it was an unchanged message. And God's message to-day, despite the meddlers and the liberalists and the higher critics and the advanced thinkers, is an unchanged and unchanging message, and it will continue to be such until Jesus shall come in His glory and claim as His own those who have heard the message and been washed clean in His blood.

THE message, then, of God to a world estranged from Him because of sin and which He seeks and longs to have brought back to Himself, is simple, is pertinent, is persistent, is unchanging. It is so simple that none in all the world may be excluded or lost, for it is to all the world and for all the world. It is pertinent, plainly and clearly defining man's condition and need, and fully and freely providing for that need. It is persistent, for God will never cease His efforts to turn the world to Himself until time shall cease to be. It is unchanging, for there is but one remedy for sin, and that is the shed blood of Jesus Christ; and God cannot come to the world with any so-called ethical message, highly flavored and up to date, for that will not cleanse from sin; that will not make souls dead in trespasses and sins to live again; that will not make a man over new, giving him a new heart and a new purpose and a hope that will grow brighter until the full glory of Heaven bursts upon his vision. No, God comes with His simple, pertinent, persistent, unchanging message. He goes over the lesson again, and yet again. It is "precept upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, there a little." It is in spite of God that the soul perishes. Surely God never fails to improve an opportunity to drive home His message. Through His true and faithful servants in the world today, through the circumstances and conditions of life, in a thousand and one different ways, God goes over and over the Gospel story of man a sinner and Christ a Saviour. Dear soul, whoever you are who reads these words, have you heard God's message and hearing have you obeyed it? Have you repented of sin and believed upon Jesus Christ as your personal Saviour, the one who cleanses from all sin and saves with an everlasting salvation! Have you?

IF NOT, God's message to you is still "precept upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, there a little; that you may go and fall backward, and be broken and snared and taken." The effect of God's message is finally one of two things: Either it melts the heart and molds the life anew in Christ Jesus, or it hardens as the clay is hardened under the burning rays of the sun. God keeps repeating His simple Gospel message over and over again that you may be won to Him, that you who have been estranged and an outcast from the Father's house, might be reconciled and brought back. And if you will not, if because of the hardness of your impenitent heart you scorn His gracious message, He keeps repeating it "that you may go, and fall backward, and be broken, and snared and taken." Do we hear it said to-day that the Gospel is not winning the world? Perhaps that is true, sadly true. But because of this it is not another message which the world needs, but it is the same old blessed Gospel which sounds forth and must sound forth, "precept upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, there a little; that the world may go, and fall backward, and be broken, and snared and taken." "To the one it is a savor from death unto death," but to those who receive the message, it is a "savor from life unto life."

A GIRL SWITCHTENDER.

Only One Employed in That Capacity in United States Is But 14 Years of Age.

The only girl switchtender in the United States is Nancy May Shrive, the 14-year-old daughter of the family which keps the Violet Hill tollhouse on the Baltimore pike, half a mile from York, Pa.

One of the lines of the York County Traction company passes the tollhouse. A spur of the line runs westward, a half-mile distant. It is at the beginning of this spur that Nancy has been throwing the switch for the passing cars ever since the two lines were opened two years years ago. In sunshine and cold, in storm, rain or snow, the little switchwoman leaves the tollhouse to perform the duty of throwing the switch when she hears the sound of an approaching electric car.

Nancy's services as a switchtender for the traction company were at first voluntary. She observed that the motormen would be required to leave the cars and throw the switch themselves. One day she procured a pick-handle, carved one end of it down to a point, and with this she would slide the switch. The motormen and conductors, in appreciation of this labor, would almost daily give her small tips. One day the superintendent saw the girl performing the work, and a few days later he sent her a switch bar which she now uses, and recommended the company to give her compensation. She now receives a small stipend on pay days.

BALLOON FOR HIGH ALTITUDES

London Maker Designs Craft Making Aerial Navigation Possible at Height of Twenty Miles.

Eustace Short, a London balloon maker, has designed a craft for making aerial navigation possible at a height of 15 or 20 miles above the earth's surface. It is believed nobody ever reached an altitude of more than six and a half miles, while 13½ is the limit reached by a balloon carrying self-registering instruments.

The journey into the air is to be made without the accompaniment of gasping for breath, bleeding at the nose, and other discomforts. The balloon car, which is not really a car at all, but a steel ball seven feet in diameter, is filled with compressed air. The occupants will be hermetically sealed inside the shell.

The ballast will be carried in a cone-shaped vessel hung between the ball and balloon. The steel of the shell will be a sixteenth of an inch thick. Short intends the balloon for scientific observations at great heights, and asserts it will be perfectly safe.

New Fad of Collectors.

"Clefmania" is a comparatively modern form of the collecting craze. It consists of an irresistible ambition to gather together keys of all sorts, sizes and shapes. One victim to the habit, a woman, openly confessed recently to having traveled over 100,000 miles in pursuit of her hobby, during which time she had expended, entirely on keys, quite a respectable fortune. Her collection comprises the key of the Nuremberg Iron virgin; one said to have belonged to Cleopatra's jewel case; a huge iron specimen from the Tower of London, picked up in a Wardour street shop; the one that used to unlock Anne Hathaway's cottage at Stratford-on-Avon, and many others equally curious and interesting.

About Long Enough.

Colombia intimates that she would fight in a minute. But, remarks the Louisville Courier-Journal, would much more time than that be needed?

SAFE PLACE TO DRAW IT.

College Professor's Sword Was Drawn Without Danger to Anyone's Cuticle.

Prof. E. G. Dexter, of the University of Illinois, whose interesting investigations have proved football to be a harmless game, is popular on account of his geniality, says the New York Tribune.

After a certain football victory Prof. Dexter entertained one night a group of students at his residence.

A magnificent sword hung over the fireplace of the library, and during a space of silence Prof. Dexter took down this sword and brandished it impressively.

"Never will I forget," he exclaimed, "the day I drew this blade for the first time."

"Where did you draw it, sir?" a freshman asked, respectfully.

"At a raffle," said Prof. Dexter.

A Physician's Advice.

Yorktown, Ark., March 7th.—Dodd's Kidney Pills must not be confounded with the ordinary patent medicine. They are a new discovery, a specific for all diseases of the Kidneys and have been accepted by physicians only after careful tests in extreme cases. Dr. Leland Williamson, of this place, heartily endorses Dodd's Kidney Pills "as a remedy for the various forms of the diseases of the Kidneys, pains in the back, soreness in the region of the Kidneys, foul-smelling urine and cloudy or thickened condition of the urine, discharges of pus or corruption, Gout, Rheumatism, Inflammation and Congestion of the Kidneys and all kindred complaints." Continuing, he says:

"I could mention many cases in which I have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills with success. For instance, Mr. Robert Weeks, farmer, malaria haematuria or swamp fever three times, kidneys weakened, continual pain and soreness in back, which made him very nervous, had a little fever and sometimes chilly. Urine changeable, but generally very high-colored, an old chronic case who had taken much medicine with little effect. After taking Dodd's Kidney Pills about six weeks, he was entirely cured and had gained fifteen pounds in weight. The last time I saw him, he was the picture of perfect manhood."

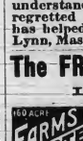
A severe case of Ovarian Trouble and a terrible operation avoided. Mrs. Emmons tells how she was saved by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.



"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am so pleased with the results obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I feel it a duty and a privilege to write you about it.

"I suffered for more than five years with ovarian troubles, causing an unpleasant discharge, a great weakness, and at times a faintness would come over me which no amount of medicine, diet, or exercise seemed to correct. Your Vegetable Compound found the weak spot, however, within a few weeks—and saved me from an operation—all my troubles had disappeared, and I found myself once more healthy and well. Words fail to describe the real, true, grateful feeling that is in my heart, and I want to tell every sick and suffering sister. Don't dally with medicines you know nothing about, but take Lydia E. A BICYCLE PROPOSAL

BY JOHN WICKLIFFE GRAY.

Until that summer I had never believed that I was a timid man. But the happenings of a few weeks led me to the conclusion that I had my share and more.

A girl with blue eyes did it. As in most cases where a man has found himself face to face with himself, it was a woman who held the mirror.

It was the old story of scouting at love until I met the one girl, and then I wanted to propose. But what with the doubts that assailed me as to the probable reception of a proposal, and my new-born timidity, I could never gather together sufficient courage at the proper time to give expression to the thoughts that kept me awake at night. I carefully formulated plan after plan to rid my mind of its burden, but one after another they came to naught through my disgusting shyness—cowardice, if you will. I am half inclined to believe that Beatrice knew my condition all the time. But she had a keen sense of humor, and I dreaded that slivery laughter more than a whole regiment of regulars. She could grow serious in a moment, and it was this mood I liked best. But, until that sunny day, when my bicycle helped me through, I had always missed the point. It lacked but four days of my departure from the springs, and I knew to delay might mean to fail altogether.

Delay and defeat were the words that hummed through my brain like a sprocket wheel as we spun down the lane that morning. We were out after an early breakfast, and on that short journey a-wheel I had determined to throw all my chances in the balance and find their intrinsic worth. Just how I was going to begin I had not determined, and I thought that for once I would leave the matter open for the seizure of the first opportunity.

The morning air was crisp and cool. The roadside flowers seemed nodding us a cheery good morning in the light breeze. Now and then from the trees came the call of a bird, and, making a shiny black streak in the air, a crow would bend his flight to a lonely tree in the fields, calling to his mate.

Bee and I had said little until we reached the broad pike.

"Want to race?" she called back to me from her point of vantage a few lengths ahead. Now I knew what that meant. Bee was the better rider, for instead of taking a course of indoor physical culture she had adopted golf, tennis and a bicycle as the most enjoyable method of obtaining exercise and health.

"Trying to tease," I said. "But go ahead. I'll do my best. Want to bet anything?"

"No, not when I am certain of the result," she laughed.

I grinned appreciation and asked: "How far?"

"The two mile post," she cried, and we were off.

Bee sprinted, and so did I. But the distance between us remained about the same, and precluded conversation, even had not the pace attained the same end.

Soon the sprockets were singing a steady song to pebbles that spun backward from the rubber tires. We were running at 20 miles an hour down the best piece of road in the section.

I settled to a steady speed, not quite my best, and Bee did the same, saving strength for the last half mile. The wind whistled a merry tune to the time we kept with our pedals. A covey of partridges fled with sharp chirps at our whirlwind advance. I felt and noticed little else beside the trim figure, with flying wisps of brown hair, just ahead of me.

Of a sudden Bee began to draw ahead of me.

"Put your heart into the game," she called back to me, with her head half turned as she spoke. She was laughing out of pure enjoyment of the exercise, and perhaps my probable discomfiture. My pride was nettled, and it must have increased my strength to a considerable degree. Soon I was close behind her, and with the wheels buzzing like mad things, I was even. One more spurt, and by a tremendous effort I was ahead!

"Get your hand in the game," I called back, paraphrasing her own slang. "My heart and your hand," I added by the force of an inspiration, "a match race!"

The second mile post was not more than a hundred yards ahead, and I was beginning to believe I should win. I had no time to look back, fearing a loss of my little gain.

But neither was to have the victory. Bee's front wheel advanced slowly, but surely, until it was even with my handle-bars, and as we arrived opposite the post, we were side by side.

It was a tie!

"You got your hand in," I laughed later under the trees where we were seated.

"Yes," she agreed.

"And my whole heart was in it," I added, cautiously.

The blue eyes looked into mine and seemed to read what was there. And then in the fear that my shyness would return, I said quickly, incoherently:

"Your hand, my heart, a match, the tie—Bee—" and—

Well, our bicycle will accompany us on the honeymoon, even though it be an excess baggage.

Profitable Investment.

In 1875 it was communicated to the British government that the Khedive Ismail Pasha, being in desperate need of money, was willing to sell his 176,602 shares of stock in the Suez Canal company at a fair price. Disraeli was then premier and he didn't hesitate a minute. England paid $20,000,000 for the khedive's holdings, or at the rate of $113.60 per share. Since then the dividends on its purchase have aggregated $24,000,000 and to-day the shares are selling at $700 each. This shows a profit on the transaction of $108,000,000.

LOOK WELL TO THE ISSUES

A Sovereign Duty of Every Young Man When He Casts His First Ballot.

Young men, who will cast their first vote at the coming national election, should investigate the fundamental doctrines that divide the two great political parties and the issues upon which the campaign will be decided. In this way they can arrive at the proper way to perform the highest prerogative of an American citizen. The greatest right, in a democratic-republic like ours, is the ballot. The poor man or the rich one, the first voter or the most accomplished statesman in the land, are all equal before the law and are sovereign voters. Not only is the act of voting the highest political function, but it involves the greatest responsibility. A few votes often turn the scale in close states and political districts, so no voter must imagine that his ballot is not of consequence, as he may decide issues of transcendent importance and elect candidates for the highest offices who will have the executive power placed in their hands. After the election is over the voters have transferred their power to those whom they have elected to represent them and the individual voter is powerless until the next election occurs.

Amongst the great issues that will be decided at the coming national election is one that should appeal to young voters with irresistible force. The question of the protective tariff and the control of the trusts affects the pocketbook of every voter and must be decided as interest dictates. Other issues may be settled upon patriotic or humanitarian grounds, but the indirect taxation of the tariff and its acknowledged fostering of trusts is fast breaking down that good old democratic doctrine of "equal rights to all and special privileges to none."

If the young voter is the son of a trust magnate or one who has, through some special privilege, become a monopolist, he may be expected to follow in his father's footsteps and vote to continue a system that allows enormous fortunes to be created at the expense of the great majority.

But where there is one such child of fortune, there are thousands who are children of the poor, and the young voter who has nothing, or but little, but his own exertions to provide a living for himself and those dependent upon him, must view with dismay trust prices and increased cost of living. How much more must it set him thinking if he finds the avenues of employment lessening and the standard of wages decreasing in proportion to the increased cost of living.

Does any well informed young man doubt that the trust and monopoly breeding tariff is an issue that is of the utmost interest for him to investigate and see how it affects his prospects in life? Does he see a fair share of the vast wealth of the country flowing to those who create it, or does he notice enormous prosperity to corporations and the comparatively few individuals who control them?

The position of the two great parties on economic questions must be an issue and perhaps paramount, in the absence of war or other great events that so stir men's souls that they forget their pocketbooks. The young voter must, to vote with intelligence, investigate the evidence on both sides and decide who will represent him most effectually in securing "equal rights" and prevent the favored few from obtaining or keeping "special privileges."

There must be no objection to riches, or the rich man, if his riches have been obtained equitably. Neither must Dives be worshiped, and above all the young voter must keep at a safe distance the vote buyer. Your vote is as valuable as that of Rockefeller, it counts for as much, and no money value can be placed upon it; its value is beyond computation.

In Democracy Is Hope.

The advocates of centralization, imperialism and military aggression—the late product of a strong government—resent the claim of the vulgar populace and in disgust say, "D——n the people!" But there are millions of American citizens who repudiate the insolent domination of this self-exalted and imperious minority and are now in a humor to wrench the federal government from them and their baleful rule. They contemplate with alarm the mailed hand of an encroaching power. They view with fear the increasing strength of the combined forces of accumulated wealth. They feel the oppression of evil legislation. They realize that there is but one hope for relief, and that is through the agency of an untrammeled and unpurchased democracy. Democrats should know their duty and dare to do it.—Nashville (Tenn.) News.

It should be accepted as a fact that the democracy has done right as regards such policies as had been up for discussion before. But as regards the campaign this year it should not be based on the policies of the past, but on the questions of living interest today. Deliver us from the body of our dead.—Knoxville (Tenn.) Sentinel.

——Miss Ida Tarbell's observation that "you cannot conceive of Lincoln's trifling with his conscience even for the sake of an international canal" must at least cause Mr. Roosevelt to admire the artless ease with which the lady wields her little hammer.—Chicago News (Ind.).

——In spite of his neutrality proclamation, President Roosevelt is said to have filled the walls of the executive office with new war maps, and is watching the fight with enthusiasm. Probably he will find some way to take a hand in the struggle.—Charleston News and Courier.

WATCH REPUBLICANS WILT

There Will Be Something Doing When Their Old Reciprocity Bills Are Brought Up.

John Sharp Williams, the democratic leader in the house of representattives, is about to execute a flank movement on the republicans which is likely to cause them on end of trouble. He will soon introduce several reciprocity bills which will practically be duplicates of some of the Kasson treaties, negotiated in 1898 to 1900 with foreign countries, but which were never ratified by the senate. The sad fate of these treaties, which were smothered to death in the senate pigeon holes, forms an interesting story.

When the Dingley bill was put through, in 1897, many duties were intentionally left considerably higher than was thought necessary, even by the leading protectionists. It was expected by Dingley and other republicans that reciprocity treaties would soon be made with many foreign countries and duties were left very high so that we would have a large margin, or bargaining power. Then, after swapping tariffs with these countries, we would have ample protection left. Hon. John A. Kasson, of Iowa, was made a special commissioner plenipotentiary and negotiated treaties with France, Argentina, Ecuador, and, through Denmark and the United Kingdom, with several West Indian islands and with British Guinea.

These treaties were negotiated under section 4 of the Dingley bill, which permitted a reduction of 20 per cent. in our duties if foreign countries would make reciprocal reduction on our exports. Because the reciprocity proposed by this section might have accomplished some good, by lowering the prices of some articles to consumers, our protected trusts held these treaties up in the senate and did not permit them to pass. The result is that:

1. Our consumers are now paying duties higher than was planned, even by the protectionists.

2. The trusts are receiving more protection than many protectionists would have been the case had the reciprocity treaties been contemplated.

3. Our goods—wheat, corn, beef, pork, canned goods, etc.—are kept out of France and other countries by duties ten or 20 per cent. higher than would have been the case had the reciprocity clause been omitted from the Dingley law.

Thus, the failure of reciprocity has greatly injured the very classes that reciprocity was intended to benefit—our farmers and our pent-up manufacturers. The protected trusts just gobbled up and appropriated the higher duties of the Dingley bill and told the simple trusting farmers and small exporting manufacturers to whistle for their reciprocity. It is to relieve this situation, brought upon the country intentionally or unintentionally by the protection leaders in 1897 and since, that Mr. Williams will introduce these reciprocity bills anew. If the republicans were sincere in their former professions, they will now join with the democrats in passing these bills. If not, they will again submit to the domination of the trusts and will let our unprotected farmers and manufacturers suffer in the future as in the past, under the extremely heavy burdens of the Dingley tariff law.

The Stand-Pat Idea.

Republican conservatism is a misnomer unless the English language has suffered a distinct loss of meaning. The republican party stands pat on its federal scandals, on the trusts, on the tariff, and especially on its machine organization now in the flower of development. The republican party is loath to forego the most abundant fruitfulness which eight years' perfection of a machine holds forth. It is obliged to seek vindication upon its past record, its past policies; it is rigidly held by circumstance to the defense of its career, its purposes, its attainments. Change of attitude is utterly denied. Its forced position from what the times admit of no escape is expressed in the unfortunate phrase "stand pat;" signifying extreme negation; excluding the idea of determination to act, to improve, to move at all; denying intention and suggesting impotence of will. "Stand pat" is the position of a dire extreme, a party forced against a wall. Can there be conservatism in such an ultra attitude?—St. Louis Republic.

——The New York Sun has scanned one day's descriptions of President Roosevelt. It finds that on one and the same day, and without any previous conference, Mr. Roosevelt was styled a prince among Americans by Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, described by Hon. Jacob A. Riis as a Lincoln, a Decatur and a Farragut combined, compared by Hon. Joseph Very Quarles to St. Paul before Agrippa and by the esteemed German ambassador placed side by side with Emperor William II." Yet the modest Roosevelt, who is all these in one, has lately pronounced Elihu Root the greatest man who has appeared in any nation in his time.—Elmira (N. Y.) Gazette.

——Senator Hoar was strongly opposed to the Panama theft, but in casting his vote for the ratification of the treaty he has given the country an other evidence that few men can rise above their environment, especially in politics.—Chicago Chronicle.

——Quite right is the Albany Argus in its forecast that if the democrats do the right thing there are many voters who supported McKinley who won't support Roosevelt. And the right thing is just what the democratic party is going to do. There will be no campaign of mistakes.—Buffalo Enquirer.

HOW TWO BEAUTIFUL WOMEN ESCAPED DREAD CATARRH BY USE OF PE-RU-NA.

Catarrh Robs Women of Health and Beauty. Pe-ru-na Makes Women Healthy and Beautiful.

Miss Amanda Johnson.

Miss Amanda Johnson, Fairchild, Wis., writes:

"I write to tell you how much Peruna benefited me. For a number of years I had pain in my head around my eyes, and I thought it was because my eyes needed treatment, so I went to an oculist and had glasses fitted to my eyes and wore them for some time, but felt no relief whatever. In fact, I felt worse than before, and came to the conclusion that the trouble was not with my eyes, but with my head and that it must be catarrh. As so many of my friends had used Peruna with benefit for this trouble, I thought I would try it. I was not sorry that I did so, for in a short time I began to improve, and in four weeks my eyes were in splendid condition, my general health was much improved and all the catarrh of the head was gone. I was glad to get rid of this trouble and am glad to endorse such a good medicine as Peruna."—Miss Amanda Johnson.

Miss Flora Hauser.

Miss Flora Hauser, 1032 S. New Jersey street, Indianapolis, Ind., writes:

"I think I must have been troubled with catarrh ever since I was very young, aggravated each time I caught a cold. This did not prove sufficiently serious to be obnoxious until last winter. Then my head and nose were so stopped up that I felt I must do something. Peruna was recommended to me by a friend. I used it for four weeks, and found to my relief that it cured me. I have not had a bit of trouble since. My head is clear, and I can safely affirm that Peruna cured me."—Miss Flora Hauser.

No Woman Afflicted With Catarrh Can Be Either Beautiful or Attractive.

Hundreds of Women Cured by Pe-ru-na of Annoying Catarrh.

DR. HARTMAN has probably done more than any other physician toward popularizing a means of escape from the facial deformities, such as watery eyes, twisted nose, offensive breath, dry cracked lips, due to the ravaging effects of catarrh.

He has made chronic catarrh a lifelong study. His remedy, popularly known as Peruna, is the most famous remedy for catarrh in existence.

Probably there is not a man or woman, boy or girl, within the bounds of the United States that has not heard of Peruna. By far the largest majority have used Peruna.

The multitude of people that have been cured of chronic catarrh by using Peruna can never be known.

Many a girl has regained her faded beauty, many a matron has lengthened the days of her comely appearance by using Peruna.

Peruna produces clean mucous membranes, the basis of facial symmetry and a perfect complexion.

The women have not been slow to discover that a course of Peruna will do more toward restoring youthful beauty than all the devices known to science.

While it is true that Peruna cures catarrh wherever located, yet it is advisable for everyone to use Peruna as a preventive and not wait until catarrh has fastened itself in some part of the system.

Peruna acts quickly and beneficially on the inflamed mucous membranes lining the different organs of the body.

Thus it will cure catarrh wherever located.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

FOR CONGRESS.

HON. CLIFFORD E. NADAUD, of Kenton county, is a candidate for Congress from the Sixth Kentucky District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

HON. D. LINN GOOCH, of Covington, is a candidate for Congress in this the Sixth Congressional District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

HON. E. C. SMITH, of Carrollton, is a candidate for Congress from the 6th Congressional District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

No time now in which to put new business through the Legislature.

THE Legislature session will leave a large amount of unfinished business when it adjourns next Wednesday.

OWNERS of forty-four American broom plants have agreed to form a combine under the name of the National Broom Company. The details are being perfected in Chicago.

THE trial of Jasper King at Cynthiana, for perjury as juror in the Jett trial, resulted in a verdict of acquttal, last week. He was the one juror who held out against hanging Jett, causing all to vote life sentence.

THE State Librarian is one who has profited by the present session of the Legislature. The term of that office has been increased from two to four years, and $200 a year added to the salary, making it $1,200 instead of $1,000 per year.

SINCE the State primary election last year, that method of nominating candidates has become unpopular with Democrat Congressional committees, and in this and the Seventh District they have swung back to the delegate convention plan.

THE value of the past season's cotton crop, about $650,000,000, as compared with the value, $325,000,000, of the crop of the season of 1898-99, added to the large grain crop in the South has placed that section in better financial shape than ever before.

IN the Seventh district Congressman South Trimble has on his hands the fight of his life for a renomination. Kimbal, of Fayette county is his dangerous opponent now, but in a convention there is no telling what may develop as the result of combinations.

THE war in the East it is expected, will be an advantage to the farmers of this country by increasing the demand for their products at higher prices; but Russia has countermanded many orders she had placed here, because of the United States friendly attitude towards the Japs.

DURING the first four or five weeks of the session the Legislature devoted its labors to the class of business for which it was elected, but at the end of that time it began drifting into politics and came very near riveling its predecessor as a body desiring to regulate everything in the political world.

No doubt but the services that Gov. Beckham and Lieutenant Governor Thorn have rendered the State of Kentucky deserve to be recognized in some lasting manner, but not by the creation of two pauper counties. The idea of having these two illustrious names appear as paupers is preposterous.

IT is claimed that the infamy of the Democratic primary election held in Kenton county last year turned the people of this Congressional District against that method of making nominations in the future. Some of those who pulled hardest for the Kenton county primary were at Sparta rooting for a Congressional convention.

The meeting of the Congressional committee at Sparta Saturday was a complete victory for E. C. Smith, candidate from this county for the nomination. Mr. Smith asked for a legislative convention, which he secured. He then asked that the basis of representation be on the vote cast in the last Presidential election. On this basis the country counties make a gain of nine more delegates than if the vote of 1903 had been adopted.

It was thought by many Carroll county people that Mr. Smith was cherishing a forlorn hope when he first announced for Congress, but the continued success with which he has met has convinced the people of the whole district that at the present time his chances are the best of any candidate in the field. After the meeting adjourned at Sparta the politicians sized the situation up as follows.

For Rhinock—Kenton county, 35 votes.

For Hodge—Campbell county, 26 votes.

For Smith—Trimble, 7; Carroll, 9; Gallatin, 5; Boone 11; total, 33.

Necessary to a choice, 57.

Smith claims the best chance in Grant, which has ten votes, and also in Pendleton, with nine votes, making his total 52. He also claims the country legislative district in Kenton, which has ten votes. This would nominate him on the first ballot.

Rhinock claims Kenton solid and also Grant county's nine votes, but to secure the nomination must have Kenton and Campbell.

Col. Gooch and Col. Nadaud did not say what they hoped to secure, and their friends made no estimate. We have attempted to state the situation as correctly as possible, and we can not figure but what Carroll county has the best opportunity to win.—Carrollton News.

There is no doubt a rather general impression that the lynching evil is increasing. This is due in a great measure to its geographical extension. A number of States which in former times held up their hands in holy horror over lynchings elsewhere have had the mortification of seeing them extend in their own territory. From this fact it has been too hastily inferred that they are becoming more prevalent from year to year.

Statistics, however, fail to bear out this opinion. In the decade from 1885 to 1894 the average number of lynchings in the United States was 170 per year. In the five years from 1894 to 1899, both included, the yearly average was 157. From 1899 to 1903 the average had fallen to 111.

Of course this record is bad enough, but it tends to show that public opinion is making itself felt. It has been demonstrated, after repeated failures, that it is useless to expect that the men who engage in the business or pastime of lynching their fellow citizens will be prosecuted to conviction. In the present state of society that cannot be done in the overwhelming majority of cases. Reliance must be had, therefore, largely upon public opinion to discourage a practice which is as hurtful in its results as it is unjustifiable in morals or in law. Not that the authorities may not do much to prevent such outbursts of lawlessness in other ways than prosecuting the offenders. A recent case in Virginia showed that the determined attitude of the Governor was effectual to prevent a resort to mob violence, and a day or two ago a similar case was reported from Mississippi. But public opinion has a powerful influence, not only in inciting public officials to do their duty, but in making their efforts in that behalf effectual.

Nothing can be more clear to enlightened public opinion than that the communities that encourage or tolerate lynchings do themselves a great disservice. While the whole country suffers from the stigma, the immediate communities must bear the heaviest burden resulting from the disregard of law. When they are moved by this consideration to a lively interest in promoting respect for law there is a distinct advance. The tendency is in the right direction, but the work should be expedited in every way possible.—Courier Journal.

Russia is winning victories; that is, for nearly a week now she hasn't stepped on any of her own torpedoes, killed any of her own men or blown up any of her own ships.—Detroit Journal.

When a man and wife disagree, which is the government, and which is the revolutionist?

They have a curious way of utilizing wives and daughters in some parts of India. If a man wants money he puts these members of his establishment in pawn, and his creditor detains them until the debt is discharged. The custom varies in different localities. In Mellore the Yercalls pledge their daughters to creditors who may either marry them or give them away, and a man who has to go to jail deposits his wife with another family of her tribe until his return. In North Arcot unmarried daughters are frequently mortgaged and become the absolute property of the holder until liquidation.

The Misses Gurney of Upper Erlanger Road, have with them this week, Miss Margaret Gurney, of Covington.

Miss Harry Tinesy, of Paris, Ind., and Mrs. Wolf, of Georgetown, are the pleasant guests of Mrs. Rosie Finnell.

The entertainment given by the Ladies' Aid of the Baptist church was a grand success. The largest crowd ever known filled the Hall. A neat sum was realized.

The funeral of Mr. Joseph Fisher took place this morning from St. Henry's church, in Elsmere. He was a good citizen, had many friends and not one known enemy. He was sick only a few days with typhoid pneumonia.

More Riots.

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the Liver or Kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, and effective nervine and the greatest all around medicine for run down systems. It dispels Nervousness, Rheumatism and Neuralgia and expels Malaria germs. Only 50c, and satisfaction guaranteed by all Druggists.

O. J. Ryle, who attends to the Baptist church building in Burlington, got mixed in dates last Saturday, thinking that that afternoon was the regular church meeting, and at the proper hour he gave the church bell a long, loud ring. The ringing of the bell at such and unusual hour created a "fire scare" on the part of the citizens, who were becoming frantic in their efforts to locate a supposed conflagration, when Oscar emerged from the church and announced for what the bell was rung. Being informed of his mistake Oscar shook his head and said, "I'm ready to set 'em up."

[Special from Petersburg.]

March 8.—At the meeting of the city council last night, Col. G. C. Graddy made the following proposition which was accepted unanimously, viz: That if the city will donate for a public park the plot of ground lying between the river and Front street, and Main and Market streets that he (Graddy) will enclose it with a substantial and ornamental fence, and build a semicircle walk from the entrance on Main street to the entrance on Market street. He proposes to collect $1 from everyone who feels that much interest in the park, and deposit it with the town Treasurer as a park fund.

"Red Blood of Odd Fellowship," is the title of a new book, the author of which is Elvin J. Curry, son-in-law of J. Frank Grant, of Baltimore, Md. The book has been reviewed by a large number of competent critics, each of whom speaks of it in the most complimentary manner. The book made its appearance only a short time ago, and already is there a very flattering demand for it. It is said to contain a vast amount of information in regard to the order, making it a valuable possession of an Odd-Fellow.

VOL. XXIX. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 16, 1904. NO. 22

County Correspondence.

COMMISSARY.

March 12.—An ounce of happiness is worth—well, a ton of misery.

Bernard Rogers and wife spent Saturday night and Sunday with W. T. Ryle, and family, near here.

Mrs. James Smith and Miss Susie, of Bellevue, were guests of Mrs. Georgia and Mrs. Rebecca Louden Thursday.

James Fealey, of Addyston, Ohio, moved to J. J. Lillard's farm last week, and will work for Mr. Lillard this season.

Thomas Nettles, of Addyston, Ohio, was here the latter part of last and the first of this week, visiting relatives and friends.

James Nettles was over in Indiana in the vicinity of Salem church a couple of days the first of the week, making arrangements to move there.

Mrs Eliza Hawkins, a colored lady aged 85 years, died at Rising Sun, Sunday, March 6th at 5 o'clock, p. m. She lived with Mr. Dinsmore during his life time.

Carl Cason will start to Washington about the middle of April, and if he likes the country will perhaps make it his future home; but will stay the summer at least.

Moving has been all the go here this week. Ransom Ryle moved over on Gunpowder last Tuesday, and Columbus Popham, to Indiana, back of Aurora. Wednesday Jesse Louden moved into the house vacated by Popham. Thursday, Woody Sullivan moved to the farm he recently bought of Gene Kelly, and his father moved where Woody lived. Gene Kelly moved to Bellevue.

Wm. Snelling finished delivering his tobacco, last Monday. He had 10,130 lbs. and sold at 7 cents straight. Total amount, $709 10.

Joe West and Richard Louden delivered their tobacco, last week, to Thompson, of Petersburg. West had 6,730 lbs. and sold at 7½ straight; Louden had 6,285 lbs. sold at 7½. Total number of lbs. 13,015. Total amount, $960 39. This tobacco was grown on the farm of Miss Julia Dusmore.

Wm. Slayback and Ed Burres delivered their tobacco Monday and Tuesday to Conner, at Burlington, at seven cents straight. Number of lbs., 8,740. Total amount $611 80. This with Mr. Snelling's crop brings the total number of pounds grown on the farm of T. J. Waltou to 18,870 lbs. and total amouut of money to $1,320 90.

Bob Popham, Alva and Lora Moyer, are preparing to go too Illinois, and will start within a few days. We are sorry to lose them.

We are in receipt of a letter from Omer Popham, of South Hogan, Ind., an old and esteemed friend, and at one time a near neighbor, requesting that we make a true statement in regard to his tobacco crop, in order that his old Boone county friends may know that he is on land, and among the living. Mr. Popham sold his tobacco to Wingate & Thompson, at 8 cents around, and had 19,140 pounds. Mr. Wingate says it was the largest crop he ever bought. This crop was raised by too men with $40 worth of hired help.

Jasper McGuyre sold and delivered his tobacco to Hubert Brady at seven and 5—7 cents grade 5,935 lbs.; 5 cent grade, 2,790 lbs. Total, 8,725 lbs. Amount of sale, $554.95.

Flave Londen sold his tobacco to Thompson & Wingate at 7 cents around and will deliver next week if weather and road will permit.

West and Merrick delivered their tobacco, this week, sold to Brady, at 6¾ straight. Weight, 4 816 lbs. Amount of sale, $291.23.

While reporting the sales of tobacco we must not neglect to mention that of Harry Acra. He sold to Brady at 5½ straight, and when placed on the scales it tipped the beam at 130 lbs.

RICHWOOD.

Excelalor Grange meets Saturday at 2, p. m.

Mr. Jeff Carpenter, who has been quite sick is better.

Sam Hicks, who was crippled by a colt, is alright again.

Mr. A. Collins is no better. His granddaughter will soon be able to be out again.

Some of our boys have the Oklahoma fever and contemplate going there this spring.

John Ransalaer's two daughters, who have been quite sick with pneumonia, are much better.

Thomas Marshall will sell out his belougings, this week, and move to Indiana with Ed Newman.

Wm. O'Neal, our genial telegrapher, has been moved to Georgetown, and a Mr. Dickerson, of that place, has been sent here.

We are requested to announce that Mrs. Henry Ross will be unable to weave carpents this spring on account of her old trouble, rheumatism.

Gaines Robinson, J. R. Carpenter, Theodore Carpenter, Walter Grubbs and families, Wm. Dobbins and wife, Louis Clarkson and wife, and O. F. Glacken and wife spent Saturday with W. E. Glacken.

More Riots.

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. Mrs. Etta Clements and children spent the day with Mrs. A. J. Utz, last Friday.

Leander Moore sold his tobacco to Markaberry, of Hamilton, last week, for 7 cents.

Lewis Rector and wife were pleasant guests of George Horton and wife Saturday and Sunday.

Joe Huey and wife, of Grange Hall, were pleasant guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Elstun, last Saturday night.

Charles Moore and wife, of Gunpowder, were visiting friends in this neighborhood several days last week.

WALTON.

March 14.—Work on the large buildings of Levi, Price & Co., commenced last week.

Watson Bros. look fine in their new butcher shop.

The new livery and sale stable is doing a fine business.

Rev. Sam Adams, who has been quite sick, is able to be out again.

W. O. Rouse and wife, of Covington, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Curley.

A. M. Edwards is installed in his handsome new home in South Walton.

Miss Leona Rouse, a charming young lady of Covington, is visiting friends here.

The Knights of Pythias Lodge at this place received 14 new members, last week.

Mr. Foster Bell, of Marchall, Ohio, is the guest of oue of our charming young ladies.

Alva Bruce has rented Shafer cottage, and has a good position with Allphin & Hume.

Mrs. Lora Willis came up from Ludlow to attend the K. of P. supper and visit her parents.

Claud Ford, of Cincinnati, a popular young banker, was hare Sunday visiting his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Whitson, of Verona, visited friends and relatives here a few days last week.

Godfrey Houston has accepted a position with the electric light company at Burnside, Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rouse, of Richwood, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Fossette.

John Richards, of Pop'ar Grove, is spending a few days with his son, Ben, who is attending school here.

Mr. Asberry, of Maysville, is the guest of Mrs. R. Jones. While here Mr. Asberry assisted in the K. of P. lodge work.

Mrs. Jas. Poor and her granddaughter, of Bankiick, will move to South Walton and occupy the Bristow property, a pretty home.

R. O. Powers, a prosperous farmer and banker, of Verona, came over to the horse sale, last Saturday, and was the guest of his brother, George.

Mr. Colwell has rented and, with his interesting family will occupy, the Mayhugh residence in North Walton. He is a big bridge contractor on the C. S. Ry.

Wes Dickson has opened up a green grocery on the corner of L. & N. Avenue and Main street, opposite Smith's cut-rate drug store. If our town is not up-to-date it wants to be.

Dr. B. K. Menifee has purchased the Stamler property; and R. T. Fossett, the W. O. Rouse place. These places are Beautiful South Walton homes and were bought at bargains.

The first horse sale of the season by Allphin & Hume, last Saturday, was a success in every particular, and the town was full of the noble animals and their admirers. Many sales at good prices were made.

Last Saturday Prof. William Dickey, of the Walton Graded School, sprang another delightful surprise on the patrons, giving the first open session of the Philomathean Society. The large hall was well filled, and all enjoyed the excellent program.

The North Kentucky Medical Society had a very interesting meeting at this place, last Thursday. Prominent M. D.'s of Cincinnati were present. Some interesting papers were read. These meetings are bringing our local practitioners into prominence with the profession, placing them on a higher plain, and bringing to their patrons advantages derived from such associations. Esto perpetua.

The K. of P. Lodge at this place entertained the families of its members with an elegant and delicious supper on the evening of the 11th inst. Covers for 90 were laid, and the tables were tastefully decorated with bright and lovely flowers. All the delicacies of the season were provided for the occasion, which with the beautiful decorations, under the magnificent airlight produced a brilliant scene long to be remembered by all who were present. After supper all were luvited to the lodge room, where Mr. Karle Newmaster, in a delightful manner, introduced the speakers of the evening. Rev. H. R. Mills and Mr. McLane, of Covlugton, the latter Master-at-Arms of the Grand Lodge of the State, each delivered an interesting address. Much praise is due Mr. Booth, Master-at-Arms, and Mrs. Moxley, the caterer, who has no peer.

County Clerk Adams is an expert weather prognosticator. He calls the turn on March weather every time. It takes a good one to do that.

W. M. Rector and family, of the Watertoo neighborhood, spent last Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. W. S. White, of this place.

John W. Berkshire, of the city of Petersburg, was in this neighborhood buying tobacco one day last week. He will receive at Bellevue.

George McManamin, of lower Gunpowder, who has been on the sick list for several weeks past, is slightly improving at this writing.

Misses Cora Aylor and Edith Ryle were pleasant guests of Miss Fannie Smith, on Gunpowder, last Saturday night and Sunday a week.

READ IT THROUGH.
'Twould Spoil This Story to Tell It in the Headlines.

To use an eighteenth century phrase, this is an "o'er true tale. Having happened in a small Virginia town in the winter of 1902, it is a story very much of the present. Up to a short time ago Mrs. John E. Harmon, of Melfa Station, Va., had no personal knowledge of the rare curative properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. "Last January," she says, "my baby took a dreadful cold and at one time I feared she would have pneumonia, but one of my neighbors told me how this remedy had cured her little boy and I began giving it to my baby at once and it soon cured her. I heartily thank the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for placing so great a cure within my reach. I cannot recommend it too highly or say too much in its favor. I hope all who read this will try it and be convinced as I was." For Sale by All-Druggists.

BELLEVUE.

March 15.—Pepper Smith killed five wild ducks today, the largest killing made by any of the local hunters.

Spring is here. (?)

The McVille ferry is in operation.

Lum Popham moved to Hoosier last week.

Thursday was a rough day on the river.

River packets are doing a rushing business now.

James Rogers and wife are now citizens of our town.

Glad to hear that Mrs. Jerome Wilson is very much improved.

Arch Acra, of Hoosier, came over one day last week to visit friends.

Housecleaning season is coming. Get busy in the fields, ye married men.

Lumber for the bottom of the new boat has arrived and is being put on.

Mrs. Evelyn Rice spent several days, last week, with her sister, Mrs. Bettie Rice.

Eugene Kelly and family have moved into the I. O. O. F. Hall until they can secure a house.

Grant Williamson, who has been quite ill of pneumonia, we are glad to report much better.

Al Rogers has purchased the lot across the street from his store, known as the Kelly coal yard.

Mrs. Tom Wingate spent several days last week, with her brother, Andy Cook, of near Lawrenceburg.

A darkey that was put off the boat here, Tuesday night, stole Israel Flick's skiff. It was found at Rising Sun.

Two strangers passed through town Thursday, driving a two-horse covered wagon. They inquired the way to the McVille ferry.

Sebe Scott has 12 or 15 bushels of nice seed potatoes for sale. They are Early Rose and Early Ohio's. Price, $1 per bushel.

Mrs. Fanny Dugal, of Jeffersonville, Ind., was visiting her father, Martin Staley, below Middle creek, several days last week.

D. M. Snyder was in town Saturday. He has received the blanks for taking the school census in April. Trustees should take notice.

The Packets were blocked off, Wednesday night, when they arrived here, and seven hogsheads of tobacco were left on the landing.

We received a letter from friends at Lodi, Wisconsin, Tuesday, in which they said they had had a very cold winter there. The mercury went as low as 36° below 0 and was at zero on March 3rd.

T. J. Clore has sold his grocery stock to Eugene Kelly, who will open for business March 16. Gene is a clever gentleman and we wish him success. Tom will start a butcher shop here and keep on hand a fresh supply of beef and all kinds of meats.

The telephone makes it much easier to collect news items here. If those who have items for the RECORDER would leave them with the writer they would confer a favor. People who do not give us their items should not kick when they are left out.

Persons having business of interest or any question of importance to decide, should submit it to the town council which meets every day at Maurer's basket shop. Jacob Cook, is mayor; Dony Cook, chief adviser, and Caddy Maurer, m. of c.

The following is the lineup for the ball team here this season: H. D. Brady, pitcher; A. H. Cook, catcher; Bernard Rogers, 1st base; Jas. McAtee, 2d base; Ray Conner, short; Alfred Smith, left field; Warren Flick, center field; Ewing Flick, right field. Subs—Will Kelly, Perry Presser, Chas. Sandford.

In this issue we want to bid our Bellevlew friends and neighbors good bye, as we will move to Rabbit Hash neighborhood this week. Our association with the people here has been very pleasant and we hope that we have pleased all and offended none. We also want to thank our friends for favors conferred during our sojourn.

HEBRON

P. L. Aylor gave a play party, Saturday night.

Hafer & Aylor invoiced their stock of goods last week.

March is here in full blast, but in a few more days the trouble all will end.

Everett Aylor, of Limaburg, was calling on friends here Saturday afternoon.

Dr. and Mrs. Sayre called on Dr. and Mrs. L. C. Hafer, of Bullittsville, one evening last week.

The Grangers held a meeting Saturday afternoon, and after business hours a delightful luuch was served.

Miss Carrie Clore has resumed her duties as stenographer in Cincinnati, after an illness of measles for several weeks.

We beg to correct an error. Miss Oma Hankins was ill of measles instead of scarlet fever as stated several weeks ago.

John Clore's famous Ned Forest mare "Fanny," died March 11th in the 31st year of her age, after having served her master since his youth. She was raised and owned by the late Cave Clore, who gave her to Mr. Clore when she was 3 years old.

Tragedy Averted.

"Just in the nick of time our little boy was saved" writes Mrs. W. Watkins, of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him, but he grew worse every day. At length we tried Dr. Klug's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was saved. He's now sound and well." Everybody ought to know, it's the only sure cure for coughs, colds and all lung diseases. Guaranteed by all Druggists. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

GUNPOWDER.

March 4.—Miss Nellie Scott is seriously sick.

Mrs. Bettie Rouse is spending a few days with friends at Florence.

Mrs. W. H. Rice spent Sunday with her son, R. P. Rice, of Florence.

The writer and family broke bread with W. H. Tanner, of Florence, last Sunday.

Miss Blanche Northcutt began a spring school at Pleasant Ridge, last Monday.

Joseph Scott is on the sick list, but is not seriously sick, being able to take a whiff at his pipe occasionally.

E. H. Blankenbeker, president of the Union Turnpike Co., was having considerable metal put on that thoroughfare last week.

William Kirkpatrick, one of our hustlers, has about completed a string of wire fence several rods long, which adds greatly to the appearance of his farm.

Mrs. Media Tanner, who underwent a surgical operation for a serious head trouble in Covington, last week, is getting along nicely, and if she has no relapse will be able to return to her home in the near future.

Lon Acra and wife were out for a ride a few days since and started up a hill which proved to be dangerously muddy, but his faithful steed was carrying them along nicely, until the singletree gave way, when Lon braced himself against the dash to stop the horse, and broke it off and they were left in the mud. Mr. Acra is now a strong advocate of good roads.

A LYNCHING IN OHIO.

Slayer of a Policeman Put to Death by a Mob.

Springfield's Negro Quarters Fired and Twenty Houses Destroyed—18 Companies of Militia Guarded the City.

Springfield, O., March 8.—Richard Dixon, a desperate Negro, was taken from the county jail Monday night by an infuriated mob and shot to death in the jail yard, and a few moments later the body was taken to the corner of Main street and Fountain avenue, where the mob spent a half hour riddling the body with bullets from several hundred revolvers.

Dixon shot Policeman Collis Sunday morning in the former's room in the Jones hotel, and Collis died at noon Monday. Collis had served for 12 years on the force and was regarded as one of the most reliable and efficient men in the police department.

There have been 11 murders in Clark county in the last two years and in no instance has there been a conviction for first degree murder. Several of these murders have been of the cold-blooded type and exasperating and this fact, more than any other, is responsible for the first lynching in the history of the county. There has never yet been a case of capital punishment from this, Clark county.

Springfield, O., March 9.—Threats throughout the day and Tuesday evening to burn the levee, the Negro district of the city, confirmed Mayor C. J. Bowlus in his belief that more trouble was brewing Tuesday night and he has asked Gov. Herrick for troops.

At 11:20 the threat of the mob, frequently made through the day and evening, was finally made good and a volume of flame was seen to shoot up from the rear of a place occupied by "Les" Thomas, a saloonkeeper.

At 2:30 Wednesday morning the fire had burned itself out and both mob and spectators have for the most part dispersed. Quiet prevails throughout the city and the mob is good natured and orderly, evidently well satisfied with its night's work. Probably 20 small buildings were destroyed, entailing a loss of not to exceed $30,000.

The mob has at no time shown any disposition to hurn property other than that on the levee.

At 11 p. m. the militia had dispersed the crowds in the central part of the city but it was feared they would form elsewhere for later movements. While there are 15,000 Negroes in this city, none were seen anywhere Wednesday night.

Telegrams are being received by Negroes from their fellows in other states offering help. The pastor of a colored church in Kansas City Wednesday wired to a pastor here:

"If you want any aid from Kansas call on us. We are prepared to come to your rescue."

The only outbreak up to Wednesday midnight occurred at 11 o'clock in short Winter street, a thoroughfare only two squares in length and inhabited by both blacks and whites. A half dozen resorts mostly owned by whites are located there and at 11 o'clock five shots, aimed at a colored man, were the occasion of three companies of militia being dispatched to the scene of the disturbance.

Earlier in the night crowds varying from 100 to 600 jeered and hooted the soldiers and it frequently became necessary for the troops to push the rioters back at the point of the bayonet.

Springfield, O., March 11.—The race disturbances which have terrorized the town for the last three days as the result of the murder of Patrolman Collis and the subsequent lynching of the Negro Dixon, who shot Collis, is held well in check by the 18 companies of state militia and the authorities are of the opinion that no more troops will be needed to control the situation.

Thursday evening the police arrested a Negro, claiming Cincinnati as his home and giving the name of Y. W. Smith. He was accompanied by several strange Negroes, and wherever they could gain an audience of one or more Negroes on the street, they read highly inflammatory typewritten papers urging the Negroes to avenge the lynching of Dixon and to apply the torch to the white business and residence districts in retaliation for the burning of the Negro quarters on the levee.

An immense throng of people were in and about St. Raphael's church Thursday morning to attend the funeral services of Charles Collis, the murdered policeman. The entire police force and all the city officials were in attendance.

Springfield, O., March 12.—There is considerable uneasiness on the part of the city officials and residents in general lest the withdrawal of troops from this city will result in further outbreaks from the lawless elements among both Negroes and whites. Friday all the companies of the Third regiment, excepting two local companies, have been removed.

Cannibalism on An Indian Reservation

Duluth, Minn., March 12.—Gust Brandon, who has been cruising between Tower and Koochiching, arrived here on his way to Minneapolis and confirmed the report of the alleged cannibalism on the Nett Lake reservation.

Martial Law at An End.

Telluride, Col. March 12.—Capt. Bulkeley Wells, in command of the militiamen of this district, read an order on the streets Friday night, signed by Gov Peabody, declaring that martial law here is at an end.

WIND AND SNOW STORM.

All Railway Traffic at Houghton, Mich., Is Tied Up.

Houghton, Mich., March 11.—A furious wind and snow storm has raged here for nearly 24 hours, tieing up the steam and electric roads almost completely. Not a wheel has turned in or out of Houghton since 3 o'clock Thursday morning, when a freight train left eastbound with three engines. The freight was stalled about six miles from town, blocking the incoming passenger train.

The morning passenger train from Calumet, due at Houghton at 9 o'clock, has been in the snow banks at Swedetown, three miles out of Hancock, all day with two engines. The wind is blowing 34 miles per hour with a heavy fall of snow. Interurban street car service has been suspended.

Marquette, Mich., March 11.—A fierce blizzard was raging in Northern Michigan Thursday night, blockading nearly all trains. It is particularly severe in the copper country, where several trains are stalled. Marquette was Thursday night almost completely cut off from the outside world.

ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

The Worst Wind and Rain Storm in Thirteen Years Pevailed.

San Francisco, March 11.—The worst rain and wind storm in 13 years swept over this city and along the Pacific coast Thursday, doing much damage to shipping and railroads through the state. The storm extended from San Diego to Vancouver island and it is feared that many marine disasters have occurred along the coast. In this city Thursday morning the barometer reached 29.23, the lowest record, and the wind registered a velocity of 48 miles an hour, while at Sacramento a gale of 64 miles per hour was recorded. Telegraph and telephone wires were prostrated in every direction.

THE ATLANTIC FLEETS.

Thirteen American Vessels Are Now at Pensacola, Fla.

Pensacola, Fla., March 11.—The combined fleet was augmented by the arrival here Thursday of the cruisers Atlanta and Nashville and the gunboat Bancroft, which came from Guantanamo, joining the vessels of the coast, South Atlantic and North Atlantic fleets, making a total of 13 war vessels of various types now in port and at target practice off Santa Rosa island. The Newark, Detroit and Montgomery were engaged during Thursday in practice with their large caliber guns, several hundred shots being fired.

GOV. CUMMINS' MESSAGE.

He Calls Attention to a Defect in the Iowa Laws.

Des Moines, Ia., March 11.—Gov. Cummins Thursday sent to the legislature a message in which he called attention to the fact that under the present laws of Iowa it is impossible to extradite from this state into another a person charged with murder by sending poisoned candy through the mails as in the case of Mrs. Sherman Dye, of Boone, who has been released. He urged the legislature to remedy the omission and make it possible for the governor to honor a requisition from another state for a person who is not a fugitive from justice.

PENNSYLVANIA MINERS.

The Officials Urge the Acceptance of the Operators' Ultimatum.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 11.—Patrick Dolan, president; Uriah Bellingham, vice president, and William Dodds, secretary-treasurer, officials of the United Mine Workers of Pittsburg district, joined Thursday in signing and sending to all the miners in the district a circular letter endorsing the recommendation of the national officials and urging the men to vote for the acceptance of the operators' ultimatum. They say they would rather give other advice if they could see any chance of the miners getting last year's scale by a strike, but "strike means defeat and demoralization."

"Rousters" to Be Made Up of Whites.

Memphis, Tenn., March 11.—It was announced Thursday morning on excellent authority that Memphis steamboatmen, including the Lee line, will follow the action of St. Louis packets in substituting white labor for colored rousters. The movement is expected to spread all along the Mississippi.

Gas Explosion in a Store.

Rockwell, Ia., March 11.—An explosion of gas completely wrecked the millinery store of Miss L. M. Moran Thursday. Five women were blown into the street and all more or less injured.

The Beef Weighed a Ton.

Bellefontaine, O., March 11.—A beef weighing a ton, the largest ever butchered in this part of Ohio, was killed Thursday by Butcher Henry Gorges, of this city.

Southern Colored College.

Birmingham, Ala., March 11.—Dr. H. C. Weekley and George B. Johnson, of the executive board of the Freedmen's Aid society, have arrived from Cincinnati to arrange for the location here of a great southern college. About $250,000 is to be invested.

To Carry Coal on Russian Account.

Liverpool, March 11.—Inquiries were made here Thursday for steamships to carry coal on Russian account, and the rate to the far east rose to 50 shillings a ton. Several foreign owned ships have secured charters.

MORMONS DEFIANT.

Intense Feeling Exists in Portions of Utah.

Polygamy Strongly Defended; It Is Declared to Be the Doctrine of God and a Revelation to Prophet Joseph F. Smith.

Salt Lake City, Utah, March 12.—As illustrating the intense feeling existing among the Mormons in some parts of the state as a result of the investigation of Senator Smoot's eligibility now being conducted by the United States senate, the Telegram Friday night printed a dispatch from Logan, Utah, describing the regular monthly fast meeting held in the temple at that place. The meeting was addressed, among others, by J. M. Blair, who made a strong defense of polygamy. Heber Carlisle succeeded Mr. Blair. He declared with great emphasis that congress and the entire country were the persecutors of the Mormon church, and then defended polygamy, declaring it is the doctrine of God and the revelation that had been given to the prophet, Joseph Smith. He approved of the conduct of Mr. Smith in Washington, declaring: "If it ever comes to a difficulty, I will be ready to die for President Joseph F. Smith."

W. S. Lamoreaux then arose and, amid much excitement, declared that he believed in loyalty to the United States government. It was dangerous, he said, to say such things as the preceding speakers had given utterance to. The Mormon church, he said, is not now teaching polygamy, that the church had given up such teachings and that there was no occasion for such remarks. Here, Counsellor Isaac Smith, the presiding officer, ordered Mr. Lamoreaux to take his seat, which he did.

THE SENATOR SMOOT CASE.

Attorney Critchlow Continued His History of the Mormon Church.

Washington, March 12.—The only witness on the stand Friday in the investigation of the Senator Reed Smoot case before the senate committee on privileges and elections was E. B. Critchlow, former assistant United States attorney for Utah. He continued his history of the Mormon church, detailing instances when the high officials of the church have manifested their power over members in order to compel obedience in all matters, and of which excommunication has been the price of an independent spirit. Senator Beveridge assisted in the cross examination of the witness and his attempts to prove certain evidence incompetent livened what otherwise would have been the first dull day of the hearing.

SQUATTER SOVEREIGNTY.

Chicago Man Barricades a House and Holds Quicers at Bay.

Chicago, March 12.—Locked in a bedroom in his house, which is generally known as the "Delaware house," because it was the state building of Delaware at the World's fair in 1893, Ellis Bennett, armed with a shotgun, a rifle and a revolver, is holding at bay a deputy sheriff and 25 assistants.

Bennett is prepared to fight for the principle of "squatter sovereignty." Since 1869 he has held possession of 160 acres of land in the suburb of Hegewisch. He has denied the right of anybody to oust him and for years has defied a judgment of court, which has said that he has no title to the property. Bennett declared Friday night that the sheriff would have to kill him before he moved him off the premises, and the sheriff announced his intention of capturing Bennett Saturday morning even if it is necessary to shed blood to do it.

PETITION FOR DIVORCE.

Col. William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) Sues His Wife.

Denver, Col., March 12.—A petition for divorce filed in the district court of Big Horn county, Wyoming, January 9, by Col. William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill), has just been made public.

The complaint charges cruelty and alleges that on December 26, 1900, Mrs. Cody attempted to poison the plaintiff. Another ground on which plaintiff asks a decree is that the marital relation has been intolerable to him by his wife's refusal to entertain his friends at his former home at North Platte, Neb. Mrs. Cody, who is at North Platte, denies her husband's charges and will contest the suit. Col. and Mrs. Cody were married at St. Louis March 6, 1866.

To Engage in Preliminary Training.

Philadelphia, March 12.—The Philadelphia National League baseball team left here Friday on the steamship Allegheny for Savannah, where the players will engage in preliminary training.

Miners Adopt a New Rule.

Saginaw, Mich., March 12.—The convention of the Michigan district United Mine Workers finished its business Friday. A new rule was adopted that hereafter a man must work around a mine six months before permitted to go into it.

Government Troops Defeated.

St. Thomas, D. W. I., March 12.—Private advices received here from Santo Domingo dated March 4 are to the effect that the troops of President Morales are being defeated all over the republic.

FIFTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS.

Regular Session.

Washington, March 9.—Senate—The senate spent almost the entire day discussing the committee amendments to the army bill concerning provisional troops in the Philippines and the consolidation of the adjutant general's office with the record and penalon office. The Porto Rican amendment was objected to by democratic senators as tending to a more pronounced military form of government. Both amendments ultimately were accepted. The bill was amended so as to provide for an increase in the engineer corps. It was still pending when the senate adjourned.

House—Tuesday in the house was set apart for consideration of claim bills. Thirty-two bills of this character were passed. One, relating to the granting of an American register to the ship Beaumont, gave rise to considerable debate. Mr. Stevens (Minn.) made the point that to admit such ships into registery would be detrimental to the intereats of American workmen. He was seconded by Mr. Humphrey (Wash.). The friends of the bill, which was passed, were Messrs. Fordney, William A. Smith, McMorran (Mich.), Thayer (Mass.) and Dunwell (N. Y.). Shortly after the house convened Speaker Cannon, in ruling on the conference report on the legislative, executive and diplomat appropriation bill, stood by a former precedent, holding that conferees could not insert new matter.

Washington, March 10.—Senate—During consideration of the army appropriation bill in the senate Wednesday Mr. Bacon protested against the acceptance of the statue of Frederick the Great of Germany, tendered by Emperor William, on the ground that the former German king was not in sympathy with American institutions. Mr. Stewart defended Frederick against what he characterized as Mr. Bacon's gross misrepresentations. The army appropriation bill was passed. The senate also passed the Philippine shipping bill, after speeches in opposition by Messrs. Culberson and Patterson.

House—That an investigation of the post office department by the house of representatives will result from the publication of the report involving members of congress in that connection was indicated by every expression possible short of a vote in that body Wednesday.

Washington, March 11.—Senate—The senate Thursday passed a number of bills relating to Alaska but failed to act on the measure authorizing the election of a delegate in congress from that territory. Mr. Platt (Ct.) opposed the bill, and because of his opposition and his desire for time for discussion, it was not pressed. The Alaskan bills passed included those for the improvement of roads, the maintenance of schools, the appointment of an additional judge and the extension of the coal laws to the territory. Several other bills were passed, including one increasing to $100 the pensions of ex-soldiers who have become totally blind on account of service. The death of Representative Croft, of South Carolina, was announced, a committee appointed to attend the funeral and as a mark of respect the senate adjourned at 4.42.

House—The death of Representative Croft, of South Carolina, was announced. A committee was appointed to attend the funeral, and out of respect to his memory the house adjourned.

Washington, March 12.—Senate—With the exception of half an hour devoted to consideration of routine business the senate spent the entire day in executive session, devoting most of the time to the nomination of Gen. Leonard Wood to be a major general. Two set speeches were made in opposition to Gen. Wood's confirmation, the speakers being Senators Scott and Blackburn, the only two members of the committee on military affairs who opposed a favorable report on the nomination.

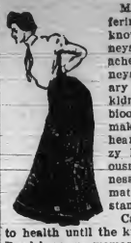
House—The house of representatives indulged itself Friday in nearly seven hours of explanation, accusation and vituperation and then ordered with only two negative votes an investigation of postal affairs so far as members of the house are concerned by a special committee of seven members to be appointed by the speaker, who likewise are to examine into the origin of the Bristow report so far as it concerns charges against members of the house. The demand of the minority for a sweeping investigation of every branch of the post office department was not granted. The test on this question came on a vote which resulted 144 to 125, a strict party vote.

SENATOR TILLMAN'S ILLNESS.

More Uncomfortable Friday Than At Any Time During His Illness.

Washington, March 10.—Senator Tillman is suffering from an abcess on his left tonsil and submitted to an operation Wednesday.

Washington, March 12. — Senator Tillman was much more uncomfortable Friday than at any time during his illness, though his condition was not necessarily worse. His throat is distressing him greatly and the suffering is most acute. The physicians again Friday found it necessary to lance it and the indications are that another such operation will be necessary Saturday, as a second abscess appears to be forming. Still the physicians see no cause for apprehension and believe careful treatment and patience will insure relief. They think that in a short time Senator Tillman will have recovered sufficiently to enable him to go south to recuperate.



On Their Way to Washington.

San Francisco, March 12.—Baron K. Kaneko, former Japanese minister of agriculture and commerce, and K. Takasasaki, vice president of the Yokohama specie bank, arrived here on the steamer Siberia. They departed immediately for Washington.

Will Use Type Setting Machines.

Washington, March 12. — Public Printer Palmer indicated to the house committee on appropriations Friday that he this year will begin the equipment of the government printing office with type setting machines

RESTORED TO HEALTH.

Many weak, suffering women do not know that their kidneys are sick. Backache tells of sick kidneys and so do urinary disorders. Sick kidneys make bad blood, and bad blood makes bad digestion, heart palpitation, dizzy headaches, nervousness, sleeplessness, sciatica, rheumatic pains and constant depression.

Can't be restored to health until the kidneys are cured. Read how one woman was restored by using Doan's Kidney Pills:

"Mrs. H. A. Van Sickle, 311 6th Ave., S. W., Roanoke, Va., says: "Kidney trouble was hereditary in our family and I had been so continually afflicted with the disease that I began to despair of even temporary relief. Sometimes I suffered so severely that I was confined to my bed. The aching in my back was intense and the kidney disorder caused an excess of uric acid in my blood which impaired my digestion. I was compelled to deny myself of many of the little delicacies of diet. The doctors diagnosed my case as congestion of the kidneys. I had about given up hope when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, but I took only a few doses when their curative powers were proven to my satisfaction. I have never been without them in the house since."

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold by all dealers; price, 50 cents; or mailed on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Write for free trial.

TO BE INVESTIGATED.

Bristow's Charges Against Members of the House.

Washington, March 14.—The house will lose no time in acting upon the authorization of an inquiry into the circumstances of the Bristow report. Speaker Cannon appointed a select committee to conduct the investigation.

The committee consists of Representatives McCall (Mas.), Burton (O.), Hitt (Ill.), Metcalf (Cal.), republicans, and McDermott (N. J.), Bartlette (Ga.) and Richardson (Ala.), democrats.

None of these men was mentioned in the Bristow report and none is a member of the committee on post offices and post roads. So far as the republicans are concerned, this is not a political inquiry, but an inquisition in behalf of the dignity and integrity of the house of representatives.

The investigation is not to go beyond the subject of the relations of members of congress to the post office department in the cases specially set forth in the Bristow report.

All sessions at which witnesses are examined will be open to the public and the press.

An extended period of personal explanation undoubtedly will occur in the house during the consideration of the post office appropriation bill which will be called up Monday by Chairman Overstreet. Monday rightfully belongs to the District of Columbia, but there are few local matters on the calendar and Mr. Babcock will abdicate in favor of the post office bill.

The necessity which many members of the house feel to have the Congressional Record contain certain statements in explanation of their alleged misconduct with the post office department in regard to clerk hire, allowances and rent of post office quarters has led the managers of the house to adopt a most liberal policy with reference to general debate on the post office bill. When these statements are all out of the way the bill will be disposed of and not before.

The bill making appropriations for the support of the military academy will follow the post office bill and as there are no special orders for claims or pensions to interfere it may be that both of these supply measures will be disposed of this week.

NOT A MORMON.

Ex-Senator Joseph L. Rawlins Makes a Denial of the Charge.

Salt Lake City, Utah, March 14.—Former United States Senator Joseph L. Rawlins Sunday sent the following dispatch to Chairman Burrows, of the Smoot investigation committee relative to the testimony of Judge Ogden Hiles, of this city, before the committee Saturday:

"Hon. J. C. Burrows, U. S. Senator, Washington—Judge Hiles' statement that I am a member of the Mormon church is unqualifiedly false. I do not believe in any of its doctrines, dogmas or revelations. Have no affiliations with it. Such has been my attitude in public and in private for 30 years. Give this publicity in your proceedings. J. L. Rawlins."

HIGH PRICE FOR A SPRING.

Turfman John E. Madden Purchasod One For $75,000.

Lexington, Ky., March 14.—Turfman John E. Madden has just paid the highest price ever paid for a spring. Last week he purchased the farm of James E. McCann, who was murdered in St. Louis, paying $75,000 for the 50-acre tract. He said here Sunday night that he did not want the land, and that he purchased it because it contained a never-failing spring of water.

DELUGE OF WATER SUBSIDES.

The Susquehanna River Flood Has Passed Into History.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 14.—The vast deluge of water for the past week in the Susquehanna river has passed into history and Sunday night the stream in this section had fallen to less than 18 feet above low water mark. The steam railroad companies and various street car lines expect to resume running on schedule time some time Monday, though it will take weeks to repair their tracks and put them in good running order again.

Robb to Suceed Hoyt.

Washington, March 14.—Charles H. Robb, of Vermont, now assistant attorney general to succeed Henry M. Hoyt, appointed solicitor general of the department of justice. Mr. Robb, of Vermont, was a factor in the post office investigations leading up to the arrest of Machel.

Anti-Mormon Organization.

Salt Lake City, Utah, March 14.—Representative Gentiles of this city held a meeting and took preliminary steps toward the organization of a non-Mormon party. A committee was appointed to formulate a plan of campaign and organization.

A National University.

Washington, March 14.—A plan has been suggested to unite the Columbian, American and National universities of the District of Columbia to form the nucleus of a great national university at the capital city.

A CAREER OF CRIME.

Gus Marx, Under Sentence of Death, Makes a Startling Confession.

Chicago, March 14.—Hanging for all was the verdict of the jury in the first murder case against the so-called "car barn bandits," Harvey Van Dine, Peter Niedermeier and Gustav Marx. Roeski is to be tried separately.

Chicago, March 14.—Gustave Marx, one of the three car barn bandits now under sentence of death, declared in a confession made Sunday that he was one of three men who held up the Chicago & Northwestern express train at Tower W, near Dekalb, four years ago. The crime, which has passed into history as one of the most desperate ever committed in or about Chicago, has never been fastened upon any one of the many suspects arrested, and the identity of the bandits has remained a mystery to the police until now.

Marx says both his confederates in the crime are dead and refuses to give their names. One of them, he declares, "Died with his boots on." The railway authorities admitted a loss of $102,000 by the robbery. Marx says the robbers secured only $8,000, the rest of the money having been destroyed by the explosion of dynamite used to crack the safe.

In a sort of foot note to this startling confession, Marx admits the killing of five men in his career of crime.

"Besides John B. Johnson, killed at the car barns, Detective Quinn, killed at the time of my arrest, and Otto Bauder, whom Roeski is generally supposed to have killed, I have killed two other men," said Marx.

"Eight years ago Neidermeier and I went to Janesville, Wis., to rob a train and hid our dynamite alongside the track. A trackwalker, or railway detective, I have never learned which, came upon us and asked us what we were doing there. I shot him and we threw his body into the Rock river. The other man whom I killed I had done criminal work with in Michigan. I met him at Camp Goldfield, Col., when Neidermeier and I were there last fall. He talked too much about me and I killed him and left his body lying in the suburbs of the camp. These crimes can be verified by the police."

YOUNG MAN UNDER ARREST.

He Is Identified as a Counterfeiter Well Known to the Officials.

Boston, March 14.—A young man under arrest here charged with swindling postage stamp dealers and collectors was identified Sunday by Secret Service Agent Joseph Murphy, of St. Louis, as R. P. H. Wolle, a counterfeiter well known to the secret service bureau. When arrested Wolle gave the name of Albert Roth, but later admitted his identity. Wolle brought to this city a bogus collection of stamps, which, if genuine, would have a value of $10,000.

His most notable crime was discovered early in 1900, when he got into trouble with the federal authorities by raising the denominations of bank notes. Convicted of the offense in St. Louis, he was sentenced to the state penitentiary at Jefferson City, Mo., for five years.

While a prisoner Wolle managed to advertise for rare stamps and did a considerable business with collectors. To his advertisement he signed his convict number "3333" and received his mail in care of Box 47, the prison post office box. He conducted business in this way for some time before his methods were detected by the prison authorities.

THE ST. LOUIS WORLD'S FAIR.

Program For the Opening Ceremonies Will Be Announced Soon.

St. Louis, March 14.—The program for the inauguration ceremonies opening the Louisiana purchase exposition, on Saturday, April 30, will probably be officially announced within the next day or two. The opening celebration will be exclusively an exposition affair, as to the participants, and will be confined to the grounds. There will be a parade, but the line of march will be inside the grounds. After the parade the ceremonies will be held in the plaza of St. Louis. The program, it is estimated, will have been fulfilled by noon, at which time the exposition will be formally declared open.

JAPS' FOURTH ATTACK.

Sharp Engagement Between the Torpedo Boats.

Russians Have Seized All Food Supplies and Other Necessities in Manchuria and a State of Utter Confusion Reigns.

Tien-Tsin, March 14.—Information from an official who was an eye witness of the bombardment of Port Arthur on Wednesday and Thursday is to the effect that the Russians had 25 killed on the battleship Sevastopol, 20 on the Retvizan and 20 in the town. The Russians claim to have sunk a Japanese cruiser.

The Russians assert that their damaged cruisers have been repaired, and are ready for sea. The battleship Czarevitz will be ready shortly. There is no dock here capable of taking in the Retvizan.

The Russians are preparing for the defense of New Chwang, finding it impossible to stop the landing of Japanese.

Tien-Tsin, March 14.—An unconfirmed report has reached here that Port Arthur has fallen.

London, March 14.—A dispatch to the Central News from Tokio says: It is asserted here that the Russians virtually have abandoned Port Arthur.

Pekin, March 14.—Private Chinese reports that are being received here state that the whole of Manchuria is in a state of utter confusion owing to the Russians having seized all food supplies and other commissariat necessities.

The natives are streaming south toward the ports and are suffering great hardships. The late military governor at Kirin has committed suicide owing to his inability to relieve the people's distress or stop the Russian depredation.

Tokio, March 14.—Official and private reports both indicate that Adm. Togo's fourth attack on Port Arthur on the 10th inst. was the most effective since the first assault of a month ago. One Russian torpedo boat destroyer was sunk and several Russian torpedo boat destroyers seriously damaged. The fortifications and city were subjected to a heavy bombardment lasting nearly four hours. The naval bombardments of the land works have generally been ineffective, yet the peculiar topographical conditions of Port Arthur make immunity from serious loss from bombardment impossible. Adm. Togo's torpedo flotilla opened the action by boldly steaming in under the batteries and successfully placing a number of mechanical mines at the mouth of the harbor. Following that there was a desperate bow to bow encounter between the torpedo boat destroyers in which the Japanese appear to have scored a clever victory. Then followed a long range duel between the cruisers, ending in the retirement of the Novik and Bayan, the only Russians engaged.

The closing action was the bombardment of the inner harbor by the Japanese battleships. The latter took a position southwest of Port Arthur and using only their 12-inch guns. There were 24 12-inch guns in a squadron of six battleships and each gun was fired five rounds, making a total of 120 huge projectiles that were fired at the city. The bombardment was deliberate and carefully planned. In order to aid in perfecting the firing, Adm. Togo stationed the cruisers in a position due east of the entrance to the harbor and at a right angle to the battleships. The cruisers observed the range and effect of firing and signalled the results by wireless telegraphy. These observations and reports greatly aided the gunners in their effort to make every shot count.

Adm. Togo was unable to definitely learn the results of the bombardment, but later private reports indicates that much destruction was caused in the

The Retvizan Was Hit Five Times.

London, March 14.—The Daily Telegraph publishes a dispatch from a correspondent at Yin Kow who reports that the Russian battleship Retvizan at Port Arthur was hit five times by Japanese projectiles.

Eats 42 Raw Eggs on a Wager.

Kansas City, March 14.—Three and a half dozen raw eggs were eaten by Isaac Brady, a commission merchant, inside of half an hour at one of the restaurants of the city on a wager. The eggs were disposed of as rapidly as a waiter could open them.

PORT ARTHUR.

The City Terribly Damaged By the Shells of the Japanese.

London, March 14.—In a dispatch from Che Foo, dated March 12, a correspondent of the Daily Mail describes an inspection of Port Arthur made on the 11th inst. from a boat. The new city seemed to be on fire; three columns of smoke were ascending from it. The broad hill fort appeared to have suffered terribly, the defenses were shattered and the earthworks torn up. No guns were visible. The line of forts on the Tigers' Tail also appeared to have suffered damage. At sunrise no sign of life could be seen anywhere and Port Arthur looked like a city of death.

CHAIRMEN'S ASSOCIATION.

Locomotive Engineers Will Meet in Chicago Next Saturday.

Chicago, March 14.—Locomotive engineers from all parts of the country, Canada and Mexico will meet in Chicago next Saturday and form a general chairmen's association. The new association, like those of the firemen, trainmen, conductors and other railroad brotherhoods, will be made up of the general chairmen of the adjustment committees of the various railroad systems organized by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, now numbering 100 railroad systems on the North American continent. This meeting is the outcome of a preliminary conference in St. Louis January 23.

HUDSON RIVER TUNNEL.

Begun Thirty Years Ago, It Was Completed Friday.

New York, March 12.—Begun 30 years ago, and twice abandoned for long periods because of accidents and financial difficulties, the driving of the bore of the Hudson river tunnel, connecting 14th street, Jersey City, with Morton street, on Manhattan island, was finished saortly before noon Friday. So great had been the accuracy of the plans of Chief Engineer Charles M. Jacobs that when the ends of the tunnel met there was not the variation of a hair in the courses of the Jersey section and the New York heading.

MEXICAN RAILWAYS.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 14.—James Speyer, senior member of the New York banking firm of Speyer & Co., started for the City of Mexico Sunday evening on a special train. Mr. Speyer, it is said, is going to Mexico to perfect the merger of the Mexican National, Mexican International, Interoceanic and National Tehauntepec railroads, which the New York firm is financing.
